New Sanitary Code Effective January 13

The new sanitary, health and food code recently adopted by the City Council at the request of City Health Officer Parrish will become effective January 13, according to the statement yesterday of Morris S. Siegel, director of personnel of the health department, who compiled the code.

The ordinance codifies all health measures adopted by the city since 1870 and covers 377 sections. It affects all phases of work of the health department.

Among the things regulated by the ordinances are the chemistry and sanitation of food, sanitary maintenance of establishments where foods are prepared and dispensed, housing, dairy products, industrial hygiene, community sanitation, nuisance abatement and general laboratory nature.

ATTLE WON FOR RELIEF

over Scores Congress

ployment and Drought Enactments Slated to Precede Recess

Flayed for His Tirade Against Chief Executive

By LAWRENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Out of all the empty talk [illegible] at the Capitol, [illegible] Hoover emerged today [illegible] victories in both branches [illegible] in his fight for enactment of the emergency unemployment and drought relief program [illegible] the Christmas recess.

[illegible] House voted, 225 to 147, to [illegible] its own $30,000,000 drought [illegible] measure for the $60,000,000 [illegible], eliminating the food and [illegible] charity "dole" opposed by [illegible] administration, and then passed [illegible] 269 to 6.

[illegible] and House conferees immediately went into session and this [illegible] reached an agreement increasing the appropriation to $45,- [illegible] which the White House [illegible] objection, but otherwise accepting the straight farm rehabilitation [illegible] passed by the House.

UNEMPLOYMENT AID

[illegible] Senate meanwhile speeded [illegible] employment aid [illegible] final enactment by [illegible] the Robinson amendment restricting the Executive's [illegible] in apportioning the pro[illegible] among Federal con[illegible] projects. The vote to give [illegible] a free hand was 42 [illegible]

[illegible] compromise on drought relief [illegible] taken up in the House at 1 [illegible] tomorrow afternoon and if [illegible] there, as it undoubtedly [illegible] the plan is to have the Senate act on the legislation later [illegible] day. The prospect is the bill [illegible] entirely cleaned up tomorrow.

[illegible] employment relief measure is [illegible] but all save [illegible] have been worked out [illegible] chances are it will receive [illegible] in both houses either [illegible] or Saturday.

[illegible] it appears after all that [illegible] will be able to [illegible] for [illegible] Saturday evening.

HOOVER DEFENDED

In addition to his legislative triumphs Mr. Hoover was vigorously [illegible] in the Senate today [illegible] the [illegible] contentions [illegible] McKellar of Tennessee, [illegible] over the last several [illegible] and continued by him this [illegible], that the President should [illegible] allowed to handle the relief [illegible] strict accounting to [illegible] Vandenberg of Michigan [illegible] of Illinois joined in giving [illegible] a lacing that took all [illegible] and confidence [illegible] and left him at the end [illegible] a sorry, bedraggled [illegible] asserted that the

IRE OF DUCE ON AMERICA

Italy's Woes Laid to Stock Crash

United States Money Crisis Blamed as Mussolini Slashes Salaries

Nation Can't Cut Military Outlay While World's Arming, He Roars

ROME, Dec. 18. (AP)—The American stock market crash and "money crisis" of the fall of 1929 are principally to blame for Italy's present financial ills, Premier Mussolini told the Senate today.

In a speech marked by biting irony, frankness and characteristic vigor, the Duce declared Italy was "nearing port, was perhaps in view of port when the American crisis broke out unexpectedly and exploded like a bomb." His placing the blame on the American situation was part of the Duce's defense for his sharp cut of 12 per cent in the salaries of all state employees.

EUROPE CONFOUNDED

"For us poor provincials of old Europe," he said, "the explosion was a great surprise. We remained shaken and confounded like the world at announcement of the death of Napoleon. We had been given to understand the United States was a country of prosperity, indefinite and absolute—without eclipse, without decadence; all were rich.

"Everybody played the market. As the shares went up everybody having bought at 20 sold at 100 and with it bought an automobile, radio or telephone or made a trip to Europe, paying on the installment plan and perhaps bought a country house in the neighborhood.

"All that was marvelous. Then we had a series of black, black days. Shares lost 20, 30, 50 per cent of their value. That crisis isn't yet cleaned up.

"It is with profound sadness that I realize this and you will understand why.

"The fact is, from that day we were thrown back into a high sea; from then on even for us navigation has been extremely difficult."

SURPLUS NOW DEFICIT

The financial situation in the United States so affected Italy, Mussolini asserted, that a surplus of [illegible] lire has turned into a deficit of approximately 900,000,000 lire.

"Such a deficit is not grave, like a lost battle, like the cession of territory, or a national catastrophe," he said. "It is a thing extremely serious, however, which imposes on the government the duty of converging all its attention upon a recovery, and imposes on citizens, including the Senators, the duty not to put forward continually demands for new expenses for which we must find revenue — which signifies taxes."

But in spite of the depression which makes retrenchment imperative all along the line, Italy can not reduce her military expenditures, while all the rest of the world talks

SIX MISSING AFTER BOAT OVERTURNS

Five Women and Man in Mishap in Northern Bay Believed Drowned

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Five women and a man were believed to have drowned early tonight when their pleasure launch capsized at the entrance to Tomales Bay, Marin county.

The boat overturned while Grant Gray, 21 years of age, and his brother, Ornburn, 25, of Dillon Beach, were trying to get a line aboard. The Gray launch also was overturned as one of the women tried to climb aboard. They were the only known witnesses.

The Grays reported they were fishing when occupants of a fourteen-foot launch began shouting for help. The launch's motor had gone dead and it was being carried rapidly toward the Pacific Ocean in a strong outgoing tide.

The Grays made three attempts to throw a line aboard the launch before it was grasped by one of the women. In her excitement she jumped overboard and was pulled to the Gray boat. Her efforts to climb into the little rescue craft capsized it.

A moment later a huge wave overturned the disabled launch. The Grays reported the last they saw of its occupants they were struggling to clamber aboard their overturned craft as they were carried toward the ocean on the tide.

A Coast Guard boat from Point Reyes and several launches set out in search of the overturned boat and its occupants.

The Grays said they do not know where the launch was from and are not certain as to the number of its occupants.

Land Purchases for Wild Life Havens Favored

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The purchase of land for migratory game and bird refuges in Florida, California, North Carolina and Nebraska was authorized today by the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission.

The land involved aggregates 73,780 acres and will cost the government an average of $5.28 per acre.

The purchases approved in California will add 8982 acres to the Salton Sea wild-life refuge created by executive order of President Hoover a month ago.

Wife of Texas Publisher Killed

DALHART (Tex.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Mrs. I. D. Devine, wife of the publisher of The Times at Texhoma, on the Texas-Oklahoma line near here, died today of injuries received last night when the newspaper plant was wrecked presumably by a gas explosion.

Burdice Smith of Hemphill, Tex., a printer, is believed fatally injured. Devine was hurt, but not so seriously.

Officers said the blast probably was caused by an accumulation of gas.

HIGH COPPER DUTY ASKED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Establishment of a 2-cents-a-pound duty on copper imports would be provided in a bill introduced today by Representative Evans, Democrat, Montana.

FIFTEEN KILLED IN ERUPTION

Java Villages Evacuated as Lava Pours From Volcano and Fiery Wall Engulfs Victims

BATAVIA (Java) Dec. 18. (AP)—Fifteen persons died today in the sudden and violent eruption of a volcano at Merapi, Central Java, which had been active for two weeks.

Many surrounding villages were evacuated as a heavy stream of lava rolled down alarmingly and slowly filled the neighboring valleys.

The eruption was accompanied by loud rumblings, which are increasing, but it is believed that the rain of ashes has subsided.

The victims were engulfed by a lava stream 300 yards wide and seventy feet high, which surprised them as they were working near a village five miles from the crater. The fiery wall, containing millions of tons of red hot liquid, advanced so rapidly they were unable to escape after they saw it.

Tonight the volcano was a terrifying sight. It was covered by a huge black cloud which was stabbed from time to time by vivid flashes of lightning.

As a result of the lava flow a large tract of fertile land was burned to a desert. As it spread the volcanological observation post was abandoned and the populations of unevacuated villages were warned to prepare to leave.

Merapi, a Javan volcano, in the Kedu district, was in violent eruption once before, September 16-17, 1849.

Eruptions are nothing new to Java, for the island contains within a small area as many as forty-nine great volcanic mountains, some of them dormant and extinct. The most famous is Papandayang, which erupted with great suddenness and violence in 1772.

Prince Invited to Legion Rally

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Ralph T. PRINCE OF WALES HAS LIGHT COLD

Immediate Engagements Canceled Lest Illness Prevent January Trip

LONDON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Prince of Wales suffered from a slight chill today, necessitating canceling all his immediate engagements, but was reported improved tonight.

Sir Stanley Hewitt, physician to the royal family, called at York House to see the Prince this evening, and a bulletin was issued saying the patient was "very much better."

Although the Prince's illness is not regarded as serious, he was ordered to stay indoors lest it interfere with his trip to South America January 15.

One of the first engagements canceled was the Prince's week-end visit to Melton Mowbray, where he was to have hunted.

Regrets were sent those in charge of a Pan-American dinner tonight commemorating the life of Gen. Simon Bolivar, to which the Prince had accepted an invitation.

Unusually vigorous, the Prince is seldom ill, and never has had a serious illness, although he was twice troubled by malaria last spring during an African hunt. His robust physique is attributed to the large amount of exercise he takes, including long walks, riding and indoor exercises.

Poincare Now Out of Danger

PARIS, Dec. 18. (AP)—Parisian headlines which yesterday informed the city that Raymond Poincare was so seriously ill that he might die tonight announced the war-time President is out of danger.

The Chamber of Deputies adopted a resolution expressing satisfaction at the former President's recovery.

Senators Call for Tax Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Heflin resolution calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for a report on the amount of taxes paid by the New York Stock Exchange and its members in connection with stock transactions from 1919-1930 was passed today by the Senate.

FIVE MEN ACCUSED OF MULCTING PUPILS

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18. (AP)—Five men, asserted number-game operators, who police estimated had collected more than $15,000 from school children and others in lower Merion township, were arrested today. The prisoners were arrested on information supplied by parents of the children.

PRISON HIT BY KEYES

It Trains Crooks, He Declares

Ex-Prosecutor Tells Peace Officers San Quentin "Crime School"

State Condemned for Making Boys Associate With Older Criminals

SAN QUENTIN, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Fifty bay counties peace officers, assembled at the prison today, heard Asa Keyes, former District Attorney of Los Angeles county and now a convict, characterize the prison as "California's training school for crimes." Keyes warned them to "think very carefully" before sending young men, particularly first offenders, to San Quentin.

Keyes, for eleven years Los Angeles prosecutor and now serving a one-to-fourteen-year sentence for conspiracy to bribe, was one of three widely known prisoners to speak. The other two are "Kid" McCoy, once famous middleweight prizefighter, and Herbert Wilson, ex-preacher-mail bandit, serving a life term for the murder of Herbert Cox, his bandit companion.

BLAME FIXED

"I have only been here nine months, but as a convict I have learned far more about what is going on than can any prison official or guard," said Keyes. "Knowing things that I do, it is genuine tragedy for me to see more young men sent here. Without facilities for proper segregation of prisoners, you are simply sending in new recruits for California's growing crime army."

Keyes made it plain he is not criticizing prison officials or prison guards. Failure of the State, however, to provide increased and safeguarding prison facilities, was condemned by him.

MERE BOYS CITED

"It might help if the Governor and the members of the State Legislature came here and looked over San Quentin's population," he declared. "They would see mere boys—more than a third of San Quentin's population—thrown into daily and deadly association with confirmed and hardened criminals. There can be only one result; nine out of ten of them go out of here smart and crafty crooks."

Herbert Wilson, whose bandit gang is credited with $5,000,000 worth of robberies and who later helped convict his own confederates, said he has written five books which he hopes to have published, advising the youth of America that crime does not pay.

"Kid McCoy," whose true name is Norman Selby, told of his early day ring experiences.

OPERATION ON ACTRESS SUCCESSFUL

Janet Gaynor Expected by Her Physicians to Make Quick Recovery

HONOLULU, Dec. 18. (AP)—An operation for appendicitis performed today upon Janet Gaynor, screen actress, was said by her physicians to have been successful. They believe she can leave the Queen's Hospital in ten days.

Miss Gaynor, who became ill Tuesday, entered the operating room at 7:30 a.m. and was wheeled out an hour later.

Mrs. Laura Gaynor, mother of the actress, was at the hospital during the operation.

The film star and her mother had been spending a brief vacation here and planned to leave for San Francisco yesterday.

Lydell Peck, husband of Miss Gaynor, is expected to arrive from San Francisco Christmas Day.

Wind Delays Ocean Flight

PALMA DE MAJORCA (Balearic Islands) Dec. 18. (AP)—Hope that the six seaplanes of the Balbo squadron would be able to leave today for Cartagena, Spain, was abandoned as a northeast wind was blowing strongly over the Balearic Islands and navigation with the mainland was suspended.

If the weather permits the planes will leave tomorrow for Kunitra, Morocco, the second stage of the flight to South America.

Election Quiz Plea Rejected

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The House campaign expenditures committee today decided it lacks authority to investigate the charges of Representative Kunz, Democrat, Illinois, that irregularities existed in the election in November in which he was defeated by Peter Granata, a Republican.

The committee held that if gangsters were active in the election, it falls in the jurisdiction of the civil authorities in Cook county to handle that phase.

GERMAN MINISTER DIES

SAINT BLASIEN (Germany) Dec. 18. (AP)—Ulrich Rauscher, German Minister to Poland, died today after an illness of several weeks.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 18. [To the Editor of The Times:] Well, the World Court blowed up till next December, anyhow. Papers are calling it a defeat for Mr. Hoover. Say, I bet you he is tickled to death. It's one of those things he was under obligations to propose, and to get off his hands this easy, why he is just laughing up his sleeve for the first time in months. If there is one thing it would be laughable for this country to try and show the rest of the world how to do it would be to run a court. Of all the cockeyed things we got in this country at the present time it's some of our judges and courts and justices. We got more bandits out on bond than we got people for 'em to rob.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

DAM PLANS APPROVED

Completion Date Set for 1938

Specifications Ready for Boulder Bids, Which Will Be Opened March 4

Heavy Bonds Required and Bidders Must Prove Qualifications

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Completion of Boulder Dam within 2565 calendar days, or ten days more than seven years from the date of letting the contract, is contemplated in specifications for the gigantic Colorado River project formally approved today by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur.

The specifications thus point to the development being finished early in the summer of 1938.

Time limits are imposed upon contractors for completion of the project in three major steps with a penalty of $3000 a day for each day over the limit specified.

Heavy bonds will be required. Each prospective contractor must file a $2,000,000 bond with his bid and the successful ones, in addition, will be called upon to post a $5,000,000 performance bond.

Preference in employment will be given to World War veterans and citizens of the United States when they are available.

QUALIFIED BIDDERS

That the government plans to exercise extreme care in the awarding of the contract is indicated in the following statement today from the Interior Department:

"Before any bid submitted in response to the invitation is considered for award of contract, the government may require the bidder to submit a statement of facts in detail as to the previous experience of the bidder in performing work of a similar and comparable nature and of the business and financial resources and plant of the bidder available to be used in performing the completed work. The government expressly reserves the right to reject any bid on which the facts as to business and technical organization, plant, financial and other resources or business experience justify such rejection."

In the invitation for bids, it is stated that performance of the contract shall begin within thirty calendar days after date of receipt by the contract or of notice to proceed.

BID-OPENING DATE

The bids, as announced several days ago, are to be opened at Den-

BEESEMYER IN DEEPER

Ten New Counts Prepared

Grand Jury Due to Reindict Swindler as He Pleads to Charges Today

Salvage of Guaranty May Go to 60 or 70 Per Cent, Shaw Declares

Investment certificate holders in the Guaranty Building and Loan Association, wrecked by Gilbert H. Beesemyer through the embezzlement of more than $8,000,000, may recover between 60 and 70 per cent of the face value of their certificates, according to Examiner Milton O. Shaw of the State Building and Loan Commission.

Shaw, the man who first detected the huge embezzlement, made this announcement last night after almost a week of close examination of books and records in the Guaranty office. He also declared, however, that the directors and stockholders will be wiped out. A great deal more work must be done, he added, before the exact condition of the firm can be discovered.

MORE COUNTS TODAY

Today, while Shaw and a staff of experts continue to delve into Beesemyer's muddled records, the grand jury will reindict the former Hollywood financier on at least ten counts, according to Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

While the new evidence is being placed before the grand jury by Chief Deputy District-Attorney Stewart, Beesemyer will be taken into Superior Judge Wood's court and, according to Le Compte Davis, his attorney, enter a plea of not guilty to the ten counts of felony embezzlement now against him.

WOULD AID SALVAGE

Davis, in making the announcement that Beesemyer will plead not guilty, yesterday made it plain that no effort is being made to dodge punishment, but that his client wishes to remain in this city as long as possible for the purpose of assisting the authorities to recover as much money from the wreckage of the Hollywood loan company as possible.

"I had first made up my mind to plead guilty at once and go to prison," declared Beesemyer through his attorney yesterday. "Now I have been convinced by my friends and business associates that I should remain for some weeks here in the County Jail to lend what assistance I can to the receivers and county authorities in recovering from the wreck as much money as possible."

WORK ON RECORDS

Headed by Stewart, the county authorities yesterday spent the day working on records seized from the Guaranty office and interviewing various witnesses who will be questioned by the grand jury today.

Four new ledger books dealing with Beesemyer's personal business were uncovered by Stewart yesterday in the mass of books taken from his office, and were at once turned over to experts for study. Many new Beesemyer deals, according to the authorities, are contained in the four massive ledgers.

FAMILY LOSERS

For several hours yesterday Miss Mary Wilmer, private secretary to Beesemyer, was busy with Stewart explaining how he kept his personal records of his embezzlements. The young woman, who appears broken in health by the shock of the past few days, told the authorities that her family and friends, including her father and mother, lost all of their savings in the crash.

From Fred Pike, a certified public accountant, who gave a statement to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hammon, came an account of how he had been employed by Beesemyer at the instruction of Building and Loan Commissioner Whitmore, last June, to audit the company books, and was not allowed to complete the audit.

AUDIT CALLED OFF

"I was employed by Beesemyer to audit his books under an order issued by Whitmore last June," declared Pike. "Shortly after I began the audit I was told by Beesemyer that it was not necessary at that time, and never did get well under

HELEN WILLS IN 'WHO'S WHO'

Lindbergh's Biography in British Book Corrected, but Other Flyers and Athletes Ignored

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—The 1931 edition of the British "Who's Who," copies of which reached New York today, lists Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, tennis star, among the few Americans whose achievements placed their names for the first time this year among the 35,000 prominent persons in all parts of the world.

Mrs. Moody appears under her married name. Her tennis triumphs here and abroad from 1923 to 1929 are set forth under the head of "Recreations."

During the year Mrs. Moody was presented at the Court of St. James.

BIOGRAPHY CORRECTED

The birth of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's son is duly recorded, and Lindbergh's brief biography has been corrected. When it appeared last year for the first time the flyer was listed as having married "Elizabeth, daughter of Dwight Davis, United States Ambassador to Mexico." The 1931 edition correctly records Lindbergh as being married to "Anne, daughter of Dwight W. Morrow, United States Ambassador to Mexico."

Miss Wills and Lindbergh are unique in the viewpoint of Who's Who. A check-up showed other famous American flyers are ignored, as are American athletes. Even the great Robert Tyre Jones does not make the grade, nor does Gene Tunney. Babe Ruth and William T. Tilden are similarly ignored.

MANNING LISTED

Bishop Manning is listed, but not former Judge Ben Lindsey.

The stage and screen are represented by Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charles Chaplin, Mary Garden and Will Hays, but none of the Barrymores is named.

Senator Borah and other members of Congress are listed, but not Senator Heflin. Al Smith, of course, is there.

Sinclair Lewis, winner of the Nobel prize, is duly represented, also H. L. Mencken and a long list of other American literary celebrities.

TOKIO PROTEST SENT MOSCOW

Closing of Japanese Bank in Russia Decried

Ambassador Told to Take Official Steps

Affair Characterized as Unfriendly Act

TOKIO, Dec. 19. (Friday) (AP)—The Foreign Office today telegraphed instructions to Koki Hirota, Japanese Ambassador at Moscow, to make strong representations to the soviet concerning the Bank of Korea's Vladivostok branch, characterizing the closure of the institution Wednesday as an unfriendly act.

The Ambassador was instructed to assert the bank's right to continue business and to request the soviet to withdraw the closure order.

The suggestion was made Japan and Russia confer concerning controversial points of the problem with a view to reaching an amicable settlement.

The soviet Embassy at Tokio issued a statement saying Moscow is determined the Vladivostok branch of the bank is permanently closed, according to the national policy of excluding all foreign financial organs from Russian territory. The Vladivostok branch hitherto was the sole exception to this rule, and the soviet sometime ago decided it must go.

The immediate reason for the closure of the bank was its refusal to pay taxes, whereupon local authorities, with Moscow's approval, ordered it closed.

The soviet Embassy here asserted the bank operated in Vladivostok for the past three years under temporary local permit, which Moscow never sanctioned. It was denied any bank employees were arrested.

The Embassy said it believes it will be impossible for the closing of one bank branch to injure Russian-Japanese relations, but that the removal of this source of misunderstanding should improve the diplomatic and commercial contacts of the two powers.

In authoritative circles, it was agreed the Vladivostok incident reflects Moscow's determination to plug the only breach in the hitherto existing wall inclosing the soviet and keeping out the tides of international exchange which sought to artificially maintain the parity of the ruble.

Japanese fishing interests anticipate the closure will be a severe blow because they will be deprived of the advantage hitherto enjoyed of paying for fisheries' rights in the depreciated rubles through the Bank of Korea and assert they will be unable to operate profitably if they are compelled to pay royalties in par rubles.

TINY HOOVERS GIVEN TREAT

President's Grandchildren Play in Snow for First Time

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP) Two youngsters from California, much in the news of late, today enjoyed the novelty of playing for the first time in the snow.

Mrs. Hoover bundled her two grandchildren, Peggy Ann and Herbert Hoover III, into a White House limousine and took them to Rock Creek Park.

She showed the youngsters how to make snowballs.

COUNTS TO PILE ON BEESEMYER

Swindler Will Be Reindicted on Ten Charges Today

Plea of Not Guilty Will Be Entered on First Group

Four Ledgers Reveal Many New Financial Deals

way with the work. Later Examiner Barnes telephoned me and inquired how the audit was getting along. I believe this was the first time the examiners knew that the audit was not under way. I had just been again retained by Beesemyer to complete the audit when the company blew up."

Pike, according to the authorities, also told of various business dealings in which he had been employed as an expert book-keeper and auditor by Beesemyer, and he will probably be placed before the grand jury today.

LOST ON STOCKS

In Beesemyer's personal records yesterday the investigating authorities found entries showing that since 1925 the financier lost between $575,000 and $600,000 in the stock market. Of his embezzlements the books show the Elmer Oil Company, organized by him and managed by Earl N. Moore, got $2,133,000 since early in 1928.

During the past year the totals disclose that Beesemyer embezzled more than $4,000,000 and the grand total of his thefts, according to his own record, reached $8,527,867 since he first began to steal in 1922. The Guaranty company, the records disclose, had depositors in every State in the United States and in twenty-two foreign lands.

EX-OFFICIAL CALLED

A. E. Falch, former Building and Loan Commissioner, of San Francisco called at the District Attorney's office early yesterday morning and will be recalled today for grand jury testimony. According to Stewart, the former commissioner declared that he had no knowledge of Beesemyer's embezzlements and the records show that during his term of office very little money was extracted by Beesemyer from his company's funds.

George Walker, another former commissioner, now in San Francisco, will not appear before the grand jury until next week. Walker was commissioner just before Whitmore took office and will be questioned regarding his examinations of Beesemyer's books and other matters relating to his office and Beesemyer's company.

Shaw, together with George L. Armstrong of the District Attorney's office, Mary Wilmer, and Ethel Flanigan, head book-keeper for the Guaranty company together with others spent part of yesterday afternoon going over the loan company books selecting various items from the ledgers which will be set up by Fitts in the new indictments to be returned today.

Most of the evidence to be presented to the grand jury today will be documents and records taken from the Guaranty office together with some testimony by Commissioner Whitmore, Examiner C. C. Barnes, Examiner Shaw and others who were connected with the wrecked loan company and it will be upon their testimony that new indictments will be asked by the District Attorney.

MOORE MUST EXPLAIN

According to Stewart, many more witnesses will be called before the grand jury next week and Moore, general manager of the Elmer Oil Company, will be gvien an opportunity to explain the various transactions of the oil company and where the millions advanced that company were spent.

With police and deputy sheriffs already working on many death threats believed to have been made by enraged depositors in the Guaranty company against Beesemyer, his family, Commissioner Whitmore and Defense Counsel Le Compte Davis new threatening letters and reports of threatening telephone calls are being reported.

MORE THREATS

Police guards were assigned yesterday to the Whitmore home, the Beesemyer residence and today a squad of armed guards will protect Beesemyer when he is taken into court. The last letter directed to Beesemyer in the County Jail reads:

"You dirty crook. Short shrift for you and if not for you, your dirty blood runs through your son's veins and to rid the community of this rotten strain will be my life's work.

"To think that a rotten crook can rob a sterling citizen of all his life's savings and turn him into a mad man out after blood to the last drop with the same sang-froid as you stole the last dollar of thousands of depositors.

"We want every cent on the dollar, I say 'we' because I am appointing myself the 'collector' Money or Blood.

"Just an average law-abiding citizen gone berserk."

Authorities working on the threatening letters announced last night that a number of the authors are now being traced and that arrests will be made if they are located.

STOCKHOLDERS DECIDE TO WATCH HEARINGS

At a meeting of a group of stockholders of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association last night at the Hollywood Secretarial School on Vine street it was decided to have a representative of the group attend receivership hearings before the Federal Court tomorrow and the Superior Court on Tuesday.

A. L. Lewis presided last night. Rev. Stewart P. MacLennan, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood, representing 500 stockholders with deposits of nearly $1,000,000; Clarence Kincaid, representing 700 American Legion depositors with deposits of several hundred thousand dollars; Paxton Dean, representing motion-picture producers with deposits of $500,000, and others representing a total amount of close to $3,000,000, according to Lewis, were present. The mass meeting scheduled for this evening at the First Presbyterian Church was called off.

"We do not know what sort of receivership will be best," said Lewis last night. "If it seems best we will back the action in the Federal court, and if that does not seem to meet the need we shall go before Judge Doran of the Superior Court Tuesday."

SANTA DISPLACED IN MEXICO

God of Aztecs Gift Bearer This Year

Quetzalcoatl

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—In other lands the bearer of gifts to children at Christmas may be known as Santa Claus or St. Nicholas, and represented as a rotund and red-faced little man whose eyes sparkle with kindness and good humor, but in Mexico this year he has been succeeded by Quetzalcoatl, beneficent god of the Aztecs.

Quetzalcoatl is neither rotund, red-faced nor jolly. In fact, he's a weird-looking chap and there is much speculation as to how the Mexican children will take to him. The Quetzalcoatl revival is the plan of the Nationalist party and has met with considerable opposition.

However, Quetzalcoatl will make his appearance in the great national stadium here next Tuesday and distribute gifts to poor children.

SHAW BACKS UP LEWIS

G. B. Says Nobel Prize Winner's Speech Panning American Literary Standards Was Wise

(Copyright, 1930, by the New York Times)

LONDON, Dec. 16. (Exclusive)—The New York Times correspondent asked Bernard Shaw this week for his opinion of Sinclair Lewis's address in Stockholm, in which the Nobel prize winner attacked the literary standards of America. This is Shaw's reply in his own handwriting:

"As far as I am qualified to judge, Mr. Sinclair Lewis has said just the right thing in the right way to the Swedish academy and at his own countrymen. They will not resent it. They expect to be flattered, but far from being grateful to their flatterers, they accept the tribute as a matter of course, just as they accept the cleaning of their boots at a hotel. To rouse their eager interest, their distinguished consideration and undying devotion all that is necessary is to hold them up to the ridicule of the rest of the universe.

"Dickens won them to him forever by merciless projections of typical Americans as windbags, swindlers and assassins. Mr. Sinclair Lewis has knocked Washington off his pedestal and substituted Babbitt, who is now a European byword. Thereby he has become so indisputably America's leading author that at the early age of 45 he has been marked out for the Nobel prize.

"I, myself, have been particularly careful never to say a civil word to the United States. I have scoffed at their inhabitants as a nation of villagers. I have defined the 100 per cent American as 99 per cent an idiot. And they just adore me and will go on adoring me until in a moment of senile sentimentality I say something nice about them, when they will at once begin to suspect me of being only a cheapskate after all, and drop me like a hot potato. Most of the things I say of them are obviously true of all peoples that on earth do dwell, but as the Americans can never believe that other nations could possibly resemble them, you get them every time, just as Mr. Sinclair Lewis does.

"I hope he will keep pegging away at them. Otherwise there will be no holding them."

PLANS FOR DAM APPROVED

ver on March 4, next. Meanwhile prospective bidders may receive copies of the specifications and forms for bidding by application at the Denver office of the Reclamation Service.

Calling for construction of coffer dams by not later than May 1, 1933, the plans require the placing of the first mass of concrete for the dam proper by not later than December 1, 1933, and provide for completion of five-sevenths of the dam by September 1, 1935.

POWER GENERATION

The government reserves the right to begin generating power when 495 feet depth of water has been stored. Power generation is expected to start twenty months before the dam is completed, with four units to be in operation. Two more units will be started within the next year.

The workers will live in Boulder City, a town to be built seven miles away. Plans for it were approved today by Secretary Wilbur, and it will be ready for laborers and officials within six months after the contract for building the dam is let.

Work on streets, lights, water supply and the sewage and sanitary system will be under way when the dam contract is awarded, Secretary Wilbur said, and homes will be ready for the 3000 to 4000 expected to occupy them in August or September.

UNION PACIFIC LINE TO BOULDER DAM SPEEDED

With 80 per cent of the roadbed completed and tracklaying crews of 200 men at work, the Union Pacific branch line to Boulder Dam will be ready for operation January 31, R. L. Adamson, chief engineer of the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad, western unit of the Union Pacific system, announced yesterday. This early completion of the railroad is in line with the government's program for expediting construction of the $165,000,000 Boulder Dam project.

First material to be transported over the Union Pacific branch line of 22.71 miles from Boulder Junction to Boulder City will be for the construction of Boulder City to house Boulder Dam workmen during the construction period. Due to the heavy traffic expected and as the line will become a permanent part of the Union Pacific system the twenty-two-mile line will be completed to conform to main-line standards by April 1, although operation of the line will start by the end of next month.

To supply the power for dam construction the Southern Sierras Power Company will start work January 1 on its power line to the dam site. This project will employ 250 men and represents an investment of $1,500,000. The line will follow a new route from the company's San Bernardino power center over the San Bernardino Mountains to the Victorville substation. From there the line will go via Daggett and Yermo in almost a direct line to the dam site.

DUCE VENTS HIS IRE ON AMERICA

peace and prepares feverishly for war, Il Duce said.

Mussolini said he has given orders passports may be issued to everybody who wants them for every country except the United States, explaining although many Italians have left their country, almost all of them have come back.

Another element adding to the nation's difficulties, the Premier said, is the hoarding of gold in the United States and France.

The Duce found little favor for the American economic policy, which he described as "mass production and mass consumption."

"This formula is a mistake," he said, "and they themselves recognize it.

HOOVER SCORES IN RELIEF FIGHT

Unemployment and Drought Aid Program Pushed

law appropriating the $100,000,000 food-relief fund for Europe in 1919 required an itemized accounting. He said Mr. Hoover had not made any and, therefore, he would vote against giving him a free hand in the allocation of the emergency construction fund.

Senator Glass, a Democrat, who was Secretary of the Treasury for a time under Woodrow Wilson, also deplored McKellar's outbursts, pointing out that Mr. Hoover had no free hand in spending the $100,000,000 fund in Europe and that Treasury agents supervised all the expenditures.

Sarcastically referring to McKellar's three or four-day tirade, Vandenberg said he could think of nothing more futile than an effort to "tarnish the reputation of Mr. Hoover as a war administrator and nothing that contributes less to the present situation."

It was Senator Glenn, however who hit back hardest at McKellar, flaying him unmercifully and charging that his assaults on the President "if not the act of ignorance, would be almost an act of treason."

SPADE CALLED SPADE

Glenn called a spade a spade in answering McKellar's veiled insinuations and declared the Tennesseean had charged Mr. Hoover "in effect with embezzlement." Instead of demanding an apology from the President because of his recent statement that some members of Congress were playing politics at the expense of human misery, Glenn declared that McKellar should himself apologize to the President for his unwarranted attacks.

Repeatedly the Illinoisan charged McKellar with making "bitter, personal, partisan attacks on the President instead of permitting the House and Senate to devote their time to dealing with the problems of human misery and suffering" represented in the administration relief program.

Referring to McKellar and a handful of other Senators who have been impeding progress on the relief measures with their long-winded speeches assailing the Executive, Glenn said:

IMPLICATION RESENTED

"They who would rather play poling, charge the President with eming, chcarge the President with embezzlement, misappropriation of public funds, with failure to account, with failure to file a report that it was the duty of another President to file.

"The only implication from the attack of the Senator is that Hoover is a dishonest man and I resent the implication and deny the insinuation and I believe that every true American will resent and deny it."

Glenn's reference to "another President" was to Woodrow Wilson of McKellar's own party.

Glenn declared that the McKellar charges had no place on the Senate floor and to the Tennesseean's statement that "since Mr. Hoover became President he entered upon a career of utter disregard for the proprieties" the Illinois Senator asserted it was "made in ignorance and spite." He paid tribute to Hoover's handling not only of the $100,000,000 war-time fund appropriated by this government to feed war-torn Europe, but also to his more recent work in connection with the Mississippi River flood problem.

FINAL BLOW

"And now," Glenn said, "as the result of the greatest administration in the interest of human suffering that ever has been known in all history, he is accused as a misappropriator of public funds, an official maliciously attacked and condemned on this floor."

It was shortly after this effective speech that the Senate decided not to insist longer on its amendment in the unemployment bill restricting Presidential powers. Wearily, the Senate then turned to arguments over the Cousens amendment in the same measure which requires of contractors that they employ local labor at the highest prevailing local wage. An effort to throw this provision out, as the House has demanded, finally was withdrawn and a compromise is expected in conference.

In the House balloting seventeen Republicans and Kvale, the lone Farmer-Laborite, bolted the administration to vote against substituting the $30,000,000 figure for drought relief, while six Democrats went over to the Republican side. On the passage of the substitute bill there were only six "noes"—four Republican and two Democratic.

HOOVER CREDITED WITH $500,000,000 PROGRAM

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18. (AP)—United States Senator James J. Davis said tonight President Hoover was planning a $500,000,000 program of public works in an effort to relieve the unemployment situation.

Addressing the New Jersey Society of Pennsylvania at its annual dinner, the junior Senator from Pensylvania and former Secretary of Labor under Hoover, did not go into details concerning the program, but declared Mr Hoover would "ask for and get $500,000,000 for public works of one kind or another before the end of the present Congress."

Senator Davis denounced the President's critics on the unemployment situation.

MOONEY PLANS PLEA TO ROLPH

Pardon to Be Asked Right After Inauguration

Sister of Convict Denounces Backers of Billings

Defense Committee Will Be Reorganized

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Tom Mooney, serving a life sentence in San Quentin prison for participation in the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing outrage, will urge Governor-elect Rolph, as soon as the latter becomes Governor, to grant him an immediate pardon.

This announcement, together with a bitter denunciation of labor union leaders and all those who urged Warren K. Billings to make his recent pardon application to the State Supreme Court justices, was issued tonight by Annie Mooney, sister of Tom Mooney, and the new secretary of the Mooney's Molders' Defense Committee. Miss Mooney announced the defense committee is being reorganized preparatory to another campaign for funds. She declared the committee is "penniless and is fighting opposition from the Billings committee."

Recently Billings announced he has broken with Mooney and that he will form his own committee with his cousin, Madeline Wieland, as its head.

OPPOSED BY MOONEY

Miss Mooney declared there was expended about $9000 in the Billings hearing. In a statement headed "Mooney Defense Committee's Reply to Billings Withdrawal," it is stated the committee "was in no way responsible for the second presentation of the Billings case—in fact, it was strongly opposed by Tom Mooney, who pleaded with Mary Gallagher (secretary of the Mooney committee, who was recently asked to resign by Mooney,) who was in on this betrayal, not to let them present the Billings case for a second time" until a course of action could be agreed upon.

Miss Mooney charges that Fremont Older, editor of the Call-Bulletin, got Billings's consent to have his rehearing petition filed with the justices in spite of an agreement between Mooney and Billings of eight years' standing "that they together would decide what best would serve their cause." She also attacks Older, Edwin V. McKenzie, attorney for Billings; Mary Gallagher and Billings himself for "abandoning" the frame-up contentions made by the two prisoners in the past. The "frame-up" contention was abandoned by those mentioned during the presentation of testimony by the various witnesses during the proceedings before the State Supreme Court justices.

WORK DEMORALIZED

"The defense is now without funds and its work demoralized and corrupted and all of the committee's property, records and equipment and bank account are tied up by Mary Gallagher, whom Tom Mooney fired for betraying him into the hands of the crooked labor politicians who are now endeavoring to use the Mooney-Billings case as a 'buffer' to protect their best interests for the next four years," declares the statement issued by Miss Mooney.

Miss Mooney charges that "labor politicians" will use the Mooney-Billings case to try and embarrass Governor-elect Rolph.

"They will try to use the Mooney-Billings case indirectly—that is the real reason for the Billings split," declares Miss Mooney's statement. "They first hoped to use Tom Mooney," she declares, "but he saw through their plan and would not go for it—now they have organized a committee with the avowed purpose as stated by Madeline Weiland, to work for the freedom of Billings and, if necessary, to fight Mooney."

Miss Mooney characterized the second Billings pardon application proceedings as a "stupid blunder."

WOMEN OF NATION IN LAW DRIVE

Mrs. Strawbridge Gives Word of Mobilization of Sex Back of Enforcement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—A mobilization of women's forces throughout the country behind the "whole law-enforcement question," of which prohibition is described as only a part, was proclaimed tonight by Mrs. Ruth G. K. Strawbridge, Philadelphia society leader.

Mrs. Strawbridge was a guest at the White House dinner in honor of Vice-President Curtis. Some time ago a plea from her that society matrons stop serving liquor at their social functions gained wide publicity. Asked if she would speak of such a plan to the President, she said one "couldn't say."

"While originally the summons I issued to the women who are the social leaders in their own communities, suggesting that they set examples in obedience to the law," she said, "was based upon the desire to give prohibition its chance and to stem the tide of liquor lawlessness among the privileged groups of the nation, a still more significant need is stimulating the responses which are continually coming in great numbers from every section of the country.

"There is no grand-stand play being made today by the American women in support of this cause. They are not taking straw votes or polls among themselves. They are not addressing public gatherings. In short they are not doing any advertising at all. They are, however, manifesting the same determination and the same steadfast resolution which characterized the women of earlier days."

RAILWAY TO CUT WAGES

HARBIN (Manchuria) Dec. 18. (AP) The Chinese Eastern Railway has announced its intention of reducing the wages of all employees, effective January 1, with proportionate cuts in fuel and food allowances now granted the workers. A 30 per cent slump in business is given as the reason.

ROMANCE HINTED IN AIR JAUNT

Helen Morgan and Loew, With Hal Roach, on Way Back From Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Arthur Loew, vice-president of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation; Hal Roach, producer of comedies, and Helen Morgan, stage actress, departed for the United States this afternoon after a three-day visit here.

The party traveled to Mexico City in Loew's private plane by way of Tampico. Efforts were made to keep the presence of Miss Morgan a secret and her arrival was not announced. Her identity was not established until after the plane had departed.

There were reports that Loew and Miss Morgan had visited here to get married, but this could not be verified. It is known that they have been seen frequently together in New York.

DIVORCE RECENTLY GRANTED AT RENO

Arthur Loew was divorced at Reno, Nev., on the 9th inst. by Mrs. Mildred Loew, only daughter of Adolph Zudor, the producer. At the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios it was said yesterday that Loew was believed to be in the East, although reports had been heard he and Hal Roach had gone to Mexico.

RED CAMPS BOMBED BY AIRPLANES

Chinese Federal Flyers Kill 500 Communists in Hunan Province

SHANGHAI, Dec. 18. (AP)—Nationalist government military aviators in the twenty-four-hour period ending at 11 o'clock tonight killed 500 Communists in Northern Hunan Province by flying over the Red-infested area and dropping bombs.

The bombing attack took place in the area in which the Reds recently slew hundreds of persons in capturing the cities of Lichow, Tsingshih and Kungan.

Despite the aerial attack the Reds continued their depredations. Red cannoneers along the Yangtze River continued to menace shipping.

Advices from Southern Kiangsi Province today indicated Communists had not captured the city of Kanchow. Unconfirmed reports last Tuesday indicated the Reds had taken the town after having subjected it to disturbances over a long period. Many British and American missionaries are stationed there.

NEW EXCLUSION PLAN PROPOSED

Cut Based on National Origin Method Suggested

Scheme Offered Congress by Stimson and Doak

War Department Voices Plea for Filipino

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—A horizontal cut of 90 per cent in all immigration based on the national origins method of selection was suggested by Secretaries Stimson and Doak today if Congress intends enacting any such legislation to aid employment.

The State and Labor Department heads registered their opposition before the Senate Immigration committee to the Reed bill to bar all immigration, except relatives of foreign-born American citizens, for two years.

Stimson said this measure, as well as the Johnson bill now pending in the House, will "destroy" the existing national origins selective policy by allowing an increasing number of relatives to come in from Southern Europe and fewer kin from the Northern European countries, reversing the policy of existing law.

FLOOD OF APPLICANTS

Enough applications from relatives already are on file to absorb existing quotas, he said.

Doak said his department is in "substantial agreement" with the State Department.

The War Department's opposition to the bills also was given through Brig.-Gen. F. L. Parker, chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs. Speaking for Secretary Hurley, he voiced "definite nonconcurrence" in the provision applying the emergency bars to Filipinos. He doubts whether this exclusion would "compensate for the advantage of a very slight increase in American employment."

Stimson made it plain he was not advocating the 90 per cent cut as a new policy, but simply as a plan which he believes better than the proposed legislation.

REED GETS SHOCK

The present ratio of European immigration, he said, is 5 to 1 in favor of Northern Europe. The Johnson bill, he added, would change this to 2 to 3 and the Reed bill to 1 to 13.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, author of the exclusion resolution, expressed "great shock" at this calculation.

Stimson also warned that the possibility of "retaliation" must be considered in any such legislation.

Asked how he would apply his proposed 90 per cent cut to Canada, Mexico and South and Central American countries, whose immigrants are not under quota restrictions, Stimson said he would reduce that immigration from the totals which would have been allowed each of those countries in the last fiscal year had the national origins quota law applied.

STEEG CABINET GIVEN SUPPORT

First Vote of Confidence Won by Small Margin

Three Officials Quit Just as Policy Is Offered

Tardieu Refrains From Part in Heated Debate

PARIS, Dec. 18. (AP) — Premier Theodore Steeg and his six-day-old Cabinet today captured a vote of confidence by a majority of only seven votes in their first appearance before a hostile Chamber of Deputies.

The vote was 291 against 284, and the oppositionists vowed they would overthrow the new Ministry after the new year's recess.

Steeg's day began in an air of pessimism. After much effort last week he finally formed a Ministry to succeed that of Andre Tardieu and immediate attacks and defections began. The situation was made worse by the resignation of three officials just before the Cabinet went before the Chamber with its initial declaration of policy.

THREE OFFICIALS QUIT

The Minister of Pensions, Robert Thoumyre; Rene Coty, Undersecretary of State for the Interior, and Camille Cautru, Undersecretary for Agriculture, quit. As representatives of the Republicans of the left and moderate center groups they opposed M. Steeg's ministerial declaration in favor of laical schools as opposed to the giving of religious instruction.

But this very thing won the favor of the left groups, which staged a demonstration of enthusiasm.

The intervention of former Premier Edouard Herriot was viewed as another factor in the victory. In an impassioned appeal M. Herriot called on the Chamber not to precipitate another ministerial crisis at this stage of affairs, and his plea appeared to carry a lot of weight with the hesitating members of the moderate parties.

VOTING HECTIC

Observers believed also the very ferocity of an attack by Louis Marin, who scored the Steeg combination caustically on behalf of the right parties, defeated its own ends.

The voting was hectic, so much so, stuffing of the ballot boxes gave rise to an early report the government had been defeated by ten votes.

It was noted M. Tardieu, retiring Premier and leader of the opposition in the Chamber, scrupulously refrained from intervention in the debate. Throughout the six-hour sitting he remained in his seat, saying not a word and making not a sign.

M. Steeg's tenure in office is likely to be marked by continuance of the policy of conciliation toward foreign countries inaugurated several years ago by Aristide Briand, who appears to be the irremovable Foreign Minister no matter what elements support the government.

GHOST ACCUSES MAJ. SHEPARD

Wife's Charges of Poisoning Told by Witnesses

Rebuttal Testimony Defends Suspect's Dead Mate

Army Man's Case May Go to Jurors Tomorrow

KANSAS CITY (Kan.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Two witnesses testified today in the murder trial of Maj. Charles A. Shepard that his wife stated before her death she had been poisoned.

The testimony of Mrs. Shepard's purported declarations included one asserted direct accusation against her husband, which the court ruled out as improper evidence.

Miss Clara Brown of Topeka, Kan., a nurse who attended Mrs. Shepard, and Sergt. J. E. Gresser, attached to the army medical laboratory at Fort Riley, Kan., provided the highlights of the government's final efforts to convict the army medical officer of murdering his wife at Fort Riley in June, 1929.

"Dr. Shepard has poisoned me," the nurse testified Mrs. Shepard told her.

SERGEANT TESTIFIES

Judge Hopkins ordered the jury to disregard the nurse's statement when the defense objected such evidence was improper. Defense attorneys said it constituted an unsupported opinion on the part of the deceased, if such a remark had been made.

Miss Brown quoted Mrs. Shepard as making the declaration after the patient asked her to obtain a liquor bottle from Maj. Shepard's closet and bring it to the bedside. The witness said she smelled the contents at the request of Mrs. Shepard and had pronounced the odor "peculiar."

Sergt. Gresser testified he talked to Mrs. Shepard five days after she was stricken.

"Mrs. Shepard told me she was being poisoned," he said without amplifying the purported statement.

CASE NEARING END

The witnesses were called in rebuttal by the prosecution after the defense rested by placing on the stand several physicians who stated that from the evidence they would not pronounce Mrs. Shepard's death due to mercurial poisoning as charged by the government.

It appeared likely tonight that final arguments will begin tomorrow with the case going to the jury some time Saturday.

The government put on a dozen witnesses in rebuttal to counter the defense testimony that Mrs. Shepard was a heavy drinker, addicted to narcotics and melancholy.

Most of them were wives of army officers. They testified that to their knowledge the major's wife did not drink to excess, that she was normal, and that she always appeared sober and well in public.

PRISONERS MAY OUST "CUT-UP"

Fund Being Raised in Jail to Bring About His Parole Because of Pranks

WHEELING (W. Va.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Because Charlie Clark won't behave himself they want to put him out of the Ohio County Jail.

Fellow-prisoners, who protest they cannot stand his jokes and pranks any longer, are raising a $25 fund to hire a lawyer to obtain a parole for him, Chief Jailer Muhlman said today.

Since Charlie arrived several weeks ago he has cut up something awful, it is said. His latest prank, according to jail attaches, was to stuff cell locks with wire and pieces of wood. It took a locksmith three hours to undo the damage.

Woman Seeks Large Share in Hopkins Estate

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Mrs. Lela Martin Broderick, Yolo county, today sought authority to administer $50,000,000 of the "unadministered estate" of the late Mark Hopkins, California pioneer.

Mrs. Martin asserted her great-great-grandfather was Mark Hopkins's father. She appeared in Superior Court accompanied by sixteen persons who said they were distant relatives of the pioneer. The petitioner said when Moses Hopkins closed up the affairs of the Hopkins estate on November 1, 1883, he left a part of the estate unadministered.

Mrs. Martin claimed real estate valued at $30,000,000 and personal property valued at $20,000,000 were not administered by Moses Hopkins.

BANKRUPTCY QUIZ LAUDED

Business Associations Back Federal Inquiry

More Than $1,000,000 in 1929 Cases

Tremendous Rise Revealed in Last Decade

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Justice Department's investigation of bankruptcy, authorized by the White House, today received the backing of five business associations representing 975,000 members, following an estimate from Solicitor-General Thacher that bankruptcy cases had risen into the billion-dollar class last year.

The Solicitor-General said it would be impossible to complete the nation-wide survey for at least another month. The survey thus far, he said, has revealed that nearly $4,000,000,000 worth of claims have been wiped out through bankruptcy during the past five years, jumping from around $200,000,000 in 1920 to approximately $1,000,000,000 last year. He estimated these 1929 liabilities had originated mainly before the business depression.

Thacher conferred today with a committee of five, including William C. Fraser, president of the National Association of Credit Men; James R. Hewitt, chairman of the legislative committee of the National Retail Credit Association; R. V. Fleming, representing the American Bankers' Association; F. H. Burns, representing the National Association of Manufacturers, and Lloyd K. Garrison, special assistant to the Attorney-General, who is helping conduct the investigation. Julius H. Burns, chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, was represented.

The committee pledged its co-operation and formed an organization to gather statistics.

Later the members received an expression of appreciation from President Hoover at the White House and in turn voted their thanks for being consulted by the Justice Department in what was termed the "first real effort to see what the history of bankruptcy has been."

FUND THEFT REVEALED

CLARK DECISION APPEAL FILED

Dry Amendment Case Taken to Highest Tribunal

Errors Charged in Finding Against Prohibition

Judge in Padlocking Ignores Questioned Ruling

NEWARK (N. J.) Dec. 18. (AP)—The Federal government today appealed to the United States Supreme Court from Judge Clark's decision finding the Eighteenth Amendment invalid.

Philip Forman, Federal District Attorney who prosecuted the case of the United States against William Sprague and William Howey, the case in which Federal Judge Clark rendered his decision, made the appeal today.

Judge Clark signed two orders. One, at the request of Sprague's counsel, quashed the indictment against Sprague, who was charged with illegal transportation of beer. The other, at the request of the District Attorney, provided for the appeal going directly to the Supreme Court without the usual intermediate stop at the Circuit Court of Appeals.

POINTS RAISED

Forman then attached to the papers filed with the District Court clerk his preliminary assignment of points on which his appeal will be based. The papers then were forwarded to the clerk of the United States Supreme Court at Washington.

The papers headed "Assignment of Errors," read:

"The court erred in allowing the motion of the defendant in the above case (motion for quashing of indictment.)

"The court erred in directing the indictment in the case be quashed.

"The court erred in ruling the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is invalid and that the national prohibition act pursuant thereto therefore is unconstitutional and void."

HASTE PLANNED

Forman said the Solicitor-General of the United States, eager as are the defense attorneys to bring the case to early trial, plans to have the case moved up on the calendar from its normal position.

In this manner the uncertainty pursuant upon the Clark decision will be clarified.

The opinion of Judge Clark was that the amendment should have been submitted to the people for ratification through convention and not to their Legislature.

CHICAGO JUDGE HOLDS OPINION "WITHOUT MERIT"

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Federal Judge Lindley, in a formal opinion today, characterized attacks on validity of the Eighteenth Amendment along the lines advanced by Federal Judge Clark of New Jersey as "without merit." In the first test of Judge Clark's opinion in the Federal courts in Chicago, Judge Lindley overruled a motion to quash an indictment charging George Morris with the operation of a still.

Judge Lindley declared the method of adopting amendments by the ratification of State legislatures had been upheld by the Supreme Court in 1920, and quoted from Justice Day's opinion:

OPINION PRESENTED IN BREWERY CLOSING

CAMDEN (N. J.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Federal Judge Avis today filed his formal opinion in the Rising Sun Brewery padlocking case, stating he will follow the pronouncement of the United States Supreme Court on the validity of the Eighteenth Amendment until that court changes its ruling or Congress changes the present situation.

Judge Avis yesterday refused to quash padlocking proceedings against the brewery, located at Elizabeth, N. J., and after hearing argument on the merits of the evidence continued the proceedings until January 16, 1931.

LEAGUE FIGHTS GANG RULE

Society Organized in New York Would Put End to Racketeering in Large Cities

ALBANY (N. Y.) Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—The Anti-Gang Rule League of America was incorporated here today in the office of the Secretary of State. Its purpose is to control and eliminate so far as possible the activities of gangsters and racketeers. Its work is to be carried on in New York and all the other principal cities of the country.

Incorporation papers were filed by Clarence R. Freeman, an attorney of New York City.

The incorporators are: Inez P. Brookfield of the Breslin Hotel, New York; Clarie T. Lyons of Buffalo, Eugene Arnfield of New York, Herbert Myren of Queens and Charles J. Zeller of the Bronx. The directors are the first three incorporators and Nelson G. Kennedy of Chicago and Edwin J. Brookfield of Milwaukee.

LEAGUE'S PURPOSES

The purposes of the league, as set forth in the incorporation papers are:

"To enlist as members all loyal citizens who are devoted to and willing to work for the cause of better government, regardless of political affiliation, race, creed or color, with a view of forming an association, national in scope, to oppose and so far as possible eliminate gang rule and racketeering, especially in the larger cities of the country.

WOULD AID LAW

"To devise ways to use all lawful methods for prosecuting and strengthening national, State and municipal legislation, the administration of justice, and efficient police methods to control and eliminate criminal, disorderly and disloyal association, gangs, and mobs, and all their members, and the elimination of societies that resort to violence, intimidation, bribery, corruption and other means to interfere with peace, good law and order.

"To endeavor to enlist the active co-operation of all loyal citizens and the co-operation and help of other clubs, societies and organizations organized for similar purposes."

The new league will establish its main office in New York City and plans branches in all large cities.

POISON LIQUOR INQUIRY BEGUN

Doran Believes Antifreeze Solutions to Blame

Preparations Not Subject to Federal Control

Mixture Made of Synthetic Wood Alcohol, He Says

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Numerous reports of death from alcohol poisoning has caused the Industrial Alcohol Bureau of the Treasury to take steps to determine the source of the beverage which it believes to be synthetic wood alcohol manufactured and sold without government supervision.

Commissioner Doran, in a letter to Senator Phipps, Colorado, called attention to the reports, saying the mixture sold as industrial solvent and antifreeze solution is not "amenable to any Federal statute."

"As to this latter material, namely, methanol, not now under government control, I believe there is presented a very serious problem and its seriousness lies in the fact of its wide sale and ready accessibility to the general public through thousands of garages and filling stations," Doran said.

"Knowing as I do that some people drink a denatured alcohol mixture regardless of its repulsive character I am alarmed at the reports of fatalities due to this synthetic wood alcohol."

Use of the solution increased with the coming of cold weather and brought large numbers of reports of deaths.

Doran today issued orders effective January 1, alcotate—the newly discovered denaturant—must replace wood alcohol in the formulae for rendering alcohol unfit to drink.

FIREBUG GAINS REVENGE ON KIN

Escaped Maniac Burns Down Home of Brother

Woman and Seven Children Barely Escape

Alarm Box Wires Cut and Fire Plug Broken

BELMORE (L. I.) Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Joe Kaylor, escaped maniac, revenged himself upon his sane brother John today by burning down the latter's North Belmore home and almost burning to death the brother's wife and seven children.

Flames set by the fugitive from the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane razed the Kaylor bungalow because the cunning, embittered madman not only cut the wires of the fire alarm box nearest his brother's home, but also broke off the nearest fire plug so that it, too, was useless.

Nassau county detectives believe the Matteawan escapee not only burned the home, but gleefully watched its destruction from some hiding place near by while his brother and neighbors carried Mrs. Kaylor and the children to safety.

Kaylor, one of the three maniacs still at large of the seven who escaped from Matteawan on the 4th inst., is regarded as the most dangerous. He terrorized North Belmore with his career of arson before he was committed last January. His brother John aided in sending him away, and the maniac's threat then was that if he ever got out he'd "get even." As a result, ever since Kaylor escaped his brother's family has been in terror.

Anne Nichols Plans Appeal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—"Abie's Irish Rose" is going to have a hearing before the Supreme Court, but its run probably won't last as long as it did on Broadway.

Anne Nichols, author of the play, is preparing to ask the court to review Federal court decisions that Universal Pictures Corporation, Carl Laemmle and a few others did not infringe her copyright with their picture "The Cohens and Kellys."

GIANT DIRIGIBLE MAY BE NAMED MONTEREY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—One of the two giant dirigibles being built for the Navy at Akron, O., may be christened the Monterey after the first capital of California. Senator Shortridge suggested the name to the Navy Department and was informed today by Assistant Secretary Ingalls in charge of aeronautics that it is being seriously considered.

HOOVER SOLVES HARD PROBLEM

He's Found How to Give Forty Lincoln Day Speeches; He'll Use Radio

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP) President Hoover has solved the problem of how to be in forty different places at one time without going anywhere.

He had received forty invitations to deliver Lincoln Day speeches in as many places.

He will use the radio and make the speech from the Lincoln Study of the White House on the night of February 12. It was there that President Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation and where he held his Cabinet meetings.

ROAD FUND FOR STATE BUDGETED

Total of $63,322,500 for Highways Favored; Action Up to Rolph Group

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 18. (AP)—The California Highway Commission formally recommended today a $63,322,500 budget for all State road purposes and from all funds for the ensuing two fiscal years. The budget was presented to the commission with the recommendation of Bert B. Meek, director of the Department of Public Works, and C. H. Purcell, State Highway Engineer.

The recommended budget is to be presented to Gov. Young and the State Department of Finance and copies will be sent to Governor-elect Rolph, and Col. Walter Garrison whom Rolph has selected as Meek's successor.

Final decision upon project items included in the budget will rest with Rolph, Col. Garrison and the incoming highway commission.

ALHAMBRA UPHELD IN REALTY FEE FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (AP)—The State Appellate Court held today the city of Alhambra cannot be held liable for a $5050 real estate agent's commission sought by N. W. Milligan. Milligan sued Alhambra city after the city accepted his bid on the Tricity Farms, and then rescinded the action. The lower court found in favor of the city and the Appellate Court affirmed the judgment.

HOUSE OF LORDS SCORES VICTORY

Commons Defeated in Row Over Dyestuffs Law

Disputed Act Prolonged for Another Year

MacDonald's Government Forced to Give In

LONDON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The House of Lords, which is regarded by many Englishmen as a quaint survival of no particular political significance, today won a great victory over the House of Commons, and the Ramsey MacDonald Labor government in particular.

Announcement that the upper house had won its point was made in the Commons tonight by William Graham, president of the Board of Trade, who said the administration intends to agree with the Lords on an amendment which prolongs the controversial dyestuffs act for another year.

This will be inserted in the expiring laws continuance bill and thus will retain dyestuffs duties which normally would have expired January 15 for twelve months longer. The government had intended that the dyestuffs act should die a natural death on that date.

Mr. Graham explained the Cabinet position thus:

Had the government disagreed with the Lords a second time—as was done last night, when it received only a majority of six votes from the House of Commons in support of its attitude—this would have meant the loss of the entire expiring laws bill, which includes prolongation of the rent restrictions act and other measures the government is anxious to maintain.

For this reason, he continued, the government had no other course than to accept its position.

The government surrender did away with the necessity of taking a vote in the House of Commons and the expiring laws continuance bill, with prolongation of the dyestuff act included, now goes on the statute books.

COMMONER AND LORD ENGAGE IN HEATED CLASH

LONDON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The aristocracy and the proletariat clashed in the British House of Commons tonight.

Jack Jones, former guilder's laborer of West Ham, and Lord Eustace Percy, a son of the great house of Percy, lords traditional of Northumberland, got into a heated debate over education—so heated that Jones issued a challenge that they continue it by appointment outside the House.

The measure under decision was the education bill, which raises the school-leaving age from 14 to 15 years and authorizes grants to parents in poor circumstances of 5 shillings weekly for each child coming within the provisions of the bill, that is, between 14 and 15 years of age.

Conservative speakers attacked the grants as being an unwarranted "sop to parents" and submitted an amendment limiting the grants to five years. Jones and other Laborites charged the Conservatives wished to deny the children of the poor the benefits of education which they themselves have enjoyed.

"I will arrange to meet you at any place you may name in Britain and argue it out," Jones shouted afted a heated exchange with Lord Eustace Percy.

But the Deputy Speaker here turned the arguments into the paths of order.

The Conservative amendment was rejected by a vote of 249 to 112.

PRINCE RIDES IN SUBWAY

Fog Forces King's Youngest Son to Abandon His Auto

LONDON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Prince George, youngest son of the British ruler, bought a 5-cent subway ticket and went to a fashionable West End dance last night on the public underground conveyance.

He started out in an automobile, but so dense was the fog he got nowhere. None of the people in the subway car appeared to recognize the royal passenger and he arrived at his dance without further incident.

RAIL RATE SCHEDULE SUSPENDED

Citrus Fruit Shippers Win Ruling Regulating Use of Containers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Revised freight-rate schedules on citrus fruits shipped in boxes from southwestern destinations in carlots today have been suspended by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The suspension is from the 19th inst. until July 19, 1931.

Shippers complained that under the order fixing the revised rates they were deprived of the right to ship fruits packed in baskets, bulk or otherwise except at a higher rate, whereas shippers in other sections of the country could use baskets.

The shipments to which the order applied originated on the Missouri Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads.

LEEDS FAVORED FOR STATE POST

Local Attorney Expected to Be Rolph Appointee

Indorsed for Corporation Commissionership

Adams of U.C. Mentioned as Hecke Successor

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Walter R. Leeds, Sr., prominent Los Angeles attorney and known throughout California as a leader in Republican party activities, probably will be asked by Governor-elect Rolph to accept appointment as State Corporation Commissioner, it was learned here today.

Leeds, although not a candidate for the place, has been strongly recommended to the incoming Governor by representative lawyers, bankers and business men throughout the State.

CAMPAIGN LEADER

The Los Angeles attorney has been identified with political, legal and civic affairs in his home community and in the State for many years. He served several years ago in the State Assembly and has since devoted most of his time to the practice of law. Leeds is said to have conferred with Mayor Rolph in San Francisco within the last forty-eight hours.

During the recent gubernatorial campaign he was executive head of the Rolph-for-Governor organization in Southern California.

ADAMS FAVORED

Richard L. Adams, professor of farm management at the University of California, with a national reputation as an agricultural economist, appears to have the inside track for appointment as State Director of Agriculture to succeed George H. Hecke, resigned. Although Adams's name has not been mentioned heretofore, he looks strongest for the post at the present time as a compromise candidate because of distinct opposition to Dudley Moulton, San Francisco county agricultural commissioner, and some Northern California opposition to A. A. Brock of Orange county.

A. B. Miller, newly appointed president of the State Agricliture Society and member of the State Board, discussed the situation in detail with the next Governor today, during which sentiment for Moulton and Brock was gone over carefully. At the conclusion of the session Mayor Rolph said Adams's name had been suggested. No commitment was announced but the circumstances indicate Adams will be the choice if he will accept.

Adams is one of the suggestions of the State Board of Agriculture now meeting at Los Angeles Miller said.

FONTANA MAN NAMED AS CONDEE SUCCESSOR

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Gov. Young announced today the appointment of A. B. Miller of Fontana, San Bernardino county, to succeed Robert Condee, Chino, as president of the State Agricultural Society. This position carries with it the position as regent of the University of California as well as chairmanship of the board. Condee died recently. Mr. Miller will serve through the remainder of Mr. Condee's term, which expires February 1, next.

ROLPH WILL LEND HAND TO AVIATION

Governor-elect Plans to Foster Industry by Use of Gasoline Tax

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Legislation will be sponsored by the Rolph administration to develop the aviation industry in California through the retention and use of revenues derived from the State tax on gasoline consumed by airplanes, according to Rolland A. Vandegrift, Governor-elect Rolph's budget maker. Under the present law airplane owners are entitled to a refund on the State gas tax because the purpose of the levy is to construct and maintain highways. The refund to the plane owners averages about $70,000 a year.

"So long as the gasoline tax money is used by the State to develop air transportation by laying out landing fields, airports, etc.," said Vandegrift, "I am sure that the proposed legislation would be favored by the airplane industry.

"The $70,000 a year that is now refunded to plane owners, because the object of the law is to build highways by taxing those who use them, could be most profitably used by the State to build up the aviation industry in California."

Vandegrift said Rolph is an air-travel enthusiast and that he is determined to do everything possible to help the industry during his incumbency.

Slaying of Five Bandits Lauded

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—One particularly efficient method of ridding Chicago of bandits, Acting Police Commissioner John Alcock says, is to kill them.

Commenting tonight on the slaying of five robbers during the past twenty-four hours, Alcock said:

"I believe the killing of these bandits, every one of whom was slain while in the act of attempting hold-ups, will do more to suppress crime in Chicago than anything that has happened in this city in a long time."

STOLEN WATCH FOUND, FIFTEEN YEARS LATER

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18. (AP)—Fifteen years ago J. F. Bickerstaff reported his watch was lost or stolen. Today it was discovered in a pawn shop. Now the police can't find Bickerstaff.

Guerlain parfumeur Paris

a Gift, Messieurs, of Kingly Elegance

There are very few priceless things in all the world. One of them is the finest perfume. It does seem dear, in its bulkless bottle, but all the rubies in the world could not command a finer perfume than Guerlain. For it is one of the few things, absolute in its perfection, that tinges with elegance the act of giving.

LIU (above). Guerlain's newest perfume, has a strange and modern charm, and if newness is to be an added virtue of your gift, Liu is an offering without compare . $30.00

TALC GLOBE (below). In its glistening universe, a talcum, soft, impalpable, and a luxurious down puff. Odeurs: Shalimar, L'Heure Bleue, Rue de la Paix, Mitsouko. $9.00

MISSION PLAY BILL ON RADIO

McGroarty and Scott Will Speak Over KHJ

MacLean to Give Part of Junipero Serra Role

All-Spanish Musical Setting Listed as Feature

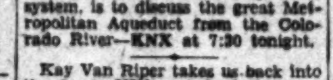
The Times Forum, KHJ, 1:30 p.m. Anton Chris, steel guitarist; Dr. Philip M. Lovell, editor of Care of the Body in The Sunday Times. World Wide News, 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

With an appeal for the continuation of the Mission Play in 1931, a feature program will be presented over KHJ between 8:30 and 9:30 tonight. John Steven McGroarty, author of the play, Father St. John O'Sullivan of San Juan Capistrano, and Joseph Scott, are to speak. An excerpt from the production will be given by R. D. MacLean, who for six years has played the part of Father Junipero Serra, and William Ellingford, who depicts Gaspar de Portola.

The musical setting is to be entirely Spanish, the Don Lee Orchestra supporting Lucille Gibbs, soprano, in "La Golondrina" and "La Paloma." Salvador Baguez, baritone, is to sing "La Estrellita" and Jose Arias and his Mexican ensemble will render the kind of music that dominated when the missions of California were at the height of their endeavors.

Lovers of California should find an appeal in this program, given to foster the best interests of the State. Our canary, Radio Kindness, and your humble scribe will be master of ceremonies.



They tell us that—

High school and college students are urged to dial NBC's Radio Guild—KECA at 1 p.m. "Milestones" will be the drama and Tom Powers, long known on Broadway as a character actor, is to play the lead.

The final performance of the Radio Follies from New York will feature George Jessel, stage and film star — KHJ at 7 p.m. Lively bits from Broadway shows.

The proof of the act is in the hearing—Bert Butterworth and his optimistic Do-nuts—they have been on KNX for seven years. Same station — same sponsors — same Bert. You have to be good to do that.

Thaddeus Merriman, chief engineer of the New York City water system, is to discuss the great Metropolitan Aqueduct from the Colorado River—KNX at 7:30 tonight.

Kay Van Riper takes us back into the Louis XIV period of France—KFWB at 9:30 p.m. "A Cloisonne Snuff Box"—intriguing title—a little drama woven about Louis' brilliant, dissolute life while his government crumbled.

KMTR at 10:30 tonight—in capital letters they send to us "DEACON BROWN AND HIS PEACE MAKERS"—Honey Boy Evans heads it and the interlocutor and Mr. Bones will be there.

"Little Enough"—a light comedy-drama—KTM's Players at 10 p.m. To enjoy this radio drama be on hand when the curtain goes up at 10 p.m. sharp.

SPANISH REGIME QUELLS REVOLT

Order Gradually Restored Throughout Country

Strikes in Provinces Show Decline in Fury

Thirty-six Dead Listed in Industrial Disputes

MADRID, Dec. 18. (AP)—The strong hand of the Spanish government tonight was gradually restoring order throughout the country, torn by civil strife after Monday's abortive revolt.

In Madrid it had succeeded completely and the city is going about its affairs as if there had been no such incident as the brief rising at Cuatro Vientos airfield when rebel leaders proclaimed the end of the monarchy and the establishment of a republic.

STRIKES PETER OUT

This was also largely true in the provincial centers, where those general strikes which were proclaimed Tuesday and yesterday, had either ended or are petering out.

There was no report of fighting anywhere in Spain.

With the return to normal life the country began counting casualties of the disturbances of the last three days and found thirty-six persons had died and forty-two had been wounded. Authorities emphasized all the deaths and woundings took place in industrial disputes and none in military operations.

JAILS CROWDED

The fighting at Jaca Friday and Saturday when loyal troops dispersed rebels who had raised the standard of revolution was said to have cost eleven dead and fifty-four wounded.

Although immediate danger from strikes and civil unrest appeared to have ended, heavy detachments of troops are on duty in every point where trouble might flare up again.

The jails are full of persons arrested in connection with the recent agitations and the government made it plain any future disturbances will be dealt with rapidly and severely.

THREE KILLED WHEN STRIKES ATTACK GUARD

ALICANTE (Spain) Dec. 18. (AP)—Dispatches from Aspe say that three persons were killed there today in a clash between strikers and civil guards who had just arrived from Novelda to reinforce the Aspe garrison.

Strikers fired into the oncoming guard detachment, wounding a lieutenant, and in a return fusillade the victims fell, one of them a child. Five others were wounded.

MAJ. FRANCO SEEKS TO END INTERNMENT

LISBON (Portugal) Dec. 18. (AP)—Maj. Ramon Franco, interned Spanish airman and central figure in the abortive revolutionary attempt at Madrid Monday, revealed to the Associated Press today he had remained in Madrid between the time of his sensational escape from prison recently and the outbreak of the revolt.

He said he escaped from prison by means of a double cord which he pulled down after touching the ground, thus leaving no trace of his means of flight. He stayed with friends in Madrid until he went to Cuatro Vientos air field Monday morning to proclaim the setting up of a republic.

It was understood this evening that while Franco's request for permission to go to France is being considered by Portuguese authorities it probably will be refused.

The aviator-revolutionist appeared depressed at the events in Spain, refused to believe the republican movement had been crushed beyond hope.

"Our first attempt has failed," he said, "but the movement continues."

Maj. Franco's idea for constitutional changes in Spain involves establishment of a parliamentary republic of federated states with Catalonia under an autonomous administration. Concerning the plea for separation of Catalonia from Spain, he said: "Monarchists and republicans are as one in dismissing such an idea as an impossibility. When a republic is established in Spain, and I hope that won't be long, there will be a separation of church and state."

PLEAS FOR HIGH RADIO POWER FAIL

Commission Turns Down Advice of Examiner for Blanket Increase

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Radio Commission today refused to permit a blanket increase in high-powered stations broadcasting on cleared channels and ordered its chief examiner, Ellis A. Yost, to submit recommendations for filling present clear channel vacancies only.

It rejected a report in which Yost proposed the applications of twenty stations for cleared channels and 50,000 watts be granted.

The action meant the commission would not accept at this time Yost's recommendation that it amend its order requiring only four channels in each of the five zones be utilized by stations with 50,000 watts.

The commission denied the petition of twelve large radio stations that the order be amended to permit stations upon cleared channels to operate with 50,000 watts before action upon the examiner's report.

The action does not mean eventually the stations may not have their applications acted upon favorably but until the commission amends its order only enough of the applications will be granted to fill the six remaining open positions.

The stations whose petitions were rejected included KGO, Oakland; KOA, Denver, and KPO, San Francisco.

EARLDOM STAKE IN BIGAMY CASE

Scotch Heir Serving Term in Arizona Prison

Appeal Declares His First Marriage Void

Property Rights and Fortune Hinge on Decision

PHOENIX, Dec. 18. (AP)—Papers filed with the Arizona Supreme Court in the appeal of Dr. Alan Alexander Stirling of Wellton, Ariz., from a conviction of bigamy revealed today Dr. Stirling is a grandson of the late sixteenth Earl of Stirling of Scotland, and that he himself may succeed to the title if the appeal is successful.

Dr. Stirling, a graduate of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, was convicted September 19, last, in the Yuma County Superior Court of bigamy. He is serving a sentence of from six to nine years in the Arizona State prison at Florence.

SAYS MARRIAGE VOID

Dr. Stirling was convicted of marrying Virginia Hovatter, 17 years of age, of Wellton, Ariz., June 25, 1929, while still married to Elsa Worch of Shelby, Toole county, Montana. He asserts his marriage to Miss Worch, a native of Goshen, N. Y., was void.

According to a letter to Dr. Stirling, from the legal firm of Gordon & MacNab of London, and placed on file with his appeal, he, by not marrying within one year after the death of his grandfather, the Earl of Stirling, which occurred November 1, 1928, would have forfeited the Earldom, which carries with it title to most of the Isle of Arron, Scotland, and 40 per cent of a cash estate estimated to be £1,000,000.

KIN DISPLEASED

The London attorneys wrote that the Earl of Stirling in his will expressed "great displeasure" at Dr. Stirling and his brother, Paul, also a physician and surgeon, "not settling down." Dr. Alan Stirling was taken to task for having "disgraced an honorable name," having refused to practice in a surgery in Scotland purchased for him by his grandfather, "to accept the life of a common ship's doctor." Instead of having accepted an honorable position in the society of Scotland, the grandfather said, Dr. Stirling chose to practice his profession as an attache of Gen. Pancho Villa's revolutionary army in Northern Mexico in 1914-1915-1916.

The attorneys wrote that the will provided in the event Dr. Stirling did not marry a woman ten years his junior within one year after the death of his grandfather, his share of the estate would go to the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

WITHIN LIMIT

Dr. Stirling said he "went through a ceremony" with Miss Worch, but never lived with her as husband and wife. A short time after the ceremony, he said, she told him she still was married to another. Dr. Stirling said he relied on this statement, and acted on it when he married Miss Hovatter, believing he had never legally been married.

Dr. Stirling said his marriage in June, 1929, with Miss Hovatter was within the one-year period set by his grandfather's will, and that in the event the Supreme Court decides he was not legally married to Miss Worch, then his marriage to Miss Hovatter automatically will be declared legal and he will succeed to his grandfather's title and a part of his estate.

The letter from the London attorneys said the Earl of Stirling died at his hunting box, Kilmarnock, Scotland. The writer urged Dr. Stirling to return to Scotland and the Isle of Arron, saying "the islanders have been ruled by a Stirling for the past 400 years."

Ganges Water Poisonous, Says Man From India

It's all very well in Rome to do as the Romans do, but when in India—

Arthur T. Passenger, travel representative of the American Express Company, Inc., of Bombay, raised a cautioning hand.

"About the only places in which it is safe to drink water," Passenger said, "are Bombay and Calcutta. Any foreigner who partakes of Ganges water is liable to a fatal attack of cholera."

Passenger is on his way to take charge of the foreign travel service of the American Express Company there.

Hospitals to Get Flowers

Plans have just been completed by the Los Angeles branch of the National Plant, Fruit and Flower Guild for its annual activities of the Christmas season, which will include the delivery of flowers to all hospitals, orphanages, homes for the aged and its own list of shut-ins.

Flowers will be sent into all the wards of the hospitals which the guild serves regularly, small bouquets will be made for each child, and if enough flowers are received at guild headquarters, 636 North Virgil street, a basket will be sent into each ward in General Hospital. Friends and members of the guild are urged to co-operate in sending surplus flowers and shrubbery cuttings to the guild in time for their arrangement and delivery on the day before Christmas.

ROMANCE OF SCREEN PAIR DISRUPTED

Marguerite De La Motte and John Bowers Have Parted Company

What was considered one of Hollywood's perfect marriages has gone on the rocks with the separation of Marguerite De La Motte and John Bowers, prominent screen players. Miss De La Motte admitted last night that she and Bowers had parted, but she declined to discuss the possibility of a reconciliation or the filing of a divorce complaint.

MARGUERITA DE LA MOTTE

When Bowers departed from the family home on Mulholland Drive several months ago it was with a friendly gesture, according to his wife.

"We parted on the best of terms," she said. "I guess it is just a matter of incompatability. Things got to a point where it was better for both of us to try alone. John is a marvelous fellow and I wish him the best luck in the world."

JOHN BOWERS

Both Miss De La Motte and Bowers had tried to keep their parting from their friends for months.

The couple were married in 1924 in the heyday of Bowers's career in motion pictures. They were married some time before they publicly admitted it. Both enjoyed successful careers in the days of the silent pictures as well as on the stage here and in the East. At the present time Miss De La Motte is considering a number of offers from the stage as well as the screen.

Bowers at the present time is said to be out of the city. When he left his home he took an apartment in Hollywood. He was not reached last night for his statement.

REALTY MAN KILLS SELF IN ACCIDENT

W. L. Craig Fatally Shot as He Displays Newly Acquired Pistol

The pride with which W. L. Craig, 60 years of age, veteran real-estate man, was yesterday displaying to office associates at 6059 Hollywood Boulevard a new .32-caliber automatic pistol he had recently acquired changed to an expression of startled agony when the weapon exploded and a bullet struck him just below the heart.

He was hurried to Hollywood Hospital where he died.

Noel Davenport, business partner and brother-in-law of Mr. Craig, was one of those to whom Mr. Craig was showing the pistol. Others present were Marie O'Keefe, stenographer for the real-estate firm, and E. L. Stiner, salesman.

All agreed, when questioned by detectives, the shooting was accidental. The bullet from the weapon sped with such force it passed completely through the real-estate man's body, striking the wall behind him.

Mr. Craig had long been in business in Hollywood and lived at 616 East Tenth street, Burbank.

CAMPBELL FUNERAL SCHEDULED TOMORROW

Funeral services for John Stannard Campbell, 1425 Crestview Court, Westwood, Master-elect of Beverly Lodge, No. 528, A.F. and A.M., who died at Hollywood Hospital Wednesday night following an operation, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. from the Dayton funeral parlors in Beverly Hills. Mr. Campbell was 49 years of age and came here ten years ago from Cleveland, O. He leaves his widow and two children. He was secretary-treasurer of the Lincoln Leasehold Corporation, 810 South Spring street. On the 2nd inst. he was elected Master of the Beverly Hills lodge, which will be in charge of the funeral services. The body will be cremated.

WOMAN VAGRANT MUST LEAVE CITY

Mrs. Dorothy McDonald, arrested with three men on suspicion of burglary, was given until Monday to leave the city when she pleaded guilty to vagrancy before Municipal Judge Eagan yesterday. Should she fail to leave she must serve a ninety-day jail sentence, Judge Eagan ordered. The woman was arrested, according to Deputy City Prosecutor Ida V. Wells, with Allen Raymond, Charles A. Chapman and Frank Dominguez while loitering near a Mesa Drive market. Raymond, who had a revolver when arrested, is serving a sixty-day jail sentence for carrying a concealed weapon. The other men were acquitted of vagrancy.

KENTUCKIAN NEARING NINETY TAKES WIFE

OWENSBORO (Ky.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Thomas Harrison, 88 years of age, retired capitalist and oldest person ever to apply for a marriage license in this county, was wed yesterday to Mrs. Myrtle Tanner, 51.

"This is no love affair," he told questioners, saying he had been lonely since his first wife's death and sought a good housekeeper. His bride said she met Harrison through a relative who said he had offered $10,000 and a home to "The right woman."

The home is a two-story brick structure which Harrison recently purchased and in which they will reside. The bride's first husband was killed in a grade-crossing accident several years ago. Harrison's first wife died last year.

RECLAMATION STUDIES URGED

Agricultural Conference Adopts Resolution

Economic Surveys Declared Vital to Projects

Soil and Other Conditions Should Be Weighed

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 18. (AP)—Delegates to the Western States agricultural outlook conference at their closing session today adopted a resolution calling upon the reclamation bureau to make a thorough economic study of proposed projects before undertaking them.

The resolution was introduced by Dr. William Peterson, extension director of the Utah State Agricultural College, and was adopted unanimously by the farm economists, extension directors and county agents who have attended the four-day meeting.

Dr. Peterson, in proposing the resolution, explained that in the past, all survey work on proposed reclamation projects has been from an engineering standpoint. He contended an economic survey, which would take into consideration the productivity of the soil, transportation and marketing facilities and other economic factors is as essential as an engineering survey.

RELIEF FOR SNOW-CLAD DIXIE SEEN

Rain and Warmth Slated to Rout Cold Today in Shivering Southern Area

ATLANTA, Dec. 18. (AP)—Rain and warmer weather were predicted tonight to help eastern portions of Dixie dig themselves out from under a snow blanket that ranged from a trace to thirty inches in parts of North Carolina.

The prospect of moderating temperatures, however, did not extend generally to the more southerly sections and the west, though most of the States east of the Mississippi had rain in sight.

Virginia and North Carolina, where the snow blanket was heaviest, had cleared most of their roads and resumed highway traffic and street car service.

Tennessee, whose eastern half was under the snow covering, had a prediction of colder weather tomorrow.

Kentucky was due to get colder weather in the west tomorrow. South Carolina and Georgia had a little snow and sleet. In Alabama the snow was barely a flurry.

The Weather Bureau predicted colder weather for Louisiana and the north and west portions of Mississippi.

Arkansas, where rain, sleet and snow fell today and freezing temperatures were recorded, was in line for more snow or rain tonight and colder tomorrow.

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 18. (AP) Air-mail pilots fought their way with difficulty through a heavy snowstorm that covered this valley today, four of them having been forced to seek emergency landing fields before they could continue their way.

CAREER OF JOSE ENDED BY DEATH

Pioneer Film Producer and Actor of Stage and Screen Expires Abroad

NICE (France) Dec. 18. (AP)—Edmond Jose, motion-picture producer of New York and Hollywood, died here today.

Mr. Jose was a pioneer in the American film field. He began with directing "Poppy," which starred Norma Talmadge, and followed with "Fedora," starring Pauline Frederick. Other pictures were "La Tosca," also with Miss Frederick; "My Cousin," with Enrico Caruso, and "Fires of Faith," a special Salvation Army picture.

In 1915 he formed his own company, Film Specials, Inc., the chief picture of which was "Mothers of Men."

In 1925 he was said to have been wounded by bandits as he was directing a picture on location near Haifa, Palestine.

Mr. Jose was born in Antwerp, Belgium, and started life as a pianist. He went next to the stage and, after twenty years, entered the film field.

Mrs. Huntington Funeral Rites to Be Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Julia Knowlton Huntington, 81 years of age, wife of B. C. Huntington, retired newspaper editor and publisher, will be conducted at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Little Church of the Flowers.

Mrs. Huntington died Wednesday morning at the family residence, 2214 Fourth avenue, following an illness of about three months. She was born in Worcester, Mass., but the family moved West when she was 5. She taught school in Illinois for several years and, in 1872, was married to the husband who, with two daughters, survives her. They are Miss Aurelia L. Huntington and Mrs. (Dr.) J. Frank Friesen, both of Los Angeles.

For forty years her husband was editor and publisher of the Window (S. D.) Reporter. They have made their home in Los Angeles for about seven years.

ILLINOIS BANK HELD UP

PEORIA (Ill.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Two young men armed with rifles and revolvers held up five employees and eight customers of the First State Bank at Wenona near here and escaped with about $7000 just before closing time today.

CO-EDS TRIM TREES FOR CUP

Westwood Sororities Enter Contest

EIGHTEEN sororities at the University of California at Los Angeles are competitors this week in a Christmas tree decorating contest. A large silver loving cup is to be awarded the house which has the best-decorated outdoor tree by Christmas Day. The cup is offered by business men in Westwood Village who are interested in developing a permanent "Christmas tree row" on sorority row.

The cup will be presented to the winning sorority at a student basketball rally January 7, 1931. Official judgment is to be passed by a student committee on Christmas Eve. The trees will be judged on the basis of originality in decoration, beauty, effect and Christmas spirit.

It is planned by student officials and the merchants to conduct the Christmas tree contest annually.

Invalid Eludes Her Nurse to Get Fatal Dose

Choosing a moment when her nurse had gone into the kitchen for a glass of water, Mrs. Irene LaForge, 57 years of age, slipped from her bed into a bathroom and swallowed a fatal quantity of poison in her home at 1034½ West Fifty-first street, yesterday morning, according to a report made by Officer Murphy of the University division.

The nurse, Mrs. A. Hicks, discovering her patient's plight a few moments later, notified police, and Mrs. LaForge was removed to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. She died there shortly afterward. Chronic ill health drove her to the act, police say. She is believed to have a mother living in Santa Monica.

COURT GETS BEDSIDE VERSION OF CUTTING

Testimony given by Victor Logue, 27 years of age, from his bed at 152½ West Seventy-first street, yesterday resulted in William Culley, 25, being held by Municipal Judge Frederickson for trial on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Logue was unable to leave his bed because of wounds near his heart and on his left leg, so Judge Frederickson held an early morning session at his bedside. Logue declared that Culley cut him with a razor following a drinking-bout brawl at the defendant's home, 1108 East Sixty-seventh street, several weeks ago. Culley was committed to jail to await trial when he was unable to post the $1500 bail set by the court.

PLANE WILL BRING INJURED FLYER BACK

A fast Lockheed-Vega plane, hastily converted into an aerial ambulance, will leave here early this morning for Tonopah, Nev., to bring back Mrs. Claire Fahy, Los Angeles aviatrix injured seriously there last Monday when her ship cracked up in a take-off. The plane yesterday was borrowed from William Gibbs McAdoo by the Lockheed Aircraft Company because of its highly cushioned wheels, which are expected to make the landing with a minimum amount of shock to the unconscious patient. It will leave about 8 a.m., returning to United Airport probably about noon. A nurse will accompany the pilot.

FATE FLAGS JOCKEY OF WIDE FAME

Clarence Kummer, Noted in Nation's Turf History, Dies of Pneumonia

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—Clarence Kummer, 31 years of age, whose heels booted the great Man o' War home and drove some of America's finest thoroughbreds to victory less than a decade ago, died of pneumonia today at his home at Jamaica, Queens. He had been ill only a week.

Kummer, one of the outstanding jockeys of his time, was driven from the saddle by increasing weight some time ago after a career stretching from his apprentice days in 1915 through triumphs in almost every important stake on American tracks. His mounts, among them Man o' War, Chance Play, Audacious, Snob, Blazes, Westy Hogan, Naturalist and Ladkin, brought him home first, usually after brilliant rides, and nose-to-nose duels in the stretch, in such classics as the Preakness, Suburban, Realization, Belmont, Travers, Withers, Juvenile, Toboggan, Tremont, Nursery, Champlain, Grand American and Manhattan. The only major stakes that evaded him were the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Futurity.

Last spring, seeking a comeback, Kummer went into training for several months under Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, conditioner of Gallant Fox, but he could not remove enough weight to get back to active riding. He was negotiating for a position as a trainer when he became ill.

Two Arraigned on Charge of Rum Possession

The rap-rap-rap of machine-gun bullets and the burning of a small motor launch figured in a chase of an asserted rum-running craft by a Coast Guard boat, it was testified yesterday before United States Commissioner Head. George Darr and George Emmers of San Pedro, said to be the sole occupants of a launch containing a shipment of Christmas liquor, were arraigned before the commissioner yesterday on charges of possession. They furnished bonds of $3500 each.

The skipper of the Coast Guard boat said the two set fire to their craft. The Coast Guard agents stated they boarded the launch before it sank and seized seventy-five gallons of liquor.

Wine Imbibed Before Court

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—The cheery popping of corks resounded in Supreme Court today. The judge and jury looked on amusedly while several men sat at a long table and gravely drank wine. Attorneys did the pouring.

But it wasn't a social gathering. Charles Gass of Philadelphia was suing Benjamin Kitteridge, California wine dealer, for the return of $143,750 on 71,875 gallons of California sherry Gass charges was defective.

No decision was reached as to the quality of the wine.

CAPONE SCARRED IN WAR, GANG ATTORNEY RELATES

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—The story of how "Scarface" Al Capone got his nickname was told today.

"Al and his regiment were going over the top in the World War," said Attorney Miles J. Devine today. "The commander was shot down and the soldiers were left without a leader. Al sprang to the front and shouted to the men: 'Follow me boys.'

"Just then a piece of shrapnel struck his cheek. But he carried on and led the men into battle. He refused first-aid until they had taken their objective. That is how he got the scar he wears."

This lucid narrative was told outside Judge Trude's court after Attorney Devine had appeared with one of Capone's big shots, Tony (Mops) Volpe, and obtained a continuance until January 27 on a move to deport Volpe.

War records do not mention the thrilling incident as told by the lawyer, and it has been understood that Al's scars were the result of a gang battle in Brooklyn.

SMALL DRILLER GIVEN HOPES

Judge Intimates They May Not Be Enjoined

Attorney Hawson Pleads for Their Use of Testimony

Court Gives No Indication of Gas-Saving Suit Outcome

HANFORD, Dec. 18. (Exclusive) Because many of the more extensively interested oil companies, made defendants by the State of California in its gas-waste injunction suit on trial in Superior Court have not lined up in vigorous opposition to the proposed injunction, Attorney Henry Hawson, counsel for the Elsinore Oil Company, today pleaded with Judge S. L. Strother for an opportunity to place his client's case before the court, in the event an injunction is granted, in such a way that "those who have had their holdings for many years and now see a hope of realizing some financial benefit," may not be unduly hurt.

"My great comfort in the matter," he said, "is the hope that in the formation of any injunction my clients be given an opportunity to place their case before the court as to terms, so that the restraining order may not hurt those who have held their holdings for many years and now see a hope of realizing some financial benefits."

The plea of Attorney Hawson brought from Judge Strother the remark, which, though not indicative that an injunction would issue, was frankly a statement that it was his belief that should an injunction issue, some of the defendants would be absolved from restraint.

The greater part of today's session of the hearing was taken up by Attorney Arthur Smiley of the Milham Exploration Company, one of the largest of the companies still lined up in opposition to the application for an injunction. He made it plain at the outset of his remarks that "the Milham company is engaged in this fight for what it believes is its right to live."

Drunk Held for Silence Freed

LANSING (Mich.) Dec. 18. (AP)—An order by the State Supreme Court brought about the release from jail of Frank Harrand, farmer, held at Cadillac more than a month because he failed to reveal the source of liquor which caused his arrest for drunkenness.

Harrand was released under $500 bail when the Supreme Court granted a writ of certiorari providing for a review of the proceedings by which Recorder's Judge Millington ordered him confined in jail until he revealed the liquor source.

IDAHO JURIST BOOSTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Senator Thomas of Idaho today recommended to President Hoover the appointment of Federal District Judge Cavanah of Idaho as a member of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals to succeed the late Frank S. Dietrich.

Doomed Woman Gets Christmas Gift From Son

NEW CASTLE (Pa.) Dec. 18. (AP) Irene Schroeder, convicted gunwoman under sentence of death in the electric chair for the murder of State Highway Patrolman Brady Paul, today received what may be the last Christmas present from her 5-year-old son Donnie.

The gift was a crayon drawing of a flower pot which the child had scrawled laboriously in school at Wheeling, W. Va., where he lives with an aunt.

The mother of the smiling youngster reciprocated by giving him an aviator's cap and a hug. She had not seen the boy for many weeks.

W. Glenn Dague is under sentence of death with the woman. Their execution date has been set for the week of February 23.

Prince George May Be a Duke

LONDON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Daily Express says it is expected in official quarters that Prince George, fourth son of the British Monarch, will be created a duke on his twenty-eighth birthday anniversary, on the 20th inst.

The paper adds there is a general desire in Scotland that the title of Duke of Edinburgh be revived, with suggestions this may be chosen for the young Prince.

Portland Banks to Give Bonuses

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Officials of five Portland banks announced today they will distribute cash bonuses to all their employees this week and next.

The United States National and the Bank of California said their bonuses will equal a half month's pay for each employee. The others did not announce the amount they will give.

Stock Exchange to Pay Bonuses

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—There was bullish news in Wall street today which had nothing to do with traders in the market.

Twenty-five hundred Stock Exchange employees were told they would receive bonuses amounting to 2½ per cent of their year's salaries. The total is expected to reach $75,000.

INDIAN WAR VETERAN OF WYOMING DIES

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Death brought to an end last night the career of Hugo Donzelmann, 82 years of age, Indian fighter, former Wyoming Attorney General, member of the United States Consular Service and attorney. At 17 he joined the Army and for four years fought in Indian wars in the West. Most of this time he was stationed in California. He was appointed Consul at Prague, Bohemia, in 1897 and served until 1901.

MORE BANKS IN MIDWEST LOCK DOORS

Five Institutions in Arkansas and Missouri Forced to Suspend

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Dec. 18. (AP)—The Peoples Bank at Berryville and the Farmers and Merchants Bank and the First National Bank at Green Forest closed today.

A. T. Hudspeth, Little Rock financier, who had interest in other banks in Northwest Arkansas which closed yesterday because of heavy withdrawals, was a director of the American Exchange Trust Company of Little Rock, closed last month. State Banking Department officials said the connection with the institutions caused the runs on the banks closing yesterday and today.

THREE INSTITUTIONS IN MISSOURI CLOSE

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Three Missouri banks were closed today by their boards of directors and placed in the hands of the State Finance Department.

The Union Savings Bank of Monroe City, with resources of was the largest of the banks to close. The others were the Bank of Collins, and the Bank of Osage County at Linn.

Six-Story Fall Kills Oil Man

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 18. John C. Howard, 51 years of age, president and general manager of the Utah Oil Refining Company, died tonight from injuries received in a six-story fall to the floor of the Newhouse Building earlier in the evening. Business associates expressed the belief he became suddenly ill and toppled over a banister.

INSTITUTE OF IDEAS ORGANIZED

Lowden and Others Form Public Administrative Clearinghouse

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Public Administrative Clearinghouse was incorporated at Springfield today by former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, and others as an organization to conduct research in governmental matters, and furnish a clearinghouse of ideas and information.

Lowden explained that the organization is designed to serve all of the United States as well as Canada and was incorporated in Illinois merely because it had been decided to establish the headquarters in Chicago.

"The plan is that it will be a body from which governors, mayors, or other public officials can get information," the former Illinois Governor explained. "If a State contemplates a reorganization program, it can apply to the clearinghouse for data resulting from past experience of other States along the same line. The same procedure will be followed in the case of a new utility project or a highway plan.

Among the other incorporators in the "not-for-profit organization," are former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, former Gov. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Louis Brownlow, of Fairlawn, N. J.; Chester H. Rowell, Berkeley, Cal.; Richards Childs, New York, and Edward W. Beatty, Montreal, Can.

Air Line Wins 'Gas' Tax Suit in New Mexico

SANTA FE (N. M.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., won its suit today against the State of New Mexico to avoid payment of the 5-cent gasoline tax on gasoline used in airplanes doing interstate business.

District Judge Holloman held any attempt to collect the tax on air lines doing interstate business is unconstitutional.

Judge Holloman issued an order enjoining the State Comptroller from collecting the tax. Attorneys for the Comptroller's office appealed to the State Supreme Court.

DRUG ADDICTS WORTH SAVING

Surgeon-General Reports on Federal Prisoners

Narcotic Users Shown of Higher Mental Rating

Nine Months' Study Made for Farm Plan Data

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—From the standpoint of intelligence, narcotic addicts in Federal prisons today were pronounced as well worth reclaiming by Surgeon-General Hugh S. Cumming of the Public Health Service.

Dr. Cumming based his opinion on findings of a nine-month study of the 1800 incarcerated addicts preparatory to organization of Federal narcotic farms.

Among the addicts given intelligence tests by Public Health Service psychiatrists, thirty in every 100 were above average in mental rating, whereas but eighteen in every 100 nonaddict prisoners were above average.

The findings showed seventeen in every 100 addicts and twenty-two in every 100 nonaddicts "normal but dull." One addict in every ten was mentally defective. One in every six among average nonaddict prisoners was mentally defective.

NARCOTICS MAKING GAIN IN TURKEY

GENEVA, Dec. 18. (AP)—Manufacture of narcotics is gaining a foothold in Turkey, where three years ago no narcotics were produced, it is revealed in a report published today by the League of Nations.

The report was based on the recent London conference on limitation of the manufacture of narcotics. The purpose of the conference was to agree on quotas of the world's legitimate narcotic needs which should be assigned to each manufacturing country.

AMERICA AT PARLEY

The conference was participated in by various countries including the United States.

At the London sessions the negotiators declined to give Turkey a share in the distribution of narcotics. Today's report said:

"Until about three years ago drugs were not manufactured in Turkey at all; there are now three factories in Istanbul or the neighborhood. So far as is known, no part of the output of these factories is applied for bona fide medical and scientific purposes."

CONFERENCE IN MAY

In the percentage quotas for supplying the world's legitimate needs for narcotics as agreed upon by the conference, the report shows that Germany was allotted the lion's share, and American, Russian, Turkish and Japanese manufacturers are not included in the distribution.

The London conference was designed as a preliminary to a world opium conference set for May next year for the purpose of determining the world's medical needs for narcotic drugs.

EDISON AND STATE MAKE AGREEMENT

Utilities Company Files New Line-Extension Rule Carrying $165,000 Refund

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—The Railroad Commission today announced a voluntary agreement between itself and Southern California Edison Company governing electric-line extensions which will result in immediate refunds to consumers amounting to $165,000. The announcement comes only twenty-four hours after the same company voluntarily reduced its industrial and agricultural rates to the extent of $775,000 annually. The money to be refunded is that already advanced by consumers for extensions.

The new extension rule was filed as the result of informal negotiations conducted with J. J. Deuel, manager of the law and utilities department of the California Farm Bureau Federation and representatives of the engineering department of the commission. It is applicable to all of the territory served by the company and is much more liberal to the consumers than the rule previously in effect. It becomes retroactive and will effect substantial savings in the future, in addition to the immediate funds.

Stronger-Beer Bill Defeated in Finnish Diet

HELSINGFORS (Finland) Dec. 18. (AP)—Coincident with reports that the government plans to introduce a proposal next spring for a referendum on national prohibition, the Finnish Diet today finally defeated a bill to increase the alcoholic content of beer to 2:25 per cent.

The vote was 99 to 86, and dimmed the hopes of the wets for modification of the prohibition law at this time. At present a percentage of 1.6 alcohol is allowed in beer.

EMBARGO ON CRUDE OIL AIM OF MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—An embargo on crude and refined oil for sale in the United States would be authorized by a resolution introduced today by Representative McKeown, Democrat, Oklahoma. The measure asserted that the domestic oil industry, representing more than $12,000,000,000 of wealth, is in a greatly depressed condition due to excessive importation of crude and refined oil, which threatens its destruction.

EXISTENCE OF PERSONAL GOD ARGUED

Representatives of Three Creeds Debate Topic for San Francisco Crowd

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (AP)—A Jewish rabbi, a Catholic priest and a Protestant minister debated whether "There is a personal God," before several thousand San Franciscans. There was no decision.

Rabbi J. J. Weinstein of Temple Israel traced the history of religion from primitive man's belief in a God who was a "sort of Tammany Hall Boss." He advocated the religion of the humanist of today, the creed that builds a heaven on earth.

Rev. D. J. Cavanaugh, Catholic priest, said he once thought of building a church founded on love for God and man, but decided not to "because it is already built." He said the only way to escape from the idea of the existence of God is to blow out reason.

Dr. Newton E. Moats of Grace Trinity Center United Church, declared there is much good in the humanist theory. "But," he said, "there is a God beyond it all, a great eternal heart of love and justice and goodness, a God who looks beyond creeds and dogmas."

SOVIET LABOR DECREES RIGID

Workers No Longer Free to Follow Own Dictates

Rules Put End to Liberty in Western Sense

[Copyright, 1930, by New York Times.]

GENEVA, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Recent official soviet decrees reaching the International Labor Office have created a situation in the opinion of officials here which "if it does not make most of the labor in Russia practically forced labor does seem to make free labor, in the western sense of the word, no longer existent there."

The decrees on which this view is based provide, first, that workers, while retaining their rights to quit a job on seven days' notice, become deserters if they exercise this right and the government employment agencies, through which alone work can be obtained, are forbidden to give skilled workers who thus desert any job except one of manual labor for six months; second, engineers and skilled workers are subject to transfer to a different city anywhere without their consent and whenever the government so desires; third, unemployed persons must accept any job offered them no matter where or lose their right to be considered unemployed. Finally, the unemployment dole is abolished since the soviet has decided that the 600,000 persons listed in October as unemployed all fall in the category of those refusing jobs.

The restrictions on workers' freedom to accept, reject or quit a job seem to officials here practically to put workers on the same basis with soldiers. They add that the soviet apparently considers the decrees as emergency measures and consider that the measures probably are partly due to a desire to check the lack of discipline among Russian workers, as well as to the exigencies of the five-year plan.

HORTON SMITH DEFENDS TITLE

Third Annual Event Draws Brilliant Field of 188

Hagen Seeks Comeback Over Brookside Park Links

Outstanding Amateur Stars Compete in Tournament

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Well, it's finally arrived.

Referring, of course, to Southern California's prodigal midwinter money golf season, which gets under way over the Brookside municipal course today with the third annual Pasadena $4000 open tournament.

WALTER HAGEN

Professional, amateur and business man golfers meet on common terrain down in the Arroyo Seco this morning and afternoon when 188 hand-picked players battle over the first eighteen holes of the seventy-two-hole medal play test.

The professional brigade, led by two past winners of the Pasadena open, Horton Smith of New York City and hard-hitting Craig Wood of Bloomfield, N. J., lacks but two or three nationally known figures to be complete.

AMATEUR STARS

Horton's chances of repeating his victory of a year ago appear to be rather slim, when the brilliance of the field is taken into consideration. Walter Hagen, Leo Diegel, Al Espinosa, Frank Walsh, Tommy Armour, Charles Lacey, Olin Dutra, Fred Morrison and Joe Kirkwood are only a few of the leading candidates seeking Pasadena's $4000.

The amateurs, who will leave the "do re mi" to the pros, but will accept the glory, are ably represented by Johnny Dawson of Chicago, Roland MacKenzie of Washington, D. C.; John DeForest of England, Fay Coleman of the California Country Club, Charles Seaver of Los An-

Rivals Won't Talk Trades With Giants

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—Although he is looking for a good right-handed pitcher and a capable outfielder, John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, can make no progress when he tries to discuss trades with rival managers. "Noo sooner do I mention trade," McGraw complained yesterday, "than the other fellows ask for Lindstrom or Jackson, and as I have no intention of trading any of our players of such caliber all further trade talk ends before it even gets started."

COUGARS READY FOR TRIP HERE

Hollingbery Believes Extra Practice Is Beneficial

BY ORIN (BABE) HOLLINGBERY
Head Coach Washington State Cougars, Pacific Coast Champions

PULLMAN, Dec. 16.—Once again our traveling schedule has been changed, and we have definitely decided to shove off from Pullman immediately after practice Friday night, in order to be on the ground of activity in Pasadena December 22. I believe it will be more beneficial for the boys to work the extra two days than to take the time off, as first planned, for short vacations at their homes.

ELMER SCHWARTZ

Alabama has been at work considerably longer than we have in preparation for the Rose Bowl game, and I think it behooves us to take advantage of every possible day. Weather conditions are reported ideal in Los Angeles, and this will give the Cougars an opportunity to become acclimated. The players have agreed to the new plan enthusiastically. Every man is turning out with "full speed ahead," and it is a pleasant surprise to find many showing even more pep and dash than they had in the first weeks of the season.

Perhaps this is due to the fact that we have been established as the underdogs for the Pasadena game. Certainly it is the determination of every Cougar to fight right up through this feeling that Washington State will bow to the Alabama Tide.

Scrimmages will be held two or three times this week, forming the last hard "contract" work before the game. I am eager to perfect our offense under big-game conditions. No style of attack will be given preference over any other as we intend to use any offense that proves to be best adapted in the

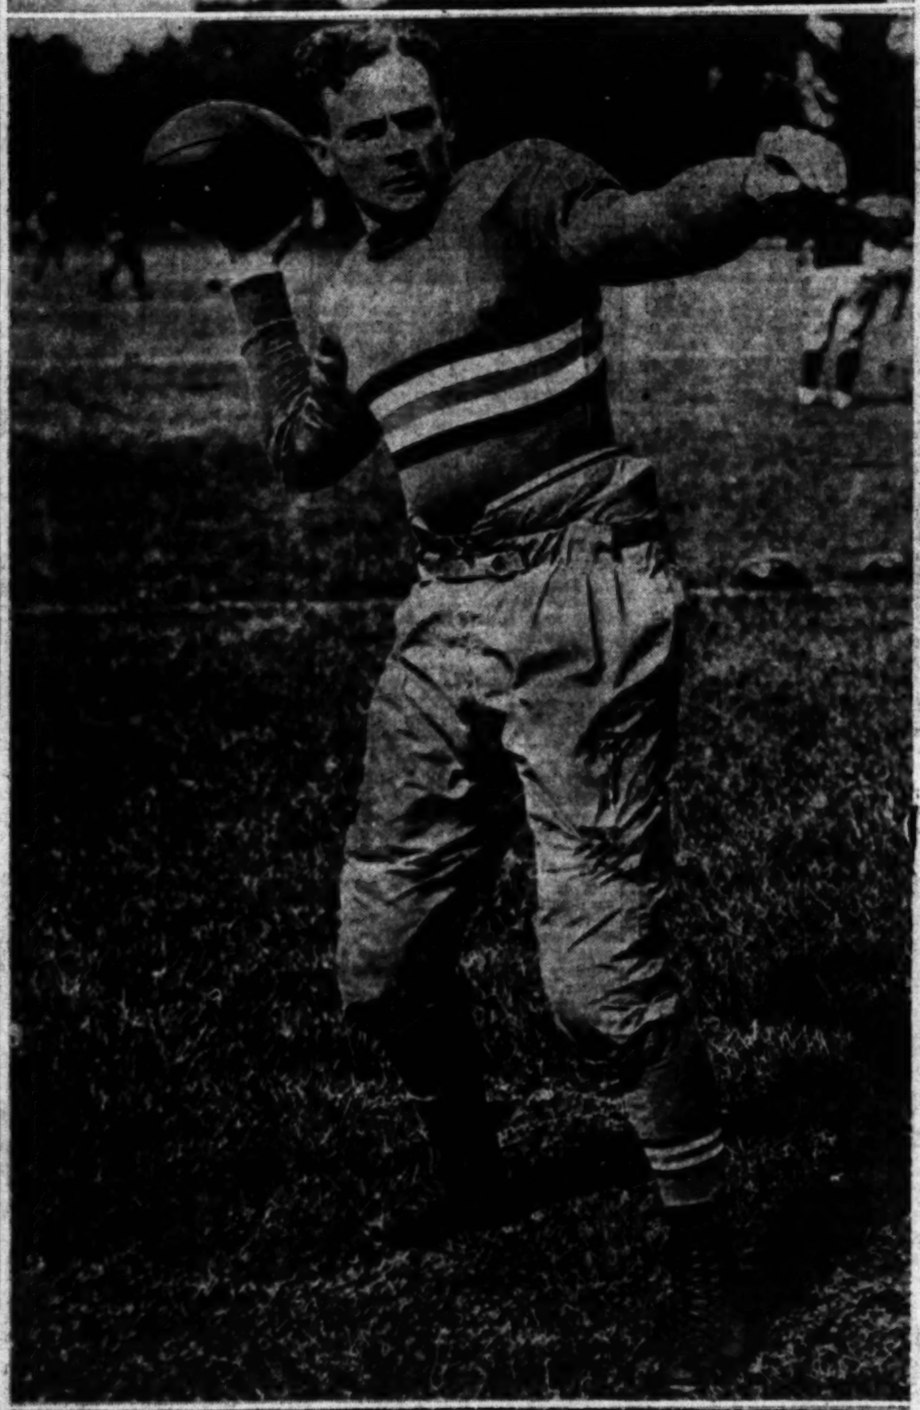
HE'S IN A NEW ARMY NOW

"Onward Christian" Cagle, who spent a lot of time in the Notre Dame backfield while he was playing for the Army, will hold down a berth back of the Irish line, officially, when the Notre Dame All-Stars play a West-South combination in the Coliseum the 27th inst. K. K. Rockne, the well-known cripple, announced yesterday that Cagle would aid the invading forces.



ROCKNE TO BE OVERHAULED

Notre Dame Coach Registers at Mayo Clinic for Physical Inventory After Busy Season

ROCHESTER (Minn.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Worn by the strenuous football season just ended, Knute Rockne, famous coach at Notre Dame, was registered at the Mayo Clinic here again tonight for a physical inventory.

Although Rockne said he feared a recurrence of an old leg ailment which laid him low last spring, his physician, Dr. C. J. Barborka, said a preliminary examination revealed the coach may be suffering from a fatigued physical condition. Further examinations will be made later, but Dr. Barborka said he expected to find nothing organically wrong.

KNUTE ROCKNE

Rockne said he would remain there for a few days for a thorough examination and rest, and to make sure that the recent slight twitching in a leg

Meen Loses to Italian Slugger in Second Round of London Bout

LONDON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Primo Carnera, Italian man mountain, brushed aside the puny efforts of Reggie Meen, English heavyweight, in less than two rounds at Albert Hall tonight. The referee stopped the unequal struggle after Meen had been floored twice in the second round.

IRISH COACH MAY QUIT

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Rumors regarding the possibility that Knute K. Rockne would retire from active coaching and confine his work at Notre Dame to that of athletic director, starting next season, persisted in South Bend today. Some followers of the game are of the opinion that one of Rockne's former players, possibly Harry Stuhldreher, 1924 quarterback and successful head coach at Villanova College, near Philadelphia, would return to take up the head coaching job, along with Heartly (Hunk) Anderson, already here as an assistant, also that Jimmy Phelan and "Slip" Madigan, former Notre Dame men, would be in line for Rockne's job.

Persons holding this opinion point out that Rockne, has several times in the last few weeks expressed doubt as to whether "it was worth it all" and made other utterances which would indicate that possibly he was beginning to tire of the constant glare of publicity and manifold duties that accompany his present position. They also say that Rockne has, like Bobby Jones, "won about all there is to win."

HOCKEY TEAM TO TRAVEL

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—An American team probably will be sent abroad to compete in the world's amateur championship hockey matches to be held at Krynica, Poland, January 8 to 11, Avery Brundage, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, announced today.

HOLLINGBERY WILL WRITE FOR "TIMES" SPORT FANS

Orion (Babe) Hollingbery, coach of Washington State's Pacific Coast champions, today offers the first of a series of articles on the January 1 game in the Rose Bowl, in which the Cougars battle Alabama's unbeaten Crimson Tide. Hollingbery will write several stories for The Times before the game, and also will write a story after the contest, telling why his team won or lost. These articles will appear exclusively in The Times sports pages.

FOUR COAST PLAYERS ON COLLIER'S ALL-AMERICAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—Collier's Weekly today made public its all-American football selections for 1930. The first-team selections follow:

Ends: Dalrymple, Tulane, and Fesler, Ohio State.

Tackles: Sington, Alabama, and Rhea, Nebraska.

Guards: Koch, Baylor, and Beckett, California.

Center: Ticknor, Harvard.

Quarterback: Carideo, Notre Dame.

Halfbacks: Pinckert, Southern California, and Dodd, Tennessee.

Fullback: Macaluso, Colgate.

The magazine, through its "selection committee," named two additional players as "utility men." They are Mel Hein,

RIVAL ROSE BOWL SQUADS TO START FOR PASADENA

Great Send-off Prepared for 'Bama Eleven

TUSCALOOSA (Ala.) Dec. 18. (AP) With a final drill beneath drab skies, Alabama's Crimson Tide today put aside cleats and moleskins until the 23rd inst., when work will be resumed at Pasadena, Cal.

WALLACE WADE.

There will be a rousing send-off tomorrow as the Tide rolls westward to engage Washington State at Pasadena in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. It is Alabama's third trip to the west coast in six years.

Echoes of Wednesday night's pep meeting were still being heard tonight as final preparations to board the Crimson Tide special were made.

HOPES TO WIN

Wallace Wade said at the pep meeting, his last pregame speech in Tuscaloosa, he hoped the Tide would "give you a happy new year with a victory."

The Tide was in fine fettle except for John (Monk) Campbell who twisted a knee a few days ago in practice.

What method of attack the Tide will use against the Cougars remained a question, although it was certain a new combination would be tried and many few plays would be turned.

In addition to the official party of eighty-two, including thirty-five players, coaches, President Denny and university officials and sports writers, railway officials have an-

Hollingbery Will Entrain With 36 Men

PULLMAN (Wash.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Forty-four men, including thirty-six players, will be in the Washington State College raiding party when it entrains Friday night for Pasadena to meet Alabama in the New Year's Day Rose Bowl classic.

BABE HOLLINGBERY

The invaders expect to leave Pullman at 7:05 Friday night and arrive in the southern city on the 22nd inst., giving the players nine full days to acclimate themselves and to polish up plays.

The following make up the party: Coaches, O. E. Hollingbery, Buck Bailey and Roy Sandberg; Dr. Wilbur H. Bohm, trainer; Dr. J. Fred Bohler, director of athletics; Conrad Peck, yell king; Laurence Wersen and Donald Kershner, student managers.

Players—Mel Hein, Howard Morgan and Joe Hansen, centers; Jack Parodi, George Hurley, Frank Mitchell, Clement Senn, Harold Yap and Fred Garrett, guards; Glenn Edwards, Bill Goodwin, Harold Ahlskog, Virgil Jackson, Frank Wallulis and Walter Camp, tackles; George Hill, John Hurley, Homer Hein, Lyle Maskell, Sam Hansen and Stanley Shaw, ends; Bill Tonkin, Mentor Dahlen, Wilbur Luft and Ray Luck, quarterbacks; Porter Lainhart, Oscar Jones, Carl Ellingsen, Emmett Schroeder, Opinion seems pretty equally divided among local football enthusiasts as to whether Washington State or Alabama will emerge victorious in the annual New Year's Day classic at the Rose Bowl.

Claude Varner and Sid Torres Will Collide Tonight in Hollywood Main Boxing Eve

BANTAMS MEET IN LEGION GO

Pick Bakersfield Battler to Cop Nod

Northern Slugger Hits Too Hard for Filipino

Young Sport, Jimmy Mack Collide in Semi-Wind-up

Claude Varner and Sid Torres, bantamweights in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium tonight, don't pack much weight as far as reputations in the fight game go, but they should give the cash customers something to get excited over. Varner figures to win, but the Filipino is game and will go down fighting if he loses. Torres is a warrior who has made good.

Claude Varner, Bakersfield boy, punches too hard for Torres and that's why he is picked to cop.

Four bantamweight fights are on the card tonight. The other bout features lightweights and is the second spot. Claude Varner is one of the outstanding boys of the new crop coming along that must bring the fight game back to life. He lost two decisions to the more experienced Newsboy Brown in his last two starts in this city, but his showing proved he is going to be one of the ranking bantamweights of the country. Sid Torres has fought many semi-wind-ups in this city and main events at smaller clubs in Southern California. Torres was once beaten by Varner.

The semi-wind-up for a good fast fight looks as good as any bout on the bill. It may steal the show. Young Sport, Pasadena main-eventer, fights Jimmy Mack, and Mack should rule a slight favorite. These boys are evenly matched and the fight should be fast and close. Sport beat Canto Robleto, who held Speedy Dado to a draw twice. Mack lost his last start to Ernie Hood, but Jimmy was making a strong finish after being on the floor twice during the early rounds.

Angie Curtis, with Willie Rooney as his manager and chief second, should beat Pepi Sanchez in the special event. Rooney is grooming Curtis for main events and he is quite sure his protege can beat Sanchez or it is doubtful whether or not he would have taken the fight. Curtis is a good boy and has real ability.

The two four-rounders will show Marcelino Lomelli and Joe Soldivar, lightweights, in the second spot and Eddie Lloyd and Midget Wiswell in the curtain-raiser. They are bantamweights.

PASADENA OPEN STARTS TODAY

geles and Russell (Buddie) Thompson of Oakmont.

George (Jox) Von Elm of Rancha, former national amateur champion, no longer desires the glory, but will accept the cash under the title of "business-man golfer," a term synonymous with professional.

Pasadena's tournament will not lack for color with Hagen hitting the comeback trail, following a rather disastrous two years. Walter made $80 last winter in Southern California, and knowing Walter, we should say that this scarcely paid for his neckties.

This year Hagen says that things will be different.

Lacey, the young English pro who was advised to come to America by George Duncan, has attracted a great deal of attention. He is a fine golfer and should make an excellent impression locally.

COURSE IN SHAPE

Par golf, if past tournaments can be taken as a criterion, won't pay big dividends. In the first tournament, which was over thirty-six holes, Wood shot a 66 on the second day for a winning total of 138, six strokes under par, and Horton's seventy-two-hole total of 280 a year ago was four strokes better than perfect golf.

The Pasadena course is in excellent shape and offers a fine test of championship golf. Billy Bell turned out a great job of construction in the Brookside layout, which rates with the best municipal courses in the United States.

Just to insure the successful staging of the tournament, A. K. Bourne and John H. Eagle, prominent Pasadena sportsmen, yesterday guaranteed the purse of $4000.

The first players will tee off this morning at 7:30, while Diegel will get off at 1:30 with the last threesome.

Low 100 and ties after today's play will be permitted to play in the second eighteen holes tomorrow. There will be a further cut at the halfway mark, the low 60 and ties playing the final thirty-six holes on Sunday.

WILDCATS ARRANGE THREE MORE GAMES

TUCSON (Ariz.) Dec. 18. (AP)—Football huskies of the University of Arizona and the Northern Arizona State Teachers' College of Flagstaff will clash for the first time on November 7, 1931, Graduate Manager of Athletics A. L. Slonaker of the university announced today. The game will be played in Tucson. Two other tentatively scheduled games also were ratified today, completing the university schedule for next year. San Diego State College has accepted the opening date, September 26, in Tucson. The university will break an old custom and journey into the Salt River Valley to try conclusions with the Tempe State Teachers.

TROY FACES UTAH AGGIES

Championship Rocky Mountain Quintet Tackles Trojans in Two Games Monday and Tuesday

University of Southern California's basketball team, now preparing to defend its Pacific Coast Conference championship during the coming season will meet the strong Utah Aggies squad, champions of the western division of the Rocky Mountain Conference, in a pair of practice games at the Trojan gymnasium, Monday and Tuesday nights at 8 o'clock.

The Utah team will bring an experienced squad to Troy. The Aggies' outstanding man is Capt. Seth Parkinson, all-conference forward last year and said to be the greatest Aggie star in history. Four veteran guards, Young, Allsop, Bennion and Remund, are playing with the Utah squad, while two other veterans, Drysdale and Watkins, are battling it out for the other forward position to pair up with Parkinson. Belliston and Hogan are now sharing the center job.

Coach Sam Barry of the Southern Californians is having his worries as he seeks to replace Jesse Mortensen, Johnny Lehners and Frank Smith of his championship five of last year. Capt. Wilbur "Web" Caldwell is a cinch for one of the guard positions, while Jack Gardner appears to have won back his old post at forward, but for the remaining positions Barry is still looking over the field.

Bill Pierce has been pairing with Gardner at forward, but he is having a hard time keeping his job from John Frank, a former San Pedro High School and Long Beach Junior College star. Frank "Peggy" Hopkins, also from San Pedro High and Long Beach Jaysee, has been getting the call at center, but he has not been scoring well and will have to improve to make sure of his job. Clif Capps, sub for Lehners last season, has been holding down the other guard place with Caldwell, but Ray Harris, varsity reserve of last season, and Clarence "Sonny" Anderson from the frosh are pushing him for this berth.

FOUR COASTERS EARN LAURELS

Washington State's center, as utility lineman, and Orville Mohler, Southern California quarterback, as utility back.

"Ticknor and Carideo," the committee set forth, "are the only names on this year's list who also appeared on the all-American last year. Ticknor last year had the highest percentage rating of any man on the team and this year he is tied with Fesler for the same honor, receiving a percentage of 92.5. The other players were rated as follows: Hein, 91.7; Carideo, 91.4; Sington and Dodd, 90.8; all others, 90."

nounced a number of other passengers will be aboard.

GOVERNOR ABSENT

Gov. Bibb Graves, due to the press of official business, found that he would be unable to head Alabama's westward caravan. The Governor expressed hope he might be able to take a later train to California.

While the Crimson Tide special will roll into Pasadena, the 23rd inst., railways have announced that two or three special trains will head for the west coast the 26th inst., carrying the main body of the Alabama rooting section.

WADE KILLEFER SHOWS MUCH IMPROVEMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Wade Killefer, president and manager of the Mission baseball club in the Pacific Coast League, is recovering rapidly and will leave the hospital at Kalamazoo, Mich., shortly, where he underwent an emergency operation a few weeks ago, according to William Lane, owner of the Hollywood club, who visited the stricken baseball leader en route from the minor league meeting at Montreal. "Killefer is able to sit up and take nourishment," Lane advised Howard Lorenz, secretary of the Mission club. "He said he would be home in about a month."

CARIDEO MAY COACH PURDUE GRIDDERS

LA FAYETTE (Ind.) Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—The football genius of Frank Carideo, unanimous choice for all-American quarterback the last two years, will remain in Indiana if he is willing. Purdue University, which already has three other generations of Notre Dame football coaches working as the backbone of its coaching staff, has offered Carideo the job of backfield assistant. He is to decide by Saturday.

MAIN STREET STAYS OPEN CHRISTMAS WEEK

Main-street Athletic Club will remain open Christmas week, according to Promoter Carlo Curtis. The Olympic Auditorium and the Hollywood stadium will be dark, leaving a clear field for the downtown club, which will feature a double main event a week from tomorrow night.

Indications are that Main-street fans are going to take kindly to the Bobby Pacho-Bobbie Ramirez bout, which is one of the six-round features on tomorrow night's card. Always strong for a good Mexican boxer, Main-street fans will make Pacho a strong favorite over Ramirez, who is a Filipino.

COLLEGE CAGE ACE NOW FROSH COACH

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Charley Murphy, greatest factor in Loyola University's thirty-six consecutive basketball triumphs during 1929 and 1930, has returned to his alma mater as freshman basketball coach. Murphy was regarded as one of the best centers in college basketball last year.

Carnera settled down to business in the second round and floored his man twice and the big crowd yelled for the referee to halt the carnage. The heavyweight boxing carnival in which eighteen other behemoths of the ring, all beefy, and all raw, participated.

Among the crowd were a number of Indian potentates, including the Maharajahs Patiala and Alwar.

Trojans Enter Skating Meet

University of Southern California will enter an ice hockey team and a squad of speed skaters in the second annal Pacific Coast Winter games for the President Hoover Cp to be held Janary 1 to 4 at Yosemite, it was announced today by Director of Athletics Willis O. (Bill) Hunter.

The Trojan skaters, who are now working out three times a week under the direction of Coaches Charles Hartley and Arnold (Bill) Eddy, will open their 1931 season with the Yosemite events, this ice tourney to be followed later in January and February by a series of intercollegiate hockey matches.

According to Coach Eddy, the Trojans will have entries in all four Yosemite races, which are for quarter-mile, half-mile, mile and two-mile distances. It is expected that in the ice hockey matches the Southern Californians will compete against teams from the University of California at Berkeley, University of California at Los Angeles, Occidental and Loyola.

SANTA ANA JAYSEES WIN OVER WHITTIER

WHITTIER, Dec. 18.—In a practice basketball game last night between the fast Santa Ana Junior College squad and the Whittier College team, in Wardman Gymnasium, Whittier, the visitors nosed out the Poets for a 28-26 win.

In a preliminary between the Poet reserves and the Santa Ana seconds, one basket marked the difference in the score, which was 19-17, this time favoring the Poets.

The varsity was leading over Santa Ana 13-6 at one time in the first half when Coach Landreth took out Grunsky, the high-scoring center, and Ograin, guard. Then the Saints began a scoring rally finishing the half, leading 16-15.

The line-ups:

S.A.J.C. (28)		Whittier (26)
Schuchardt 8	F.	Baker 7
Dunham 3	F.	Dell 3
Seacoard 8	C.	Grunsky 11
Lindley 6	G.	Ograin 1
Oarlock	G.	Duncan 4

Substitutions: Santa Ana—Johnson, G. (1.) Whittier—Emrich, C.; Jones, G.

CAPT. BEN TICKNOR HAS ATHLETIC HEART

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—That Capt. Ben Ticknor, Harvard center, this year's captain and all-American center for the past two years, has been suffering from an "athlete's heart" for the past two years and managed to keep it a secret from the Harvard authorities and members of the football squad until the second day of the past football season, became known today. Capt. Ticknor admitted that he had been to see several doctors and that they had diagnosed his ailment as athlete's heart.

"It is untrue that Harvard kept me out of scrimmages or smaller games this past fall on account of my heart," he said. "I'm suffering from athlete's heart, that's all, and I wish that could be made clear to those interested. I've known about my heart for the past two years. I kept it quiet, naturally."

LA VERNE TOSSERS TO PLAY ALUMNI

LA VERNE, Dec. 18.—Victor in two practice games, the La Verne varsity heads into its third and toughest contest here tomorrow night, meeting a strong alumni basketball team. The Leopards hold victories over the Shamrock Club of Inglewood and Valencia University in recent training engagements, but they expect to meet tough competition against the alumni. Following the holiday recess, which begins this week-end, the Leopards will begin intensive training for their first Southern California Conference struggle, January 17, against Redlands. This tilt is liable to develop into a championship affair, and Coach Lee Eisan will work to have his men in the best of condition.

CITY LEAGUE SOCCER TEAMS MEET SUNDAY

City League soccerites will stage a battle royal for places Sunday afternoon at two fields. While the league-leading Hollywooders seem to have first place pretty well cinched the rest of the teams in the league are battling it out hard for other positions. The games scheduled at Loyola feature Hollywood and the Pasadena A.C.C. and the Scots and the Victorias.

At Tournament Park, Pasadena, the Richfield Oilers play the L. A. A. C. in one game and the Magyars face the Sons of St. George.

POLO NATURAL TO SOUTHLAND

Coast Open Championships to Be Held at Midwick

BY FRANK ROCHE

CAPT C.T.I. ROARK

Southern California gets the polo "natural" of the winter season. Midwick Country Club officials through Neil S. McCarthy announced yesterday that the Pacific Coast open championships will be staged on the famous Purple field at Monterey Park from January 31st to February 14, inclusive. This announcement and the arrival of thirty-four polo ponies from the Argentine today at noon brings the mallet sport into the sportlight again.

The Midwick committee composed of Jim Spalding, Carleton Burke, Gordon Cronkhite, E. V. Honeyman and Neil McCarthy, is confident the coming high-goal season will be the greatest in the history of the Southland. The world's leading stars will perform for local fans before the curtain is rung down on the winter program.

In preparation for the coming events Midwick officials announced the completion of new steel stands, which will take care of record crowds expected for the mallet classics. These stands are the very latest thing in their line, Neil McCarthy stated yesterday. Four thousand more fans can be accommodated at the field than last year. The boxes, which are almost flush on the field, will also be open to the general public.

Tommy Nelson, the man who managed the trip of the famous Santa Paul team from Argentina last season, is again in charge of the new squad of invaders from South America. Nelson arrives today with the ponies. The players on the Argentine team, as exclusively announced in The Times recently, are of Irish extraction. They are: Bernardo Duggan, Diego Cavanaugh, Roberto Lambert and Dan Kearney. Juan Reynal, one of the famous Galloping Gauchos of last season, will also play with the team.

Tommy Hitchcock, the incomparable captain of the American big four, is listed to ride here during the open championship, but as yet the only ten-goal player in the game has not definitely sent word that he will play. Tommy will play with the Rancho San Carlos four if he does perform at all here. Earl Hopping, the great No. 2 of America's big four, will ride with George Moore's Rancho squad as will Aiden Roark and Captain Forrester. The Rancho team was the outfit Hitchcock performed with here two years ago.

If Hitchcock does come he will no doubt be seen in action against Pat Roark, Great Britain's leading star and a player who some of the experts claim is every bit the star Tommy is and perhaps a shade better.

Earl Hopping, Sr., is also expected to perform at Midwick this winter. He will gallop on a team with Col. P. K. Wise of England and other well known internationalists.

Willie Crocker is bringing a Cypress Point four composed of Arthur Perkins, Selby McCreery, Gerald Balding and himself. Laddie Sanford's Hurricanes are a sure bet to be in the center of the picture. Pat Roark will ride with Laddie.

Midwick's famous big four will be built around Eric Pedley, the greatest No. 1 the game has ever seen in international play, Elmer Boeseke and Carleton Burke.

The action in the polo picture starts shortly after the new year.

KNUTE VISITS MAYO CLINIC

is not a return of phlebitis, which brought him here on a stretcher six months ago.

Dr. Barborka, who has taken care of Rockne for the past two years, said his preliminary examination revealed no definite symptoms, and he believes his patient is suffering from fatigue, "induced by strain of emotions," to which he was subjected during the football season.

Dr. Barborka said it would be at least three days before he could announce anything definite on the coach's condition. Meanwhile Rockne will rest, except for attendance at a high school football banquet here tomorrow night.

Frank Leahy, first-string tackle of the Notre Dame Ramblers, accompanied his coach to the clinic. Leahy injured his knee early in the season and has been out of the game since. He will undergo an examination to determine whether surgical attention is needed.

DICK GLOVER, BENGAL STAR, MARRIES TODAY

Dick Glover, star fullback of the 1930 Occidental football team, and Miss Emily Von Waggoner are to be married today at Ontario. Glover Miss Emily Van Waggoner are to from Santa Barbara, where they met during their high-school days Miss Van Waggoner has been teaching at Azusa.

TWO MORE DODGERS SEND IN CONTRACTS

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Brooklyn Robins are rapidly accumulating a baseball team for the 1931 season. Signed contracts from Jake Flowers, regular second baseman last season, and Paul Richards, rookie catcher who starred for Macon, Ga. last year, were received yesterday, bringing the total up to four.

ALABAMA BUCKING TRADITION

No Team Has Played Three Times in Rose Classic and Emerged Without Defeat; Wade's Formula for Making His Players Fight Is Revealed

BY BRAVEN DYER

WALLACE WADE

No team has played three times in the Rose classic on New Year's Day and come out without a defeat which means that Alabama, with a victory and tie to her credit, will be bucking both tradition and the Washington State Cougars next month.

Stanford and California are the only other elevens which have had three opportunities to strut their stuff before the Crown City audience. Stanford lost to Notre Dame, 27 to 10; was tied by Alabama, 7 to 7, and defeated Pittsburgh, 7 to 6.

California won over Ohio State, 28 to 0; was tied by Washington and Jefferson, 0 to 0, and lost to Georgia Tech, 8 to 7.

Alabama defeated Washington, 20 to 19; tied Stanford and now faces her toughest Rose Bowl foe in Babe Hollingbery's man-eating Cougars.

Of course, there has to be a first time in everything. Notre Dame had never scored more than two touchdowns against Southern California until the 1930 hurricane descended upon the Trojans.

Here's the record of past Pasadena games:

1916—Washington State, 14; Brown, 0.

1917—Oregon, 14; Pennsylvania, 0.

1918 and 1919—Service teams played.

1920—Harvard, 7; Oregon, 6.

1921—California, 28; Ohio State, 0.

1922—California, 0; Washington and Jefferson, 0.

1923—Southern California, 14; Penn State, 3.

1924—Washington, 14; Navy, 14.

1925—Notre Dame, 27; Stanford, 10.

1926—Alabama, 20; Washington, 19.

1927—Stanford, 7; Alabama, 7.

1928—Stanford, 7; Pittsburgh, 6.

1929—Georgia Tech, 8; California, 7.

1930—Southern California, 47; Pittsburgh, 14.

Score: West—Won, 6; lost, 4; tied, 3.

East—Won, 4; lost, 6; tied, 3.

What makes southern football teams, particularly those coached by Wallace Wade, fight so fiercely? How come that the Crimson Tide defeated a superior Washington team, 20 to 19, and tied a better Stanford eleven, 7 to 7?

Wade rules his teams with an iron hand. His word is law and he makes the players like it. Off the field he is a quiet-mannered, close-mouthed individual. With his players the Alabama mentor is something of a Simon Legree.

Several years ago Alabama went into a tough game doped to win by a small margin. His team was completely outplayed and left the field trailing, 7 to 0, at half time.

In the dressing-room Wade made a short speech. "I am going to start the same team that opened the game. I am not going to make any substitutions no matter if you're hurt or tired. But if I do send a man in for you it is because you are through playing football at Alabama. Get that? When you see a substitute coming on for you you'll know what I mean. Just keep right on going to the dressing-room and turn in your suit for good. I won't want to see you again."

After which the same players went out, rolled up four touchdowns and won the ball game, 27 to 7.

Those who heard Johnny Mack Brown over radio KHJ last night will be interested in knowing that Johnny Mack has a brother on the present Alabama squad. He's Billy Brown, the third of the Brown boys.

Billy Brown came to Alabama with a reputation to uphold. The reputation of two brothers before him who had carved their names among Alabama's football great, Johnny Mack, the Dothan antelope, who galloped to fame in the Rose Bowl, and Tolbert, another red-head, outstanding halfback during the one dark year Alabama has had under Wade. Billy sought to uphold this tradition of the football-playing Browns.

But he was not fitted by nature for such a task. He was small, not very fast and not especially versatile on the gridiron. Natural handicaps did not lessen his ardor, however. Into the Bama behemoths he waded, determined to make his mark.

Billy has not made his mark as the multitude sees it. He has not dazzled the stands with brilliant football. For four years he has scrubbed, always shoved aside by some bigger, naturally more-gifted athlete. The going has been hard, but never once has Billy let up in his determined fight. The world may look on him as a lowly scrub, but Billy has something better than the praise and adoration of the mob. In his heart he has the knowledge that he has fought the good fight, and who can say that he has not won?

Rudolph New Billiard King

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—Erwin Rudolph of Chicago won the world's pocket billiards championship tonight, defeating Ralph Greenleaf of New York, defending champion, 125 to 120, in the deciding match of the tournament.

The game lasted thirty-seven innings.

Rudolph's triumph over the champion gave him a final tournament record of seven victories and no defeats. Greenleaf, dominating figure in pocket billiards for a decade, was runner-up with five triumphs in seven starts.

Rudolph held the title once before, beating Greenleaf in a challenge match here in January, 1927. He was beaten four months later by Tommy Hueston. Last year in the Detroit tournament, Rudolph won his first six games, but lost to Greenleaf on the final night, the championship ending in a deadlock. Greenleaf then repeated his victory over Rudolph in the play-off to capture the title.

The final tournament:

	W.	L.	High run
Erwin Rudolph, Chicago....	7	0	67
Ralph Greenleaf, New York.	5	2	104
Onofrio Lauri, New York...	4	3	51
Frank Taberski, Schnectady	4	3	46
Arthur Woods, New York....	3	4	63
Bennie Allen, Kansas City..	3	4	35

FOUR CONTENDERS SEEK TITLE GO WITH GEORGE

With four of the outstanding title contenders in Los Angeles all seeking the first match in this section with Don George, Promoter Lou Daro wired the new world's wrestling champion yesterday to get a line on the possibility of matching him with one of the mat stars in this section some time in January.

At the present time George is barnstorming his way home at North Java, N. Y., where he intends to spend the holidays with his parents. After the first of the year he expects to start meeting some of the proven title contenders, and Daro is anxious to give one of the local top-notchers one of the first big matches with George.

Three of the stars after the George bout will appear in the double feature event scheduled for the Olympic Monday night. They are Nick Lutze and Henri De Glane, who will clash in one of the finish mat battles, and Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former world's champion, who will meet Joe Stocca, the 225-pound Italian, in the other. Gus Sonnenberg is the other outstanding contender for the title, here. His injuries are said to be less serious than first reported, and he expects to start training again in a short time.

The Lutze-De Glane battle is expected to develop into one that will rate on a par with the best seen here this year. Although Lutze has not been wrestling as long as De Glane has, he has proven in matches here against top-notchers that he is as good as any grappler in the game when he is in the best of condition. Yutze is in wonderful condition at present. He knows he is due to meet one of the greatest grapplers in the game in De Glane, and he is preparing for the match accordingly.

Whether or not Lutze will get the first match with George here depends a great deal on the showing he makes against De Glane. As Lutze has not had a title bout in more than two years, this match rates as probably the most important one he has been signed for this year. Lutze is known to be an expert with Greco-Roman holds, and he may meet De Glane at his own style of wrestling.

Myron Cox, Venice life guard, will meet Don De Laun in the opener.

DRIVERS MUST OBEY FLAG IN ASCOT RACES SUNDAY

Warning was served on all race drivers yesterday by Starter Fred Wagner that the white flag, ordering a driver to the pits for immediate consultation with the referee, will be used often during Sunday's races at Legion Ascot Speedway, unless orders are obeyed.

Wagner declared that past trouble with the drivers in this respect has forced him to be firm in his plans. The orange and black flag, signal for a driver to pull down and let a rival pass, has been disregarded in the past, according to the starter, and this will be stopped.

He cited the case of Ernie Triplett last Sunday as the most flagrant offense. "I signaled Triplett to let 'Shorty' Cantlon pass, but he did not obey. I was ready to give him the white flag when Cantlon found a small opening and shot through, but not until Triplett had held him back for several laps."

"If these signals are disobeyed too often it may result in someone being suspended. My duties are to supervise the races so that they are run safely and squarely. I'm going to see that my orders are carried out."

Cantlon, victor in the last two feature events at Ascot, is a heavy favorite to win Sunday's 100-lap main race. The opposition, it is expected, will come from Ralph De Palma, Walt May and Lou Moorre. Legion officials learned yesterday that Arvel Brunmeier, Whittier flash, will compete Sunday. It was thought he would be on the sidelines because of damage suffered by his mount in a crash last Sunday. The motor and body have been thoroughly repaired, however, and Brunmier has his mount in shape.

De Palma claims that at last he has his car ready for the stiff pace necessary at Ascot. He has made adjustments which were essential when he removed a supercharger from his Miller Special. When the Italian veteran finally finds his stride, race followers are expecting him to be a sensation.

The fact that Sunday's program is the last of the year is held responsible for the heavy demand for seats. Edgar Johnson, secretary at Ascot, says the advance reservations are heavier than any ever reported at the speedway.

Cougars Take Tulane Offer

Earl Foster, graduate manager of Washington State College, yesterday wired acceptance of Tulane's invitation to play a football game at New Orleans, December 5, 1931.

The contest will climax a ten-game schedule for the Cougars, which includes seven consecutive conference games. It will be the first time the two teams have met, although Tulane was given considerable consideration by Washington State athletic officials, before selecting Alabama for the Tournament of Roses contest here January 1.

ROGERS'S ROVERS PICKED

Will's Polo Team Made Favorite in Clash With Buccaneers Sunday

Polo at the Uplifters' field Sunday afternoon will again bring out the Rovers against the Buccaneers in a rematch. Last Sunday's affair went to the Buccaneers to the surprise of almost everyone who figured Will Rogers's Rovers a certain winner. However, both Will and Will, Jr., were riding a number of strange mounts just secured by the famous comedian from the Post ranch at Aiken and this may have somewhat upset their game. If both get back into the line-up Sunday as they are expected to, there should be no trouble on this score as they have now had time to learn the idiosyncracies of the new ponies and should be able to concentrate on hitting the ball, with their accustomed dash and power. Reggie Weiss, a fine horseman and a most graceful and effective malletman, will ride with the Rovers as will Dr. Rex Duncan, who completes the team at No. 1.

The Buccaneers include Lionel Pedley, Winslow B. Felix, John Brandeis and T. Lyell Puckett. In last week's match, Puckett tried out at the back position and turned in such a fine game that he will probably appear in that berth again Sunday.

Play starts at 2 p.m. with Hugh Blue and Jack Holt as umpires. The game is open to the public.

Probable line-ups:

Rovers.		Buccaneers.
Dr. Rex Duncan	No. 1	Winslow B. Felix
Will Rogers, Jr.	No. 2	John Brandeis
Reggie Weiss	No. 3	Lionel Pedley
Will Rogers, Sr.	Back	Lyell Puckett

Myron Davis, George Sander and Howard Moses, halfbacks; Elmer Schwartz, DeWayne Johnson, Arnold Soley and Louis Hull, fullbacks.

If the Cougars are being tagged the underdogs for their clash with Alabama's Crimson Tide at Pasadena New Year's Day, it doesn't seem to bother Coach Hollingbery.

"So far this week," the Cougar mentor said, "the men have been showing marked improvement over any practice of the past two months, and I hope this is an indication the team is finding itself and gathering the polish and finesse necessary to a smooth-running offense.

"Several men have shown up exceptionally well in the past two nights' work, notable among them being Wallulis, the sophomore tackle who filled in quite well for Edwards at Villanova.

"It is probable that if Edwards does not show marked improvement in physical condition, Wallulis will have improved sufficiently to crowd him off the starting line-up. Morgan has been given intensive scrimmage at center this week, as it might be necessary to use him at Pasadena. I am sure that if given the opportunity he will prove a pleasant surprise to Cougar fans.

"I have been working Hill and Hansen at ends, for they are of the smashing type that fits in so well against a team of Alabama's offensive style.

"Now that we are going to leave for Pasadena Friday night, I intend to drive the squad doubly hard in order to crowd in enough real hard work to last us until January 1.

"I want the team to be in perfect physical condition when we step on the train, as the final ten days in the south will be spent with work designed to keep the men in tiptop shape and in eliminating all possible injuries."

COUGARS CHEERED BY FANS AT PEP RALLY

PULLMAN (Wash.) Dec. 18. (AP)—If Washington State's Cougars were in the dumps at rumors of lack of confidence in the Northwest, a rally-reception attended by nearly 3000 students and others of the faithful today helped some.

And an announcement from Spokane that a special train would pick up rooters in Spokane, Portland and points south did the rest.

Class rooms were vacant and most business houses stuck out an "out-to-lunch" sign this morning and everybody went to the gymnasium to tell Coach O. E. Hollingbery that if the Cougars didn't win against Alabama at Pasadena New Year's Day, a great financial depression might descend upon Pullman and environs.

The special train said Victor Dessert, a Spokane booster for the Cougars, will leave Spokane Saturday night, the 27th inst., returning here January 4. A special block of seats has been reserved by Dessert, and arrangements are being completed for a Washington float in the Rose Parade at Pasadena.

Bruin Cagers Meet Strong Mercury Five

The first "natural" of the 1930-31 basketball season is on tap for tomorrow night to officially open the Olympic Auditorium for the cage season with the U.C.L.A. and Los Angeles Athletic Club quintets clashing. Both teams are undefeated and the cage experts are doping the game as a toss-up.

CARL KNOWLES

Coach Caddy Works of U.C.L.A. has his best court aggregation in history, although the team is not moving smoothly as yet, and plans to make a strong bid for championship honors this season in the southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference. The Bruin cagers collected two easy victories over the Whittier College and Pomona College fives last week by the respective scores of 37 to 23 and 45 to 14, and then won out in a strenuous battle Wednesday with the strong Hollywood Athletic Club team by the score of 43 to 34.

The L.A.A.C. quintet, under the direction of "Rags" Wilcox, who also plays forward on the team, has defeated Whittier and Pomona by counts closely resembling the Bruin scores, and also conquered Sam Barry's Southern California Trojans, 30 to 24, in an overtime game.

One of the leading stars of the club is Carl Shy, running guard, who will be playing against his team-mates of last year tomorrow night. Teamed with Wilcox at forward is Charley Hyatt, the offensive star of the team, who hails from Pittsburgh University. Hyatt is one of the flashiest offensive players seen in these parts. Tom Pickell, giant center, and Rex Reason, guard, round out the team. All of the clubmen are fairly fast, and have a good chance of upsetting the speedy Bruin team.

Coach Works may make a possible change in his starting line-up. Due to his excellent showing against the Hollywood A.C., Dud Tower, sophomore, may start at standing guard instead of Frank Lubin, the giant Lithuanian. Lubin went out on personal fouls early in the contest with the Movie City Mercuries, and looked none too good while in the fray. Tower is the better shot, caging two baskets against the H.A.C.

The rest of the Bruin line-up will probably be Capt. Carl Knowles and Dick Von Hagen, forwards; Dick Linthicum, center, and George Brotemarkle, running guard. After a poor start against the H.A.C., Brotemarkle played a remarkably good game. He is a sophomore.

The Bruin freshman five, coached by Si Gibbs, will make its public debut tomorrow night when it plays a preliminary game with Huntington Park High's quintet. The preliminary will start at 7 o'clock.

COUGARS SET FOR JOURNEY

face of whatever kind of defense Alabama may put up.

What we need and what I hope to obtain is absolute perfection and co-ordination in the plays we have used in the past, and the new plays the squad has been given this week.

In this afternoon's heavy scrimmage I used Morgan at center, since Hein is still on the crippled list; Parodi and Hurley at guards; Ahlskog and Walluis, a sophomore who is developing rapidly, at tackles; Hill and Sam Hansen at ends; Tonkin at quarter; Ellingsen and Jones at the halfbacks and Schwarts at full.

On defense against this team were Joe Hansen, center; Yap and Garrett, guards; Goodwin and Camp, tackles; Homer Hein and Shaw, ends; Dahlen, quarterback; Davis and Moses, halfbacks and Johnson, fullback.

COAST RING KING IS OPERATED UPON

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17. (AP)—Word was received here tonight of the amputation of a leg of Clarence Doyle, well-known amateur boxer, in a Boston hospital recently. Doyle is holder of the Pacific Coast and far western light-heavyweight championship, and is champion of the San Francisco Olympic Club. He was reported recovering.

WORD SOUGHT FROM TILDEN

Coast Officials Await for Star's Announcement

With no further word received concerning the report that "Big Bill" Tilden would compete in the first annual Southern California midwinter tennis championships, tournament officials are waiting for a definite announcement as to whether the veteran campaigner of many tennis seasons would find it advisable to come out to the Pacific Coast for the event. The junior events of the tourney begin Monday, with the entries in all classes closing tomorrow night, according to Bert McKee, chairman, of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the tennis program.

McKee announced the entry of three additional junior players in Frank Gregory of Chicago, third-ranking Middle West junior; Gene Mako, Southern California scholastic crown holder, and Bobby Underwood, 12-year-old star.

An interesting sidelight concerning the entries in the men's singles is the keen rivalry which exists between Sidney Wood and Ellsworth Vines, both of Pasadena. These two 19-year-old tennis sharks have met on the court many times, and in almost every instance the result has been an outstanding match.

So far this year, they have met three times, Wood winning the first two times with Vines capturing the honors the last. Early this year Wood beat Vines, 6-4, 7-5, in the semifinals of the Midwick invitational midwinter tourney, and repeated the trick in the finals of the Seabright lawn tennis invitational championships, when he swamped Vines in three straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0. In an exhibition match held at the Hotel Huntington last Sunday, Vines turned the results around when he defeated Wood, 6-4, 6-2, in a singles match.

Millionaires Take Hockey Clash, 3 to 0

The Los Angeles Millionaires, second-place holders in the California Professional Ice Hockey League, gained on the league-leading Sheiks by defeating the Oakland Checkers, 3 to 0, last night at the Winter Garden Ice Palace.

The battle was even throughout but for a three-minute stanza near the close of the second, when Bill Vaughn, Checker goalie, lost control of the situation and let three Millionaire shots whiz by his manly, as well as padded, frame into the net. Jack Filkin scored the first goal and before the excitement had died down Wolf Peltier slapped the puck into the net for another Millionaire goal. Soon after Dan Carrigan essayed a long shot from the center of the ice that went in the general direction of the goal. Vaughn stuck his stick out to stop the puck but it gayly hopped over the club and dribbled into the net for the final goal of the evening.

Next Monday night the Millionaires will tangle with the San Francisco Blackhawks in an important league game at the Winter Garden

ADD FOUR SECTIONS TO ROSE BOWL SEATS

Four sections of $3 seats have been added to the seating arrangement at Pasadena Rose Bowl this year, according to Earl Foster, Washington State graduate manager, and these are available to the public at the B. H. Dyas ticket offices and all others. When the Rose Bowl was enlarged it was possible to offer more $3 seats to the public than were placed on sale in previous years.

COVENTRY DEFEATED IN SOCCER LEAGUE

LONDON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Exeter city eliminated Coventry city and York city put out Nelson today in replayed games from the second round proper of the English Football Association cup competition. Scores: Exeter 2, Coventry 1; York 3, Nelson 0.

Games in the southern section of the third division were played today and resulted: Bournemouth and Bascombe 2, Brentford 1; Newport 3, Norwich 0.

LETTERS AWARDED TO TWENTY-FIVE BRUINS

Twenty-one members of the U.C.L.A. varsity football team of 1930 have been awarded letters for their play this past season, Bruin athletic authorities announced yesterday. Twenty-five freshmen football players also were given numerals.

Gordon Jones, star sophomore running guard, did the most playing this year, being in the game 294 minutes out of a possible 300 in conference games. He was closely followed by the other guard, John Duncan, who played 253 minutes. Norman Duncan, with 250 minutes of play, was the backfield man who played most and the only fullback to get a letter. Forty-five minutes of conference play is necessary for a letter.

The varsity letter winners are Ed Baillie, guard; Leonard Bergdahl, quarterback; Bobby Decker, halfback; Norman Duncan, fullback; John Duncan, guard; Buddy Forster, halfback; Maurice Goodstein, center; Les Haight, end; Kerns Hampton, tackle; Gordon Jones, guard; Lloyd McMillan, tackle; Dick Mulhaupt, end; "Fat" Norfleet, tackle; Homer Oliver, center; Earle Painter, halfback; "Howie" Roberts, halfback; "Chuck" Smith, end; Capt. Eddie Solomon, quarterback; Reuben Thoe, halfback; Leonard Wellendorf, end, and Howard Willoughby, tackle. Of the above, only Capt. Solomon, Thoe and Goodstein graduate.

Eddie Austin, stellar running guard for the frosh eleven, was foremost in the fray, playing 304 1-2 minutes, with Mike Dimas, tackle, his closest rival, with 292 1-4 minutes. Joe Keeble, star fullback, and Bill Robb, half, led the backfield men with 288 3-4 and 179 1-4 minutes, respectively.

The frosh numeral men are Eddie Austin, guard; Mike Dimas, tackle; Joe Keeble, fullback; Bill Robb, halfback; Tom Rafferty, tackle; Wesley Kasl, end; Walter Swirczynski, guard; Lawrence Lane, end; Harry Morgisen, halfback; Clarence Baldwin, center; Babe Giss, halfback; Phil Nordli, center; Charles Blackman, halfback; Arden Post, quarterback; Charles Williams, guard; Delbert McGue, end; Bill Maxwell, end; Bob Hendry, halfback; John Wood, tackle; Marion Smith, quarterback; Cecil Wingo, end; Wesley Anderson, tackle; King Lanham, end; Earl Stoner, halfback, and Herman Jones, quarterback.

Frosh numeral winners in cross-country are as follows: Hubert Jackson, Robert Barton, Paul T. Ferrer, John Gaskill, Milton Boonin, John Boyce-Smith and Martin Epstein. Jackson was elected honorary captain.

NEW OIL PLANT READY SHORTLY

General Petroleum Terminal to Open January 1

Bulk Product Loading Depot Among World's Largest

Project's Capacity Placed at 1,200,000 Barrels

BY WALDO DRAKE

General Petroleum Corporation yesterday announced January 1, next, as commissioning date for the new 103,000-barrel unit of its Terminal Island petroleum loading terminal. Opening of the new four-tank unit will make the General Petroleum terminal one of the largest oil loading stations in the world; capable of handling 1,200,000 barrels of petroleum in one storage and with facilities for simultaneous loading of four tank vessels.

Increased pump capacity will permit loading of vessels with gasoline and kindred "white" products at the rate of 15,000 barrels per hour and with heavy oils at the rate of 18,000 barrels per hour. The new unit, now complete save for finishing touches on the firewall, is for the exclusive handling of water-white petroleum products, as gasoline and kerosene. Its cost will approximate $103,000 and it includes two 9000-barrel tanks and two large tanks of 37,500-barrel capacity.

Company officials explained yesterday that opening of the new unit will give the General Petroleum Corporation terminal highly increased flexibility in handling the many petroleum products, for export trade particularly. As indicative of the wide scope of the expanded terminal, it was explained that twenty different grades of water-white petroleum products may be stored there simultaneously for loading in addition to five grades of residuum products and four grades of Diesel oils.

NAVY OFFICER BACK FROM JOB IN NICARAGUA

Commander Andrew S. Hickey, U.S.N., and Mrs. Hickey were among the fifty travelers arriving on the Panama Mail liner Ecuador yesterday from New York and Central America. Commander Hickey has been serving on the election board for Nicaragua for the last three months, and after a leave here will return to the naval intelligence office at Washington in February. The liner has aboard $500,000 of silver and gold bullion from Central America and 15,000 bags of coffee for here and San Francisco, departing north last night.

Holland America ships are going out for Europe with big Pacific cargoes, but C. J. Lehman disputes an item which said the Delftdyk had to leave freight behind when she sailed the 12th inst. No cargo was left behind, he insisted.

Eastbound American Hawaiian ships are estimated to handle 753,000 tons of cargo from Pacific ports to the Atlantic coast in 1930, compared with 723,000 tons in 1929, according to Roger D. Lapham, president. He added that westbound cargoes will drop 84,000 tons to 332,000 this year, while Williams Steamship Corporation and the O. & O. trans-Pacific services have not done so well, though mail revenues since June bolstered the latter's receipts materially.

George G. Neil, district passenger agent for the Dollar Steamship Line, announced yesterday that shipping men may this week see sound pictures of the launching of the new Dollar liner President Hoover at the Paramount, Million Dollar and Chinese theaters in Los Angeles and at the Capitol Theater in Long Beach.

The President Hoover, displacing 31,000 tons and the largest merchantman yet built in the United States, was christened by Mrs. Hoover when launched on the 9th inst. at the yards of the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding and Drydock Corporation.

On her last trip in service to the South American east coast for the General Steamship Corporation, Westfal, Larsen & Co.'s motorship Hindanger is due this morning with thirty-five polo ponies for the Argentine team shortly to arrive for a series of California games. The ponies, in charge of Tommy Nelson, are coming from Buenos Aires.

The Hindanger, upon discharge of her present cargo, will enter the new European-Pacific service of the Interocean Line, sailing from Los Angeles Harbor for Le Havre, Antwerp and Rotterdam on January 19, next. Edward N. Tormey, district manager for the Interocean Line, announces that beginning with the Hindanger the Norwegian motorships of the line will maintain a twenty-eight-day schedule between San Francisco and Le Havre, including the call at this port.

The steamer Jefferson Myers, path-finder of Pacific-Atlantic Line's American-flag freight service to the United Kingdom, yesterday sailed for North Pacific ports after completing her maiden round trip voyage. She will sail outward on her second voyage from this port January 14, next.

C. J. Lehman, agent for the Holland-America Steamship Line, yesterday denied that any cargo had been shut out for lack of space on the line's motorship Delftdyk, which sailed for Liverpool from the local port, as reported on the 14th inst. Mr. Lehman asserted that in addition to eight passengers and several hundred tons of Southern California citrus fruits, the motorship loaded all general cargo that was on the docks consigned to her.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Local shipbuilding plants today started preparing estimates for the construction of from five to seven new ships for the McCormick Steamship Company.

Charles L. Wheeler, vice-president and general manager of the McCormick company, announced his intention of giving the San Francisco plants every opportunity to acquire the contracts, which will total about $7,000,000.

The Shipping Board granted the McCormick company a construction loan of about $3,000,000 under the terms of the Jones-White Act.

The Coast Guard cutter Shoshone, fourth to be built by the General Engineering and Drydock Company, successfully completed her trial trip on San Francisco Bay today.

Many prominent superintending engineers, representing local shipowners, commented on the smoothness of the vessel's performance at all speeds. It is propelled by a 3000-horsepower turbine electric drive.

SEATTLE, Dec. 18.—Capt. Bion B. Whitney, chief surveyor in the Northwest for the American Bureau of Shipping since 1917 and resident here for forty years, will be retired the 31st inst. He will be succeeded by C. D. Mues.

Capt. Whitney came to Tacoma in [illegible] as second mate on the full-rigged ship State of Maine and commanded various steamships on this coast. Associates will tender him a dinner here Saturday night.

Maurice J. [illegible], 70 years of age, chief stevedore for the Pacific Steamship Company and its predecessor, the Pacific Coast Steamship Company for the past thirty-five years, died here last night.

PORTLAND, Dec. 18.—Announcement was made today Kerr Gifford & Co. have engaged the steamer Crown of Galicia for January loading of a full wheat cargo at 23s 9d.

Transfers recorded at the customhouse here today included that of the dredge Missouri from the Long Bell Lumber Company to the Longview Dredging and Construction Company. The Missouri is now in the San Francisco Bay district.

TACOMA (Wash.) Dec. 18.—A total of 10,011 tons of copper was exported from this port during the month of November, it was announced today. The total was 200 tons in excess of the same period a year ago and was but seven tons short of the highest month this year.

Teams Advance in Tournament

The first round of play in the second annual southern counties basketball tournament went under way last night, with seven of the fourteen teams entered, advancing to the second round, which will be played this afternoon in the Huntington Beach High School gym.

Of the seven surviving teams Whittier looked the most impressive in smothering the Brea quintet under a 73-to-22 score. The other results follow: Orange, 37, Oceanside, 17; Chaffey, 36, Grossmont, 15; Anaheim, 29, El Monte, 17; Fullerton, 42, Garden Grove, 27; Tustin, 34, Chino, 28. San Bernardino forfeited to Huntington Beach.

In today's schedule, Fullerton meets Whittier at 9 a.m.; Tustin faces San Diego at 10:30 a.m.; Orange tangles with Chaffey at 2 p.m., and Huntington Beach takes on Anaheim at 3:30 p.m. The respective winners will meet at 7 p.m. in the semifinals and the winners of that round will tangle in the finals on Saturday.

Mastro Heads Benefit Card

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Earl Mastro, crack Chicago featherweight, and Les Domingo, Los Angeles Mexican, will headline a fourteen-bout benefit boxing card here tomorrow night at Dreamland Auditorium. PRAISE SPOKEN FOR SOUTHLAND

Bay City Paper Likes Stand on Dirigible Base

Calls Sunnyvale Backing Good Sportsmanship

Strong Spirit of State-wide Unity Exemplified

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Southern California, by swinging behind Sunnyvale as the site for the United States Navy's west coast dirigible base, has demonstrated sportsmanship, State unity and complete eradication of sectionalism, according to a laudatory editorial appearing in tomorrow's San Francisco Chronicle. The publication will say:

Formal withdrawal of Southern California's opposition to Sunnyvale as the Navy's Pacific Coast dirigible base site is good news. It means that a solidly united California will smooth the way for the formalities of establishing and building the base. And that is a most cheerful demonstration of California State spirit.

OPPOSITION DROPPED

Of course, San Diego wanted the site. So did other communities, not only south of the Tehachapi, but in Northern and Central California as well. They all made their claims. It was when the Northern and Central California communities found Sunnyvale was the best site in this section that they joined hands and got behind Sunnyvale to put it across.

Now Southern California finds that Sunnyvale is the best in the whole State, and that is attested by the vote of the House Naval Affairs Committee. Southern California follows suit and disposes of any opposition to Sunnyvale. If they cannot have the base in Southern California the next best thing is to at least have it in the State.

NO DOG IN MANGER

That is very different from the dog-in-the-manger policy—if I can't have it neither shall you—that has sometimes stood in the way of progress on the Pacific Coast, not merely as between Northern and Southern California, but sometimes between neighboring cities right here in the bay region. Sometimes while neighbors have been quarreling over a prize it has slipped away to Southern California. And sometimes while the two sections of the State have been in bitter competition the prize has slipped away from both of them.

The Alameda army air base and the Marin Meadows air bombing squadron headquarters have been two results of bay region co-operation that have taught a sound lesson. Now Sunnyvale is, in a way, to demonstrate the same principle in north and south California pulling together.

Rivalry between communities is a mighty healthy thing. It keeps us all on our toes. But it has to be rivalry with good sportsmanship to be the real thing. It is easy to cheer for a victory, but a real test of spirit to take defeat gracefully. That is what Southern California does now in the Sunnyvale matter. We respect them as good sportsmen and welcome them as allies.

Plane Over Golden Gate Communicates With Eight Countries and Ships Far at Sea

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Cities in eight countries and ships in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans received and replied to messages from an airplane 900 feet over the Golden Gate today in a unique radio-wire-cable hook-up. The longest time necessary for a reply to be received was fourteen minutes, the point reached being Manila.

Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, International Telephone and Telegraph Company, Postal Telegraph Cable Company and the Transcontinental and Western Air Lines collaborated in the program, which consumed, all told, half an hour.

It is the first time in history such an extensive arrangement has been completed for successful functioning and is hailed as a forecast of what can be expected in the field of communications from airplanes.

Pilots Royal Leonard and R. P. Hoffman were at the controls of a Transcontinental and Western Air plane, which hopped off from the San Francisco Bay airdrome at Alameda at 2 p.m. E. H. Hannah, assistant general superintendent of Mackay Radio, and H. E. Coyle, marine superintendent, handled the messages.

They established contact during their half-hour of tests, with London, Paris, Shanghai, Buenos Aires, Honolulu, Guam, Manila and New York City, with the steamer Mauretania, 900 miles east of New York Harbor and with several ships in the Pacific.

Communication was established through a ground station here, supervision of which was in the hands of L. J. Miller and Joseph E. Faas of Postal.

VIENNESE DISCOVERS NEW RAYS

Radiation of Tremendous Penetration Reported at Scientists' Meeting

VIENNA, Dec. 18. (AP)—The Vienna Chemical and Physical Society was given a sensation today by Prof. V. F. Hess, who declared that as a result of his research in the field of cosmic ultra-radiation he had discovered a peculiar radiation of tremendous penetrative force.

He startled the society further with his assertion that his great force undoubtedly must be of extraterrestrial origin, since its intensity increases with distance from the earth's surface.

Prof. Hess found this cosmic ultra-radiation to be ten times as penetrative as the strongest radium rays, piercing eighty inches of leaden plate with a loss of only half their intensity.

He believed the wave length of these rays to be almost unbelievably short, probably one one-hundred millionth that of ultraviolet rays.

Prof. Hess observed that the rays were dependent on sidereal time, with other influences on their intensity appearing to be the seasons, air pressure, storms and probably the magnetism of the earth.

He believes the rays emanate from fixed stars, probably those of more recent formation found in the Milky Way.

Mechanics in Wright Motor Plant Strike

PATERSON (N. J.) Dec. 18. (AP) Four hundred mechanics engaged in the manufacture of aircraft motors failed to appear today at their benches in the plant of the Wright Aeronautical Company.

The International Machinists' Union said the walkout, which came at a time when government orders would keep the men busy for two years, is in protest against the bonus and group incentive systems.

B. M. Gordon, company treasurer, said he knows "no legitimate reason for the strike."

Young Offers Rolph Mansion

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Arrangements for Governor-elect and Mrs. Rolph to move into the executive mansion here prior to inaugural ceremonies on January 6 were discussed by Gov. Young and his successor in letters made public here today.

Gov. Young informed Mr. Rolph he and Mrs. Young planned moving to a temporary home at Stanford University to be near their two daughters, who are students there, and that the mansion will be available to Mr. and Mrs. Rolph on the afternoon of January 2.

NEW NAVAL CUT PLEA PREDICTED

Attempt to Limit Aircraft Carriers Expected

Powers' Fears America Will Rule Seas Told

Admiral Moffett Appears Before Committee

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—An aviation pioneer said today before a House committee that it is probable further naval building restrictions will be suggested at the next arms limitation conference by powers which believe the United States eventually will control the seas through superior strength in the air.

Rear-Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, said at the London conference Great Britain and Japan sought to limit airplane carriers to a total considerably below the 135,000-ton maximum set by the treaty. He quoted Premier MacDonald of England as saying he wanted to limit total aircraft carrier tonnage to 100,000 and that he expects to do that in the future.

"Is it your belief," Chairman Britten of the Naval Committee asked, "that Great Britain and other countries will try to curtail construction of airplane-carrying ships because they think the United States will control the airplane industry as it does the automotive industry and thus control the seas?"

"Yes, that's very probable," Moffett answered.

Moffett also urged the committee to approve an authorization for a ship unlike any other now afloat—a cruiser which would have the powers of the established six-inch-gun vessel and in addition carry twenty-four operating planes.

He likened these planes to guns which "shoot 200 miles," that being about the distance to which they could fly, drop their bombs and return to the ship, and said the vessel would be "superior to any other cruiser we have."

CHAPLIN TO GET ANCIENT COAT

Japanese Boy En Route With Arrow-Proof Garment, Gift of Merchant

SEATTLE, Dec. 18. (AP)—If Charlie Chaplin's sackcoat is wearing out he will be able to effect a change that will prove a sturdy protection against the missiles he dodges in making films.

A jinbaori, a long heavy coat which ancient Japanese warriors wore to shed arrows of their enemies, is being brought to him by a 13-year-old boy from Osaka, stopping here today on his way to Hollywood. It is a gift from Tsuneichi Hachiya, Osaka merchant, who met Chaplin ten years ago in Hollywood and became a friend and admirer of the comedian. The boy, Tsuneo Hachiya, arrived by boat here yesterday.

MURDER OF TEACHER CONFESSED BY NEGRO

MARYVILLE (Mo.) Dec. 18. (AP) County Attorney Jones announced tonight that Raymond Gunn, 30-year-old Negro, has confessed that he beat to death Miss Velma Colter, 19, teacher at the Garret rural school, Tuesday night.

FARM AID FUND VOTED BY HOUSE

Additional $150,000,000 for Board Approved

Legge Says Operations Have Benefited Prices

Declares Wheat Kept From Falling to 25 Cents

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—The House voted to give the Federal Farm Board an additional $150,000,000 of its revolving fund today and the measure was well on its way through the Senate before nightfall.

The Senate Appropriations Committee gave approval to the proposal and sent it to the Senate floor.

This appropriation would swell the total given the board thus far to $400,000,000 and it plans to ask for the remaining $100,000,000 of the $500,000,000 authorized, for use in the next fiscal year. The fund approved today is for immediate use in stabilizing co-operative marketing association loan operations.

Testifying before the House Appropriations Committee for the additional funds, Chairman Legge said the board was making some progress in bringing about relief.

The board has been able, he said, to maintain wheat prices in this country artificially. He said if it had not been for the board's grain stabilization efforts the price of wheat would be 25 cents a bushel.

"It is true today," Legge said, "that low as the price is, it is artificially maintained, not only on wheat, but other grains."

Ten Facts You Should Know About Improvement Bond Assignments

1. These Assignments convey actual title to any desired amount of selected California municipal improvement bonds deposited with an independent trustee, the Title Insurance & Trust Company of Los Angeles, which holds possession of bonds at all times.

2. The deposited bonds issued by Los Angeles City or County are a direct lien on specific property and rank prior to all mortgages, mechanics' liens, etc., present or future.

3. These bonds are issued for the widening and paving of streets and other public improvements and have been purchased in steadily increasing amounts by conservative investors for over 35 years.

4. These bonds are least affected by market depressions and fluctuating business conditions since principal and interest are payable out of taxes—the first obligation every property owner has to meet.

5. Assignments pay an unusually liberal income, exempt from all Federal Income Tax and California Personal Property Tax, in opinion of counsel.

6. Assignments are executed in any desired amount from $500 to $200,000 and are available for periods of from 1 to 10 years.

7. Interest on the deposited bonds is collected without charge for Assignment holders and remitted by check on February 1st and August 1st.

8. Assignments offer a maximum diversification in a single investment since they represent a proportionate interest in many small bonds covering various types of property.

9. The deposited improvement bonds are carefully selected by experts after the most exhaustive appraisal and legal examination.

10. Assignments are automatically liquidated over a ten-year period by annual principal payments on the deposited bonds.

Fortunate, indeed, is the investor today who looks to taxes for the payment of principal and interest on his securities.

Buying of luxuries and even necessities may be curtailed. Accounts past due may be let run from month to month. But failure to meet taxes brings immediate and heavy penalties backed by the entire machinery of government.

No investor at this time can afford to overlook the importance of placing his funds where security of principal and certainty of interest are least affected by mismanagement, stock market depressions and fluctuating economic conditions.

California municipal improvement bonds offer an ideal opportunity for combining this dependability with a decidedly liberal tax-free yield.

Critical investors are invited to compare these bonds—point for point—with other high-grade securities using the following features as a basis for comparison:—

Direct Liens Ranking Prior to All Mortgages

Los Angeles City and County bonds issued principally under the 1911 Act, are direct liens on real estate and rank prior to all first mortgages, judgments, mechanics' liens, etc., even when such liens were in existence before the improvement bonds were issued.

Ten for One Security

Population and growth invariably follow well improved streets. Thus the improvement itself increases the value of the property assessed to an extent that greatly exceeds its cost. Consequently the Improvement Bond represents but a small fraction of the total value of the property, frequently only 5% or 10%.

Complete Tax-Exemption

California municipal improvement bonds—like other municipal bonds—are exempt from Personal Property Tax in California, and the income is completely exempt from all Federal Income Tax, including the surtax. This fact must be carefully considered in comparing these bonds with taxable corporation securities.

Improvement Bond Assignments

In order to provide the convenience of $1000 and $500 denominations and serial maturities, selected Los Angeles City and County improvement bonds are offered by the District Bond Company in the form of Improvement Bond Assignments.

Bonds Held by Trustee

These Assignments convey to the investor actual title to the desired amount of a group of improvement bonds. The bonds are deposited with an independent trustee—the Title Insurance & Trust Company of Los Angeles—which retains the securities at all times for the benefit of Assignment holders.

A Self Liquidating Investment

Assignments are automatically liquidated over a ten-year period by annual principal payments on the deposited bonds held by the Trustee and do not depend in any way on the resources or continued operations of the District Bond Company after the Assignments are executed.

Furthermore the underlying bonds are themselves readily marketable and could be sold at a moment's notice should the need of liquidating the trust arise.

Greater Convenience to the Investor

Through the issuance of these Assignments the inconvenience of small irregular denominations and annual payments on principal is eliminated. Assignments are executed by this company in any desired amount from $500 to $200,000 and are available for periods of from one to ten years. There are no bothersome coupons to cash as interest on the deposited bonds is collected free of charge and remitted directly to the investor by check on February 1st and August 1st of each year.

Wide Diversification in a Single Investment

Another advantage of these Assignments is the broad diversification of security which they make possible. The holder of such an Assignment owns a proportionate interest in the entire group of many small bonds covering various types of property, deposited with the Trustee, instead of holding a few large individual bonds. Thus he is afforded a maximum diversification through a single investment, regardless of its amount.

Interests of Investors Safeguarded

The deposited improvement bonds are carefully selected by a staff of experts after the most exhaustive appraisal and legal examination. Each bond has first been purchased by the District Bond Company with its own funds and for its own account.

Payment of principal and interest on all deposited bonds is guaranteed by the District Bond Company to the Trustee for the benefit of the Assignment holders. The guaranty of this old-established company, is the best evidence of the unlimited faith in the underlying securities on the part of its directors and stockholders which include leading Los Angeles business men and bankers.

Unusually Liberal Tax-Exempt Income

Combined with this exceptional security, diversification and convenience goes a 6% income which is absolutely net to the investor, being exempt from all Federal Income Tax and California Personal Property Tax, in opinion of counsel. One, two and three year maturities are priced to yield 5% and 5½%.

Meeting the Requirements of Banks, Corporations and Private Investors

Conservative individuals, banks and corporations seeking a high degree of security, convenience and liberal tax-free yield will find here an investment ideally suited to their requirements.

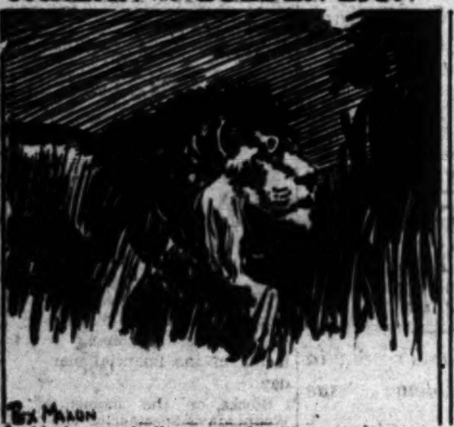
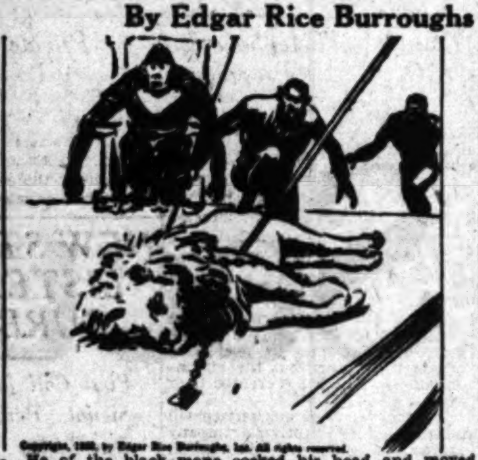
A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

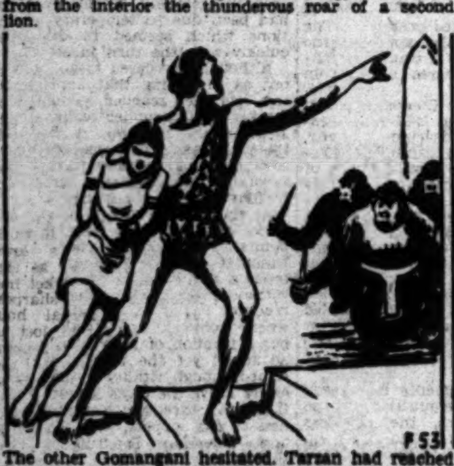


A black-maned lion moved with majestic unconcern through the jungle night. He was not hunting, for he made no effort toward stealth nor did he utter any sound. Moving swiftly, he sometimes stopped to smell and listen. And thus at last he came to a high wall, along which he sniffed, until the wall was broken by a half-opened gateway, through which he passed. Before him loomed a great building. As he stood watching and listening, there broke from the interior the thunderous roar of a second lion.

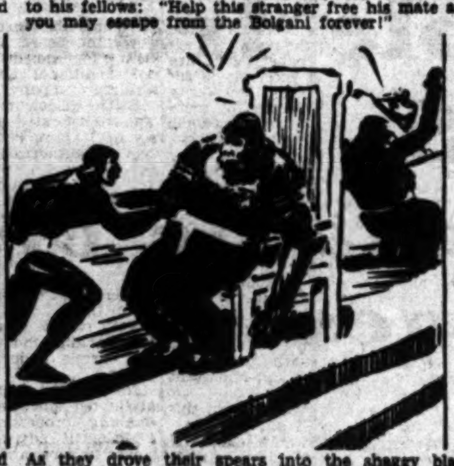


Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

He of the black mane cocked his head and moved stealthily forward. At that very instant, Tarzan of the Apes had hurled the spear he had taken from the black into the council chamber of the gorilla-men. With rage and consternation the Bolgani saw it bury itself into the heart of their Emperor—the great, black-maned lion. At Tarzan's side was the Gomangani whom he had terrified into service. As Tarzan rushed forward toward La, this black cried to his fellows: "Help this stranger free his mate and you may escape from the Bolgani forever!"



The other Gomangani hesitated. Tarzan had reached La's side and was dragging her toward the dais where he hoped to make a momentary stand against the fifty Bolgani who were now rushing forward. "Slay the three who sit upon the dais!" he cried to the Gomangani. "Slay them if you wish your freedom! Slay them if you wish to live." The ape-man's authoritative voice, the magnetic appeal of his personality, his natural leadership—all won the blacks for the brief instant that was necessary to turn them upon the hated authority that the three Bolgani upon the dais represented.



As they drove their spears into the shaggy black bodies of their former masters they became then and forever the creatures of Tarzan of the Apes; for they knew that there could be no hope for them after this in the land of the Bolgani. With one arm about La, the ape-man carried her to the dais and drew his spear from the dead lion. Then, turning about and facing the advancing Bolgani, he placed one foot upon the carcass of his kill and raised his voice in the terrifying victory cry of the great apes of Kerchak.

TITLE UNIT CONTINUES YEAR EXTRA

Insurance and Trust Pays 53 Cents Additional and Votes Employees Bonus

In addition to its regular quarterly dividend of 65 cents a share, Title Insurance and Trust Company yesterday declared an annual extra of 53 cents a share, according to an announcement by O. P. Clark, secretary and treasurer. Both dividends are payable January 2, next, to stock of record the 20th inst.

Mr. Clark also announced the company would distribute a Christmas bonus among its 550 employees as it has done in previous years.

The company last year paid an extra dividend of $5 a share on its old stock, which was split eight shares for one through the declaration of a 100 per cent stock dividend paid December 31, 1929, and the reduction of the par value of the stock from $100 to $25.

The 1930 extra payment is equivalent to $4.24 a share on the old stock. The company now has outstanding 240,000 capital shares.

Neon Company to Distribute Bonus Checks

Christmas bonus checks will be presented on Monday to the employees of the Claude Neon Electrical Products Corporation, Paul D. Howse, president, announced yesterday. The distribution will amount to more than $20,000 and will be made to approximately 250 employees.

Under the Claude Neon bonus plan, employees are eligible for the bonus after completion of two years of service. Two-year employees are paid 2 per cent of annual salaries, three-year employees, 3 per cent; four year, 4 per cent, and five year, 5 per cent. Between five and ten years, the 5 per cent rate applies, while for ten years and more of service the rate is 10 per cent of annual salaries.

Executives of the Claude Neon Company, according to Mr. Howse, are not included under the bonus plan.

Phone Utility Bonds Offered

Public offering of $500,000 first mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds, series B, of Southwestern States Telephone Company is being made by Smith, Camp & Co., and Kimball, Riley & Salterbach, Ltd., at 94 and interest to yield more than 6½ per cent, according to an announcement made yesterday.

Net earnings of the company, which is owned by Western Continental Utilities, Inc., for the twelve months ended September 30, last, available for interest, depreciation and Federal taxes, showed an increase of $26,089 over the previous year and were equal to 2.4 times annual interest requirements of this issue. The bonds are due December 1, 1949.

Bond House in Extra Dividend

Weeden & Co., investment house specializing in California market bonds, announced yesterday the payment on the 15th inst. of an extra dividend on the common stock of 60 cents a share. This distribution is in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of the same amount.

The company also announced that estimated earnings for 1930 will approximately equal the $5.30 a share earned on the common in 1929. Offices are maintained by the Weeden organization in Los Angeles, San Francisco and New York.

LION OIL REFINING PASSES DIVIDEND

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Directors of Lion Oil Refining Company passed today the quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share due at this time stating that the action was to conserve capital for the best interest of the company and stockholders.

TURN IN BONDS AWAITED

Year-End Maturity and Interest Payments Relied Upon to Revive Investment Market

BY EARLE E. CROWE

From the promptness with which bonds responded yesterday to the recovery in the stock market, it is evident the recent weakness in bond prices has been more sympathetic than fundamental. Until the turn of the year it is likely, morever, that the close relationship between the two markets will continue.

After the first of the year the release of a tremendous reinvestment demand is expected to lift the bond market out of the rut of dragging prices. Maturing issues are estimated at a higher amount than usual at the end of this year, while the semiannual interest and dividend payments as of January 1 will still further swell the total fund awaiting reinvestment.

EAST EXPECTANT

Los Angeles investment authorities recently returning from the East state the financial centers are relying heavily on the maturity and interest payments to introduce new life into the security markets. Several important pieces of new financing are planned for this time and dealers' shelves are expected to reflect the passing of seasoned bonds from inventory into the hands of the investor.

Fundamental conditions have been favorable to rising bond prices for some time. Low interest rates and declining commodity prices ordinarily increase the attractiveness of fixed-income securities, yet the market has persistently refused to respond satisfactorily to these factors. Probably the answer rests in the forced liquidation by investors of bond holdings to provide working capital for business enterprises or to protect stock market positions.

Occasionally the explanation is heard that banks have been selling bonds to provide cash reserves, but this idea is not generally accepted. Banks have been fair buyers of bonds this year, and have not been pressed by commercial borrowers for accommodations to such an extent that would require liquidation of securities in the bond account.

RESERVE BANKS BUYERS

The activities of the Federal Reserve banks in the investment market in the last week indicate the trend of banking opinion on bonds. The reserve banks increased their purchases of United States government securities by $75,000,000 in the week ended the 17th inst., the total amounting to $692,000,000. The increase in United States government securities over the same week a year ago was $159,000,000.

Some investment authorities maintain the trend of bond prices invariably follows the activities of the Federal Reserve banks in the investment market. When the reserve system is buying government securities the release of this credit into the open market stimulates a rising curve of general bond prices, while sale of securities by the reserve banks correspondingly depresses bond prices.

T. B. Macaulay, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, the company that firmly believes in the common stock investment plan, has advocated the purchase by the Federal Reserve system of $500,000,000 of government bonds as a means of stabilizing price levels. While reserve bank purchases have been increasing lately, it is not generally thought that the Federal Reserve banks fully agree with the plan for commodity price stabilization through the release of more credit.

Bull Honored by Exchange Club

Carl W. Bull, manager of the foreign trade department of the Security-First National Bank, has been elected president for the ensuing year of the Foreign Exchange Club of Los Angeles, it was announced yesterday following the annual election meeting. Mr Bull has been engaged in foreign trade banking for nearly twenty years.

Other officers elected were W. C. Neary, assistant cashier, Union Bank and Trust Company, vice-president; J. R. McCrae, foreign trade department, Farmers and Merchants' Bank, secretary-treasurer; Robert E. Dorton, assistant vice-president, Bank of America, Alexander Cowie, vice-president, Citizens' National Trust and Savings Bank, and Henry K. Rose, assistant cashier, California Bank, members of the executive committee.

Brokerage Unit to Pay Bonus

Dunk-Harbison Co., members of the Los Angeles Stock and Curb exchanges, will distribute bonus checks to approximately twenty-one employees at the company's seventh annual banquet tonight.

Edward H. Dunk, who made the announcement, said the organization's staff has been maintained intact in spite of decreased volume of business.

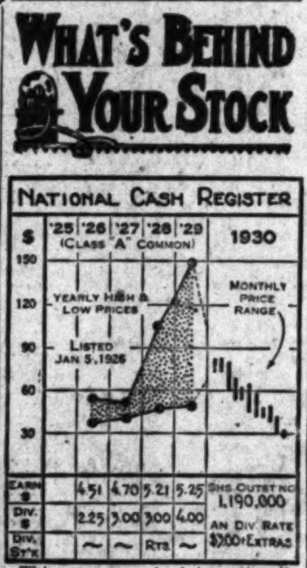
RADIO DEALERS PLACE ORDERS FOR 1931

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Distributors of Grigsby-Grunow Company in the United States and Canada, following a two-day convention in Chicago at which 1931 radio models were shown, placed orders for 125,000 sets and 1,000,000 tubes for shipment during the first ten weeks of next year, W. C. Grunow, president, today announced.

BROKER TELLS TRADE STATUS OF SEATTLE

Malon S. Andrus, general partner of Russell, Wagner & Co. of Seattle, on his arrival here yesterday by airplane stated that business in Seattle is holding its own and that the retail trade in volume is approximately the same as last year although prices are lower.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



This company is internationally known as the most prominent manufacturer of cash registers in the world, making over 600 types. Company has gradually expanded its activities in recent years into other phases of the business equipment field and is now marketing accounting machines, credit files, combination typewriter-adding machines, and various specialty devices. Distribution is prosecuted on a world-wide scale and the foreign division is becoming increasingly important to the maintenance of satisfactory earnings.

The upward trend of earnings established in the past few years has been sharply interrupted in 1930 when per share returns on the Class A common dropped to $1.84 in the first nine months from a corresponding figure of $4.05 in 1929. With 50 per cent of its volume originating overseas, the world-wide business depression has particularly hurt sales of this organization abroad at a time when domestic demand was likewise sharply curtailed.

CAPITALIZATION

Funded debt	None
$3 cum. class "A" common (no par.) shares	1,190,000
$3 class "B" common (no par.) shares	400,000

Current data: Recent estimates of 65 cents per share earnings for the final quarter would bring full-year results to about $2.50 a share on the Class A stock.

Security loans to members of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange as of the 17th inst. were announced by the exchange yesterday at $12,987,046, a decrease of $874,592 for the week and establishing a new low for the year. The high this year was $29,419,173 marked March 5.

SAN DIEGO ELECTRIC RAIL SHOWS LOSS

San Diego Electric Railway Company reported yesterday November net loss of $15,876 after all charges against $7023 in November, 1929. Operating revenues totaled $118,988 for the month, compared with $132,430 a year ago. Net loss for the eleven months this year totaled $119,086, against $76,483 a year ago, and operating revenues for the same periods, $1,435,817 and $1,483,896, respectively.

RESERVE BANKS STORE UP CREDIT

Member Unit Borrowings at Low Level of 1917

Usual Seasonal Demand for Money Held Slack

Situation Laid to General Business Decline

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. (AP)—Member banks of the Federal Reserve system entered the Christmas season of increased demand for currency with a smaller volume of indebtedness to the reserve banks than at any time since 1917.

The Federal Reserve Board made this announcement today in its monthly review and said the system was in an exceptionally strong position to meet the demand.

It reported a decrease in demand for reserve bank credit had reflected a slack demand for currency due in part "to the decrease in payroll disbursements by factories, and to the continued decline in commodity prices."

GOLD CHANGES SMALL

The board reported that changes in monetary gold have not been large during the period from July to November either this year or, on the average, for the preceding seven years.

"When the two sources of reserve-bank funds are combined it appears that this year the increase during the autumn was $96,000,000, as compared with $232,000,000 on the seven-year average," the report said. "This diminution in the growth is accounted for in part by the decrease in the seasonal demand for currency, which was only half as large this year as on the average for the preceding years, and in smaller part by a decrease of about $60,000,000 in the growth of member bank reserve balances.

TREND REVERSED

"It is usual for member banks to increase their loans, and consequently their deposits and their reserve requirements, during the autumn months, but this year the relatively small demand for bank credit, caused by the inactive states of business, has resulted in a relatively small growth of bank credit and of bank reserves."

The board said during November money rates showed a further easing tendency accompanied by a further decrease in demand for credit for the security market. From September 24 to November 26, total loans and investments of member banks increased by $84,000,000 investments of reporting banks increased at the same time to the highest level on record as a consequence of their purchases of investment securities of $1,460,000,000 since the low point of October, 1929.

Security loans of the banks increased $700,000,000, while brokers' loans declined by $1,100,000,000 and were lower on November 26 by $300,000,000 than the low point in 1926.

The decrease in brokers' loans, the board said, was chiefly in loans for account of out-of-town banks.

Three Concerns Declare Extras

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Extra dividends were declared today by the St. Louis Union Trust Company, Hamilton Watch Company and Central Railroad of New Jersey. The trust company payment was $8 a share or double the regular quarterly payment of $4 a share which was also voted.

Hamilton Watch voted extra dividends of 15 cents on its no par common stock and 30 cents on its $25 par common stock. Central Railroad voted a special of $2 a share which follows similar action taken six months ago and a year ago.

DIVIDEND OMITTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Investors' Equity Company today omitted the quarterly dividend of 50 cents due on the common stock at this time.

HOLDERS GAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Liquid Carbonic Corporation had 4697 stockholders on its books as of November 10, last, an increase of 1018, or about 28 per cent over November 12, 1929.

JAPAN GETS RID OF UTILITY

Transfer of Telephone System to Private Company on Program for January 1

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Japan has completed a thorough overhauling of her telephone system, and decided to transfer the control of the system, now in the hands of the government, to a private company.

Beginning with 1931, an increase of 50,000 telephone installations a year is contemplated. The present charge of about $500 for each telephone installed is to be discontinued, and all new telephones will be installed free. The demand on the part of the Japanese for telephones has been insistent, but the big installation charge has prevented their general use.

Whether the telegraph service will be transferred to a private company at the same time is problematical, but the general opinion is that it will be.

George M. Verity, progressive chairman of the American Rolling Mill Company, says that the steel industry as a whole "has not operated to exceed 55 per cent during the last six months."

"Our manufacturing institutions, which consume the products of the basic industries of the country, such as steel, copper, paper, etc., are those that can best accelerate a recovery of business," said Mr. Verity to me. "But the buying of merchandise and manufactured products on the part of the public must precede greater activity in industry and a return to more normal times."

Mr. Verity thinks it is not possible to discuss the subject of wages as a whole, as every industry has its own problems. In certain industries, like the building trades, where wages are high, recovery is liable to be thus retarded. Wages in the steel industry, however, are not too high and "there is no desire or inclination to change them."

But to the worker, the problem of employment is the all-important one.

"How can greater stability in this field be attained?" I asked.

"To my mind, the only sound and permanent remedy for these extreme periods of unemployment is to find ways and means to reasonably control production," replied this Ohio steel manufacturer. "If that is to be done, our antitrust laws must certainly be modified. It would seem that that could be done without in any way lessening sound and constructive competition."

Mr. Verity does not ask for the abolition of trust laws, but for the "modification" of them, so that they will still maintain a sound and healthy competition.

UTILITY REPORTS GAIN IN HOLDERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. — Federal Water Service Corporation A stockholders on the 1st inst. numbered 10,524, as against 7220 on December 1, 1929, an increase of more than 45 per cent. The average holdings of these stockholders were fifty-three shares, as compared with seventy-four shares a year ago.

NEW STOCK LISTED ON CURB MART

First Call for Trading in Signal Petroleum Issue Due Today

Capital stock of the Signal Petroleum Company of California has been approved for listing and will be called for trading today on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange, J. W. Elliott, secretary and manager of the curb, announced yesterday. The governing board also approved the listing for immediate trading of 31,449 additional shares of Lincoln Drilling Company.

Signal Petroleum Company, which was incorporated in 1917 as successor to Sanburg Petroleum Company, has an authorized capital of 500,000 shares of $1 par value stock of which 347,993 shares are currently outstanding.

Properties of the company consist of two leases on Signal Hill, which are operated by Superior Oil Company on the basis of 60 per cent of the net profits to Superior and 40 per cent for Signal. Production from these leases in 1929 totaled 173,685 barrels of crude oil and for the first nine months this year, 66,015 barrels under the curtailment policy.

No new developments have been attempted since acquisition of the Sanburg properties, the directors deeming it advisable to clear up some old debts and to conserve cash for either drilling a well in a proved location or to purchase royalties on leases, it was stated. Current assets total $50,000, of which $41,524 is cash and current liabilities, consisting only of accounts payable amounting of $1114.

INVESTMENT UNIT ELECTS DIRECTOR

Election of Cyrus Peirce to the board of directors of All America Investors Corporation, was announced yesterday. Mr. Peirce, who retired from Peirce, Fair & Co. of San Francisco several years ago, recently re-entered the investment business under the name of Cyrus Peirce & Co., Ltd., Los Angeles.

SUGAR COMPANY IN NET LOSS FOR YEAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. — Cuban American Sugar Company and subsidiaries reported today net loss for the year ended September 30, last, of $2,064,004 after all charges against net profits of $1,204,356, equal after preferred dividends to 65 cents a share on 1,000,000 common shares outstanding in the preceding year.

MARKET VALUES GAIN IN TRADING

Moderate Advance Recorded on Previous Day

Group Average Point Higher at Closing Hour

Squeeze of Shorts in Auburn Motor Features

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—An emphatic upturn in bonds was one of the most heartening developments in the financial market today.

Stocks, on the momentum of Wednesday's spectacular climb, rallied briskly, only to lose a large part of their gain when purchases made for a trading turn were sold. The net advance averaged about a point, although numerous issues were up much more than that. Sales totaled 3,290,370 shares.

The recovery in bonds signified that the market's recent weakness had been due to temporary conditions which seemed to disappear quickly with the turn in stocks.

Although few cared to go on record as predicting that actual bottom had been reached, pending the market's action under realizing and a secondary reaction, it was felt the two weeks decline had discounted a large part of any further unfavorable business news, particularly fourth-quarter earnings.

At their highest levels of the day prices of some stocks were 10 to 30 points above Wednesday's lows, which represented probably as vigorous a recovery as the market had witnessed this year. The sharpest reaction came in the final hour when prominent industrials lost all but a fraction of their 2 to 3-point advances, yet the market still retained enough vitality to close generally above the day's lowest quotations. An exception was the weakness of the coppers, with Anaconda and American Smelting sagging sharply.

Heavy liquidation in stocks the past week brought a $91,000,000 drop in brokers' loans, which are down to the nominal amount of $2,008,000,000.

The most spectacular stock today was Auburn. Opening at 101, up 2 points, it soared to 119 3-4 as shorts took a squeezing and then fell back to 112 for a net gain of 13. Its Wednesday low was 89. American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric and Union Carbide finished fractionally higher after rising two or 3 points. United States Steel, which had reached 141 3-4, closed at 139 3-8, off 1-8.

Rails displayed encouraging strength. New York Central retained 3 points of a 6-point advance. Union Pacific was heavy.

Foreign exchanges advanced.

In the 7-year bull market any stock would do—so long as it advanced in price. But the day of reckoning arrived.

Now more than ever should investors go back to staple investment standards before buying common stocks.

A list of companies whose average age is 56 years has been chosen. They have paid uninterrupted dividends on average for the last 33 years. Their average size is $800,000,000 each. The reserves and surplus of the 28 companies exceeds $7,000,000,000, enough to pay dividends at last year's rate of 6½ years, if all earnings ceased.

The managements of these companies have survived panics, wars—inflations and depressions for several generations.

These 28 stocks—and only these—are purchased every day. They are deposited with a trust company which holds them as trustee—the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

Certificates are issued against these stocks, entitling the holder to a full ownership interest in the entire 28 companies to the extent of his investment. Certificates ranging in amounts from about $100 to approximately $100,000, are available to investors—at TODAY'S low prices for the underlying stocks.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—An opening advance in cotton today on a continuation of yesterday's buying movement carried March contracts up to 10.21, or [illegible] points above the low record of Tuesday. Demand appeared to taper off after the early buying had been supplied, however, and prices later eased under realizing, southern selling and some reselling by yesterday's buyers. March was selling around 9.98 the middle of the afternoon, with the active months showing net declines of about 8 to 12 points.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Cottonseed oil was fairly active today, with the tendency as a rule toward lower levels, as traders were of the opinion that the advances of Wednesday had weakened the technical position. Strength in other markets was a sustaining factor at times, but in the afternoon session sentiment was unsettled by the reaction in cotton and grains. The market closed steady at the decline with prices 3 to 12 points net lower. Total sales were 8850 barrels, all in new contracts. Prime crude, 6.05c; prime summer yellow, spot, old, 7.20c; December, 7.25c; new, December, 7.06c; January, 7.29c; March, 7.34c; May, 7.47c; July, 7.58c.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (AP)—A robust rally by a wide list of railroad and other corporate domestic bonds today reversed the most stubborn and protracted decline of the year.

Impressive gains of 1 to 3 points were registered, as a broad buying movement was launched, which definitely turned the tide after bond prices had ebbed almost steadily for two weeks, making a long string of successive new lows for recent years.

Recent liquidation of high-grade investment issues along with bonds not so favorably situation had all the earmarks of nervous selling by holders whose confidence had been impaired by the general trend of security prices. Today the buyer dominated the situation. His bidding for investment and second grade issues brought the first advance in the weighted averages in two weeks. Both the average of ten rails and the composite was up a point from the year's low reached yesterday.

The broadest demand developed for railroad mortgages, from 1 to 3 points were numerous and in some were larger. Bonds making a strong recovery included Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago and Northwestern and Southern Pacific.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

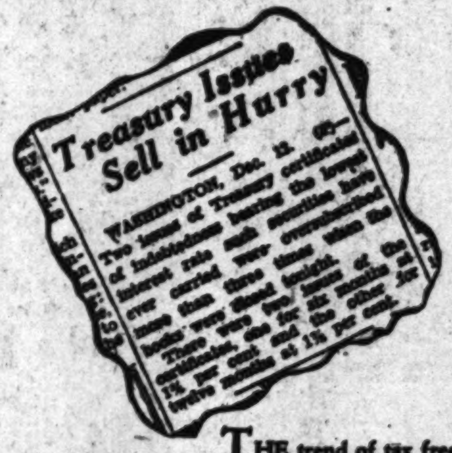
BUY 5½%—6% TAX FREE INCOMES NOW



Treasury Issues Sell in Hurry

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. (AP)—Two issues of Treasury certificates of indebtedness bearing the lowest interest rate such securities have ever carried were oversubscribed more than three times when the books were closed tonight. There were two issues of the certificates, one for six months at 1¾ per cent and the other for twelve months at 1⅞ per cent.

The Downward Trend of Tax-Free Interest Rates

THE trend of tax free interest rates toward lower levels, as shown by the above clipping, has resulted in recent government issues being heavily oversubscribed on a 1¾%—1⅞% basis—the lowest yield in American history.

For the investor who wishes to protect himself against falling interest rates, we suggest our Municipal Improvement Bond Certificates, due 1931-1960, which may be purchased today to yield 5½%—6%, completely exempt from all Federal, State and local taxes, in opinion of counsel.

These certificates represent ownership in a large number of municipal improvement bonds, appraised at many times the amount of the issue. Bonds are deposited with an independent trustee and no substitution may be made. Other features of interest are explained in a folder we have prepared.

The following is quoted from a letter of Mr. Chester H. Loveland, President:

Company: Southwestern States Telephone Company, a Delaware corporation, furnishes telephone service to 146 towns and adjacent areas in Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas. The combined population of the communities in which the Company operates is estimated to be in excess of 250,000. The system comprises 83 exchanges operating 18,929 stations. Interconnection with The Bell Telephone System and other companies, affords a nation-wide service. The Company is an operating subsidiary of Western Continental Utilities, Inc.

Security: To be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct first mortgage on all the fixed property, rights and franchises of the Company. The Company's properties, as appraised by independent engineers, plus subsequent additions at cost, have a net sound depreciated value of over $4,389,700.

Earnings: Earnings of the Company, including 12 months' earnings of exchanges acquired within the period, for the year ended December 31, 1929, as certified by Messrs. Arthur Young & Company, and for the 12 months ended September 30, 1930, from the Company's books, were as follows:

	12 Months' Period Ended Dec. 31, 1929	12 Months' Period Ended Sept. 30, 1930
Gross Revenues	$576,237.13	$649,579.06
Operating Expenses, including Maintenance and Taxes (other than Federal Income Tax) but excluding Depreciation	271,169.21	318,222.51
Net Earnings available for interest, depreciation and Federal Taxes	305,167.92	331,356.55
Annual interest on First Mortgage Bonds		138,000.00

Net earnings (including rate increases of $3,630.49) as shown above were over 2.4 times the annual interest on the First Mortgage Bonds.

During the past twelve months the Company has expended in maintenance and charged to depreciation $140,497.85.

Management and Operation: Southwestern States Telephone Company is owned by Western Continental Utilities, Inc., which has successfully operated Western Utilities Corporation and other public utility properties. Western Continental Utilities, Inc., is controlled by H. M. Byllesby & Company and The Central Illinois Company who operate these properties through The Loveland Engineers, Inc.

We offer these Bonds when, as and if issued and received by us, and subject to the approval of our Counsel.

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

Renewed activity is noted in the vicinity of Fillmore, where Cox Brothers and associates have acquired the Bardsdale lease and are planning to restore nine old wells to regular production. They also have announced the possible drilling of ten wells over a period of as many months.

Small rotary outfits will be utilized for the new drilling and the wells are expected to go about 1500 feet, where production has usually been obtained. These projects will probably not be placed on production until there is a greater demand for crude, it is said.

In Santa Paula Canyon the Superior Oil Company's Sespe No. 1 continues to make progress with the drill below 4500 feet. In the same area Thompson and Associates are preparing to make a production test in their well.

Monthly Flow Declines

According to a report issued by Umpire H. Paul Grimm, covering the monthly production by zones in the Santa Fe Springs field, increases are noted in only the Meyer and O'Connell sands for November, all compared with a similar report issued for October.

October's total production at Santa Fe Springs was 2,925,188 barrels of oil, that being 83,357 barrels more than for November. During November the Meyer zone production increased from 523,260 barrels for October to 579,696 barrels for November. The Hathaway zone recorded a drop during November from 806,277 barrels in October to 698,164 barrels. The report shows that the daily average production per well was 184 barrels of oil.

Reported Gas Showings

Officials of the San-Val Oil Company report that considerable gas has been encountered in the Haggard No. 1, drilling on a portion of its 325-acre lease near the intersection of Ventura and Reseda boulevards in San Fernando Valley. Bottom of the hole is below 1125 feet.

San-Val's project is being financed by land owners of the valley in a community test, and according to company officials they are preparing to drill to at least 6000 feet to make a thorough test of that district.

Jinks Plans Completed

Preparations have been completed for the oil men's annual Christmas jinks, to be held at the Biltmore Hotel Tuesday, the 23rd inst. All arrangements are in the hands of the wildcat committee of the California Oil and Gas Association.

In addition to a number of specialty and musical numbers, the wildcats will stage a farce-comedy. As usual in former years, the subject of this playlet is not anounced but it is expected that it will deal intimately with the oil situation in California.

The luncheon will start at 12 o'clock sharp. There will be no table reservations and late comers probably will not be able to secure choice seats, as it is estimated that at least 1500 oil men will be present. Tickets or reservations may be secured by telephoning to the California Oil and Gas Association.

Production Test Scheduled

The Standard Oil Company yesterday successfully landed two and one-half-inch tubing in Murphy-Coyote No. 105 at Coyote Hills, and is preparing to make a production test with bottom of the hole at 5135 feet. Standard's Bastanchury No. 1, due east of Coyote Hills, is drilling below 7321 feet in hard sandy shale.

Coring Ahead

Coring continues in the Western Gulf Oil Company's Bradley No. 1, on Sec. 5, 9-33, in the Santa Maria district in Santa Barbara county. Yesterday this project was coring in shale with showings of oil sand. Nine-inch casing is set to about 4690 feet, with bottom of the hole below 4800 feet.

Drilling Ahead

The Rio Grande Oil Company is making progress in Watson No. 1, located on Sec. 17, 4-13, near Watson. This undertaking was originally drilled to about 4500 feet by the Archer Oil Company and later acquired by Rio Grande for the purpose of drilling deeper. Bottom is below 6300 feet.

Redrilling Ahead

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company has succeeded in redrilling past a string of frozen drill pipe in Hobson A-2, two miles southeast of the Seacliff field, and is making progress below 7456 feet, with old bottom at 7521 feet.

As a direct offset to Chanslor-Canfield's deep test, the Continental Oil Company is building a road preparatory to construction of derrick for Grubb No. 1, which will be nearer the ocean and farther down on the south flank of the hill.

Runs Tubing

Late yesterday it was learned that the Universal Consolidated Oil Company has run an oil liner and tubing in its No. 49 well, a deep test at Lost Hills, and that plans are under way to make a production test with bottom at about 4890 feet.

Gamewell Net Profits Lower

BOSTON, Dec. 18.—Gamewell Company and subsidiaries, makers of fire-alarm apparatus, for the quarter ended November 30, last, today reported net profits after charges and taxes of $260,785, equal after preferred dividends to $1.85 a share on 118,928 comon shares as against $278,273 or $2.34 a common share in the corresponding period of last year when there was no preferred stock outstanding.

For the six months ended November 30, last, net profits were $482,555, or $3.48 a share on the common stock as compared with $530,702 or $4.46 a common share in the 1929 period.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: Northern Ohio steel sellers face the holiday and inventory period with the market situation maintained as far as incoming business is concerned. For the most part buying was of an indifferent character although sheets and strips there has been some improvement in purchasing. Some attractive releases in the lighter forms of steel have been received by the mills but new contracting is restricted.

Corn Futures Turn Lower on Bearish Mart

CHICAGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—Corn fell 2 cents a bushel today, influenced by liberal arrivals and by reports some corn products manufactories would shut down. Reports said industrial users of corn contended crop shortage had been overemphasized, and not enough attention had been given to curtailment of demand owing to use of rye and other substitutes. A further weight on the market was announcement 442,000 bushels of corn had been delivered today on Chicago December contracts.

Corn closed unsettled at nearly the day's bottom level, 1¾@1⅞ cents a bushel lower than yesterday. Wheat closed irregular at 1 cent decline to ¼-cent advance, with oats ¼@⅜-cent off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

Oats were chiefly dominated by the action of corn.

Provisions averaged higher, influenced by demand for December delivery of lard, especially on the part of traders who have been speculative sellers.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Although bulk of the fresh supply of cattle changed hands during the forenoon at steady prices, trade was not quite as active as usual the past few days and a weaker trend was noticeable in many bids. With the exception of a load or two, quality was largely common to medium. Stockers and feeders were not active and numerous loads were available for sale.

A load of 992-pound Idaho steers topped at 9.50. A load of 1036-pound Idahos and a load of 793-pound California steers of medium quality brought 8.75, with three loads of 914 to 955-pound Utahs at 8.60. A few part loads of plainer steers ranged from 7.25@8.50, the lower-priced cattle being Imperial Mexicans. A load or two of light steers and yearlings went to feeder buyers at 7.35@7.75, with common 615-pound weights down to 6.50.

Small lots of medium to good heifers brought 6.50@7.50 with a part load of Utah cows and a few fleshy dairy type cows at 6.50. Small lots of fairly good cows made 6.25@6.35, with top medium kinds at 6.00 and bulk of common to medium offerings at 4.75@5.85. Low cutters and cutters were fairly plentiful at 3.00@4.50, with some down to 2.50. Bulk of medium to good bulls brought 4.50@5.75 with a few head at 6.00.

CALVES—Trade was not very active on calves and vealers, with prices mostly unchanged. A few odd head of native milk vealers brought 10.50@13.50 with best 280-pound Texas calves at 9.25. Other calves of plainer quality or heavier weight brought 7.50@8.75 with common kinds of all weights down to 6.00.

HOGS—With only one load of mixed butchers available the market did not get a good test. Prices, however, looked fully steady, quality considered. The load of Oklahoma butchers brought 9.25 and averaged 185 pounds. Good eastern butchers are quoted to around 9.50. A few head of packing sows brought 7.50.

SHEEP—Nothing was offered in this department and quotations are carried unchanged.

FRUIT EXCHANGE HAS $20,000,000 SALES

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—The California Fruit Exchange, the largest co-operative organization handling deciduous fruits in the United States, did a business in 1930 that was 50 per cent greater than in 1929, J. L. Nagle, general manager of the exchange, announced today. Approximately 15,300 cars of fruit were shipped from California by the exchange during the year and the gross sales totaled $20,000,000, Nagle declared. The volume of business was greater, he said, despite the fact that the prices averaged about $500 per car less than in 1929.

JUDGE WARNS USERS OF HOLIDAY LIQUOR

MAYWOOD, Dec. 18.—With the approach of Christmas week the number of traffic law violations is becoming greater, and Judge F. B. Mullendore, of the City Court, after adjourning the weekly session in which there were at least a dozen traffic law violators, made the following statement: "The Christmas liquor is now coming in and as a consequence there is an increase in the number of drunk driving cases. If some of the citizens must indulge they should remain in their cars and keep the cars parked, or walk or take a taxi if they wish to aid in saving life and helping the law-enforcement officers."

Large Dividend Voted for Bank in Dissolution

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18.—Payment of a 90 per cent dividend in the savings department and per cent in the commercial department of the California Commercial Bank of San Diego was announced here today by Wood, State superintendent of banks. The bank was closed by order of the department July 22, 1930. Payments of claims amount to 000 in the savings department and $90,000 in the commercial department, Wood said.

Checks will be mailed. The three months' period of notification required by law has expired and no dividends made heretofore.

The payment of so large a dividend so soon after the closing of a bank established a record, declared in making the announcement. He said that in spite of misuse of funds by one of the former officials, there would be, if any, loss to depositors. Payments will be made as sets of the bank are liquidated.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Prices Continue to Work Upward on Local Board as Buying Gains Momentum

Further substantial progress was marked for the recovery of security prices on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday with traders having derived considerable reassurance from the rapidity of the preceding day's rally. Advances were general throughout the list and sentiment brightened by a brisk volume of business that indicated buying operations were being resumed on the assumption that the bottom of the market had been reached.

Bolsa Chica, Richfield, Union, Edison, Security-First National Bank, Pacific Finance, Pacific Gas, Macmillan Petroleum and Claude Neon led the extended rally with gains of a point or more. Bolsa Chica was the most outstanding performer, running up 2 3-8 points to a new high at 15 1-8. The stock finished the session at 15.

Richfield, favorably influenced by the expected completion momentarily of the Lost Hills well by its subsidiary, Universal Consolidated, shot up 1 3-4 points to 6½. Union Oil staged a sharp rally of more than 2 points to 24 1-8, but reacted near the close to end at 23, up 1 point net. Union Associates acted in a similar fashion, hitting a high at 23 1-8 and closing at 22 3-8 for a net gain of 1 1-8. Macmillan advanced 1 1-4 points to 4½. Standard of California, Rio Grande and Pacific Western recorded fractional improvement.

Security-First National Bank rallied a point to 84 and Pacific Finance a similar amount to 13 3-4. The latter, however, had achieved 14½ earlier in the day. Transamerica, less active than usual, held within a range of 14 1-8 and 13 5-8 closing at the latter price for a net loss of 1-8.

Southern California Edison was carried up 1 5-8 to 44 and ended at 43 3-4. Pacific Gas and Electric, which was not traded after the rally had set in late Wednesday, crossed the board at 45 for a net gain of 4 1-4 points. Claude Neon rallied 1 1-4 points to 15 1-4. Western Air Express turned up ⅛ to 10.

Sales totaled 41,435 shares, valued at $834,523; previous day, 66,735 shares, valued at $1,411,622.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Universal Consolidated Oil was the active leader in yesterday's session on the Los Angeles Curb with a total turnover of 12,400 shares. From an opening price of 12 1-2, the oil issue advanced to 16 and then held fractionally above 15 to close at 15 3-4 with a net gain of 3 1-4.

The oil issue has had a spectacular rise from below $4 a share in the last few weeks on the prospects of the company's Lost Hills development and yesterday's activity was accompanied by reports that the new well in Lost Hills was expected momentarily to blow in. Richfield Oil Company holds the controlling stock interest in Universal Consolidated.

Cities Service common, General Motors, Globe Grain preferred and Mexican Seaboard scored fractional gains. Cord Corporation moved up 1 3-8 to 5 1-2. Fox Theaters "A" at 4 3-8 and Goldman-Sachs Trading at 6 1-8 declined fractionally to new lows.

In the penny list Lincoln Drilling jumped 32 1-2 cents to $2, Claude Neon of New York gained 30 cents to $4.30 and Exeter Oil moved up 10 cents to 70 cents.

Sales totaled 38,582 shares, valued at $264,255; previous day, 29,088 shares, valued at $158,085.

Stock sales today, 763,300 shares.
Stock sales year ago, 963,000 shares.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Crude rubber prices in the outside market were turned in an upward direction today, profiting from better sentiment, which extension of the rally in stock prices caused. Gains were uniformly ⅛ cent net, but at one time during the session more substantial advances were recorded. Trading volume picked up.

London prices were even more firm than those in the local market, the close being up 3-16d to ¼d.

Bond Prices are First to Recover

Past experience shows that in periods of depression the prices of high-grade, fixed income securities are the first to recover.

The recent sharp stock market decline has affected bond prices to the extent that many seasoned issues are now on the bargain counter. We will gladly furnish a list of such bonds which, in our opinion, combine a high degree of security and stability of income with unprecedented opportunity for future appreciation.

This list will be gladly furnished on request without obligation.

R.K.O., Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Ex-Flame." Reviewed in today's Times.

Tower, Broadway at Eighth—"Dubarry, Woman of Passion." The notorious figure of history is ably portrayed by Norma Talmadge.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"Today," with Neil Hamilton and Norman Kerry.

United Artists, Broadway near Ninth—"Lincoln." The masterly art of a great director and the acting ability of a versatile star make of this biographical impression a fine picture worth seeing.

Warners' Downtown, Hill at Seventh—"River's End." Opens today.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"River's End."

Wilshire, 8440 Wilshire Boulevard—"Tom Sawyer." Mark Twain's classic of youth is enacted by some clever youngsters.

STAGE

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland—"Michael and Mary." A delicately told tale of romance, drawn with skill by Dale Winter and Henry Duffy.

Music Box, Hollywood near Gower—"Peter Pan." Scenically sumptuous revival of Never-Never Land fantasy with Marion Clayton a gay Peter Pan. Sure to delight youngsters, especially.

BURLESQUE

Follies, Main at Fourth—Burlesque.

Dohenys Will Fete Children

Plenty of thrills are waiting for the children of the community of Capistrano Beach Palisades when more than 100 of the small folk will be guests Monday at a Christmas party arranged by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Doheny and which will be an annual affair hereafter.

Promptly at 7:30 p.m. the children have been invited to be at the administration building of the Palisades, where they will be greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Doheny, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Leyden, Father St. John O'Sullivan of Capistrano Mission and Rev. Hugh McNinch.

A miniature village has been erected and this will claim the interest of the youngsters until 8:30 p.m., when old Saint Nick himself will put in an appearance. The children's party will be followed at 9 p.m. by a general reception and thereafter the village will be open to the public.

Penuriousness Brings Divorce

Penurious ways of her husband were asserted yesterday by Mrs. Valley Pittman in divorcing Clarence Pittman. The wife complained that her husband wrote down prices of groceries and scolded her for spending too much, that he did their marketing personally, and that he went around turning down the gas jets. Although he was employed, she asserted she had to obtain work to supply money for clothes for herself and son, Lloyd, 14 years of age.

Superior Judge Hazlett granted Mrs. Pittman a divorce, and ordered Pittman to pay $30 a month for his son's support.

DR. FRANK DYER RETURNS

Dr. Frank Dyer, Los Angeles minister, returned yesterday from Chicago where he has been filling speaking engagements for six weeks. He will preach at several Southern California churches after the holidays.

Wife Who Won Balm Verdict Sued by Spouse

Mrs. Virginia V. Burr, who was awarded a jury verdict of $20,000 against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Virginia Hobart, in an alienation suit, was defendant in a divorce case filed by Floyd L. Burr yesterday.

During their eleven years of married life, Mrs. Burr was guilty of cruelty, according to Burr's complaint. In addition, the husband asserts, she has a violent temper, and told him she didn't love him. The couple married November 28, 1929, and separated November 21, last.

Historic Mexican Days Reproduced

Yuletide festivities of the days of the conquistadores in California, when minstrels went from village to village on the El Camino Real, were reproduced last night following a dinner by the National Business and Professional Women's Club at the Women's University Club.

The cast of "Casino Mexicano" assisted, as did the "Mexico Lindo," with Senor Cordova Cantu, pianist; the Spanish dancers, Ernestino Leon and Salerno; Ygnacio Guerra Bolanos, baritone, and Amapola del Vando, contralto.

Miss Marian Voss, assistant secretary to Mayor Porter, vice-chairman of the program committee, praised the performers and paid tribute to Senor Callor Tamborrel, now in Mexico City, as being largely responsible for the success of the entertainment.

Theft Suspects Held for Trial

Accused by police of obtaining nearly $250,000 in plunder from Beverly Hills, Hollywood and Wilshire district homes, H. M. Sanders, 30 years of age, and Peter Ryan, 38, were ordered held for Superior Court trial on eight counts of burglary and one of attempted burglary each, by Municipal Judge Baird yesterday. Bail was fixed at $15,000 each.

Witnesses summoned by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Sullivan said the pair were arrested on the 5th inst. when Sanders drove a small truck, loaded with stolen goods, to 5320 Olympic Boulevard. Property recovered totals nearly $100,000 in value, Sullivan declared.

ALUMNI ELECT OFFICERS

Election of C. L. Jordon of the Hollywood High School faculty as president of the Bates College Alumni Association was announced yesterday. Charles E. Hicks of the Jordan High School faculty was elected secretary.

Last Wednesday evening the alumni association held its annual midwinter get-together dinner at the Alexandria. Judge Forbes was toastmaster and Carl E. Milliken, former Governor of Maine and now one of the trustees of Bates College, brought official greetings from the college. H. A. Allen, business manager of the National Education Association, brought the greetings from that organization.

CONVICT'S HUSBAND ACCUSED

Complaint Issued Against Sam Valenti, Whose Wife Burned Child to Death

Sam Valenti, 22-year-old husband of Josephine Valenti who is serving a life term in San Quentin prison for burning her infant child to death, was charged with two counts of grand theft from the person and one of assault with a deadly weapon in a complaint issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McIsaac yesterday.

Police officers who obtained the complaint charge that Valenti, at his home, 669 Moulton street, engaged in a fight with Gaitano Prusutto of 1450 Ricardo street and Mattio Sarni of 236½ South Griffin avenue, taking from them $48 in money and several personal articles of small value.

When Joe Valenti, the defendant's father, intervened, the officers assert, Sam Valenti threatened him with a butcher knife.

Trolley Crew Saves Life of Trapped Collie

Although not expecting it, Pacific Electric officials are about to receive from the State Commission for Protection of Children and Animals a letter commending two of their trainmen for an act of humaneness which yesterday morning saved the life of a dog.

Speeding to Los Angeles from Redondo, Motorman W. C. Hinds and Conductor J. D. Henry saw a half-grown collie frantically digging a pit between two of the ties on their tracks. A whistle blast failed to clear the way, so Motorman Hinds applied the brakes and brought the train to a stop. The collie was found to have snagged his chain and at the approach of the train had begun to "dig himself in," out of harm's way.

When released the grateful collie licked the hands of his rescuers and scampered away.

A woman passenger later reported the incident to Herbert H. Hallett, secretary of the commission.

Youth Held as Theft Suspect Makes Escape

Taking advantage of a few seconds when he was unobserved, Elmer Campbell, 19 years of age, burglary suspect, yesterday escaped from deputy sheriffs at the Florence-avenue substation.

Campbell, who a short while before had been arraigned on two charges of burglary at the Huntington Park justice court, succeeded in reaching a rear door in the substation and escaping. He immediately was pursued by half a dozen officers, but eluded them.

The fugitive, according to a Sheriff's report, was arrested last Tuesday after he is asserted to have entered the home of Mrs. Beatrice Tossin at 1159½ East Sixty-first street. He was being held in the County Jail with Clifford Wright, 16, arrested as a suspected. Both the youths have records in Oklahoma, according to Sheriff's records.

Holidays Begin at Child's Clinic

Christmas holidays will begin today for the little patients of the Children's Hospital. At 1:30 p.m. the clinic children, numbering about 125, will be feted in the out-patient department by the Hollywood girls' auxiliary. There will be a Christmas tree, an entertainment program and distribution of gifts.

Two parties are scheduled for Monday. At 10 a.m. children attending the physiotherapy clinic at San Pedro will gather about a tree and help themselves to well-filled stockings provided by friends of the institution. At 2 p.m. Al Malaikah Temple's Santa Claus will arrive and unload his sackful of trains, dolls, boats and other treasures.

The final party will take place Christmas morning, when Elks' Lodge, No. 99, will be host and gift bearer. For this affair members of the hospital board are providing the turkey and the city schools are sending the Christmas trees.

Pioneer's Ashes on Way to City

The ashes of Mrs. Thomas B. Van Alstyne, whose first husband, William Barnard, was one of Los Angeles's noted pioneers, are on their way to this city from Washington, where she died recently at the age of 82 years.

Mr. Barnard, who died several years ago, was the founder of the Barnard-Densmore Company and Barnard Park was named for him. A brother and several other relatives of Mrs. Van Alstyne live in Los Angeles. Her ashes will be placed in Rosedale Cemetery, beside the grave of her first husband.

FLYER TELLS PERILS IN CENTRAL AMERICA

Piloting planes in Central America is just one thrill after another, according to Tom Ward, Jr., who came home to Los Angeles on the Panama Mail liner Ecuador yesterday after flying mail planes down there three years.

Lack of landing fields and markings, and the treachery of volcanoes contribute most of the hazards, he said. His route was from San Jose de Guatemala to Quezaltenango and on to Flores Peten in British Honduras. It was directly over the Santa Maria volcano, which recently raised such havoc.

His plane became almost unmanageable at times while climbing over the volcanic mountains, he added.

El Principe Jorge Viaja en los Tranvias Subterráneos

LONDRES, Diciembre 18.—El príncipe Jorge, hijo menor del monarca británico, compró un billete de cinco centavos, se metió en un vagón del subterráneo, y viajó en él hasta el "West End", donde había anoche un baile al que había sido invitado Su Alteza.

Salió de su casa en automóvil; pero era tan densa la niebla que no sabía por donde iba. Ninguno de sus compañeros de viaje en el subterráneo dio señales de haber reconocido al real pasajero, y éste llegó al baile sin más incidentes.

Campos de "Rojos" Bombardeados Desde el Aire

SHANGHAI, Diciembre 18.—En un periodo de veinticuatro horas, que terminó a las once de esta noche, los aviadores militares del gobierno nacionalista mataron 500 comunistas en la provincia septentrional de Hunan, volando sobre la región infestada de rojos y soltándoles bombas desde arriba.

Efectuóse ese bombardeo en el sitio en que los rojos dieron muerte hace poco a cientos de personas al apoderarse de las ciudades de Lichow, Tsingshin y Kungan.

A despecho del ataque aéreo, los rojos han seguido con sus depredaciones, y sus artilleros continúan amenazando a las embarcaciones a lo largo del Río Yangtze.

Informes de la provincia de Kiangsi meridional indicaban hoy que los comunistas habían capturado la ciudad de Kanchow. Noticias no confirmadas de este último martes anunciaban que los rojos habían tomado la ciudad tras haberla hostilizado largo tiempo. Allí se hallan estacionados muchos misioneros británicos y yanquis.

Viene en Camino una Vieja Levita para Chaplin

SEATTLE, Diciembre 18.—Caso que ya se le esté acabando su famoso chaqué a Charlie Chaplin, podrá pronto cambiarlo con ventaja por una resistente prenda que le dará protección contra los proyectiles que le lanzan cuando está filmando.

Le viene en camino un "jinbaori", larga y pesada levita que los antiguos guerreros japoneses usaban para atajar las flechas de sus enemigos. Tráele dicha prenda un muchacho de Osaka, de 13 años de edad, que se ha detenido aquí de paso para Hollywood. Es un regalo de Tsuneichi Hachiya, comerciante de Osaka que conoció a Chaplin hace diez años en Hollywood, y se hizo amigo y admirador del célebre cómico. El muchacho portador del "jinbaori" es Tsuneo Hachiya, quien desembarcó aquí ayer.

Gran Entretenimiento para los Nietos de Hoover

WASHINGTON, Diciembre 18.—Dos chiquillos de California, que han figurado mucho en las gacetillas últimamente, gozaron hoy de la novedad de jugar por primera vez en la nieve.

La señora Hoover empaquetó a sus dos nietezuelos, Peggy Ann y Herbert Hoover III, en una limosina de la Casa Blanca, y se los llevó al parque de Rock Creek.

Allí les enseñó a las dos criaturas cómo se hacían las pelotas de nieve. Ni una ni otro habían visto nunca la nieve de cerca. No la conocían sino a gran distancia: la que cubre las cimas de las altas montañas.

Viajero de Los Angeles Encarcelado en Nueva York

NUEVA YORK, Diciembre 18.—Nicholas Macalena, de 23 años, natural de Cliffside (Nueva Jersey), ha sido detenido hoy por un juez federal, que lo acusa de haber violado la ley de Mann y la ley nacional de Autovehiculos. Se le ha señalado fianza de $5000.

Acúsase a Macalena de haber traído a Nueva York a Anna Marie Vassar, muchacha de Los Angeles, de 17 años, en un coche que alquiló de la Compañía de Apartaderos de Cabrillo, domiciliada en San Pedro, sin advertir a los dueños del auto que tenía las intenciones de hacer un largo viaje en él.

ROMANCE OF STUDIO BECOMES ACTUALITY

Dorothy Sebastian

FILM PAIR FLY AWAY TO MARRY

Dorothy Sebastian and Bill Boyd to Be United Today in Las Vegas, Nev.

As a result of being cast as sweethearts in a motion picture a number of months ago, Dorothy Sebastian and Bill Boyd, screen players, headed for Las Vegas, Nev., on a Western Air plane last night to be married today. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Adolph L. Shafer.

WILLIAM BOYD

The romance had its beginning when Miss Sebastian was introduced to Boyd on a set at the Pathe studio where she was called as his leading lady in "His First Command." Since that time the couple have been seen together in Hollywood frequently, so the announcement of their plan to wed did not surprise their friends.

Immediately following the ceremony in Las Vegas, they will return to Hollywood where Boyd is working on a picture. As soon as the production schedule permits, they will leave on an extended honeymoon.

Boyd's first wife was Elinor Fair, actress, whose decree became final November 16, last. Boyd is a Cecil B. De Mille "discovery" who was lifted to stardom by his success in "The Volga Boatman." Recently he changed his name to Bill Boyd, to avoid confusion with William Boyd, who came to the screen from the New York stage. Miss Sebastian started under the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer banner.

NEWSBOYS' YULETIDE DINNER ALWAYS FREE

On account of reports that certain newsboys on downtown streets have been soliciting the public to buy tickets to the fifteenth annual newsboys' Christmas dinner to be held in the Biltmore, the committee in charge has issued a statement that such solicitation is fraudulent, due to the fact that every year the entire expense of the feast is borne by Fred H. Solomon. The newsboys' dinner for fourteen years has been given by Solomon in honor of his mother, the late Mrs. Seraphine Solomon.

STATE TEACHER GROUP ELECTS

Arthur Gould of This City Named President

Legislative Bills Discussed at Business Meet

Four General Sessions End Institute Today

Election of Arthur Gould, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles city schools, as president of the California Teachers' Association, southern section, was announced at the annual business meeting of the association at Trinity Auditorium yesterday afternoon. Balloting had been conducted by mail.

Beulah Coward, supervisor of elementary science in the Pasadena schools, was elected vice-president, and Franklin W. Hemphill, director of Junior High Schools of the Compton Union Secondary District, was re-elected treasurer. Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of Burbank city schools, the retiring president, became an exofficio member of the executive committee, which consists of the above officers and two more members to be elected January 17 at the next meeting of the Southern Council of the association. F. L. Thurston remains as executive secretary, as he was elected last year for a two-year term.

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

The main business of the meeting was the adoption of a series of resolutions dealing mainly with legislation to be supported at the coming session of the Legislature. The resolutions indorsed the terms of a retirement bill recommended by the State Council of Education, approved several modifications in the present tenure law recommended by the same body, indorsed legislation which will allow school boards to grant teachers sabbatical leaves, and indorsed legislation to give kindergartens the same State support as elementary schools.

The resolution also put the teachers' association on record as opposing a bill expected to be presented to the Legislature to do away with the present legalization of teachers' institutes, superintendents' conventions and the High School Principals' Association and also as opposing a bill expected to be sponsored by labor unions which would require all schools to use only books printed in the State Printing Office at Sacramento, the penalty for using other books being the withholding of State funds from the school.

ADDRESSES HEARD

Before these resolutions were adopted, the legislative matters were discussed by Roy W. Cloud, State executive secretary of the California Teachers' Association. The meeting also listened to an address by the retiring president, the annual report of the treasurer and the executive secretary and a report on the work of the association's bureau of welfare given by Ernest C. Bransom.

The association's meeting featured the fourth day of institute week for Southern California teachers. The day opened with general sessions at four auditoriums, at each of which there were two speakers.

At the Bible Institute Auditorium Chester H. Rowell, a member of the Board of Regents of the University of California, criticised education for being always a generation or more behind the needs of our future citizens. Today, for example, he said, boys and girls are being instructed mainly in vocations, although leisure will be the common possession of the coming generation.

TRAINING IN BUSINESS

"While it is not advisable to omit vocational training from the schools," he said, "we also need to realize that our children must be trained to play as well as to work. Leisure will become so universal through increasing adoption of shorter working days and shorter working weeks that if children are sent into the world without this training in the use of their free time, Satan will still find work for idle hands."

Other speakers at the general sessions were Vierling Kersey, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Dr. Hughes Mearns, Dr. Samuel W. Graffiin, Dr. R. L. Lyman, Lorado Taft, Dr. Frank Bohn, and Dr. Howard R. Driggs, all of whom, with the exception of Mr. Kersey, were on the programs of previous general sessions.

FARM RELIEF MOVE LAUDED

G. E. Marcy, Chicago Grain Expert Here on Visit, Sees Wheat Purchase as Aid to Prosperity

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Dec. 18.—Purchase of more than 40,000,000 bushels of wheat by the Federal Farm Board in recent weeks constitutes the most significant recent stimulus to returning prosperity, according to George E. Marcy, retired Chicago grain merchant. Accompanied by Mrs. Marcy, he arrived here today to spend the winter months at the Hotel Huntington.

Mr. Marcy, former president of the Armour Grain Company, does not believe the government should enter business, but having organized the Farm Board and embarked on a policy of farm relief, it is his opinion that Chairman Legge of the board deserves the commendation for halting the downward trend of wheat prices.

"By purchasing the surplus wheat," Marcy asserted, "the Farm Board undoubtedly saved the country from a dangerous collapse of commodity prices, for if the bottom had dropped out of the wheat market all business would have been affected."

"Agricultural conditions underlie depressed business conditions. When the farmer buys he is forced to pay the price demanded by highly paid American labor, but when he sells, the price tends to be low due to competition with low-paid foreign workers.

"A serious condition affecting farmers is that they pay more taxes on their property than do business men. The farmer cannot hide a ton of hay in a safety deposit box and his taxes amount to one-third of his net income. This condition holds true to a certain degree with the railroads, which are contributing about one-fourth of their income to taxes."

Mr. Marcy voiced the opinion that the California fruit industry is in possibly the best condition of any agricultural group because of its strong organization.

Owner of a 1500-acre ranch near Tustin in Orange county, and actively engaged in the grain business all his life, the Chicago visitor is recognized as an outstanding authority in the grain field. He is a pioneer avocado grower, having planted his first grove in California twenty years ago.

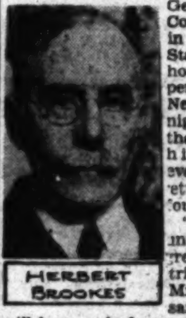
Pasadena P.E. Hearing Fixed

A hearing on the application of the Pacific Electric Railway Company for permission to establish a zone system of fares to take the place of the city wide 7-cent fare in Pasadena has been set for January 27 before Commissioner Seavey of the State Railroad Commission at Pasadena, according to word received here yesterday.

The Pacific Electric also seeks authority for rerouting its motorcoach service in and about the Crown City.

SILVER LINING VISIONED IN AUSTRALIAN CLOUDS

Although Australia is suffering equally with other portions of the world under economic reverses, Herbert Brookes, Commissioner-General for the Commonwealth in the United States, en route home after a period of duty at New York, last night expressed the opinion that his country eventually will return to sounder foundations.



HERBERT BROOKES

"Australia is undergoing a great economic trial just now," Mr. Brookes said, "and she will have a deal more to face before the adjustments are made, but the burden is great and the return will be no cake-walk."

Mr. Brookes affirms one of the great difficulties of Australia to be the enormous war and state debts, in addition to the depression that has beset her.

The war debt, he said, now stands at £288,000,000, or approximately $1,440,000,000, in addition to other debts of £90,000,000, or $450,000,000, a per-capita of £122½ among 6,500,000 citizens, as compared with a per capita in 1914 of £68½.

The Commissioner-General, who has resigned his American post that compares diplomatically with that of the Canadian Minister, said there is a minority movement in Australia to attempt to obtain a year's moratorium on the payments this year, but he expressed certainty that the government will meet the debt, nevertheless.

Mr. Brookes observes the economic fortunes of Australia and the United States to be peculiarly linked and he believes that an upward swing of the economic curve in the United States will react favorably to the recovery of Australia.

"There is a great difference, how-

AUTO TOURISTS BRING CASH

Survey at State's Border Shows Only 8.3 Per Cent of Influx Seeking Jobs in California

That 91.7 per cent of the people who come to Southern California in automobiles are tourists with sufficient money to carry them while visiting here, and only 8.3 per cent are persons seeking work, is shown in the figures of an interesting survey made public yesterday by Harvey C. Fremming, director of employment stabilization in Los Angeles county.

The survey, made over a period of ten days, was taken at three points of entry into the State, at Daggett, Yermo and Fort Yuma. The Los Angeles county official was aided in the work at these points by officers of the State Agricultural Department.

The report, which has been filed with Supervisor Shaw, general chairman of the county-wide unemployment committee, shows that out of 1210 automobiles checked, representing twenty-seven States, 72 per cent of the passengers in them were regular vacationists, with adequate funds to spend all or a part of the winter here; 19.8 per cent were visitors who had sufficient money to remain and who might locate in the State if work was obtained, and 7.4 per cent were itinerant job hunters.

In no instance was it found that job hunters were influenced to come to California by advertising, the report declares.

Director Fremming found that among those people who arrived with sufficient money to spend all or a part of the winter in Southern California and who might stay if work was obtained, 20.8 per cent had come at the suggestion of friends already here; 75 per cent came at the suggestion of relatives here, and 4.2 per cent came merely on their own volition.

Of all the arrivals who admitted they were merely job hunters, 11.1 per cent came at the suggestion of friends in California; 77.8 per cent

HOLLAND TO BE OPPOSED BY TEACHER

Earl S. Parker Only One to Run in Recall Vote as Councilman

Earl S. Parker, Franklin High School teacher of 657 Milo Terrace, will be the only opponent against Councilman Holland of the Fourteenth district in the recall election scheduled for January 13, next, it developed yesterday when time for the filing of nominating petitions closed.

City Clerk Dominguez, who will handle the election, said he will start printing the ballots today.

Parker's nominating petition was certified to carry 611 valid signatures, 500 being necessary. The recall petition, which requires the holding of the election, carried 3840 valid signatures. Holland does not need to file a nominating petition, as his name automatically goes upon the ballot.

Parker teaches commercial courses in Franklin High School. He said yesterday his campaign will not be allowed to interfere with his school duties.

Holland was elected from the district eighteen months ago. The recall petition circulators contend they are dissatisfied with his attitude in the acquisition of Victory Park, No. 2, and also accuse him of not adhering to campaign pledges.

SERVICE TO U.S.C. NOTABLE

Warren Bovard Official of University Since 1905 and Leading Figure in Public Life

Except for his activities during the war period, when he was in the air service at Kelly Field and at Washington, and later when he was executive secretary to Gov. Stephens, the career of Warren B. Bovard, who took his life yesterday, was closely associated with the University of Southern California. His uncle, Dr. M. M. Bovard, was an organizer and first president of the university, and his father, Dr. George Finley Bovard, was president for twenty years.

Mr. Bovard was born in Los Angeles, July 4, 1885. He attended the public schools of the city, completing his preparatory work in the academy of the University of Southern California. He then entered the university, but was unable to complete his course with his class, due to a severe attack of scarlet fever. He took a course at Woodbury Business College and became an expert accountant.

Despite his youth—20 years of age—he was made assistant treasurer of the university in 1905, a position he held until 1920, when he was appointed comptroller. In the meantime, however, he had been in the air service as major from September to December, 1917, and was with the General Staff Corps at Washington from December, 1917, to January, 1919. At the time of his death he was a lieutenant-colonel in the Army reserve.

On March 6, 1923, Mr. Bovard, who had come to be regarded in campus life as a confirmed bachelor, married Hazel Berdine Jackman, daughter of Wilson W. Jackman and Nattie Jackman of El Reno, Okla. The wedding was a social event because of the prominence of the principals. Miss Jackman was one of the most popular of the co-eds, being active in a number of organizations on the campus. Mr. Bovard's father read the marriage service in the University Methodist Church. There are no children.

With his growing importance in the work and activities of the university he took a keen interest in the athletic success of his own university and was a leading figure in

BOVARD DEATH NOTE REVEALED

Message Left for Widow Mentions Slain Friend

University Official in Ill Health Recently

Friends Also Blame Rift in Domestic Life

Out of a day of confusion surrounding reasons for the suicide yesday of Warren Bradley Bovard, vice-president of University of Southern California, came last night the stated conclusion of close friends that it was domestic infelicity and recent ill health which drove the 45-year-old university man to kill himself by firing through his head the heavy charge of a .45-caliber atuomatic army pistol.

On a chiffonier near the empty twin bed by the one on which the body lay, were two dainty envelopes—letters from Mrs. Bovard, once the vivacious Hazel Berdine Jackman—also a scrawled note written by a faltering hand, a business telegram and a photograph of Mrs. Bovard. What is in the letters few know but it is believed that they were to him messages of despair. The telegram is declared to have dealt with a minor matter of business. The note, heavy with tragedy, addressed Mrs. Bovard tenderly as "Bleanie."

REFERENCE TO DOHENY, JR.

"Good-by, Bleanie. Am going to look for Ned. Warren."

"Ned," friends said, was his dear friend, Edward L. Doheny, Jr., son of the multimillionaire oil magnate, whose tragic murder at the hands of an insane employee shocked the country in February of 1929. Mrs. Bovard is hurrying home from Wichita, Kan.

All was not well in the magnificent Bovard home at 94 Fremont Place after seven years of married life, friends stated. About six weeks ago Mrs. Bovard left to visit relatives in the East. In a few days, Louis B. McWhirter, a graduate of U.S.C. of 1915, and a close friend of Bovard, took up quarters in the Bovard residence and there he and Bovard lived with a Chinese boy servant.

SERIOUSLY ILL

For the past several weeks Bovard was so ill at times that he had to absent himself from the university, where he was comptroller as well as vice-president. Late last week he went to San Francisco on business and returned by steamship Wednesday. Frank Hadlock, secretary of U.S.C. Alumni Association, took him home and he complained of being very much upset by seasickness. McWhirter was there at the time and the three talked and later the two left, with Bovard going to his bedroom for a nap.

Bovard and Arthur Baker were to have gone out Wednesday evening to dinner, but Bovard complained that he did not feel like going out and requested Baker to bring sandwiches to the house that evening. Meanwhile, Bovard received and presumably read the two letters that had come from Mrs. Bovard. McWhirter, who had returned in the interim, again left the house for the evening and, police said, Baker came and spent the time between 9 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. with the university official. Baker had gone and Bovard had retired when McWhirter returned not long afterward. Both McWhirter and Baker said he gave no hint of the mental struggle that a little later was to drive him madly to seek relief by sending a bullet through his brain.

DISCOVERY OF BODY

"I wakened about 8 a.m.," McWhirter said yesterday, "and was surprised that I did not hear Warren, for he was an early riser. I tiptoed out of my room, through a bathroom into his room and pushed the button lighting the furnace and went back to bed. His room was dark because of shades and curtains, and I observed nothing unusual.

"I little later I got up and, becoming curious as to why he had not risen, I opened the door from the bathroom into his room I saw him sort of half sitting up, and started toward him.

"Then I saw blood over his face, the gun in his hand—I saw that he was dead, and I whirled hurriedly and telephoned for Asa V. Call, a friend who lives near by."

Call responded, Dr. Leon D. God-

MR. BEESEMYER sobs in his pastor's embrace and asks that it be arranged for God to forgive him; still he doesn't tell what became of the money.

WARREN BOVARD

You can never tell what is at the other end of a letter.

Only three or four days ago I had a gay, charming little note from Warren Bovard, hooting at me—with the license of old friendship—for something I had said about football.

For all that anyone knew about his troubles, there seemed few young men with more to live for. He had an honored and conspicuous position.

CAN'T LEARN

If Hollywood doesn't leave the stock market alone they will be trimmed to the point where they will have to make movies on the back of old scraps of paper for lack of money to pay for film.

The rise in stock on Wednesday knocked most of them flat and gasping. Having learned nothing from the ruin of last fall, about two-thirds of the stars were riding a bear market. That is to say, selling stock they did not own with the expectation of buying it for delivery when it sank lower. A rise of nine points now compels them to buy it for delivery at a great deal more than they received.

And yet the firmest conviction of every movie star is that he could explain all about stocks to J. P. Morgan.

JUST HUSBANDS

The race of Mr. Peck to the sick bed of Janet Gaynor in Hawaii punctuates the fact that the husband of a star only achieves public importance when his wife is cut up by the doctors. At certain tragic intervals a mild, abashed-looking gentleman comes forth, smoothes the pillow and once more sinks into the green lapping waters of oblivion. And in about three cases out of the five the obscure husband is a darn sight more worth while than the gleaming and effulgent frau.

TOO MUCH GOLD

Even among these tears there are hilarious moments.

A scared depositor came into a branch bank in Hollywood and insisted on drawing out all his money—amounting to something over $30,000. He indignantly refused to take greenbacks; even the United States Treasury notes didn't look good to him.

The bank had to send downtown for the gold. It arrived in an armored car. It was in $5 gold pieces. The paying teller spent an hour counting it out; then the depositor insisted on counting it himself. He had arrived at 10 o'clock in the morning; it was nearly 3 when he finally collected his gold in a sack that looked big enough for a peddler's pack.

The paying teller told me that he saw the man standing there with his sack of gold—looking uncertain and unhappy. Two minutes afterward he noticed a familiar-looking figure at the receiving teller's window. The unhappy gentleman was over at the next window putting his gold all back in the bank again.

BANDIT SUSPECT QUARTET JAILED

Police Shot Punctures Tire of Fleeing Auto

One Identified as Having Crime Record

Fourteen More Robberies Reported in Day

A well-directed shot from a sawed-off shotgun bursting the tire of a speeding automobile netted police four important bandit suspects late yesterday. Earlier in the day two others had been arrested after a revolver battle following the hold-up of a cafe at 6416 Santa Monica Boulevard.

The shot that brought the surprising bag was made either by Officer. Tisdale or Mudd, who were firing alternately with sawed-off shotguns at a speeding automobile at Pico and Flower streets, that refused to stop. In this car were two men whose actions had aroused the suspicions of the two policemen.

With the bursting of the tire the fleeing car stopped quickly. Its two occupants, taken to Central Station, identified themselves as Victor Larson, 20 years of age, and Edward Tiller, 29, of 1211 South Flower street.

FIND TWO OTHERS

Detective Lieutenants Wessell and O'Connor, investigating this address, found it fictitious and learned that the two suspects actually lived at 226¼ South Main street. They learned, also, that two other bandit suspects, George Springfield, 22, and Orester Guzy, 19, lived there. They found these two in bed and placed both under arrest.

Later Springfield, Guzy and Tiller were said to have confessed many hold-ups, among them that of Charles H. Scott of 1285 Crescent Heights Boulevard yesterday

Springfield, particularly, is said to have a long police record, having received twenty lashes for robbery in Canada and also having served three years in the penitentiary in the State of Washington, according to records of the police.

BANDIT SHOT

The two other bandit-suspects described themselves as James Pademan, 21, transient, and Pete Fox, 22, of 1841 Veterans avenue. They were taken into custody after Pademan had been shot in the neck by Officer Towne, who, with Officer Clarke, had been called by a passer-by who charges he saw the two suspects holding up the cafe at 6416 Santa Monica Boulevard.

Fourteen more robberies were reported between 6 p.m. Wednesday and noon yesterday, exactly double the number reported during the same period the day previously.

At midnight Wednesday the total for the first seventeen days of this month was just one short of the 200 mark, showing an increase when compared with 148 reported for the same period in November and ninety-one during the first seventeen days in December last year. Burglaries also increased to 364, as compared with 341 last month and 316 last year.

RUTHLESS IN METHODS

Bandits who operated Wednesday night and early yesterday morning were ruthless in their methods. An elderly woman was beaten with a blackjack by a bandit who broke into her home, a cafe manager was bound to a chair and chloroformed, another cafe proprietor was tied hand and foot with adhesive tape, a guest of a downtown hotel was locked in his room, and employees of a grocery were menaced with sawed-off shotguns.

Mrs. Flora Riley was alone in her home at 1549 Essex street when a bandit climbed in through her bedroom window. The man approached her as she lay in bed and threatened to "crack your skull" with the blackjack if she made an outcry. Terrified, she watched as he ransacked her room and took $17 and two gold rings. As he was leaving Mrs. Riley made a desperate attempt to get the rings which were keepsakes. The man swung upon her and struck her down with a blow on the head. He then fled through the window.

BOUND TO CHAIR

R. J. Delaney was waiting for early morning customers in the Sip and Bite Cafe at 406 West Eighth street when two bandits armed with revolvers walked in, threatened him with weapons, and then forced him to open a safe. After pocketing $80 they placed him in a chair and bound his arms and legs to it with pieces of electric cord. Then they held a handkerchief saturated with chloroform over the victim's nose.

About half an hour later he regained his senses and found that he was close to his telephone. Struggling against his bonds Delaney succeeded in knocking the receiver from the hook and calling police.

As Herbert Phelan was reading in his hotel room at Second and Figueroa streets a bandit entered and leveled a revolver. Phelan stood against a wall with his hands above his head while the bandit took $148 from his pockets. He was then ordered to lie on the floor. The bandit locked the room door from the outside as he left.

In the Perfection Cafe at 5717 South Hoover street Dan Onwiler, night manager, was bound with strips of adhesive tape and rolled into a corner while two bandits took $20 from a cash register. A customer released him soon after the bandits left.

SAFEWAY STORE ROBBED

Two bandits held up James W. Himbs, manager, and George M. Richmire, clerk, in a Safeway store at 11854 South Main street. Richmire was forced to lie on the floor while Himbs opened a safe at the bandits' orders and handed out $160 in cash

For the second time within two weeks Stillwell's Cafe at 1632 South Main street was held up by a pair of bandits. One of them was recognized by Jack Holgate, night manager, as one of the two who perpetrated the first robbery. The bandits plundered the cash register of $65.

Making a total of five cafes held up, bandits robbed H. M. Stockbridge of $10 in his cafe at 4501 West Pico street, and J. A. Boley was robbed of $2 in his waffle shop at 7112 South Main street.

A bandit who had bullets, but no weapon asked to be shown a revolver in the store of Joe Budin, 304 East Fifth street, yesterday. He fitted the bullets into the revolver and told Budin he intended to take it with him, without paying for it. He added he would kill Budin if he objected. Budin did not object.

ROBBERS AND THIEVES CHALK UP NINE CRIMES

Operating throughout the county, bandits and sneak thieves committed nine robberies and burglaries between Wednesday night and yesterday morning, according to Sheriff's reports.

After following the automobile of Dewitt T. Ingram, 11236 Apricot street, Lynwood, and attempting to force him into a ditch, four men in a second car compelled him to stop at Alameda street and Firestone Boulevard, where one of the men at the point of a gun relieved him of $82.

Two men with guns took $26 from Milton McKinney, 11241 Benicia street, after forcing him to stop his automobile at One Hundred and Fourteenth street and Western avenue.

Accosting Charles Henry Scott in the basement of an apartment-house garage at 1285 North Crescent Heights Boulevard, three men took his automobile after refusing $2 he had in his wallet because he is a working man.

A bandit in an automobile used a gun to enforce his demands on H. M. Kitchen, service station operator of 7401 Santa Monica Boulevard. He took $15 from the cash register and departed.

Failing to penetrate the money compartment of a floor safe which they opened with an explosive, burglars obtained nothing from a Clarence Saunders store at 5110 Whittier Boulevard.

After looking the place over, burglars also departed empty handed from the Brown Mug Cafe at 5114 Whittier Boulevard.

Thieves contented themselves with cigarettes valued at less than $15, which they obtained from the grocery store of Antonio Fornaseri, 3425 Brooklyn avenue, after entering with a pass key.

A typewriter and an adding machine were stolen from the office of the Tudor Potteries Corporation, 2406 East Fifty-eighth street.

Clyde Tubbs, 15 years of age, 1254 East Eighty-eighth street, reported that some one stole his bicycle valued at $12 from the garage at his home.

A cafeteria in the basement of the Alexandria was the scene late yesterday afternoon of a hold-up in which the bandit obtained $250. The man, described as about 45 years of age and weighing 180 pounds and wearing a gray coat and black felt hat, ate a meal and instead of paying his check, he handed a note to the cashier, Miss Madge H. Lane. It read: "Hand over all the money and be natural about it." When Miss Lane demurred about complying, the bandit reached into the cash drawer and helped himself to the money.

HEARTT DID NOT HAVE A HEART

So Says Wife's Suit Accusing Heartt of Beating, but Not With Love

Two Hearts that beat as one yesterday went their separate ways when Florence B. Heartt won a divorce from Edwin B. Heartt in Superior Judge Hazlett's court. Mrs. Heartt accused Heartt of beating her. They were married March 18, 1915, and separated September 5, last.

Virginia Heartt, 13 years of age, corroborated her mother's cruelty charges. Judge Hazlett granted a decree, and ordered Heartt to pay $40 for the support of the child.

FOREST HAS ITS BEGINNINGS

Trees Dedicated by City Beautifiers

FORMAL dedication of a nut-tree forest, as the initial step in a movement devoted to reforestation and beautification of the city, was conducted my members of the League of City Beautifiers yesterday afternoon with a tree-planting ceremonial at the 350-acre section of land allotted them by the city in Griffith Park at Riverside Drive and Victory Boulevard.

With Willis Owen acting as master of ceremonies, presentation of fifty budded pecan trees was made to the league by W. F. Kime. These were accepted for the league by Mrs. Olga Shuey, president, and in turn presented by her to the city of Los Angeles. Brief responses were made by Mayor Porter, Mrs. Mabel Socha, president of the Los Angeles Park Board, and Mayor H. E. Bruce of Burbank.

Mayor Porter planted one of the trees in honor of the city and another one was placed in the ground by Mrs. Edward Haven Anthony, vice-president of the league, in honor of the pioneer fathers and mothers of the West. The planting of the remainder of the trees was done under the direction of H. O. Shuey and Frank Shearer, Superintendent of Parks.

Father Ferdinand of St. Joseph's parish delivered the dedicatory prayer and there were vocal selections by Mme. Emma Loeffler de Zaruba.

The work of the league has received the indorsement of many public-spirited citizens, a number of whom were present at the ceremonial yesterday, in addition to members of the City Council and the Board of Supervisors. The program was arranged under the direction of Mrs. E. H. Anthony, and serving as her assistants were Walter McDowell, Mrs. I. W. Jones, Miss Steineke, John Russon, Frederick Perle, Mrs. Willis Owen, Mrs. Langley and Henry Owen Shuey.

TRUE BOVARD NOTE REVEALED

shell was called, the police were summoned and also Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, president of the university.

SHOT NOT HEARD

McWhirter said that neither he nor the Chinese houseboy had heard the fatal shot. Detectives Bain, Long, Kisner and Craig of the Wilshire Police Station found Bovard on his bed, his head and shoulders bolstered up slightly, and the automatic pistol still in his hand, which had dropped to his chest. The heavy bullet had entered the right temple an inch above the ear, had come out at exactly the corresponding spot on the other side, bored cleanly through several folds of silk curtains and embedded itself in the sash of a window.

The detective said the suicide had taken place hours before as the body was stiff and cold when found.

Detective Bain, those who had taken charge of the house, and Captain of Detectives Taylor contended that only a note saying "Good-by Bleanie, am going . . . Warren," had been left. Bain exhibited such a note, saying that he had received it from one of the men at the home.

TRUE NOTE FOUND

However, the fact that the note exhibited by Bain was not the one left by Bovard was discovered by The Times and the true note containing the reference to "Ned" was found. It was explained by some of the friends that they produced the note exhibited by police in an effort to eliminate reference to "Ned" because they did not wish to bring the late Doheny into the case.

Many reports rode hard on the heels of the changing of the notes but eventually the matter settled down on misguided and sympathetic friends.

WIDOW COLLAPSES

From Wichita, Kan., last night came dispatches saying that Mrs. Bovard left at once for Los Angeles and will arrive here tomorrow. She was found at the home of her uncle, R. C. Jackson, county treasurer there, and collapsed on hearing of the tragedy. She denied, on regaining composure, that there had been any disagreement between her and her husband. Mrs. Bovard and her mother, Mrs. W. W. Jackman, were in El Reno, their old-time home, for a time, and then left for Wichita. Mr. Jackman is dead.

The body of Bovard was taken to Bresee Brothers mortuary and funeral arrangements were begun, but may await completion until arrival of Mrs. Bovard tomorrow. Coroner Nance said no inquest will be necessary as no doubt exists as to death by suicide.

The home of the elder Bovard, who still is president emeritus of the university, was engulfed in deepest pathos. Dr. Von KleinSmid hastened there as soon as he could leave the scene of the tragedy. He himself, as well as Call and McWhirter were all but completely unnerved by grief.

A pall of gloom hung over the university, where Bovard was a great favorite. The closing of the term the day before and absence of many students increased the depression that pervaded the place.

LONG SERVICE GIVEN TO U.S.C.

interuniversity athletic relations—Mr. Bovard was made vice-president of the university in 1927, a position he held along with the comptrollership until his death. Last June his alma mater honored him with the degree of master of arts of business administration.

In May, 1919, Gov. Stephens selected Bovard as his executive secretary, a position he held until June, 1920. He was more or less active in State political affairs ever since. It was at his suggestion last week that Francis Cochran, a recent graduate of U.S.C. law school, was appointed executive secretary to Governor-elect Rolph.

Mr. Bovard was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church from boyhood, being a trustee of the University Methodist Church, giving much aid in their new building project. He took an interest in civic affairs, being a member of the City Park Commission. He belonged to the Sigma Chi Fraternity at the university. He was a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West and of the American Legion. He belonged to the following clubs: University, Optimists, of which he was a past president; Los Angeles Athletic, Breakfast, Surf and Sand and the Hollywood and Santa Monica athletic clubs.

PARK BOARD ADOPTS RESOLUTION OF REGRET

Shocked by the sudden death of Warren B. Bovard, member of the Park Commission since January 1, 1923, when he was appointed by former Mayor Cryer, the commission met yesterday afternoon in the City Hall and immediately adjourned after passing a resolution of regret. A week ago the deceased attended a meeting. The resolution follows:

"Whereas, the death of Warren B. Bovard, a member of the Board of Park Commissioners of the city of Los Angeles, is deeply regretted by the members of this board, and

"Whereas, Mr. Bovard, through his faithful and loyal service over a period of years endeared himself to the hearts of his fellow-commissioners, and his passing is a severe loss to this board and the public,

"Therefore, be it resolved by the Board of Park Commissioners that we hereby express our sincere sympathy on the death of Mr. Bovard, and

"Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be spread on the minutes of this meeting, copies of the same forwarded to the family of the deceased and the meeting adjourn out of respect to the memory of our dear departed friend."

ROLPH AND SPROUL GRIEVE OVER BOVARD

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18. (Exclusive)—Governor-elect Rolph was grieved today at the self-destruction of Warren Bovard, vice-president of the University of Southern California. Bovard was in San Francisco only last Monday to urge upon the next Governor the appointment of Francis Cochran, Los Angeles attorney, as the Governor's executive secretary. His pleading brought the appointment.

Bovard was in the best of spirits while here, Rolph said. The Southern California educator was offered "any post" in the State administration he might care to ask for himself, but the offer was declined, Bovard saying he had no wish for political positions.

Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California, said:

"I am grieved to hear of the death of Vice-President Bovard. During the years that he fulfilled the same duties at the University of Southern California as I was fulfilling at the University of California his business ability and high character were many times brought home to me. It is exceedingly tragic that his life should be cut short at a time when the just rewards of his long period of service and preparation for a position of leadership in educational finance had so recently come to him."

DIVORCE PLAINT HITS RAW FOOD

Mother Complains Children Fed Improperly by Their Father

Growing children need meat and baked potatoes, Mrs. Marion Irene Skidmore asserts in her cross-complaint for divorce, filed in Superior Court yesterday, against Guy E. Skidmore, who originally brought suit in Orange county.

Mrs. Skidmore declared her two daughters, Maurine Ethel, 4 years of age, and Beverly Jean, 3, are in possession of her husband, who she charged was not feeding them properly, being a devotee of raw foods. She asserts that a physician has ordered the children to be given meat and cooked foods and that their health is being injured by a diet of raw potatoes, pumpkins, cauliflower and carrots.

AUTO TOURISTS WELL FINANCED

came at the suggestion of relatives here, and 11.1 per cent came on their on volition.

"The purpose of the check was to determine what percentage of the out-of-State cars were driven by underfinanced job seekers," Director Fremming declared. "We interviewed all tourists whose cars, clothing or baggage indicated them to be of this class. The three principal questions asked were:

"(1.) Are you coming to California to look for work?

"(2.) What prompted you to decide to look for work in California?

"(3.) Were you influenced by magazine or newspaper advertising to seek work in California."

Fremming said that in one car that was stopped were two men who admitted they had been roving from job to job for the last five years. They had funds, however, he said.

VETERANS ASK FUND FOR DEPORTING ALIENS

A resolution urging Congress to appropriate $15,000,000 to defray the expense of deporting aliens, in order to provide employment for citizens, has been adopted by the Independent Order of Veterans. Other organizations are urged by the veterans to adopt similar resolutions and send them to Congressmen from their districts.

SECURITIES ACT OF STATE VALID

Federal Judge Rules on Its Constitutionality

Law and Application on Oil Deals Attacked

Injunction Action Lost by Cherokee Agents

United States District Judge James yesterday handed down a decision in which he upheld the constitutionality of the California Corporate Securities Act, especially with relation to the authority of the State Corporation Commissioner to regulate the sale of corporation stocks or other equivalents.

The decision came in the case brought by J. P. Barnhill, George E. Shelton and G. W. Morris, business men of Salt Lake City, agents of the Cherokee Oil Company of Nevada. They brought suit against Gov. Young and other State officials, seeking an injunction against the Governor, the Corporation Commissioner and others to prohibit the application of the Corporate Securities Act to the company, which, it was asserted, was selling mineral deeds rather than stock.

It was stated by the court that there was no question but that the plaintiff company was properly under the supervision of the State Corporation Commissioner and that the Corporate Securities Act was applicable to that company, and also is constitutional.

The temporary injunction action was dismissed.

ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE MAY WIN DIVORCE

Silberschmidt Will Not Contest Case if His Wife Recovers, Says Attorney

Because of her suicide attempt, Mrs. Ruth Silberschmidt, 27 years of age, yesterday failed to appear in Superior Judge Yankwich's court when her suit for divorce was called. Her attorney, V. E. Wilson, informed the court he had come directly from General Hospital, where his client was taken after she and Richard Allen Springer, 26, had swallowed slow poison early Wednesday morning. At Wilson's request, the case was marked off calendar.

Mrs. Silberschmidt had expected to win a divorce by default but Wednesday her husband, William H. Silberschmidt, a radio salesman, moved to have his default set aside. The question was set for argument next Wednesday before Superior Judge Edmonds. Attorney Wilson said in court yesterday that he understands Silberschmidt will withdraw his opposition to his wife's divorce if she recovers.

Police who investigated the reputed suicide pact reported that Mrs. Silberschmidt and Springer were disappointed by the husband's sudden opposition, which upset their plans to marry. Springer was taken to Hollywood Hospital.

BROOKES SEES SILVER LINING

ever," Mr. Brookes asserted, "insofar as we are a debtor nation and the United States is a creditor nation, but we are allied in our primary productions and a recovery in the world markets of those productions will affect us equally, despite the fact that we are farther removed from the world's markets."

Mr. Brookes said he is most impressed with the native attitude of progression in the United States, and he believes that of major importance in American economic recovery, although he pleaded that he could not forecast that recovery for he has only seen the nation prior to October, 1929, up to now—a period wherein marked changes have taken place.

The resigned Australian official is returning to Melbourne, the family home, although he controls vast sheep-raising enterprises in Queensland and West Australia. Mr. Brookes, accompanied by members of his family, will leave today for San Francisco to embark for the homeward journey.

Realty Groups to Meet Today for Tax Study

Carrying forward the studies of the group to equalize the burden of taxation now carried by real estate, the joint tax committee of the California Real Estate Association, California Building Owners' and Managers' Association, California Land Title Association and California Building-Loan League will meet at the Realtors' State headquarters today and tomorrow.

Donzel Stoney of San Francisco, chairman of the group, will preside. President W. H. Daum and President-elect D. D. Watson of the California Real Estate Association will attend, as will Glenn D. Willaman, State Secretary. A large delegation from San Francisco will be present.

COAST BUSSES OFFER HOLIDAY FARE CUT

For the first time in the history of Pacific Coast motor-coach operation special round-trip excursion fares will be placed in effect for Christmas holiday travel when Pacific Greyhound Lines will inaugurate system-wide fares on the basis of one and one-third times the one-way fare. According to H. A. Wooster, general traffic manager of Pacific Greyhound Lines, the holiday excursion fares will go into effect today and final expiration date will be January 5, next.

The excursion rate will apply to all points on Pacific Greyhound Lines in the seven western States of California, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

CLUB TO GIVE PLAYS

Two one-act plays are to be given at the Whitley Park Country Club next Tuesday evening in connection with the organization's annual Christmas costume ball. They are "The Scream," by Gladys Ungar, in which Stuart Hall and Peggy Noy will appear, and "The Fourth Degree," by Maverick Terrell, featuring Mary Forbes and Frank G. Dunn. Both are being directed by Dunn. The program will begin at 8 o'clock. Miss Forbes and Mrs. James Gleason, president of the Dominoes Club, are to be judges of the costumes.

GIN WEDDING ANNULMENT SUIT TO BE DISMISSED

Her "gin-marriage" story failed to win for Creola McCarter Milner an annulment of her union with Frank T. Milner on the fourth hearing of her petition yesterday. After Superior Judge Hahn had conferred with Mrs. Milner's attorney, Saul Ruskin, the latter announced he will move for dismissal of the annulment suit.

Judge Hahn received a letter from Superior Judge Moriarty of Seattle, who performed the marriage ceremony, and who demanded the right to testify when the case went to trial, in which he wrote that he considered the young woman's story a reflection on him.

When her plea was first presented to Judge Hahn, the pretty blond stenographer startled the jurist by asserting that she married Milner, an Oakland commercial salesman, during a four days' drinking bout. She said she became intoxicated on the eve of her intended marriage with a young man she loved and awakened four days later to find herself married to the wrong man. Mrs. Milner pleaded she did not know what she was doing at the time.

Judge Hahn demanded further evidence and continued the hearing until Mrs. Milner submitted certified copies of her marriage certificate and the application for a marriage license. These revealed that she married May 7, 1927, with Judge Moriarty officiating. When the Seattle judge read of the assertions, he wrote Judge Hahn demanding a hearing.

Poor Children Given Luncheon and Presents

More than 150 poor children and their mothers were the guests yesterday of the United Church Brotherhood at a yuletide luncheon in the Young Men's Christian Association. The affair was featured by a visit from Santa Claus, who went about among the little folk and distributed gifts. Those at the tables included fifteen boys from the Pacific Lodge Home, whose fathers are in the County Jail or General Hospital. The home is among the brotherhood beneficiaries. There were also present several charges of Goodwill Industries, Inc.

The affair was arranged by George A. Hooper, chairman of the Brotherhood Luncheon Club; Roy E. Powers, secretary, and Dr. Charles F. Nelson of the social welfare committee.

PROGRAM TO AID MISSION PLAY READY

Radio KHJ Co-operates in Movement to Underwrite Historic Drama

A one-hour program dedicated to the Mission Play and its author, John Steven McGroarty, will be presented over Radio KHJ this evening, beginning at 8:30 o'clock, in support of a movement to have this historic drama of early California underwritten for the coming year. It is to be presented by The Times in co-operation with Don Lee. Details will be found in the radio news.

The Mission Play has been produced eighteen consecutive seasons for a total of 3158 performances. Recently, Mr. McGroarty conveyed his copyrights and ownership to a nonprofit association and since then the play has been operating virtually as the property of the public. To the end that it may never have to face an interruption in its continuity of presentations, an appeal has been addressed to the Board of Supervisors and a number of semipublic institutions for indorsement of the drive. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce already has approved it.

ORDER GIVEN FOR PAVING BOULEVARD

Silver Lake Highway Long Fought Over, Will Not Be Charged to Property

Proceedings for the paving of Silver Lake Boulevard, long a controversial measure, were ordered instituted yesterday by the City Council with the proviso that there be no cost to property owners in the assessment district.

The estimated cost of paving a forty-four-foot roadway between Glendale Boulevard and Virgil avenue, where pavement is not already in, is $207,000. The Board of Supervisors has signified the intention of allocating $100,000, and the Council, on recommendation of its Finance and Public Works Committees, agrees to pay the remaining expense.

Opening and widening proceedings for the thoroughfare, at a cost of $521,111 to property owners in the assessment district, after years of turmoil, are nearing completion.

The committee recommendations, embodied now in instructions to the City Engineer, call for the grading, paving and improving of a number of intersecting streets as well as Silver Lake Boulevard.

DR. CLEMENTS URGES SEAL SALE SUPPORT

Dr. George P. Clements, secretary of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association, yesterday urged all residents of the city who have received a letter containing Christmas seals from the association to remit at once. The association needs $100,000 to carry out its program of preventing the spread of tuberculosis for 1931. The program includes not only the maintenance of their numerous present activities, but the inauguration of new ones demanded by the growth of the city.

Gowns designed by students of the Otis Art Institute were displayed at the annual breakfast of the Art Teachers' Association of Southern California at Bullock's Wilshire store yesterday morning.

A costume parade was given and "Curves of Canary," a gown designed by Miss Kathryn Brinkman, a student at the institute, and made by Miss Amelia Schoessler and worn by Miss Virginia Smith, attracted considerable attention.

HOTEL MANAGER SUED FOR $100,000 AS BALM

Suit for $100,000, asserting a breach of promise to marry was filed by Miss Lucy M. Cresey against C. A. Green yesterday. Green, a hotel manager, met the plaintiff at Miami, Fla., it is asserted. She came to Los Angeles on the defendant's promise to marry her, she said, and when they separated last summer Green told her he did not intend to marry her.

Deadline Near on Gift Airmail to East Coast

Tonight is the final time for the mailing of Christmas gifts to points on the Atlantic Coast with any expectancy of their being delivered before Christmas day, even by air mail, it was declared last night by E. J. Fluke, division mail superintendent for Transcontinental and Western Air.

He explained that planes make the transcontinental trip much more rapidly than the other services, but postoffices here and elsewhere are so clogged with holiday mail that considerable time is required for handling.

Air-mail deadlines for other areas were given as follows: December 20, points midway between Chicago and New York; December 21, points between Kansas City and Chicago, and December 22, all places from the Pacific Coast to Kansas City.

Fluke stated that the placing of 10-cent special delivery stamp on packages will insure their delivery Christmas Day. All other classes of service have been suspended for that day by the Postoffice Department.

MARINE AND BYRD HEROES TO SPEAK

Upsher, police marine officer of the battle fleet, who was awarded a Congressional Medal of Honor for his services in the expedition of the Marine Corps to Haiti, will tell of his experiences at a banquet of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps Association at 6:30 p.m. tdaoy in the Alexandria. Alton P. Parker, pilot of the airplane in which Rear-Admiral Byrd flew to the South Pole, also will relate his experiences.

SOCIETY WOMEN IN JAIL PAY FREELY TO GET OUT

BY ALMA WHITAKER

About fifty fashionable women prominent in society and club circles were locked in the County Jail for more than two hours yesterday . . . and it cost them $235 in cash and promises of $500 more to get out. They were fed, but excused from the usual overhauling.

They also were permitted to watch Gilbert Beesemyer consult with his attorney, through the iron bars, which appeared to be some compensation.

The occasion was a luncheon given by the Sheriff's office, cooked and served in the prison quarters by prisoners, on behalf of the contact office and its rehabilitation problems. Speakers were Sheriff Traeger, Dr. F. W. Emerson, Judge Georgia Bullock, Mrs. Dick Smith, Mrs. W. A. Anderson, Miss Gertrude C. Rhodes, and R. E. Frith, officer in charge of the rehabilitation office, with Mrs. Bertram Green presiding.

Those responding to the invitation included such opera patrons as Mmes. W. I. Hollingsworth, Jean Hill, Ellen Beach Yaw, Arthur Wright, Elmer Mansfield, Lillian K. Floyd, Leiland Atherton Irish, Nayan Major, Herbert W. Booth, Creighton Brown, H. Wolfgang, Charles Henry Thompson, R. E. Filcher, Harry Quire, Mannie Voigt, Nora Peterborough, Alexander Blackstone, Elizabeth Blackburn, Von P. Swallow, Lena Passmore, Lawin Wood, Guy Bush and Joseph Dabney. Clubland stood well represented by Mrs. Seward A. Simons, Mrs. O. P. Clark, Mrs. Rose Bryant, Mrs. Frank Willis, Mrs. Grantland S. Long, Mrs. W. A. Anderson and Mrs. R. T. Burge . . . besides numerous newspaper women, including Peggy Hamilton in her official capacity of county hostess.

No mention was made of the vital subject until an excellent lunch had been served. Then the Sheriff explained the dire need for funds to cope with the unemployment problem when prisoners are released from jail, penniless, often homeless, and thus driven back into the ranks of crime. He told of a fund of $5000 which E. L. Doheny provided for this work more than three years ago . . . now all used up. The money, he said, is given in the form of a loan . . . about $2.50 to each departing prisoner.

Georgia Bullock started the new fund with $5, and the money began rolling in . . . with $100 from Mrs. C. E. Brown, $50 from Mrs. R. T. Burge, $50 from Mrs. Joseph Dabney.

After the luncheon came the visit through the jail . . . and the intense eagerness to see a gentleman named Beesemyer. No other male prisoner could compete with that attraction, since many of these women had known him socially. Still, many a mother's heart missed a beat when they were shown the cells devoted to the youngsters . . . the ones in particular for whom the money had been asked.

The women's department was much more cheerful, for the girls were all making layettes and rag dolls for the General Hospital's Christmas. Mrs. Sullivan, the matron, said work, always work, is the remedy.

It was the first time most of these women had come in contact with that side of life, and the effect was properly emotional.

Early Plant Life Found in Fossil of Death Valley

Death Valley may vie with the Grand Canyon for the honor of being the home of the earliest form of plant life.

This was indicated yesterday when Lincoln Ellsworth, New York explorer, disclosed that he recently found in Death Valley fossil algae which he believes resemble those found in Grand Canyon in 1926 by Dr. David T. White of the United States Geological Survey.

Ellsworth said he is planning a new trip to the valley in company with a geologist. Ellsworth is stopping at the Biltmore.

The algae is a form of sea weed.

Pneumonia Fatal to "Times" Man

Alan A. Dale, for twelve years an employee of The Times circulation department, died at Glendale Research Hospital yesterday after a nine-day illness with pneumonia. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but will be announced later.

He was 37 years of age and leaves his widow and small son, who reside at the family residence, 2037 Marengo street, South Pasadena. He was a native of Wisconsin. He first was employed in the accounting department of the circulation department and later operated carrier districts in Eagle Rock and Glendale. For the past two years he has been in charge of the service division.

Greenery Wlil Be Feature of Yule Pageant

Final preparations for the official opening of the Christmas season in Los Angeles tomorrow night on the steps of the City Hall, where the third annual Community Christmas Pageant will be held, are to be completed today, when truckloads of poinsettias, mistletoe, holly, and other blooming plants of the Yuletide season will be taken to the City Hall.

The greenery will be worn or carried by the 600 playground children making up the cast of the pageant, which will depict the Southland as it is in winter time. A semicircle of 100 Christmas trees, carried by Boy Scouts, will form the background of the presentation.

PERPETUAL MOTION

A chewing-gum factory is said to have been running full blast throughout the months of depression. When it comes to unemployment, the cigarette smokers and jaw-jerkers are still as busy as ever.

DIVORCE HOLIDAY

San Bernardino judges ban the hearing of divorce suits during the holidays. It is at least a gesture of good will and it would be interesting to know if this action will redound to the well-being of any of the children it was aimed to benefit.

EXIT THE FAT PRIMA DONNA

Mary Garden predicts duoless, trioless and quartetless grand opera, minus chorus or ballet, in which the golden voices of the artists will be used only to supplement real acting. If the artists have to look and act the parts they play we predict a general scramble in operatic circles for the details of the Hollywood diet.

WORKERS' PARADISE?

England's attempt to regain her former status with Russia is proving a boomerang, the trade balance in favor of the soviet in the past ten years being about $250,000,000 and this at the expense of British manufacturers and producers. This has been accomplished by the so-called "dumping" of goods on the foreign market, that is, selling goods delivered abroad at a lower price than they can be purchased wholesale at home. The soviet dictators force workers to produce goods for ridiculously low wages in order to accomplish this "dumping" and then demand high prices for the goods at home to cut down the domestic demand so that they may flood the foreign markets with the goods. If Russia is "the laboring man's paradise" we don't believe that many American workers would care to go to such a heaven. And, incidentally, Republican tariffs are keeping the Russian wolf away from the American ports of entry.

YOUTH GOES TO WORK

A somewhat overstocked labor market has been augmented, it is understood, by sons of men who, fourteen or fifteen months ago, thought they were stock-market millionaires, but who have now discovered that one cannot live on a profit that one does not take when it can be taken. Of these formerly flaming youth a certain proportion will have been spoiled by their experience, others will remain at mediocre levels, and still others will pitch in and work their way to success. On the average, it probably will be discovered that the hardship has been beneficial.

Stock-market losses are tough on a few individual losers, but it is worth something to know that the ticker can take away as well as bestow, and if the knowledge that money earned by genuine service to the world is better money than that gained by speculation or gambling has really been acquired by the sons, the fathers cannot complain too much. Being a rich man's son is not necessarily a handicap; but hard training is good preparation for a hard world, and there is a good deal in the theory that the surest way to get along is to swim by one's own exertions. The man who is always towed progresses rapidly unless the rope breaks, but then he is apt to sink.

WHY NOT KEEP IT GOOD?

It has been the proud boast of California building and loan associations for many years—a justified boast up to this time—that "no depositor in a California building and loan association has ever lost a dollar." The crash of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association indicates that it may no longer be possible to make such a boast; yet this fine record, much more than a mere advertising slogan, may easily be kept spotless at an expense that is comparatively slight.

The combined resources of the 222 California building and loan associations is well over $400,000,000. The probable loss to Guaranty depositors, if liquidation is carried out, is approximately $4,000,000. By joint contributions of less than 1 per cent of their resources these associations, acting together, may put the Guaranty back on its feet, pay every dollar of claims, and at the same time obtain very tangible beneficial results for themselves, their stockholders, and their depositors, well worth the money.

Among these tangible results would be the reassurance of stockholders and depositors all over the State, and the overcoming of public nervousness which might, if unallayed, have deplorable consequences.

This nervousness has caused some stockholders and some depositors to make sacrifices of their holdings and their claims, at prices considerably below their true value. Those who are compelled by the grinding necessity of finding ready money to meet an emergency are perhaps justified in making such sacrifices, but those who are selling out because they have been frightened into it are not only short-sighted but are making matters worse.

Now the splendid record of California building and loan associations has been due, not to rigid State inspection, but to conservative and able management, on the whole and on the average. That conservative and able management on the whole and on the average still continues. State inspection, in recent months, has just been discovered to have been inadequate. But State inspection has never been the real safeguard of investors and depositors.

Furthermore, State inspection is soon going to be made adequate. If Commissioner Whitmore does not resign before the Legislature meets, his official life after that time is not going to be long, and the glow of the limelight is sufficient guarantee that his successor will be strong and able. There is every indication that Gov. Rolph will clean up the department without any prodding. But even a politically-disposed Governor would realize that it was political suicide to play politics with such an appointment.

The mere fact that loan sharks and finance companies accustomed to heavy interest returns have entered the market and are actively bidding for shares of and claims against building and loan associations is an excellent indication of their inherent worth. Such companies and sharks are not accustomed to taking chances; they are looking for large, quick and sure profits, and they confidently expect to make them. If they are willing to bet heavily on the soundness of the building and loan associations—and they are doing it—there is little reason for shareholders and depositors getting nervous.

These shareholders and depositors thus can avoid loss by holding on, and also by holding on they refrain from depressing the price for those forced to sell.

But all such nervousness can be ended by action of the associations in combining to pay the Guaranty depositors in full. The cost, spread evenly, would be small. And the maintenance of the splendid reputation embodied in the slogan, "No depositor in a California building and loan association has ever lost a dollar" would be worth many times $4,000,000. Indeed, the swift restoration of public confidence that such an action would produce would alone be worth more than the price.

The building and loan business of the United States will celebrate in 1931 the 100th anniversary of its founding. The proudest achievement which California associations could bring to that occasion would be a record still unspotted, even by the worst that monumental thefts by a single crook could do.

Why not keep that slogan good?

CLEVELAND SHOWS THE WAY

Los Angeles set the sum this year for filling its annual Community Chest at $3,200,000, a conservative figure considering the population and wealth of the city. This, everyone understood, was an absolute minimum.

After fifty days of campaigning the total is about $500,000 short of this minimum estimate. Are we going to let this record stand at a time when every charitable institution is pressed to the limit to cope with the prevalent distress?

To show what can be done when the sympathetic spirit of an American city rises to the size of the obligation, note the following from the Cleveland Plain Dealer of November 26:

> The twelfth annual Community Fund Chest is full today.
> The main fund of $4,650,000 was oversubscribed by $17,224.30.
> The emergency fund of $750,000 was oversubscribed by $1300.21.
> It was a complete job.
> It exceeds the expectations of even the most optimistic. It guarantees hope to those who had no hope before. It is big enough to stop a lot of woe. It's $5,418,524.41 big!

For the relief of the poor and needy it took Cleveland just nine days to raise a fund more than twice that obtained in our own city after fifty days of strenuous endeavor.

It is hard to assign a reason for this difference in results. Both Los Angeles and Cleveland are typical American communities. In population and wealth the California city has the edge on the Ohio city. Sympathy for the afflicted and desire to assuage distress sway human hearts in the one no less than in the other. Expressed in dollars and cents there should be little to choose between them.

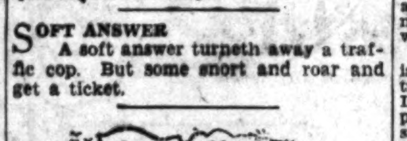
The Cleveland chest supports 106 charitable institutions, the Los Angeles chest twenty-four. Many of the organizations are the same in both cities. This should make the collection, if anything, easier for Los Angeles. There are not so many organizations for prejudice to object to.

For administering the fund the overhead cost in Cleveland is $175,000—not varying markedly from the cost here—considering the larger amount handled by Cleveland.

Why should our sister city collect in nine days double the amount of money we can collect in fifty? There seems to be but one thing for us to do; from this time forward to make an answer to the question unnecessary.

SOFT ANSWER

A soft answer turneth away a traffic cop. But some snort and roar and get a ticket.



A SONG OF GRATITUDE

By James J. Montague

Our grand-dads cleared the forest lands
That they might till the soil,
While hard and horny grew their hands
From unremitting toil.
When kindly was the summer clime
They toiled throughout the day,
And labored all the wintertime
To clear the snow away.
But ere with countenances sad
Our idle lives we view,
Remember that our grand-dads had
But little else to do.

No pleasant things were to be done
Like those which cheer us now.
Our honest grand-dads' only fun
Was following the plow.
They could not sit by radios
The latest hits to hear,
They could not go to "talkie" shows
And watch the villain sneer.
No honest reason could they find
Their daily tasks to shirk,
And consequently were resigned
To hard and steady work.

When to those stern laborious days
We happen to allude,
We ought to give our grand-dad praise
As well as gratitude.
Had he not toiled, in times gone by,
With toil-bespangled brow
At pioneering, you and I
Should have to do it now.
We put our time to happier use
And free our souls from cares,
Because our sires had no excuse
For not employing theirs.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

THE day after our story of the Goodwill Industries appeared we received this letter from a jobless actor:

"Friend Lee-Side: If you know of any well-to-do persons who are going to give clothes to the poor, I am as poor as any one will ever get. Except for my wardrobe dress suit I have only one suit fit for wear and it's getting thin. I wear 42 coat, 32-32 pants. Darned little more can happen to me, so I am still optimistic."

AND, DON'T FORGET THE SIZE!

Dress-Suit Poverty

Most of us will smile when first we read of an actor with only one dress suit and one decent business suit who appeals for cast-off clothes, but most of us will feel sympathetic on second thought. And if we knew the facts, all of us would. For many a pathetic case of poverty is covered by a dress suit.

Besides the 11,000 "extras" registered with the Central Casting Bureau, only about 300 of whom work an average of three days a week, there are 6000 actors in our film colony who have taken parts of such importance that they rank above the extras and are seeking and hoping for more work of the same kind. Yet when all the studios are running full blast no more than 500 of those established actors are employed. Of the 6000 actors, about 600, or one in ten, are steadily employed. That is, most of the real parts in most of the pictures made by all the studios are assigned to members of that lucky 600, so that they work almost continually. The other 5400 merely get the gleanings.

Few Have Contracts

Though one hears a great deal about contracts in Hollywood, do not imagine that 600 actors there have contracts. It might be said that only those who have contracts have steady jobs. They are the only ones who are working now and know they will be working (or drawing pay, whether they are working or not) six months or a year from now. It takes all the actors, directors and camera experts who have contracts to make up a total of 500. So that not more than 325 of the experienced actors who count on Hollywood films for a living can be said to have regular jobs, though 600 of them work regularly enough to be prosperous, if not rich.

BRING ON MY ARMY!

The reason so few are on contract is that the film industry is the only one which pays people for doing nothing. Those under contract get paid whether they work or not. Will Rogers, for instance, won't appear in a play unless he likes it. He liked "They Had to See Paris" immensely, but after it was made rejected several plays which were suggested, so that for about ten weeks he did no work except a little play reading, but drew his $18,000 a week or so just the same. Then Homer Croy, author of "They Had to See Paris," came to Hollywood and Rogers favored his being engaged to assist Owen Davis in making a scenario of "So This Is London."

In Will's case it certainly pays the studio to pay him for taking his time, for Will appears only in shows which fit him joyously and has exceptionally good judgment. Just now he is making "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" and when the humor of Mark Twain plus the humor of Will Rogers is presented in that picture the producers will be amply repaid for the weeks of consideration Will gave to it, on full pay. Will never was a loafer, but insists on taking his time, as you'll learn if you ever make any appointments with him.

But we know other actors under contract who draw full pay for their trips to Agua Caliente or Palm Springs and their yachting parties. So nowadays a studio doesn't put an actor under contract unless it very much wants to hold him against all competitors and has great faith in his future.

Facts Worth Considering

The girl who wins a beauty contest in Keokuk and the boy who acts "just as good" as any professional could in the high school play in Wilkes-Barre should do a little figuring before junking everything in order to start for Hollywood. Motion pictures are demanding experience as never before. A stage-play producer may try out an actor and put in another one if that one proves unsatisfactory, but in a sound-picture production that might mean the junking of film it has cost a great deal to secure. When a producer starts to make a picture which will cost around $900,000 he must be sure he can go through to the end with the same principals. So about one in thirty-six of the extras now here is making a living out of pictures and one in ten of the established actors. Perhaps 1000 more of the 11,000 extras are getting work frequently enough to exist on their pay, as are perhaps 1000 of the 5700 established actors who have no contracts. A good many of the others have wardrobe dress suits and evening gowns, but would be darned glad to have some of your second-hand clothes for everyday wear.

Joshua Little Says

I wonder if it was with the idea of suggesting Christmas cheer that the downtown Christmas trees were set out in what look like wassail kegs.

I've noticed it's usually the fellow who tries to avoid toil who oftenest gets in the toils.

I don't see how European governments ever get anything done. They so often have to drop everything else to recover a vote of confidence.

JOSHUA LITTLE ANNOUNCING!

Germany has just done a great thing for world peace. By banning "All Quiet on the Western Front" it has made all the rest of the world more eager than ever to see it, and more likely than ever to consider it seriously.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

WHY SHE FLEW

[Portland Oregonian]

Having tweaked the whiskers of death, Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, the aviatrix, was at once anxious to market the story of her thrilling experience. Perhaps this was only natural enough, but nevertheless it will appear to many to be the drab anticlimax to a happy relief. You see, we thought she was dead—a heroine, whelmed by the titan forces of nature. But all the while she was alive and wondering how best to profit by it.

Of late there has arisen an opinion, and it is fairly prevalent, that would have been treated as rankest heresy a year or so ago. It is that too many lives are risked in airplane adventurings which have nothing substantial to offer should they succeed. The feeling is that these exploits may be glorious—but that glory untinctured by advancement becomes wearisome.

THE AIR COPS DO THEIR STUFF

[New York World]

After a young man had disappeared in Queens the other day, his father became convinced that he had been kidnaped and let it be known that he would pay $1000 for the return of the absentee in good condition. Presently he received a phone call, informing him that the situation was indeed as he had suspected, and that $1000 happened to be the exact sum that had been decided on for his son's release. He was directed to go to a certain store, obtain two pigeons that he would find there, attach $500 to the leg of each, turn them loose and then go home to await his son. But instead of so doing, he went to the police. They decided to follow the pigeons in their airplanes, and thus apprehend the culprits. So wads of paper were fastened to the birds, and they were released one at a time, a system of signals from the ground apprising the flyers overhead when to look for them. The first pigeon joined a flock of other pigeons, and turned up on a roof where it had never been seen before. The second pigeon flew over a cemetery, where the flyer lost sight of it because it was the same color as the tombstones.

Now all this is a little fantastic: an airplane following a pigeon is a little like a steamboat following a conger eel, and there was some danger that if the pursuit became hot it would lose its presence of mind and knock over one of our tall buildings. Nevertheless, it shows that there is really a field of activity for our aerial police, something that many of us must have entertained doubts about. The department report for 1929 has a great deal to say about the need for such police, but when it gets down to what they actually did during the year, it mentions only one feat: the location of a tugboat whose captain was wanted for homicide. But a tugboat is not one of those things that are easily lost; indeed, it is even less easily lost than a bass drum. So that it is permissible to wonder whether planes were really needed to find it.

The report for 1930 is not out yet, but if this incident of the pigeons is any indication, it ought to be full of entertaining items. In short, the aerial police have not exactly arrived yet, but at any rate they are up there.

BY WAY OF COMPARISON

BY ARTHUR S. BENT

A leading figure in the finances of Great Britain said to me in London last month, "America today is the most fortunate one in the family of great nations. If you don't scare yourselves to death nothing can stop your speedy return to prosperity. But it is possible for you to scare yourselves to death and you seem bent on doing it. Every employer ought now to give his people as much assurance of continuity of employment as he possibly can and every man should spend all that he can. I wish your people could be transported to England for a week to see what our conditions are here. They would go home with a new idea of America." Three months of travel over Great Britain showed me what he meant.

Farming is in a worse way than it is with us. Live stock is bringing very low prices. Mutton, their staple meat, is abnormally cheap. Draught horses, which play an important part in industry, are worth less than half what they were a few years ago and are raised at a loss. I attended one of their great horse market sales days and saw splendid young animals weighing 1400 to 1600 pounds sold for $150 to $200.

The Earl of Warwick recently called his farmer tenants together and told them he had decided to cut up some of the finest of his vast holdings and sell to them on easy terms which would enable them to become owners without burden or risk. After consultation the farmers reported back that if he was not satisfied, they would pay him more rent, but they did not dare to own the land because of the taxes. Incidentally, the Warwick property tax bill last year was said to be $670,000. The limit for taxation seems to be what the traffic will bear and there is a general fear that even this limit is being passed.

Many merchants told me that it was a question how long they could keep going. Not on account of dull business, but because of the steadily mounting taxes caused by the dole. The dole is the curse of Great Britain today and it grows continually. Perhaps worse than the financial strain idleness is putting on enterprise, is the destruction of the moral fiber of the working people and the gradual pauperizing of a considerable percentage of an industrial nation. There is deliberate idleness and "soldiering" everywhere and a rapidly spreading willingness to live without work. Thousands of young and middle-aged men loaf about the cities, with dole money enough to live on, crowding the movies and taverns, most of them apparently quite content. Foremen of paving crews in the country told me that their common labor was almost worthless. One superintendent said many of his men were striving to exasperate him into firing them, because they could then go on the dole. I never anywhere saw so much lazy labor. More than once I saw one man's work employing from three to four men. Out of the hundreds I talked to about it, not one defended the dole and when asked why they allow it to continue, they replied "politics," which means that no leader or party dares make a fight against it. The immediate aftermath of the war justified a limited dole. It has now become a fearful "Old Man of the Sea" on England's back.

Growing imports are causing much anxiety. They need greatly to stimulate trade with their own colonies and are making a persistent effort in this direction. Billboards carry great posters showing colonials in colored costumes and bearing legends such as:

"Support the Empire and she will support you."

"Remember the unemployed. They are your brothers."

"When you buy ask where it came from."

"Remember the Empire filled with your cousins."

In the principal shops are windows filled with "Goods made or grown in the Empire." Attractive offers are placarded in the cities urging men and women to go to Canada and Australia, promising free or "assisted" transportation and guaranteeing employment. The results of this effort are not satisfactory.

Laborers are getting 20 cents an hour. Housemaids $15 a month. Chauffeurs $15 per week.

India is worrying them badly. Shipping is in the doldrums. The railways are suffering.

It would help them a good deal if American tourist travel could be turned their way and I am sure it would be if the charm of Great Britain in summer were more generally realized here. No more beautiful country lies out of doors. The English and Scottish lake districts comprise some of the finest scenery in the world and very different from America's. North Wales is magnificent, yet in a trip through it I could not find a single American entry on the hotel registers.

The roads are equal to our finest and are paved everywhere. Over 30,000 miles of pavement in Great Britain. They are also splendidly sign-posted and policed and there is no difficulty at all in finding the way. Service stations are plentiful and the inns at the villages are excellent. Above all, the people are extremely courteous and friendly and—they speak our tongue.

Yet through all their troubles shines the splendid British courage, the old unshakable faith in their destiny and the fine loyalty to their obligations—truly "hearts of oak." They don't just "muddle through," they win through, and they always will.

Railway Car Tops Peak

Alpine climbers have found a friend in the Italian government, which has placed a railway coach on concrete posts high in the mountains. There the tourists can take their ease. Its salient position permits it to be seen for many miles. The car, perched on its stone stilts, is reached by a long, steep stairway.

Sacred Trust Violated

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your editorial in this morning's paper, "The Beesemyer Defalcation," while it may be commended for its evident object in allaying the fears of the public as to the soundness of other loan companies and banks in California and in trying to point out the good it may do in having laws in the future which will more amply protect depositors from defalcation—surely cannot make much of an impression on a thinking public by trying to lay the blame solely on Beesemyer.

Every director in that organization and every employee who had knowledge of the gross misdirection of funds, was as guilty as Beesemyer. If the directors of a financial corporation will permit their management, through carelessness, indifference or otherwise, to use every means of advertising known to financial institutions to impress the public with the safeness of funds entrusted with that institution, when at the very time of such statements as to their strength, State supervision and integrity, there is going on under cover theft of the very money they are taking from trusting, conservative people, certainly, every director and every employee with knowledge of such defalcations, is as guilty as Beesemyer. The care of that money so deposited and its investment for its depositors, was a sacred trust imposed on every officer of the organization and surely every dollar which any director has stored away for himself should be turned back into the coffers of the loan company for the benefit of the beneficiaries whose money they have taken. And further, certainly the officials of the State Loan Board are as guilty as Beesemyer, through indifference, ignorance, or carelessness to the trust imposed on that office for the protection of the depositors.

It is to be hoped that every one, and not alone Beesemyer, will be brought to account for their share in this wholesale defalcation.

IDA M. MURPHY.

For Better Housecleaning

PASADENA, Dec. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In reference to your editorial in the December 13 issue of your valued paper I cannot agree with you as to the innocence of the officers and directors of the Hollywood Bank and the Guaranty Building and Loan Association.

They assumed a position of public trust and confidence and were grossly negligent in their failure to have all accounts audited at regular periods and an investigation of investments and activities of members who handle money particularly. You say there are crooks in all business—then in the language of the housewife, all business needs a semiannual housecleaning.

Your editorials are illuminating and educational and that part of your paper keenly interesting.

EDA G. MERTZ.

State Supervision

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] "Under State Supervision;" that is the way building and loan advertisements read, and what does the State supervise—the fact that a dishonest official be allowed to steal not less than $8,000,000?

Many poor people had their all invested and some are so old that it will be utterly impossible to make another start.

Well, the horse has been stolen; let us lock the barn.

ONE OF THE VICTIMS.

The Overlooked

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Noting the struggle the committee is having to reach the quota for the Community Chest I would like to call their attention to the fact that their campaign has been anything but thorough. Just as a single instance: I live in an apartment-house and have made no effort to evade or avoid the committee, but I have not been solicited, either in this campaign or in the last preceding one. The committee came to this apartment-house and called for a certain person. Said person was not in and the committee passed on and never returned. The dozens of other tenants in the apartment-house were never approached. If that is a sample of the thoroughness with which the campaign has been conducted, it is my judgment that not one-tenth of the people in the city have been even solicited. I merely call attention to this matter in the hope of doing some good.

one cupful of molasses, one tablespoonful of vinegar, one egg, one teaspoonful of soda, one-half of a teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of ginger, one cupful of sour milk, two cupfuls of flour.

Melt the shortening, add it to the molasses, with the vinegar, and well-beaten egg, sift the flour, soda, salt, and ginger together and add it alternately with the milk. Pour into a well-oiled pan, and bake for twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven.

GERMAN CHRISTMAS COOKIES

M. H. M., Los Angeles, Cal.; E. C. E., North Hollywood, Cal. Two cupfuls of honey, one-fourth of a cupful of lemon juice, one teaspoonful of nutmeg, one-half teaspoonful of mace, one-half a teaspoonful of salt, two eggs, one teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one cupful of brown sugar, three-fourths of a cupful of finely chopped citron, seven cupfuls of flour, or enough to make a rather thick dough, place the honey in a bowl, add the lemon juice, and brown sugar, and thoroughly mix. Beat the eggs, and add them to the mixture, sift the flour with the soda, salt, and spices, add the chopped citron, and combine with the honey mixture. Beating in the flour a little at a time, these cookies are better if left in the ice box overnight, covered. Roll them out, cut them into fancy shapes, and bake in a moderately hot oven, store in a tightly covered tin box for several days before using.

SPRINGERLE COOKIES

E. C. E., North Hollywood, Cal. Four eggs, one pound of powdered sugar, one tablespoonful of grated lemon rind, about four cupfuls of flour, two level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of anise seed, that has been ground to a powder, beat the yolks of the eggs, until light and creamy, beat the whites until stiff and dry. Then fold in the yolks to the beaten whites, until thoroughly mixed. Add the lemon rind, sift the sugar, and fold it in carefully to the egg mixture, sift the flour, baking powder, anise seed and salt. Knead the mixture, cover it and allow to chill for two or three hours. Roll out, a small piece at a time into a sheet about one-eighth of an inch thick, sprinkle lightly with flour, then press the wooden springerle mold down very hard upon the dough to leave the impression of the pictures. Cut out the small squares and set aside for ten hours, or overnight, to dry on a lightly floured board. Place on oiled cookie sheets and bake until a light straw color in a slow oven.

SAND TARTS

S. Z. R., Los Angeles, Cal. One-half a cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, one egg, one and three-fourths cupfuls of flour, two level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, the white of one egg, one tablespoonful of sugar, blanched almonds, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of cinnamon, cream the butter, add the sugar gradually and the one egg well beaten. Sift the flour and baking powder and gradually work it into the mixture. Allow the dough to chill, toss one-half of the mixture on a floured board, and roll out one-eighth of an inch thick. Cut with a small doughnut cutter, brush over with the beaten white of an egg, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon mixed, split the blanched almonds, and place three halves at equal distances on top of the cakes. Place on an oiled baking sheet and bake in a slow oven.

CHEESE CAKE

C. S. F., Riverside, Cal. Cream one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, gradually creaming all the time. When thoroughly mixed add the yolks of five eggs, beating in each egg separately, add two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice and one teaspoonful of grated lemon rind to the mixture. Press through a potato ricer or fine sieve, one pound of dry cottage cheese, mix with three-fourths of a cupful of flour, add half a cupful of cream, then combine the two mixtures. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs, brush a pan with oil about three inches deep and eight inches in diameter. Sprinkle the bottom and the sides with three tablespoonfuls of fine grated stale bread crumbs, pour the mixture in and bake in a moderate oven until firm to the touch. Allow the cake to remain in the oven after the heat has been turned off until it is cooled with the oven door open.

Will answer the remainder of your requests as soon as I have room.

ENGLISH DOUGH CAKE

E. G. T., Bakersfield, Cal. I think this is the cake you have reference to, it is rather large but you can cut it in two.

Six cupfuls of sifted flour, four cupfuls of sugar, two and one-half cupfuls of shortening, four cupfuls of milk, three eggs, two teaspoonfuls of nutmeg, two teaspoonfuls of mace, one pound of raisins, one-fourth of a pound of citron, one cake of yeast, one-half teaspoonful of salt, dissolve the yeast cake in one cupful of lukewarm milk, heat the remainder of the milk almost to the scalding point, sift the flour, and chop the shortening into it until thoroughly blended, then add the milk as hot as can be added. Beat well, and add the yeast, place in a bowl that has been oiled, and place in a warm place until double in size or bulk. Warm the sugar, and beat into it the beaten eggs and spices, and work all this into the dough, let rise a second time then work in the raisins and chopped citron, place it in pans and let it rise again, when light, place in a hot oven for the first twenty minutes then reduce the heat and continue the baking. You can reduce the amount of raisins and add the same amount of cherries.

BLACK BOTTOM PIE

C. G., Long Beach, Cal. Melt two squares of unsweetened chocolate, and mix with it one-fourth of a cupful of flour, one and one-half cupfuls of milk, one-half a cupful of sugar, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, place in a double boiler and cook until thick. Beat the yolks of four eggs until creamy, and gradually add them to the mixture, not allowing it to boil after the yolks are added, but cooking it for three or four minutes. Remove from the fire, add one teaspoonful of vanilla extract and allow the mixture to cool, pour into a baked pie shell, and when thoroughly chilled, cover with whipped cream. Place the meringue tightly, covering it down over the edge of the crust, over the whipped cream. Place in the broiler part of the oven and brown quickly. Sprinkle the top with grated chocolate. The meringue may be left off this pie and just the whipped cream used with the grated chocolate over it.

DATE AND NUT CAKE

Mrs. W., Los Angeles, Cal. Six eggs, one and one-fourth cupfuls of powdered sugar, one cupful of walnuts finely chopped, one-half a pound of dates chopped fine, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, beat the eggs until light, gradually beat into them the sugar, then add the dates and nuts. Sift the flour, with the baking powder and salt, and combine with the egg mixture, bake in a slow oven and serve with whipped cream.

Just as soon as we have the space the rest of the questions will be answered, as it was we asked this week for two columns to be able to help everyone with their Christmas recipes.

CHEF WILL OFFER IDEAS FOR HOLIDAY

Cooking Class Today to Learn About New Salad, Cookies, Torte and Pie

Every housewife who wishes new ideas for foods to serve during the holiday season will find much of interest in the demonstration Chef Wyman has arranged for today's Times free cooking class. It includes an especially attractive salad—a Christmas wreath salad; cinnamon stars—Christmas cookie; a hazel nut torte and a grapefruit cream pie which is so delicate that it would be a satisfactory substitute for the customary heavy mince pie.

In addition, Chef Wyman will demonstrate the making of a luncheon or supper dish that would be appropriate to serve during the holidays, paprika oysters.

Every woman interested in cooking is invited to be the guest of The Times at this class, which is held in the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway, and begins promptly at 2 o'clock.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW BELCHER SCHOOL

Ground was broken yesterday for the new $300,000 home of the Ernest Belcher School of Dancing at 609 South Western avenue, which is designed to be the largest and most complete institution of its kind in America. Cecil B. De Mille, who will erect the building for Belcher, turned the first spadeful of earth. The structure, which will be of a height of an average five-story building, will contain four major classrooms, a ballroom covering an entire floor and many practice rooms. Laying of the cornerstone has been set for January 5, next.

This Afternoon at 2:00

An interesting lecture and practical demonstration on the preparation and cooking of foods suitable for use in every household.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

Among the charmingly appointed affairs of yesterday was the luncheon and bridge with which Mrs. Tom L. Johnson and her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson-Mariani of Hollywood, entertained. Bridge followed the luncheon party. The rooms and luncheon table were aglow with early Christmas flowers and foliage and among those included are Mrs. Mathew J. Rankin, Mrs. Frank Harrington Patridge, Mrs. Charles C. Perkins, Mrs. Eva Kelly, Mrs. Fannie S. Dodge, Mrs. Albert Laurence Bagnall, Mrs. Nelson Newman, Mrs. Alec B. Francis, Mrs. Sidney Francis, Mrs. James Taylor Gooch, Mrs. Hans Luderer, Mrs. John E. Reid, Mrs. Robert R. Presnell, Mrs. Clarence A. English, Mrs. Frederick Ross, Mrs. John D. Miller, Mrs. J. Lee Cross, Mrs. John M. James, Mrs. Walter Perry Story, Mrs. Gertrude Leonard, Miss Betty Thatcher, Mrs. Robert Pitcairn, Mrs. Loretta Seiter, Mrs. Howard Seiter, Mrs. Kenneth Preuss, Mrs. Clyde Russell Burr, Miss Margaret Mariani, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Mariani and Mrs. Adelaide Abercrombie.

Luncheon Called Off

Owing to the death of a dear friend the luncheon with which Miss Ellen Andrews was giving this afternoon at the Woman's Athletic Club, preceding the Philharmonic Orchestra concert in honor of Mrs. Paul B. Hoffman of South Bend, Ind., has been called off. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman, who came to the Southland to attend the U.S.C.-Notre Dame game the 6th inst., have been much entertained by their hosts of friends during their stay here and are retiring to their eastern home this evening.

They passed several days at Agua Caliente and Palm Springs returning to Los Angeles Tuesday evening. Miss Andrews gave a beautifully appointed dinner party for them last week, and many other luncheons, teas and dinner parties have been given for Mrs. Hoffman at many of which Mr. Hoffman shared honors.

For Bride-elect

Mrs. William E. Bravencler, Mrs. Frank Winans and Mrs. Frank A. Kneiling entertained Tuesday, the 9th inst., with a tea and shower honoring Miss Dora Randolph, charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Randolph, and fiancee of Cleo Howard, the affair taking place at the Bravencler home in Vineland avenue, Baldwin Park, and fifty guests were bidden. White sweet peas, carnations and maidenhair ferns were used in profusion about the rooms and tea table and during the afternoon several musical numbers were given by Miss Frances Parks, Miss Carol Cree and Miss Matilda Bravencler.

The wedding of Miss Randolph and Mr. Howard will be an event of January 12.

Here for Holidays

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Wiley (Cosette Cook) and their small son, Edward Cook Wiley of Silver City, N. M., have come to pass the Christmas holidays with Mrs. Wiley's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Edward J. Cook at their home, 1155 South Elden avenue.

Home From World Tour

Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, who has been on a second round-the-world tour, returned to her home in Orchard avenue, and was one of the guests at a luncheon given yesterday afternoon in the French Room of the Ambassador by Mrs. Charles Jeffras in honor of Mrs. Aline Barrett Greenwood, following her current events talk. Other guests included Mmes. Hancock Banning, Melville Eshman, Albert Crutcher, Constance Deighton-Simpson and Mrs. Leila Forrester.

For Disabled War Veterans

Many prominent social leaders in Los Angeles, Hollywood and Beverly Hills will become full fledged saleswomen behind the counter at the Buddy Shop, 6756 Hollywood Boulevard, the coming week, where they will work without wages, to assist in bringing Yuletide cheer to disabled World War veterans.

In addition to selling toys, bath rugs, and other articles made by the war veterans, the volunteer workers will also assist in providing luncheon for the ex-soldiers, who are working for the good of the cause in selling Christmas seals.

The women are working under direction of Mrs. E. B. Weirick, president of the Post-War Service League, under whose auspices the Buddy Shop is being conducted. Mrs. R. M. Brin acts as manager of the shop.

Among those who will serve as hosts during the coming week are: Burr McIntosh and Mmes. Rodman Robson, H. J. Whitley, A. E. Strock, Dailey Stafford, L. R. Wharton, Charles E. Haas, George Grant Hunt, Tracey Q. Hall, Reginald Jones, A. H. Honey, W. H. Gilbert, Edward F. Schenck, Maud M. Ward, W. H. Hay, I. L. Glenn, Clarence Conely, Eugene Weston, Parker V. Foster, J. R. Barman, Don D Wade, Bert Fesler, Estelle Snyder, S. W. Gorman, M. M. Cason, Park Cowan, E. H. Anthony and Misses Bertha George and Grace Whitley.

School Miss Will Visit in Denver

[Curtis Biltmore studios]

Miss Bernice Cantrell

MISS BERNICE CANTRELL, attractive daughter of Mrs. John Thomas Cantrell of Hollywood, is leaving this evening with her mother to pass the Christmas holidays in Denver, Colo., where they will be house guests of Dr. and Mrs. Harry W. Swigert. Miss Cantrell, a popular student at Hollywood School for Girls, takes an active part in all school festivities. She assisted as hostess at the dance given recently by Mrs. William Lee Woollett, principal, honoring the high school students. Miss Cantrell will take part in the annual "Miracle Play," a tradition of the school, written by Miss Page Bradshaw, class of 1925, to be presented this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORTON W. BURGESS

STUMPY HAS ANOTHER FRIGHT

Run first and then investigate,
Would you be master of your fate.
—Jerry Muskrat.

That is one of the first laws of life which the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows have to learn when they are starting out to make places for themselves in the Great World. Those who forget it or fail to heed it seldom get far. Of course, there are times when it is wisest to sit still, perfectly still. But as a rule when a thing is unknown it is wisest to run first and find out about it later.

Stumpy, the three-legged young Muskrat, had received a real shock when what he had thought was a little lump of snow had come to life and pounced on a hapless Mouse who had thought the same thing. It was, as you know, Shadow the Weasel in his winter coat. From then on Stumpy had been suspicious of every little lump and mound of snow he saw. Always he looked for a black spot which might be the tip of Shadow's tail. However, he didn't see Shadow again, for that was not Shadow's regular hunting ground. Still Stumpy didn't forget to watch for and be suspicious of every little lump of snow.

Now near the tussock on which Stumpy delighted to sit close by the open water of the Laughing Brook were several small stumps and logs covered with snow. Of course, each made a little white mound. These mounds were many times bigger than the little lump Shadow had made as he sat motionless, so Stumpy never was suspicious of these. They were too big. He would just glance at them to make sure no one was hiding behind one of them and then give them no further heed.

So it was that he didn't notice that one morning as he climbed out on that tussock one of these mounds was nearer than ever before. He didn't notice that on it were three little black spots. He just didn't notice it at all. He had been sitting on his tussock some time when a voice said:

"It is nice weather, isn't it?"

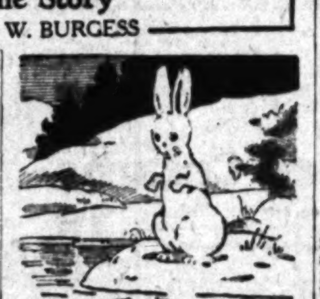
Stumpy looked all around but saw no one. He couldn't believe that he really had heard that voice. His ears must have played a trick on him. So Stumpy said nothing.

"You are not very social this morning," said the voice. "How is your father, my old friend, Jerry Muskrat?"

That voice sounded very near. Stumpy began to feel most uneasy. He was tempted to dive into the Laughing Brook. Curiosity got the better of him, however. "I suppose you are talking to me," said he, "but I don't know who you are or where you are."

"I'm surprised that you don't know an old friend when you see him," replied the voice.

"But I don't see you. That is the trouble—I don't see you," replied Stumpy.



"Who are you?" he ventured at last

"How can you expect me to believe that when you are looking straight at me?" retorted the voice.

Now at the moment Stumpy happened to be looking at one of those little mounds. In fact, it was the one nearest to him, the one with little black spots on top of it and nearer one end than the other. He didn't notice these spots until suddenly they moved. The instant they moved Stumpy saw them and made a wild dive for the safety of the water. You see, he remembered the black tip of Shadow the Weasel's tail. He didn't stop to think that this time there were three black spots. Even if he had he might have thought that Shadow had some members of this family with him. Anyway, he would make sure of safety first and look into the matter later.

He came up and looked back where he had seen those moving black spots. Even as he did so the whole white mound moved. It actually hopped. Yes, sir, it hopped right over to the very tussock Stumpy had just left. The black spots had become four now. Two were eyes and two were the tips of otherwise long white ears. Stumpy stared. "Who are you?" he ventured at last.

"Jumper the Hare," was the reply, with a chuckle.

"You can't be," retorted Stumpy promptly. "Jumper the Hare wears a brown coat."

"Not in winter after snow comes," was the prompt reply.

CHARITY INDUSTRIES WILL PLAY SANTA

Santa Claus's burdens will be lightened this year by the Community Industries, located at 1624 East First street, who will play Santa Claus to more than 3000 children selected from the neediest homes on the east side of the city.

According to the announcement made by H. A. R. Carleton, superintendent of the Community Industries, an outdoor program of entertainment will be provided on the afternoon of the 24th inst. on the Pecan-street playground.

At the conclusion of the entertainment each child will receive an appropriate gift together with a well-filled Christmas stocking. On the same day Christmas baskets, clothing and other necessities will be delivered by the welfare department to more than 600 homes. Several hundred tickets have also been issued to homeless men for a Christmas dinner at the Community Coffee House, at 704 East Fifth street.

The Black Bottom

After the maid has left and you go into the kitchen to find all your aluminum pans with black bottoms, don't be discouraged, but set them in a shallow pan in which a teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved in a little water. Then heat the water to the boiling point and let simmer for a few minutes. They will clean up very readily.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

CHEESE SOUP

Heat two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add two medium-sized onions, peeled and thinly sliced, and cook until clear and a light golden color. Add one tablespoonful of sifted flour, mix well, and stir in slowly four cupfuls of hot rich milk. Stir and cook for fifteen minutes, strain into a double boiler and stir in three tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, season with salt and paprika, stir until well mixed and serve very hot with croutons.

GERMAN POT ROAST

Select as large a pot roast as desired and rub into it on all sides a teaspoonful each of nutmeg, cinnamon and cloves. Slice one large onion, coarsely, lay half the slices in a large bowl, add a clove of sliced garlic and two bay leaves. Place the meat on top of this mixture, cover with the remaining onions, garlic, cloves and bay leaves. Pour over this a cupful of vinegar in which a half a cupful of brown sugar has been dissolved. Leave the meat in this mixture twenty-four hours, turning it several times during the day. Cook it the same as any pot roast, using the vinegar with half as much water, onions, bay leaves and garlic. At the end add just enough liquor for gravy and thicken it with powdered ginger snaps.

DATE PUDDING

Mix one cupful of seeded and chopped dates with half a cupful of fine bread crumbs, two-thirds of a cupful of chopped walnut meats, one teaspoonful of salt, and one cupful of light brown sugar. Add two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, level, and mix well, beat in two well-beaten eggs and one teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Pour into a buttered shallow pan, and bake in a slow oven, cut in squares and serve with cream.

CORNMEAL BATTER CAKES

Sift together two cupfuls of cornmeal with one level teaspoonful of soda, and half a teaspoonful of salt, add to the mixture one and one-half cupfuls of sour milk, two well-beaten eggs and three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, beat well and bake on a hot, well-oiled griddle.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Comfort for Baby

Baby's crib will be a great deal more comfortable if the rubber sheeting is pulled taut and either pinned to the underneath side of the mattress or fastened with large snaps. Then make the bed and no matter how much baby wriggles that uncomfortable pad will stay smooth under him.

A Good Light

The lighting of the kitchen at night is most important. If the center light does not throw sufficient light on the stove, it will be worth the price to have a side bracket installed next to the stove. One cannot cook well if one cannot see well.

A Hard Job

If you are one of those people who simply cannot separate a raw egg without breaking it, you had better break the egg into a funnel. The white of the egg will pass through into the bowl beneath and the yolk will remain in the point of the funnel.

Become Familiar with Them

How many of us have all the attachments for our sewing machines but never use any of them? It is only a question of learning how and a half-hour at the shop where the machine was purchased would save many hours of labor.

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

ANOTHER DUTY FOR THE MOTHER TO ASSUME

With the burdens of the physical care of children so immeasurably multiplied, there has resulted a rather unhappy state of affairs. Busy with her housework, with giving baby his bath, with washing his clothes and preparing his diet, walking out with him daily, there is not always a moment in the whole day when mother has time just to play with the baby.

By the time 4 o'clock arrives and baby is tired and needing some entertainment, his mother is so worn to a frazzle that she is intent only on getting him to bed in order that she may gain strength for another strenuous day. When there are older children, the duties are so much more numerous that mother's one desire is that they play by themselves. That is the height of her ambition.

BUDGET TIME

Of course, there is no one answer to this problem, unless the mother herself is determined to find one. Her one hope is a great desire to get closer to her children, as only playing with them can accomplish, and to so budget her time as to make this possible. Surely there can be found twenty minutes in the whole day in which to really enjoy these children mother is caring for so well.

We recently read a nice book called "The House That Runs Itself," by Shultz and Schenk (John Day Company,) which outlines the duties of the mother's day and manages to squeeze them all in satisfactorily. The house runs itself because it is competently managed. In this excellent book fifteen minutes are devoted to playing with the baby and forty-five minutes with the older children. Playing in the latter sense means reading to the children, telling stories, and singing songs, some attentions that are definitely planned for their pleasure.

HOW DO YOU MANAGE?

I would enjoy knowing how other mothers manage to sandwich in some "extras" that aren't literally necessary for them to do. It may be a powerful incentive for older children to help mother with some of her duties if in exchange she devotes a half-hour or longer to their interests alone.

Our list of "Party Games" may suggest what can be played with the little ones from 4 to 6, and "Indoor Games for Winter Evenings"—games the whole family may play from 7 to 8. These hours are notoriously the most "ghastly" of the whole day.

Sadly enough, most mothers find just playing with their children harder work than doing a family washing. It is obvious that children must learn to manage alone, but plainly it is a mistake to give them the idea that mother is just a household slave, neither human nor companionable. It is the father to whom most children run wildly at night, sure that he is a playfellow with whom they can romp.

Mothers can change this state of affairs only by recognizing it and determining to alter it. It is too long to wait until children are grown up for mother to learn to enjoy them and for them to enjoy her.

WOMAN IN SUICIDE AT LONG BEACH

Asserted Swindle in Real Estate Causes Her to Leap From Tall Building

LONG BEACH, Dec. 18.—Purchase of a rock pile for $20,000, when she believed she was buying a splendid avocado ranch which the salesman had shown her, caused Mrs. Mary Moore, 72 years of age, to take her life by jumping from the roof of a four-story apartment at Pacific avenue and Eighth street this morning, police reported.

Six weeks after she bought two acres at $10,000 an acre, she learned that the deeds did not call for the property she looked at, but for a barren section which she considered worthless, her husband, Leslie Moore, told police.

A conference of attorneys and real estate men was planned for today to seek cancellation of the deeds.

She put virtually all of her capital into the purchase, authorities were told. Rising from her bed this morning she climbed to the roof of the apartment and jumped.

Chamber Plans Relief Center at South Gate

SOUTH GATE, Dec. 18.—Plans are under way for a permanent relief center in South Gate sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce. A committee is now being formed, which when completed will be made up of three representatives from each organization in the city, churches, lodges, Parent-Teacher Association, and all other groups. When each of the organizations included in this center have appointed their representatives another meeting will be held when a permanent organization will be formed, according to Earl McClary, who is temporary chairman.

Temporary plans as announced call for the police department members to be the bureau of investigation, with all books to be taken care of by the Chamber of Commerce, thus simplifying matters and doing away with duplication of charitable work.

A volunteer committee is now at work completing plans for the city's observance of Christmas. Of this committee Harry Reynolds is general chairman. He is being assisted by J. V. Hogan, Joseph Capps and A. J. Lennon. A Christmas tree is to be placed in front of the stadium at the high school, and entertainment is to be supplied by Mr. and Mrs. William Herman. The celebration will be held next Tuesday night.

'Meanest Thief' Takes Stores Given for Needy

ONTARIO, Dec. 18. — While the meanest thief in the community was seeking food today, police were seeking him.

A report filed with the police department indicates that Ontario is harboring the meanest thief of them all. The Welfare League headquarters, where food and clothing are being stored as rapidly as citizens donate it, was broken into during the night, the burglar forcing entry through a rear screen door.

The food and clothing stored in the Welfare League headquaters are to be distributed to the poor and needy families of the community.

The thief did not take much of any value. The visit to the storeroom was made during a sandstorm, and in departing the "mean guy" left the door open.

The women of the Welfare League next morning had a job cleaning sand out of the building and out of the contributions the kind-hearted citizenry had donated.

Southwest Said in Good Shape

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 18.—"There are no real hard times in Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Louisiana. The economic conditions in these States are better than I anticipated. In my opinion the South is due for a wonderful development during the next few years," Ole Hanson, founder and builder of this city, said when he returned from a two months' tour of the Southwest.

"In Texas times are fair and getting better," he said. "In Louisiana there is some complaint, but there is no real hardship and merchants and agriculturists are doing well. There appeared to be plenty of work in Texas, but the highways were infested with drifters from the Middle West who were begging rides to California. These men turned their backs on Texas opportunities.

"In Southern California," Hanson said, "things are in good shape outside of the industrial centers. Things are getting better," he declared, "and will improve just as fast as the psychological condition of the minds of the people change. There is no hardship. Those who went through the times of 1893 laugh at what is now being called 'the period of depression and hard times.'"

MORE STOP SIGNS IN UPLAND TO WATCH

ONTARIO, Dec. 18.—Motorists of the community will have forty-two more stop signs to watch for in driving about this city. The City Council has decreed that stop signs be installed at the intersections of all streets crossing Euclid avenue from B street to Eighth street.

City Manager Austin Burt has ordered the stop signs, forty-two in all. They are to be placed at the intersections in the hope that reckless driving and mishaps will be stopped on Euclid avenue, the community's most heavily traveled north-and-south thoroughfare.

SANTA ANA FIREMEN TO HELP SANTA CLAUS

Firemen of Santa Ana, under the direction of Capt. Everett Skaggs, will play Santa Claus to several hundred children this year. For many weeks the firefighters have spent their leisure time repairing and painting toys brought to them by children who no longer care for them. All dressed up in their new coats, the trinkets will be taken to the homes of children who might not receive many presents otherwise. Left to right, Capt. Theodore (Budge) Lacy, Capt. INSTITUTE THREATENED

George Bond, Superintendent of Santa Paula Schools, in Resolution to Abolish County Sessions

VENTURA, Dec. 18.—Calling for the discontinuance of the annual Ventura County Teachers' Institute on the grounds that it is costing taxpayers too much for the results obtained, George Bond, superintendent of city schools in Santa Paula, yesterday afternoon at the concluding session of the fifty-third annual institute, offered a resolution to that effect.

Bond's resolution proposed the repeal of the State law which requires the holding of county institutes once a year and the attendance of all teachers.

It was tabled, but opinions expressed following the action indicated that it would get much support at the next meeting.

"Cost of the institute is not justified by the benefits," Bond declared. "Teachers keep on drawing their pay while they go to the sessions, but since all school children are dismissed for the week, the county loses just that much money in daily average attendance."

Officers of the Ventura County Teachers' Association were elected yesterday afternoon. They are Robert M. Wilson, Moorpark High School, president; and Miss Marguerite Scott, Ventura Junior High School, secretary-treasurer.

ANGELENO OFFICERS AT TRIAL

John Russo Convicted of Manslaughter; New Data on Baumgarteker Sought

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 18.—Joe Taylor, chief of Los Angeles detectives, and three aides from that city paid a surprise visit to Santa Barbara today and after several hours in court as spectators in a murder trial departed for home without commenting on the nature of their visit.

It was learned, however, from authoritative sources, that the Los Angeles officers were here to discuss with local authorities John Russo, Guadalupe cafe owner, on trial charged with murdering Gregoria Valenzuela last month. Russo is believed to know something of the fate of Frank Baumgarteker, Los Angeles grape wholesaler, who mysteriously dropped from sight nearly two years ago.

Providing Russo had not been convicted on the murder charge, it was said that he would have been taken to Los Angeles for questioning concerning Baumgarteker. Russo previously denied any knowledge of the wine merchant's whereabouts, but did acknowledge knowing the man. Russo was convicted of manslaughter after the jury had been out only three hours.

Taylor and the detectives sat in court throughout most of the day and were recognized by several. Sheriff James Ross denied that their presence in Russo's trial was official. It also was said that the Los Angeles officers visited with the District Attorney.

Russo was known to have been in San Bernardino county about the time Baumgarteker disappeared and, according to officers of that county, was known to have been engaged in a similar business as that of the missing man.

INJUNCTION ASKED BY ALTA LOMA COUPLE

ALTA LOMA, Dec. 18.—Application for preliminary injunction filed by Albert L. Swift and Edith Hoyt Swift of Alta Loma against the Sunset Water Company is to be heard in Superior Court the 22nd inst., it was announced today. Mr. and Mrs. Swift declare in their complaint that they installed a water pipe line on their property to water their grove, and that the pipe line was constructed with the knowledge and consent of the Sunset Water Company.

The water company now threatens to destroy the pipe line, the complaint asserts, and application for preliminary injunction has been filed. The plaintiffs have been granted a temporary restraining order enjoining the company from interfering with the pipe line until the hearing on the preliminary injunction.

SCOUT HEAD IN VALLEY RENAMED

VAN NUYS, Dec. 18.—Fred Letten has been re-elected chief executive of the San Fernando Valley Boy Scout Council of 700 members. He came here a year ago from the Los Angeles Scout headquarters, to succeed Delman von Glahn, who took over a similar position in the northern part of the State.

Man and Woman Defendants in Damage Suits

UPLAND, Dec. 18.—Miss Mildred Thorpe of this city and S. E. Beck of Alta Loma, are named defendants in a suit filed against them by Melvin H. Sharkey of Pomona, who asks $11,075 damages for injuries received in an automobile crash on a bridge across Lytle Creek Wash, near San Bernardino, the night of October 12.

Sharkey asserts Miss Thorpe was driving Beck's car that crashed with one driven by P. C. Armitage of Pomona, with whom Sharkey was riding. Sharkey's right leg was broken in the crash, his suit sets forth, and he received other painful injuries. Armitage lost an arm in the crash, and has filed suit for $50,000 damages against Miss Thorpe and Beck.

Miss Thorpe denied she was driver of the automobile.

Both cars crashed head-on in the middle of the bridge, and both were overturned.

SANITARY DISTRICT VOTED

SUNSET BEACH, Dec. 18.—Sunset Beach will have a sanitary district, according to election returns here. The election board reports a victory of 61 to 9. The sanitary district has been needed here for a long time. Some time ago a temporary garbage disposal contract was let which relieved the condition, but the forming of the sanitary district was deemed necessary to meet with the advance of settlement here.

DEPOSITORS GET PARTIAL DIVIDENDS

California Savings and Commercial Bank Pays 70 Per Cent by Court Order

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 18.—Included in the 70 per cent savings account dividend paid today by the State Superintendent of Banks in liquidating the affairs of the California Savings and Commercial Bank, was a part of the Mission San Diego De Alcala Restoration Fund. The bank was closed last July by order of the superintendent when its safety was in doubt.

Authority to declare the liquidation dividend was signed by Superior Judge C. N. Andrews on petition of Elbert W. Davis, San Francisco attorney, representing the liquidation division of the State Banking Department. In addition to paying 70 per cent of the savings accounts, Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Banks, was authorized to pay 20 per cent of the obligations of the commercial department. A total of $87,000 was allowed on the commercial claims and $306,000 on the savings, Davis stated.

Claims amounting to $437,194.61 were allowed against the savings department of the defunct bank, and none were rejected, the petition and account report showed. The savings department still holds $2945.24 not yet claimed.

Beating Victim Not in Court

LONG BEACH, Dec. 18. — Condition of Dr. J. Bernard Nelson, asserted victim of horsewhipping and pistol beating, was such that he was unable to appear in court today at the hearing of E. W. and Cassie Donahoo, charged with the attack. The physician is improving but could not come to court, his doctors reported.

Probability that he would die from his injuries has passed and Judge Joseph G. Moodie reduced bail on the husband from $5000 to $2000 and that of the wife from $5000 to $500.

The hearing was continued to the 23rd inst.

OCEAN PARK IN SANTA CLAUS FETE TONIGHT

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 18.—A blaze of Christmas lights will be turned on tomorrow night when a Santa Claus parade, headed by the Santa Monica municipal band, with candy enough aboard the sleigh to satisfy 5000 bay district youngsters, leaves the municipal auditorium, Ocean Park, at 7 o'clock. The Ocean Park Business Men's Association is host for the yuletide celebration, which will take place on the Ocean Front promenade and pier. Jefferson W. Asher, chairman of the event, has arranged many attractions.

SEAWALL WILL BE BUILT

Plans for $300,000 Reinforced-Concrete Structure for Pierpont Bay Announced at Ventura

VENTURA, Dec. 18.—Plans for a $300,000 reinforced concrete seawall extending nearly one mile along the sea front at Pierpont Bay, were revealed today by D. A. Rizer, in charge of the Frank Meline Company subdivision and development work here.

The bulwark will be started early next spring at the end of the high tides and rainy season, Rizer said. It will be from twelve to twenty feet deep, and will extend seven or eight feet above the high-tide line, he stated.

The west end will be located 500 or 600 feet east of the Pierpont Bay bathhouse and the east end will coincide with the extreme eastern end of the Meline subdivision.

High tides and heavy seas have continually given trouble along the eastern end of the bay beach by washing out timber bulwarks and groins, and cutting back into the concrete surface of Shore Drive.

Less than a month ago a heavy tide did thousands of dollars damage to concrete streets and sidewalks at the edge of the shore at the eastern part of the tract and washed back, leveling down several sand lots.

PUBLISHERS AGAINST FAIR

Ventura County Newspapermen Unanimously Indorse Plan to Omit Annual Event Next Year

VENTURA, Dec. 18.—Indorsement of the suggestion that the county fair be omitted in 1931 as an economy measure, has been unanimously given by the Ventura County Newspaper Publishers' Association, it was announced today.

A letter setting forth resolutions to this effect is being mailed to the board of directors of the fair association by Leo A. Smith, president, and Martin Jensen, secretary of the newspaper organization.

The opinion of the publishers, meeting at Oxnard Monday night, was informally sought by persons active for many years in staging the county fair, and an hour and a half of discussion was devoted to the subject.

General agreement was expressed that the annual fair has three big benefits: namely, that it serves as a fine home-coming occasion for present and former Ventura county citizens to renew acquaintance; that it has educational merit; that it brings the county a certain amount of desirable publicity on the outside.

The further concensus of opinion, however, was that these advantages are now outweighed by the growing costs, which are footed partly by public-spirited individuals, and more largely by all taxpayers through the County Treasury, and by the heavy drain that is placed on the whole community by money taken out by sideshows and other attractions of questionable value, and by the disruption to business that is annually occasioned.

A vote on the question of recommending discontinuance of the fair in 1931 was unanimous.

It also was proposed by various publishers that possibly it would be wise policy later to stage the fair only every two or three years instead of annually. No action was taken on this point.

ORANGE COUNTY FAIR MAY BE ABANDONED FOR YEAR

SANTA ANA, Dec. 18.—Decision to abandon the annual Orange county fair, for one year at least, because of the failure of the public to support the fair and make it possible for the Fair Board to meet the heavy overhead expense involved, may result from a meeting of the fair officials to be called in the near future, it was learned today.

A group of citizens not connected with the fair has taken an interest in the situation and may work out a plan whereby the exposition can be continued, according to S. W. Stanley, for many years a leading figure in the fair management. Stanley resides in Tustin.

Interest in the future of the fair was intensified this week when it was announced at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce in Huntington Beach that both the fair and the annual California Valencia Orange Show of Anaheim might be canceled in 1931.

Secretary George Reid of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, speaking for the orange show management, said there was no disposition to give up the orange show, however, and that another blue ribbon citrus event would be held in 1931.

The amount of money required to pay the taxes, interest and rent on the fair site, between Santa Ana and Anaheim, has been an almost unbearable burden, Stanley said. The fair directors had been led to believe that the county would purchase the forty-acre tract, he said, but the voters registered disapproval in November. Had the purchase been authorized, the Fair Board would have gone ahead with the building of a half-mile race track this winter, he said. The present location is ample for such a track, according to Stanley, and a horse-racing association has offered to assist in every way possible in holding the initial circuit program.

Although the county owns a 160-acre tract south of the city the land is so low that it is not adaptable to fair purposes, in the opinion of Stanley. Great expense would be involved in the construction of buildings there and the construction work would bring about a duplication of the buildings already owned by the fair association.

Although there have been reports that there was considerable sentiment for the combination of the fair and the orange show, a proposal to that effect has never reached the Fair Board, Stanley continued. Even if such a plan were to be suggested, he doubted if either the Fair Board or the orange show management would approve it.

The expenses of the fair have been guaranteed in the past by a small coterie of public-spirited citizens, he continued, but the group does not feel that they can continue the present set-up without major assistance from an outside organization and a new financial plan, he asserted.

BOY GLIDER PILOT HITS AUTOMOBILE

Henry Severin Knocked Unconscious by Impact; Regains Senses Next Day

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 18.—Henry Severin, 16-year-old San Diego High School boy who was rendered unconscious late yesterday at the foot of the Torrey Pines grade in a glider crash, regained consciousness today and apparently was little the worse for his experience.

According to his mother, Mrs. Fred J. Severin of 1909 El Cajon avenue, the youth, whose home-made glider struck the top of an auto when he lost control of it, has only a few minor cuts and bruises.

As a result of its collision with the car, the glider was wrecked, but the car, which was driven by Thomas Blair, 3787 Fourth street, was not damaged badly. Blair escaped injury.

The accident occurred on the State Highway immediately north of the foot of Torrey Pines grade.

The glider, flown by Severin, was built by Vincent Loop of 3540 Fifth avenue, also a local high school boy, and Severin, this last summer. It was completed in August, and since then Severin and Loop have flown it considerably, principally over week-ends and during holiday periods.

Sheriff Elect's Plums Awaited

ORANGE, Dec. 18.—Appointments to be made by Sheriff-elect Logan Jackson of Orange, will not be forthcoming for some time yet, Jackson told newspaper men who inquired concerning his list of men to take the places of those named by Sheriff Sam Jernigan, whom Jackson will succeed.

In the meantime the Sheriff-elect has been conducting an extensive survey of jail organization, and administrative practices in several Southern California counties.

RITES FOR WIDOW OF INDIAN FIGHTER SET

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 18.—Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Blackwood Baldwin, widow of Gen. Frank D. Baldwin, who died yesterday at her home, 1011 Sixth street, this city, will be conducted in St. Augustine's Church, this city, at 11 a.m. Saturday. The body will be sent for burial in Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, beside that of her husband, who was famous during the years of Indian uprisings. Gen. Baldwin was said to have been the only man to whom two Congressional medals have ever been awarded for distinguished service. Mrs. Baldwin was born in Ann Arbor, Mich., in 1845. As a bride she went in 1867 to live in old Fort Harker. Her life was one of thrilling experiences and adventures, many of which she chronicled in a biography of her husband. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Juanita Baldwin Williams-Foote, and three grandchildren, Baldwin and Pierson Williams-Foote and Mrs. Alice Guercio, all of Santa Monica.

VAN NUYS SEWER BIDS ARE OPENED

VAN NUYS, Dec. 18.—Although bids were opened yesterday by the Board of Public Works for the Oxnard street-Van Nuys Boulevard sewer district which covers the entire Van Nuys townsite, the contract was not awarded. There were twenty-seven bids submitted, the largest number offered on a project of this size in many months. The low bid of $209,550 was made by Coljack & Zelko. Some of the other bids were higher than the engineer's estimate. The contract calls for twenty miles of sewers along the streets, and for 67,400 lineal feet of house connections, or about twelve miles. The bid also includes resurfacing after the sewers are laid.

BURGLAR RAKES IN CERTIFICATE; NO USE

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 18.—Somewhere today a bedroom burglar may be cussing his luck because he has a certificate of deposit for $10,000 and no chance to cash in on it. He literally raked it in, after prying open a screen in the residence of H. M. Cowen, Santa Monica philanthropist, according to a police report, and reaching into a bedroom with a garden rake. The rake and a looted pair of trousers were found in the garden in the morning. The certificate of deposit, made out in the name of Mrs. Cowen, had been in a pocket; and police declared the burglar would have made a better selection had he left the certificate and taken the rake. For Cowen has stopped payment on the certificate.

SHE WILL WRITE IN ALASKA

SAN FERNANDO, Dec. 18.—Miss Melba Prince, who for some time has been society editor of the San Fernando Sun, has departed for Seattle via the S. S. Emma Alexander for a visit to relatives. Later in the new year she will go to Alaska where she has been offered a job on an Alaskan newspaper.

BLAZING OIL TRUCK PERILS VENICE FIELD

VENICE, Dec. 18.—A blazing oil truck and trailer, ignited by a backfire spark when the truck was starting to load at the Mohawk absorption and storage plant, on Washington Boulevard east of the Venice oil field, kept Venice firefighters busy early this morning. The cool-headedness of the truck driver, J. R. McCarthy of Los Angeles, was said to have prevented destruction of the entire plant. He drove the blazing vehicles outside before leaping for his life. The loss was confined to the truck and trailer, valued at $4000. No one was injured.

LAKESIDE PARK WATER BONDS NOT YET SOLD

CHATSWORTH, Dec. 18.—Residents in the Lakeside Park district west of Chatsworth Lake, for the time being will be without its special water system, because of the failure of the sale of bonds voted for the purpose. The bond issue of $40,000 automatically goes back into the hands of the Los Angeles Water and Power Department, for a future adjustment. The new water system sought is to include a pumping plant that will force city water to homes high up in the hillside section of the Chatsworth hills, west of the Lakeside Park property.

YOUNG HUNTER ELECTROCUTED

Lamar Hale of Mentone Dies on Edison Tower

Rifle Touches 33,000-Volt Line, Killing Him

Girl Trying to Release Him, Hurt, But Brings Help

MENTONE, Dec. 18. Lamar Hale, 17-year-old local high-school student, met an accidental death when he was killed by 33,000 volts of electricity in Santa Ana Canyon far up in the mountains above Redlands yesterday afternoon. This was the decision of Coroner Al U'Ren of San Bernardino who held an inquest in Redlands today.

Hale and his two companions, who were hiking in the canyon, Esther Davis, 16 years of age, of Mentone, and Fay Smith of Yucaipa, were all on a steel tower of the Edison Company trying to get a view of the valley when his rifle, strapped on his back, touched the 33,000-volt line. Hale was killed instantly, it is believed.

GIRL SLIDES TO GROUND

Miss Smith saw what had happened and tried to pull him loose. She was knocked off the cross arm but her body fell across a guy wire and half fainting, she slid to the ground. A great gash was cut in her thigh. Miss Davis climbed down off the pole and ran screaming to a power house more than a mile away. Juice was cut out of the line and L. B. Schafer, station chief in the canyon, with men to aid him, lowered the body with ropes. The body was terribly burned.

Intending to hunt rabbits, the trio left Miss Davis's home in Mentone by automobile. They left their car at the mouth of the canyon and walked up the canyon. Midway between power houses Nos. 2 to 3, they were inspired by the idea of climbing one of the Edison towers for a view of the valley below.

STEEL LADDER CLIMBED

One after the other, the youngsters climbed the steel ladder to a crossarm directly beneath a larger crossarm, supporting the insulators and high tension wires. They remained aloft for only an instant. Hale attempted to shift the gun from one hand to the other. The barrel touched one of the wires, and 33,000 volts plunged through his body.

Modern features of the Santa Ana Canyon power line usually automatically throw out the switch in the power house, thus taking the current out of the line. In such a case, the power house would have been notified immediately of an accident along the line. The automatic shutoff failed to work yesterday, however, and the Edison employees knew nothing of the tragedy until Miss Davis, screaming hysterically, came running into the station.

Hale was the son of James E. Hale, manager of Col. Junius Pierce's Milling Association Plant. The family resides on Colton avenue, east of Crafton avenue.

Autoist Quizzed at Ventura as Hit-Run Suspect

VENTURA, Dec. 18.—Seeking to solve the identity of the hit-and-run driver who last night at Main and California streets ran down Mrs. Jennie Blackstone, County Jail matron, leaving her with a broken right leg, Chief of Police Clarence Mattson had all available men working on the case today.

W. F. Clayton of 267 Park Row, quizzed last night in connection with the case, was being held at police headquarters today for further examination. The man denied all knowledge of the accident.

Clayton was taken into custody after witnesses to the injury to Mrs. Blackstone had furnished police with an automobile license number and a meager description of the driver of the hit-and-run machine.

Boy Killed When Car Turns Over

REDONDO BEACH, Dec. 18.—Billy Butters, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Butters of 1407 Clark Lane here, was almost instantly killed late last night when a light automobile in which he was riding turned over at Grant and Felton Lane, pinning him beneath it.

He was unconscious when taken from under the car, dying a few minutes after entering the Hermosa-Redondo Hospital, of a skull fracture and internal injuries.

Harold Luurtsema, 20, driver of the car and its only other occupant, was not injured. Officers who investigated attributed the cause of the accident to possible cramped wheels of the car and Luurtsema was not held.

The inquest will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Cate and O'Shea chapel here.

CITY DEPARTMENT TO PLANT YOUNG TREES

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 18.—The Department of Public Works of this city was the successful bidder today against three contracting firms who submitted bids for planting ornamental trees in Improvement District No. 142, lying between Wilshire Boulevard, Twentieth street, the easterly city limits and Montana avenue. The winning bid was $3.80 per tree, covering purchase and planting and maintaining the young trees for a five-year period. John Morton, Public Works Commissioner, started the custom of having his department enter into competition with outside contractors on jobs of this character, and the plan is said to have resulted in saving local property owners thousands of dollars.

Teacher Group Confers on Plans for 1931 Contest

Southern California, Arizona and Nevada Represented

Support Again Pledged and Thanks Voted to "Times"

BY CHARLES S. SPRAGUE

More than 100 teachers of expression and speech, representing schools throughout Southern California, Arizona and Nevada, attended a conference at the Biltmore yesterday which served to inaugurate the 1931 Oratorical Contest, based as usual on the Constitution of the United States. This group enthusiastically repledged its loyal support to an idea which has become international in scope, and extended to The Los Angeles Times a rising vote of thanks for its contribution to the education of the youth of the land. The conference followed a luncheon to the teachers who have heretofore conducted the contest in their local schools throughout the district sponsored by The Times.

Director Tanquary welcomed the guests and called Mrs. Annice Campbell Moore, president of the Speech Arts Association, to the chair. Mrs. Moore said the teachers of speech have watched the marvelous expansion of the contest from a local to a national and then an international institution, accompanied by a consistent growth of interest in oratory and political science in the public schools.

SUGGESTIONS OFFERED

Charles B. Moore, president of the Principals' Club; Miss Walker, who presided over the first district contest; Miss Oyler, Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Walker, Guy C. Moore and others, attested their appreciation of the value of the contest and made helpful suggestions. Last year the Speech Arts Association gave assistance in guiding of judges and at the conference yesterday suggestion was made that more teachers of speech be included in the official list of judges. Satisfaction was expressed with the innovation of last year of introducing extemporaneous speaking following the set speeches and it was urged that this be continued, but carefully safeguarded.

Mrs. Moore introduced the publisher of The Times, who thanked the teachers for their co-operation. It is the teaching fraternity that had made the contest a growing success, he said, and they must be depended upon for continued support.

ANNIVERSARY FEATURE

In view of the fact that 1932 marks the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, the speaker stated, the contest, because of its very nature, may contribute largely to the proper nation-wide celebration of the anniversary.

"There are many agencies seeking to promote patriotism and international good will, but none with the concrete results of this enterprise."

Referring to the international phase of the contest, the speaker said he is satisfied that in these world-wide turbulent times the contest has had stabilizing influences in countries with constitutional government.

"The administrator of education for the German government has said that in the recent election the republic might have been overturned had it not been for the respect for constitutional government that has been taught in the public schools of Germany through the international oratorical contest.

STABILIZING INFLUENCE

"The republics of South America and Mexico and Central America are also feeling the stabilizing influence of the contest. Heretofore governments were overthrown by the bullet, whereas now they are changed by the orderly process of the ballot, due to the respect for statutory and constitutional law being taught in the public schools. In a few more years the contest will help to stabilize the world."

To co-operate more closely with the management, the Speech Arts Association appointed a committee of conference, composed of Mrs. Irene Sage Peters, Mrs. Annice Campbell Moore, Mrs. Lora Sutherland, editor of the Speech Arts Journal, Mrs. Elizabeth Cloud Miller and Guy C. Moore.

LEVEY GETS SUPPORT IN SOUTHLAND

Eight Assemblymen Here Back Bay City Man to Be Speaker at Sacramento

Indorsement of the candidacy of Edgar C. Levey, San Francisco Assemblyman, for Speaker of the next Assembly, was voted yesterday by eight Southern California Assemblymen, three of whom represent Los Angeles county districts.

Included among those announcing their support of Levey were members who had been tentatively counted as backers of the Speakership candidacy of Assemblyman Walter Little of Los Angeles.

Announcement of the action taken yesterday was accompanied by an assertion that indorsement of Levey came as a result of his assurance that he will favor constitutional reapportionment of Congressional districts of the State.

Those signing the statement were: Assemblymen Harry Sewell, Ben A. Hill and W. C. Bonelli of Los Angeles county; Myron D. Witter, Imperial; Chester Kline, Riverside; Dan W. Emmett, Ventura; A. R. Honnold, San Diego, and Edward Craig, Orange.

Although this break in the Southern California line-up was heralded by Levey's friends as definitely assuring his election when members of the Assembly organize in January, Little's supporters refused to concede defeat.

The fact that Little has adherents in Northern California, including two members of the San Francisco Assembly delegation, and is supported by eight of the nine representatives in the San Joaquin Valley, will give him a safe majority, it is said. Eighteen of the twenty-two members of the Assembly from Los Angeles county have pledged their votes to Little.

HONNOLD DENIES HE PLEDGED BACKING

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 18. (AP)—A. R. Honnold of Escondido, Assemblyman-elect, said tonight that he has not pledged his support to Edgar C. Levey as Speaker of the Assembly. Mr. Honnold asserted that he has not decided yet which candidate to support, but that he will cast his vote for the man who will do the most for Southern California and for San Diego county.

Mrs. Blakely's Will Upheld

The late Katherine Wagner Blakely of Venice was of sound mind when she made her will, bequeathing an estate of $44,000, it was determined by the verdict of a jury in Superior Judge Warne's court yesterday. The will was attacked by a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Dolores Blakely, who claimed her mother was unduly influenced by a friend, Mrs. Mathilda Stringer, who was given $10,000.

turer, whose boast it is that he wrote, in 1915, the first book ever published on the art of the motion picture, spoke to an overflow audience yesterday morning at the Belasco Theater on "The Art of the Talkies." He made his main point the contention that "the art of the silents and the art of the talkies is essentially the same; the only difference lies in the addition of the spoken word in the place of the subtitles." As the greatest sound picture yet made he nominated "All Quiet on the Western Front," and as the best of all recent pictures of any description he nominated "With Byrd at the South Pole."

DR. DORSEY REPORTS

Dr. Susan M. Dorsey, former superintendent of the local school system and now chairman of the California Commission for the Study of Educational Problems, delivered the report of the commission at a meeting held at the First Congregational Church yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Los Angeles League of Women Voters. The report was followed by a discussion of it as it affected various school groups, the discussion being led by officials of the local school administration. The meeting was also featured by an address on "The Commission Organization and Plan of Work" by Mrs. Maynard Force Thayer, a member of the commission and education chairman of the league.

Miss Clare Soper, international secretary of the New Education Fellowship, London, spoke on "Experimental Schools of Europe" at a meeting sponsored by the Progressive Education Club yesterday morning at Metropolitan High School auditorium. Following her address there was an informal conference of persons interested in the work of the New Education Fellowship.

In the afternoon there was a meeting of the college section of the institute in the president's parlors of the University of Southern California. Those who addressed the meeting included Profs. Frank C. Baxter of the University of Southern California; E. R. Hedrick and Frank J. Klingberg of the University of California at Los Angeles, Barclay W. Bradley of Occidental College and Russell M. Story of Pomona College.

HOME ECONOMICS

"Early American Homes in Miniature" and "The Biological Basis of Marriage" were the subjects of addresses delivered at the session of the home economics section in the morning at the Architects' Building by Margaret Shepard and Dr. Paul Popenoe, respectively.

Don Francisco, vice-president of Lord & Thomas & Logan, spoke on "Legitimate Advertising and Its Relation to Marketing" at a meeting of the vocational education section last night at Adams Junior High School auditorium. Judge Blake of the county juvenile court spoke before the welfare and attendance section at Walker Auditorium in the afternoon.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Among the numerous social events yesterday were the breakfasts of the California Library Association, southern section, at the Town House, the Art Teachers' Association of Southern California, Tea Room, Bullock's Wilshire, and the Visual Instruction Association of Southern California, southern section, Biltmore; luncheons of the Southern California Commercial Teachers' Association at the Jonathan Club, California Kindergarten-Primary Association and California Home Economics section, southern sections, both at the Ambassador; Modern Language Association of Southern California, Chamber of Commerce Banquet Hall; Manual Education Association of Southern California, Victor Hugo's Cafe; Classroom Teachers' Federation, Friday Morning Club; Physical Education Association of Southern California, Elks' Club; Registrars' Association, City Club, and Southern California Social Science Association, Hollywood Knickerbocker Hotel; the tea of the Southern California Association of English Teachers at the Elks' Club; the annual banquet of the Schoolmasters' Club, at the City Club; and dinners of the Southern California Council for Exceptional Children, New Mona Lisa, and the Southern California Science and Mathematics Association, Athenaeum, California Institute of Technology.

CONCLUDES TODAY

Four more general session will mark the concluding day today of Institute Week. The session at the Bible Institute Auditorium will probably draw the greatest attendance as one of the two speakers there will be Dr. Willis A. Sutton, who in addition to being superintendent of schools of Atlanta is president of the National Education Association, which will hold its annual convention in this city next summer.

In addition to the concluding lectures of the several series dealing with specific fields which featured this year's program, the concluding day will also be marked by a breakfast of the Speech Arts Association of Southern California at the Town House, and luncheons of the Phi Beta Kappa Alumni of the University of Southern California, City Club; Trojan Physical Education Alumni Club, Student Union Building, U.S.C., and Pomona College Alumni Teachers, Windsor Tea Room.

As a special added feature to the concluding lecture of the music series delivered during the week by Dr. Bruce W. Kingsley, the Pro-Arte Trio will give a short concert at Hollywood High School Auditorium this morning.

Coyote Bites Woman While on Main Street

A pet coyote, led on a leash by an unidentified man, last night was sought by police after it had bitten Mrs. Laura Calhoun, 35 years of age, of 135 South Louise street, Glendale.

The victim said she was walking along Main street, between Fourth and Fifth streets when the animal suddenly leaped upon her and bit her severely in the shoulder. In the excitement that followed, both the coyote and his owner vanished.

Mrs. Calhoun was treated at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, after which she was taken to her home.

HUGE CONCLAVE PLANNED

National Education Association President Here to Arrange for Assembly of 50,000 in June

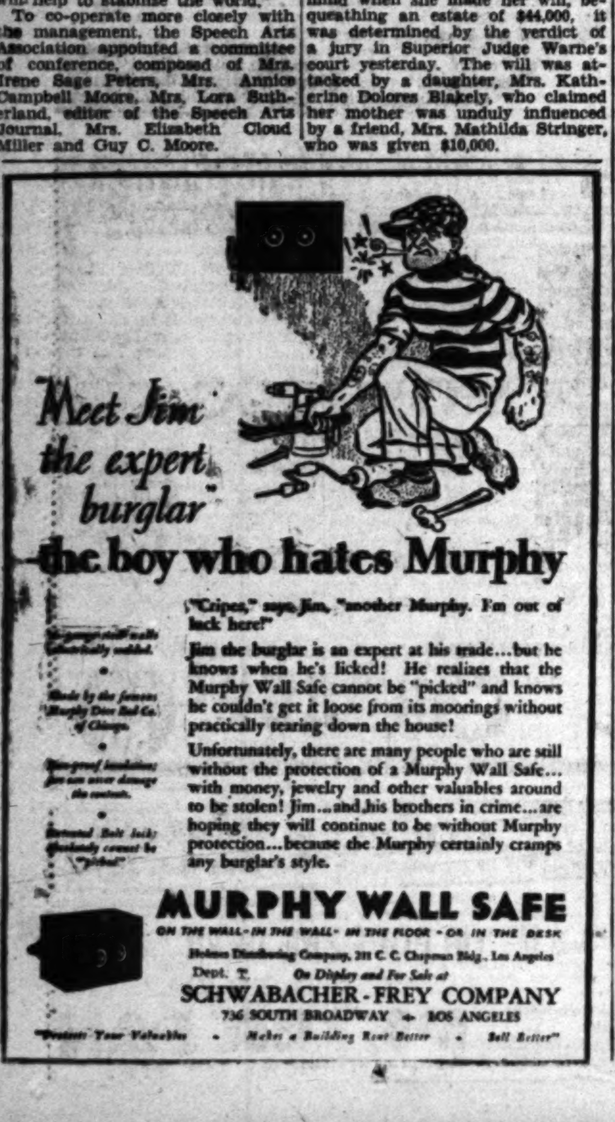
One of the largest conclaves ever held in Los Angeles will be conducted here next year, from June 27 to July 4, when more than 50,000 delegates and visitors are expected to attend the convention of the National Education Association, according to Dr. Willis A. Sutton, president of the association. He arrived in the city yesterday in company with H. A. Allen, National Education Association business manager, to make preparations for the national meeting and to speak before the California Teachers' Institute assemblies.

"A large percentage of the delegates to the convention naturally will be from various parts of California," Dr. Sutton said, "since more than 23,000 of the 225,000 members in the United States are from this State. Program plans are not yet entirely completed but arrangements are being concluded for the hiring of halls and hotels for the use of convention members."

In his address here yesterday before members of the teachers' institute Dr. Sutton spoke on "Adult Education," and stressed the point that education should not end with graduation from high school or college. Adults have to be educated in the matter of how to spend their leisure time, he said.

In connection with the convention of the National Education Association the visitor, who is superintendent of schools at Atlanta, Ga., outlined the policy of the national association for the coming year, and said that the new policy has five central objectives.

"They are," he said, "to make the National Education Association a 3[illegible]-day functioning organization; to bring every separate educational organization and department into a united organization; to work for the enrichment of adult life; to teach business men that education is the foundation of all business, and to meet the emergency of rural education so that country students will get a chance to attend schools."



Meet Jim the expert burglar—the boy who hates Murphy

"Cripes," says Jim, "another Murphy. I'm out of luck here!"

Jim the burglar is an expert at his trade...but he knows when he's licked! He realizes that the Murphy Wall Safe cannot be "picked" and knows he couldn't get it loose from its moorings without practically tearing down the house!

Unfortunately, there are many people who are still without the protection of a Murphy Wall Safe...with money, jewelry and other valuables around to be stolen! Jim...and his brothers in crime...are hoping they will continue to be without Murphy protection...because the Murphy certainly cramps any burglar's style.

GRAPE PLAN'S SUCCESS SEEN

Speakers Hit Practices of Certain Growers

Need for Able Leadership Stressed by Teague

Farmers Today Will Hear Alonzo E. Taylor

culture of America is the development of a system of farmer-owned-and-controlled marketing organizations.

"Personally I do not believe that it is possible to devise a system that can maintain agriculture—or any division of it—on a permanently prosperous basis if the producers of any given product continue very greatly to over produce. They must, therefore, come to an adjustment of production to meet demand either through voluntary action on the part of the producers, or by involuntary action brought about through a depression of prices to a point where production balances demand.

"In the last year or so there has come a general recognition by educational agencies of the necessity of helping the farmer solve his marketing and distribution problem as well as his production problems. This marks a great step in advance and it will result in an understanding of the principles of co-operative marketing and a general acceptance of those principles and will result in the membership support that is so necessary to successful operation.

GOOD LEADERSHIP NEEDED

"To be successful a co-operative must have the same type of business leadership that is necessary to the success of any business. Too often in the past impracticable theorists have been placed in control of co-operatives. These men usually have been honest but have been incapable of giving a sound business administration. More and more men of business training and recognized ability are being attracted to the co-operative movement. As these educational processes go on this will be increasingly true and more and more will farmers place their products confidently in the hands of the co-operatives to handle."

In his address Mr. Koster outlined a number of causes for the depressions in the grape industry in past years.

"First," he asserted, "there have been too many grapes; second, quality has been sacrificed for quantity, and third, too many selfish shippers competing for business. There has been a reluctance of all concerned to relinquish their present stand in the co-operative plan.

"MANY SHIPPERS SELFISH"

"Many shippers have been distrustful, jealous and selfish. Growers have been induced to break faith with their organizations and ship more than their allotted amount. This benefitted only the shipper who collects his fee before the grower gets anything. In many instances this lack of co-operation on the part of the grower was due to financial distress, and the blind hope that good luck will overcome economic laws of supply and demand, and the defiance of Nature's laws that poor fruit will decay before it can be marketed.

"Some shippers are guilty of unwarranted encouragement to persuade growers to ship even when the market is glutted. The three big co-operatives have formed a clearing-house to protect the grower against gluts and famines. The disasters to the grape industry can be laid to lack of marketing co-operation, lack of volume control and lack of standardization of the product.

"The success that we did have during the past year, however, not only leaves us hopeful, but confident that the plans of the board will achieve its ultimate aim."

DR. TAYLOR TO SPEAK

At today's session one of the principal speakers will be Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, director, Food Research Institute, Leland Stanford University. J. J. Brennan, president California Fruit Exchange, will preside. Other speakers will be F. W. Read, California Fruit Exchange; E. M. Seifert, of E. M. Seifert Company; James Mills, Jr., vice-president, Mills Orchards Company, and Dwight K. Grady, secretary, Dried Fruit Association of California.

At a banquet last night at the Alexandria more than 400 delegates to the convention attended. The principal speaker was Frank C. Mortimer. Horace Dunbar was the toastmaster.

Preceding the speeches a statement from members of the State Board of Agriculture, indorsing both R. L. Adams, professor of farm management of the University of California, and A. A. Brock, agricultural commissioner of Orange county, for the vacancy incurred by the retirement of Director G. H. Hecke, was read. The Governor-elect is asserted to have stated he will appoint only a man who has the indorsement of the Board of Agriculture. Friends of Prof. Adams assert he will decline the appointment if it is offered.

Confessed Car Theft Reported

When Alfred Hemington, 32 years of age, drove out from New York recently with a costly automobile, he sought lodging in a modest rooming-house in Los Angeles. The landlord turned out to be Jerry Gannon, Los Angeles detective, who couldn't reconcile the costly car with Hemington and investigated.

Yesterday Gannon reported Hemington confessed stealing the car in New York, and that he had been convicted of three similar offenses. This, the fourth, Gannon said, would make him subject to the Baumes law which calls for life imprisonment.

PROTESTS DENIED

Protests against the improvement of Ewing street between Alvarado street and Glendale Boulevard and against the improvement of Nowita Place between Penmar avenue and Lincoln Boulevard were denied yesterday by the City Council, which also abandoned proceedings for the improvement of Glen Arbor avenue at Buena Vista Terrace.

CAROL LOMBARD WINS NEW ROLE

Jeanette MacDonald is Assigned to Kummer Picture; Roberto Rey Plays Part in English Version; Carmel Myers Going on Vaudeville Stage

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

CAROL LOMBARD

All the good old George M. Cohan successes proved full of entertainment, as witness their long runs in stock after they were finished on Broadway. Naturally, picture producers have come to the conclusion that they should also be good in talking pictures.

One of the most successful was "It Pays to Advertise," and Paramount has decided to produce it on the screen. Indeed, it went into production yesterday. But while a stage play is used, we note that a screen actress will play the leading feminine role.

Carol Lombard has been given that part, while Norman Foster has the role which Cohan played on the stage. And still another leading feminine characterization is taken by Louise Brooks.

FOX WILL PRODUCE CLARE KUMMER PLAY

JEANETTE MACDONALD

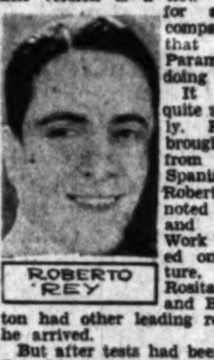
Speaking of old stage plays, the picture concerns, take it altogether, seem to be finding that after all the most entertainment meat is to be found in the stage hits of a few years ago. There is more form and coherence in them, for one thing, more definiteness of plot, more character drawing of the sort that the movie public likes.

Fox has just bought "Good Gracious Annabelle," a play written by Clare Kummer, and hailed at the time of its appearance by both public and critics as one of the most refreshingly original and delightful comedies that had graced the stage. It also has a whimsical angle that is not out of place on the screen.

The feminine lead is one calling for high comedy gifts, and we are delighted to say that no less gifted an actress than Jeanette MacDonald will play the name role.

No director or cast is yet selected other than the star.

LANGUAGE FILMS IN UNIQUE SEQUENCE



ROBERTO REY

To make a Spanish version of a story first and afterward an English version is a new experience for a picture company. But that is what Paramount is doing just now.

It happened quite accidentally. Paramount brought over from Europe a Spanish actor, Roberto Rey, noted in Spain and France. Work had started on his picture, in which Rosita Moreno and Barry Norton had other leading roles, when he arrived.

But after tests had been made of Rey, his work was found to be so fine that the story was entirely rewritten, giving him a much better part. And the story itself was so greatly improved that, taken altogether, it was decided that neither star nor story must be lost to English-speaking audiences. Wherefore comes about the unique situation of having an English version follow, instead of precede, the Spanish version. Jack King is writing some incidental music.

Carmel Myers in Vaudeville

The lure of the stage apparently still is drawing Carmel Myers to that form of acting. Now Miss Myers has just signed a contract with R.-K.-O. Theaters to travel over the circuit in the East, appearing in a musical act in which she will sing a number of songs.

She will leave Tuesday for New York, where she will open within a week or two. When Miss Myers appeared here at the Biltmore in "Death Takes a Holiday" she was spoken of as making her stage debut. This is not true, however, as she at one time played a season in the leading role in a New York musical.

Eddie Woods With Warners

EDWARD WOODS

That clever young juvenile, Edward Woods, has signed with Warner Brothers to play the juvenile lead in "The Public Enemy."

Young Woods first distinguished himself by his playing of juveniles at the Majestic under management of Tom Wilkes and later he made a sensation in the mother's boy role in "What Price Glory."

He has appeared in several pictures produced by First National and other concerns. His latest role is in "Mother's Cry."

Russian Actress Assigned

Katya Sorina, the Russian dancer, formerly of the Moscow Imperial Ballet, but latterly signed by Radio Pictures, has just been given her first assignment. Miss Sorina will play a featured role in "Private Secretary," we learned yesterday.

Sloman Directs "Skippy"

It looks as though Edward Sloman has thoroughly found himself in the direction of comedies. At any rate, he is making a great success of them for Paramount. Yesterday he was assigned by that organization to direct "Skippy."

Maureen Watkins Remains

Even though the clever young Maureen Watkins, author of the stage success, "Chicago" and of Fox's "Up the River" and "Doctors' Wives," is going back to Chicago to spend Christmas with her relatives, she is going to return. As a reward for her cleverness, Fox yesterday awarded Miss Watkins a new long-term contract.

Claire Windsor Comes Home

Claire Windsor, we learn, is coming home to Hollywood to spend the holidays with her young son. Miss Windsor has spent the last many months in New York, where of late she has been appearing in some independently produced short talkers.

UNIVERSAL'S FILM FUND AUGMENTED

Budget of $18,000,000 for Production in 1931 Announced by Laemmle

A budget of $18,000,000 for the coming 1931-1932 production season which promises to be one of the most prosperous in the history of the company was announced yesterday by Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Pictures Corporation. This exceeds by more than $3,000,000 the sum spent during the current year's program.

"Universal's product for 1930 has been of consistently higher standard than ever before and in 1931 we plan even greater advancement," Laemmle said. "Our huge budget will be expended for the best of story material, the best casts and directors available. A concerted effort will be made to see that every dollar goes into entertainment value.

"The fact that Universal won three of the industry's highest awards, those from the Academy of Motion-Picture Arts and Sciences is an inspiration for future attainment."

While the exact number of pictures to be filmed has not been definitely fixed, Carl Laemmle, Jr., in charge of production, said more will be made than last season. Serials and short subjects will remain virtually the same, although foreign versions will be increased.

Tribute to Be Paid Memory of Louis M. Cole

Highest tribute will be paid the late Louis M. Cole at memorial services at the Hebrew Sheltering Home for the Aged, 3:15 p.m. Sunday. The program is expected to attract a host of civic leaders touching the many phases of Los Angeles life in which Mr. Cole took an active part.

Abraham Mark, president of the sheltering home, will deliver the introductory address. Judge Hollzer will introduce Marco R. Newmark, the chairman. There will be addresses by Rabbi S. M. Neches, Joseph Scott, William Rhodes Hervey and Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin.

Mr. Cole was a member of the advisory board of the sheltering home, a past president and director of the Chamber of Commerce and the Produce Exchange, a founder and director of the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations, a worker in the Red Cross and many others.

Los Feliz Plea on Zone Denied

Permission to continue for two more years a real estate office at Los Feliz Boulevard and Lowry Road temporarily was denied the Acceptance Corporation yesterday by the City Council. The action was upon first reading of the ordinance, which will come up for final action next Thursday.

On Monday the Council refused an application for a permanent spot zoning for business on Los Feliz and since that time has indicated its intention of removing even temporary business structures.

TWO PREMIERES ARE ENJOYED

Philharmonic Presents Novel Handel Arrangement

Concert Also Offers Unique Operatic Excerpt

Marvine Maazel Soloist in Piano Concerto

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The classical and the romantic held the primary place on the program of the Philharmonic Orchestra last evening. The concert was interesting and also had attractions of novelty. Two of the works were new here, while a third, the symphony, received its first performance by the Philharmonic organization. The soloist was Marvine Maazel, who played the familiar Tschaikowsky Concerto No. 1 in B flat minor for piano.

Dr. Arthur Rodzinski secured a most favorable impression early with his rendition of "Water Music" by Handel in the arrangement made by Sir Hamilton Harty. Beautiful especially in this six-part orchestral suite were the more subdued excerpts including notably the Air and the Andante. These portions of the work have a very poetic quality, contrasted with the opening Allegro and the Allegro deciso and other shorter episodes which were given with robust emphasis by the conductor.

N As a decidedly new feature, the Polka and Fugue from the opera "Schwanda," by Weinberger was offered. The opera itself had its premier scarcely a year ago, and the Polka and Fugue were only heard in this country for the first time a few months past at a New York Philharmonic Symphony Society concert.

A descendant, so to say of the school of Smetana and also Dvorak, Weinberger goes beyond them in the modreness of his orchestration, while preserving a sort of folk spirit is fundamentally in the operatic selection. The color and the sweeping animation of the composition held distinct fascination. It is the sort of bright modern work that is bound to gain the applause.

Maazel's presentation of the Tschaikowsky concerto was rewarded with a hearty response of applause, which was well deserved particularly for his playing of the Andante and final Allegro movements. Here the soloist's technique and tone were outshining, especially by comparison with the opening section, where the desireable effect of clarity did not at all points appear achieved. The orchestra occasionally overshadowe dthe soloist in this portoin of the work, though at times a more sharply defined piano rendition would, perhaps, have avoided this. Maazel exemplified a splendid brilliance in the closing section of the concerto, and his rippling tones in the rapid interlude is the andante were a delight. He evidenced marked cleverness in both these sections of the work.

Schumann's Symphony No. 4 in D minor was played for the first time by the orchestra—frequently beautiful if obliquely constructed work. The printed program incorrectly stated the movements (outside of the program notes,) the Ziemlich Langsam—Lebhaft really coming first, followed by Romanze, Scherzo and Finale. The perfect symphony balance is not attainew in the Schumann creation, but its romantic flights compensate. The rendition in most respects was a satisfying one.

'Perfect Fool' Performs on Silver Sheet

Low comedy (without a glance backward) climbs to the eminence of high comedy this week at the Paramount, where Ed Wynn, "the perfect fool," may be seen in a game called "Follow the Leader." Mr. Wynn has an idiotic laugh, jumpy hands, an imbecilic expression, a stubbornly literal mind, a straw hat without a rim, tortoise-shell glasses and the funniest line since Joe Cook's in "Rain or Shine." Mr. Wynn heads a program which includes a stage show overflowing with headliners, among them the Rhythm Boys (at matinees only,) the fascinating Myra Kinch in an interpretation of "The Peanut Vendor," Mitzi Green in imitations, "Senator" Murphy, the Samuels boys, Bernice Stone and the Albertina Rasch Dancers.

An idea of what the perfect Mr. Wynn talks about may be gathered from a colloquy which he holds with an excited Frenchman. Mr. Wynn is telling the gentleman that he (Mr. Wynn) is a talented singer who would be an asset to any troupe. Twice he starts to explain that he can sing "Marseillaise—" and twice the Frenchman interrupts him to ecstatically burst into his own national anthem. It is only after the exercise of much patience that Mr. Wynn is allowed to complete the description of what he can sing, the number being, it seems, something in English entitled "Marseillaise in the Cold, Cold Ground."

When he is not talking, which is infrequently, Mr. Wynn is inventing. Particularly remarkable is a burglar-proof lock so constructed that, when touched by human hands, it emits the tinkling but unmistakable strains of "The Star-Spangled Banner," Mr. Wynn's own national anthem. The usefulness of the device becomes immediately apparent. Upon hearing the music the burglar will rise to his feet, stand at attention and lay himself open to capture from all sides.

In this film version of "Manhattan Mary," which contains bits from all Mr. Wynn's successes, and was directed by Norman Taurog, appear also Dialect Comedian Lou Holtz, blues-singing Ethel Merman, Ginger Rogers, Stanley Smith and Bobby Watson. Occasionally, as in the night club scene, the humor grows a bit strained, but for the most part "Follow the Leader" is capital nonsense.

COLORFUL CAREER NOTED

John Robertson, motion-picture director, who recently completed "Madonna of the Streets," starring Evelyn Brent at Columbia, had a colorful career on the stage before he became interested in films. He was leading man to Maude Adams at one time, touring the country with her. His first job in pictures was that of an actor in a Vitagraph production made at the Brooklyn studio.

Comedian Plays "Elmer the Great"

Joe E. Brown

Who has been devoting his time to films of late will enact the leading role in the Ring Lardner stage farce which starts Sunday matinee at El Capitan Theater.

"RIVER'S END" DUE TODAY

A gripping story of the great Northwest by James Oliver Curwood, "River's End," starts today at both Warner Brothers Hollywood and Downtown Theaters.

Charles Bickford and Evalyn Knapp share honors in the leading parts, the former playing a dual role for the first time in his career. "River's End" starts with a man hunt which ends almost in the shadow of the north pole. The plot races to a logical but dramatic conclusion, it is said entangling the central characters in a web of circumstances that they are powerless to break.

Michael Curtiz directed "River's End." The cast supporting includes J. Farrell McDonald and Leon Janney.

ROMANTIC STORY TOLD AT LOEW'S

Maureen O'Sullivan and Farrell Cofeatured in "Princess and Plumber"

BY WHITNEY WILLIAMS

Calculated to strike a vibrant chord with holiday audiences—particularly feminine spectators—"The Princess and the Plumber" is a charming bit of story weaving, with portrayals quite in keeping with the spirit of the plot. The picture, produced by William Fox and costarring Maureen O'Sullivan and Charles Farrell, opened yesterday to a responsive house at Loew's State Theater, and enchanting with a quality few films have possessed in recent months.

The story centers about a lonely—but not too lonely—little princess, played by Miss O'Sullivan, in the mythical principality of Daritzia, and her love for an American, Farrell, whom first she believes is a duke and later a plumber. In her character, the Irish girl who made her screen debut in "Song o' My Heart," charms in a manner that should make her one of the most sought-after leading ladies, and her interpretation of the princess meets with all the requisites of acting. Feeling and restraint both are endowed in her performance, and the role is made all the more delightful by the slight brogue that occasionally creeps into her voice. Certainly Miss O'Sullivan's portrayal will be remembered for its winsome appeal.

Farrell, too, enjoys an excellent role as the American plumbing engineer who eventually weds the princess by order of her father, the prince. An amusing mix-up in identity—the prince's mistake—leads to this marriage and a happily romantic ending. Farrell's part is light, demanding no great amount of histrionic ability, and may be listed as one of his most pleasing portrayals.

A story book treatment has been accorded the picture, whose plot was taken from the magazine story by Alice Duer Miller. Alexander Korda, in directing, evidently kept in mind that lightness was essential to such a production. One of those imaginary romantic tales results, and "The Princess and the Plumber" seems assured of unusual popular success. Enthusiasm greeted its unreeling yesterday, an enthusiasm that would warm the heart of any producer.

Prominent in the supporting cast are Joseph Cawthorn, whose offices in the tiny principality include that of burgomaster, postmaster, band leader, plumber, captain of the hounds, undertaker, chief of police, to mention but a few; Bert Roach, H. B. Warner and Louise Closser Hale. Arnold Lucy, Lucien Prival and Murray Kinnell appear in minor roles. The cast is uniformly good, with Miss O'Sullivan and Cawthorn outstanding. The picture belongs, however, to the actress, who, it is to be hoped, will be teamed with Farrell again.

Laurel and Hardy provide a multitude of laughs—in their comedy, "Another Fine Mess," which well deserves its title. Moments of riotous hilarity resulted from some of their scenes, and Thelma Todd gladdened the eye with her presence.

On the stage, Fanchon and Marco's "Icy Hot" idea shared honors with the Meglin Kiddies.

GLENN TRYON SIGNED

Glenn Tryon, who started in pictures as a comedian for Hal Roach, is about to portray again the sort of thing he likes best, namely slapstick comedy. He has been signed by Christie productions for a film to start immediately.

POLITE BAD MAN PROVES SAMARITAN

Bandit Chief Saves Day for All Concerned With Film at R.-K.-O.

BY JOHN SCOTT

El Capitan Thunder, one of Mexico's most polite bandidos, proved yesterday that he was made of the right stuff. Capt. Thunder, in fact, solved a most embarrassing situation very simply—there was a shot off-screen and the hero and heroine were joined in the bonds of matrimony—whereupon patrons of the R.-K.-O. Theater were able to relax for the newsreel.

All this takes place in the current film attraction, "Captain Thunder," which is proffered as entertainment for the current week. The picture, a Warner Brothers production, is hardly meant to be taken seriously. As a matter of fact the comedy of Charles Judels wins first honors, and how this comedian as El Commandante Ruiz, egotistical but very funny, doubles up the audience is a caution, to be sure.

The story of "Captain Thunder" is made to order for a musical comedy. It is light, diverting and always borders on the side of burlesque. There is romance, prettily presented by Fay Wray and Don Alvarado; there is the villain, Victor Varconi, who at the finish reveals his heart of gold, and there is some dancing, spirited Mexican music, and a lot of broken English.

The plot has to do with the bold bandit captain who always keeps promises. This noble attribute causes quite some trouble, for he agrees to help out a pretty senorita after having promised to assist Pete Morgan, the rat, to carry off the same lady by force.

Victor Varconi plays Capt. Thunder with a swagger and an ingratiating smile. His characterization is reminiscent of others, although his performance does not suffer by comparison. Varconi has a pleasant screen personality.

Fay Wray is about the most charming English senorita seen on the screen for some time. Her dark beauty is revealed to fine advantage, although she hasn't much to do. Don Alvarado lends an authentic note as the Mexican lover. Judels speaks for himself in the picture. He is always talking, and his role is overdrawn but exceedingly humorous. Natalie Moorhead appears briefly, and Robert Elliott as Pete Morgan is a fine second villain. Bert Roach, Frank Campeau, Robert Emmett Keane and John Sainpolis play minor roles. Alan Crosland directed from a story by Hal Davitt and Pierre Couderc.

The R.-K.-O. vaudeville includes Ralph Olsen and girls; Jack Major, radio performer, and Jack Norton and Lucille Haley in "highlights from musical comedy." The last named take the honors of the variety bill. There are also a news reel and one of the "Humanette" series.

Two Spanish Films Start Runs Today

For a week beginning today the International California Theater will offer two Spanish film attractions.

One is Paramount's drama, "Toda Una Vida," a Spanish version of Ruth Chatterton's "Sarah and Son," and starring Carmen Larrabeiti. The actress is surrounded by a competent cast of Spanish and Mexican players.

The other picture on this program is Hal Roach's comedy, "Tiembla y Vacila," starring Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

OLIVER MOROSCO, at one time Los Angeles' best-known and most successful producer of hits, is about to stage a comeback.

OLIVER MOROSCO

He is re-entering the production field in this city on Monday, the 29th inst., presenting at the Biltmore Theater, a comedy called "Between the Covers."

Raymond Hatton, one-time side-partner of Wallace Beery in the films, a comic of both stage and screen reputation, will be the star of this piece. A young lady named Monasi Lindley, whom Morosco terms a "new discovery from the East," will be the feminine interest. W. A. Jeffries is the author of the play, a brand-new one.

Morosco produced dramas, new and old, for something like twenty-five years at the old Burbank and Morosco theaters. He is supposed to have dispatched twenty-five successful new plays to Broadway during that time, or one a year.

Among the best known of these are "Peg O' My Heart," "Abie's Irish Rose," "Canary Cottage," "The Brat," "So Long Letty," "Upstairs and Down" and "The Unchastened."

Sid Grauman Chooses Mayan

The Mayan Theater will be the scene of the western premiere of "Once In a Lifetime," comedy of Hollywood, Sid Grauman announced yesterday.

January 26 is the date and Mr. Grauman plans to make the occasion one of the most brilliant in his career. For one thing, the evening will mark his debut as a stage producer; for another, the play is THE hit of New York; and a third and most important reason, is that it is all about Hollywood, and interest runs high in the film colony.

Moss Hart, 23-year-old author of the play, who is paying his first visit to the film colony, will be stage director and will enact the role of Lawrence Vail, that done in New York by George S. Kaufman.

As announced exclusively in this column a week ago, four other important roles will be filled by Roberta Arnold, Charles Lawrence, Marie Nordstrom and Louis Sorin, actors engaged in New York by Sam Harris. The balance of the cast will be found locally.

Grauman said yesterday he plans all sorts of special lighting effects in connection with the opening and he estimates that at least 90 per cent of the first-night audience will be composed of motion-picture celebrities.

THROBBING MELODRAMA UNREELED

'Ex-Flame,' Adapted From 'East Lynne,' Proffered by Orpheum Theater

BY M. B.

A palpitating heart drama called "Ex-Flame" and based on that old-time tempestuous piece, "East Lynne," bowed itself into the Orpheum yesterday accompanied, at least in the final reconciliation scene, by strains of sweet and sad music.

My recollection of "East Lynne" in the original is a little hazy, but I am pretty sure that this present version is a great deal different. It has been much modernized.

For example, it seems in "East Lynne" there was a villain with mustaches, a dastardly, sinister man who pranced up and down the stage and dared all. And the heroine was a sweet little thing who never, even when forced into dire poverty, was guilty of a misstep.

And to the music of many sobs the little child died.

In this new effort called "Ex-Flame" it is all changed. Modern woman comes into her own! There is a lady villainess, in the person of a vampire, instead of a gentleman. The pretty wife, when driven from home, resolves herself into a sort of "Divorcee" person. There are flashes of her with one slick-haired youth on board a trans-Atlantic liner, with another at the bar in Agua Caliente, with still others in Vienna and on the Riviera. And the little baby does not die. Instead he slaps his hands in the final dramatic scene—and exclaims in sweet, childish tones, "Mumsy and poppa are together again! Goody! Goody!" or similar words.

By all of which you may glean that "Ex-Flame" is pretty awful. If you can steel yourself to see it all, note the performance of Norman Kerry as the friend who stands by. His work is about as sincere a bit as seen in the film. Neil Hamilton, Marian Nixon and Judith Barrie have the other principal roles. Snub Pollard is seen briefly in a hiccoughing comedy scene and again batting tennis balls with a silver tray. Oh, yes, there are some merry moments from Louis Armstrong and his jazz band.

The program of accompanying shorts includes one by Karl Dane and George K. Arthur—"Knights Before Christmas"—a Grantland Rice sportlight, "Self Defense," a short with Benny Rubin and a cartoon or two.

"Lady of Lake" Screened Today

A film transcription of Sir Walter Scott's classical poem, "The Lady of the Lake," opens tonight at the Filmarte Theater. James A. Fitzpatrick is responsible for the adaptation and direction.

The picture was filmed in Scotland in the locale chosen by Scott as the background for his poem. While synchronized, "The Lady of the Lake" has no dialogue.

MISSING EDITOR FEARED SUICIDE

Alhambran Sends Death Notes to Papers

Former Magazine Head Had Financial Troubles

Emil Elsner Was Olympic Good-Will Envoy

Fear was expressed last night by friends of Emil Elsner, former editor of the Southern California Pilot, of Alhambra, that he had killed himself following the receipt of what were apparently suicide notes by The Times and the Post-Advocate of Alhambra, yesterday.

Elsner was last seen at Alhambra Wednesday evening when he talked with Plym Davis, secretary of the Alhambra Chamber of Commerce. The note, making a request for disposal of his effects and bidding farewell to his friends and to "glorious California," was delivered to The Times some time yesterday morning, apparently being left by Elsner himself.

NO TRACE FOUND

No trace of Elsner has been found by police. Addresses at the Springfield home at 5222 South Main street, left as his forwarding address when he moved from Alhambra a few days ago, brought out the fact that he had not lived there for some time and that they knew nothing of his whereabouts.

Elsner recently returned from a trip to Germany, where he was appointed as German representative to the Olympic Games, to be held here in 1932. His trip was in the nature of a good-will tour. His wife remained in Germany. He indicated to friends at Alhambra that he was practically starving and at the end of his financial resources. His magazine was that of an idealist, Alhambra declare, being devoted to peace and good will, especially between Germany and America. He is about 33 years of age.

FAREWELL LETTER

The letter follows:

"My last request: I request that the city of Alhambra defray my funeral expenses. Because of my service to the city of Alhambra, which I have never been paid for, I request that city to pay to Chris Campbell $100 which he advanced me on a note for city purposes. I also request the city of Alhambra to pay that poor woman who runs the Temple Hotel the $12.50 that I owe her for rent. I request that my belongings be sent to Herr Heinrick Steinbachsen, Goettingen, Germany, K. Geismartsts 9. I request Mr. John B. Miller, Ojai, chairman of the Edison Company, to do something for Mrs. M. Elsner, as she is in financial distress.

"I request that Rev. Keck, Alhambra Lutheran minister, attend my funeral and that the city officials of Alhambra follow my coffin to the grave. I was their good-will representative while in Germany recently. I herewith appoint Mr. Clayton Ward, editor of the Alhambra Post-Advocate, as the executor of these matters as soon as my death has been established.

"I have made out this request in duplicate, one for Mr. Ward and one for the editor of the Los Angeles Times.

"Good-by to all my friends and glorious California.

(Signed)

"EMIL ELSNER."

WIFE'S PLEA FOR GAYER LIFE WINS

Court Rules Husband Must Provide More Than Just Home and Food

Handsome young wives fresh from the theatrical life of New York must not be compelled to lead a life ungarnished by the amenities of civilization, Superior Judge Valentine decided yesterday when he ordered Carl Leo Pierson, film editor, to pay his wife, Minerva Jane Pierson, $115 a month alimony, following granting of her divorce on grounds of cruelty and nonsupport.

And although the plaintiff bears the classic name of Minerva, and her last theatrical part was that of Priscilla Brewster in "Springtime," her complaint that she was not taken to the gay eating-places and football games found favor in the ears of the court.

"All he gave me was a home and food," said Mrs. Pierson, replying to questions of her attorney, Bingham Gray.

"This may not be nonsupport, but it certainly is a form of neglect," commented the court, as he gave Mrs. Pierson a divorce and custody of her 5-year-old child Grace.

JURIST GOES TO PREPARE COURT FIGHT

Judge Fleming Will Plan Campaign for Additions to County Bench

Superior Judge Fleming, newly elected presiding judge of the Superior Court, left last night for San Francisco and Sacramento to lay the foundations for the legislative campaign to be waged in the Legislature next month for more Los Angeles judges.

Other judicial legislation will be sought, according to Judge Fleming, but the complete program has not been arranged. R. W. Kenny, deputy county counsel, in charge of county affairs at Sacramento, is preparing several bills affecting local courts, one for the consolidation of county justice courts into a single circuit court.

"We need at least twelve new courts in Los Angeles county to keep up with the new business being forced on us," the judge said. "If we can't get that many, any increase will be welcome."

NEWS OF THE CAFES

With a number of Hollywood motion-picture celebrities and civic personages in attendance, the newest addition to the Hollywood rialto, Al Levy's Tavern, at 1627 North Vine street, adjacent to the Vine Street Theater, was opened Wednesday with appropriate first-night ceremonies. Built in replica of an old English inn by Morgan, Walls and Clemens, architects, and decorated by Jack Schulze, studio art director and designer, the tavern represents an investment of more than $100,000 and is said to be one of the most modern restaurants of the West. Starting today, it is announced, a standing invitation will be issued to the public to inspect its kitchens as an exemplary department, at any and all times.

YULE PLANS MADE

The holiday season will be given due celebration at the Roosevelt in the Blossom Room, where Hale (Pee Wee) Byers and the Roosevelt Orchestra are heard playing their melodious dance rhythms every night. Under Byers's direction the Roosevelt musical group has already started rehearsal for the gala New Year's Eve celebration which will welcome 1931 to the Blossom Room. Featured at this event will be a headline program; distribution of souvenirs to guests and presentation of two beautiful surprises to feminine winners of a special contest, in addition to other attractions. Christmas at the Roosevelt is to be distinguished by the serving of a de luxe dinner in the Blossom Room and Coffee Shop. Early reservations with the maitre d'hotel are urged as a capacity attendance for both Christmas and New Year's is indicated, it is declared.

RUSSIANS ENTERTAINED

Nicholas Kretchmar, recently host at a dinner party at Blum's Hungarian Cafe in the Wilshire-La Brea district, is reported as not being connected with a foreign government as previously stated. Mr. Kretchmar, who is connected with a local engineering corporation in the export department, was host to a notable group representing the Russian soviet government sent to this country to investigate mining efficiencies.

CAFE IN HOLIDAY DRESS

A number of prominent folk of Hollywood and Los Angeles are making reservations for the Christmas dinner the Hollywood Plaza Pig'n Whistle will serve. This popular cafe is already in its yuletide dress of red and green. Frank Averill expects to play the host to well-filled tables, as he has done at Christmas for the last two years. Especial choral music has been arranged and a genial time is promised.

LATE DANCING OFFERED

Dancing till 2 a.m. will be observed during the holiday festivities on four nights at Solomon's Penny Dance de Luxe, according to Fred H. Solomon. The late celebrations will take place on Christmas Eve, Christmas night, New Year's Eve and New Year's night. Tom Moore and his orchestra, famous for its doubling soloists, are arranging special holiday music for the occasions, and the decorative scheme already in vogue at Solomon's is highly suggestive of the yuletide spirit. In addition, Thursday nights excepting those which happen on holidays, are dedicated to prize dancing contests, alternating between the modern fox trot and the old-fashioned waltz.

APPEAL BY WIDOW OF ACTOR FILED

Mrs. Roberts Takes Suit for Alimony After Death to Higher Court

Contending that alimony payments should continue after the husband's death, Lucy C. Roberts, widow of Theodore Roberts, motion-picture actor, yesterday filed the opening brief with the Appellate Court from a Superior Court judgment in favor of Edward Robert Higgins, executor of Roberts's last will.

The Robertses were married July 13, 1890, and Mrs. Roberts obtained a final divorce decree on the ground of failure to provide and desertion on October 8, 1917. Roberts was first ordered to pay his wife $75 a month. On October 10, 1919, the court ordered the actor to pay $100 a month as alimony.

Roberts died December 14, 1928. On February 20, 1929, Mrs. Roberts presented a claim against the estate, demanding alimony installments due January 1, 1929, and February 1, of that year, along with all sums thereafter to become due under the court orders and the decrees in the divorce proceeding. Action was launched in the Superior Court on April 2, 1929, after the claims had been rejected, and the lower court sustained a demurrer filed by Higgins.

Paul L. Rolston, of Pacht, Pelton & Warne, prepared the appellant's brief.

Mrs. Garland Given New Post

Mrs. Dorothy Garland, for two years a complaint deputy, was appointed head of the domestic-relations department of the City Prosecutor's office yesterday by City Prosecutor Johnson.

Mrs. Garland, a graduate of the University of Southern California school of law, has been employed by the city since being licensed to practice. She succeeds Mrs. Amelia Johnson, for seven years head of the domestic-relations repartment, whose dismissal was announced by Johnson last week.

VENICE FIELD'S OIL PRICED UP

Standard and Union Post Buying Schedules

Boggs Says Curtailment Must Be Observed

Chairman Points to Crisis of Petroleum Industry

The Union Oil Company has followed the lead set by the Standard Oil Company in establishing a price for crude produced from the Venice oil field and late yesterday posted a price schedule identical with that released yesterday morning by Standard. Venice operators now will derive benefits from increased crude prices that originally were from 35 to 65 cents a barrel, as against 74 to 90 cents a barrel at present.

Paul N. Boggs, Union official, stated that in no case will the company purchase oil at the new prices from any operator at Venice, whose daily production is in excess of the current allowable production as fixed by the general committee on Statewide oil curtailment. This move by Union, is expected to be followed by other purchasing companies and will undoubtedly bring about greater curtailment than the field has experienced heretofore.

Reduction by the end of this week of the State's crude oil production from 600,000 barrels a day to 500,000 barrels, set as the maximum output by the General Oil Conservation Committee at its meeting Wednes- was declared imperative by Chairman Boggs.

Mr. Boggs's statement was made in connection with the announcement of the posting of the first scheduled price list for crude oil in the Playa Dey Rey field by Standard yesterday morning, which is considerably higher than many operators looked for. Until the Standard Oil Company posted prices for the field no official prices had been established.

All inquiries in the matter made at the local offices of the Shell Oil Company were referred to officials in San Francisco.

Mr. Boggs stated that oil operators cannot expect the purchasing companies to continue a higher price level unless steps are taken at once to curb the field's output to the figure called for in bringing the total production of the State to 500,000 barrels. The field at the present time has a daily production of 46,000 barrels, most of which is from town-lot wells drilled by small producers and syndicates.

CRITICAL PERIOD

"Never has there been a more critical time in our curtailment program than at the moment," declared Mr. Boggs. "It is imperative that we accomplish the 500,000-barrel curtailment by the close of this week. While this reduction may seem to the operators rather severe we must all realize we are especially fortunate in California to have been able to maintain the present crude oil prices to the producers in view of the high ratio of production which has existed during recent months. As compared to any other oil producing State we have fared much better.

"We have been working under more or less of a curtailment agreement since last March, but have never reached the actual curtailment figure established by the fact-finding committee and the special committee of eleven, whose figures are predicated on bringing the industry to an economic balance by the close of 1930.

"It is to be hoped that every one of the operators will do his part to the end of making this present curtailment a success. This achievement means as much to the community in which we live, and the prosperity of the entire Pacific Coast, as it does to the industry itself."

Contestants in Whitworth Will Case Lose Plea

Far from establishing the contrary, evidence introduced by contestants of the will of Arthur Whitworth affirmed the legal testamentary capacity of the deceased, according to a decision handed down yesterday by Division One, District Court of Appeal, in the appeal of Robert G. Whitworth, Alfred H. Whitworth and Joseph William Whitworth from a Superior Court judgment of nonsuit in a proceeding by which the probate of the will was contested. Justice Houser wrote the opinion.

Whitworth left the contestants $5 each and bequeathed the rest of his estate, consisting of two houses and lots, three vacant lots and a one-third interest in a chicken ranch, to M. J. and Bessie Olivas.

Presiding Justice Conrey and Justice York concurred in the decision.

SIGNAL PLEA SUBMITTED

The City Council yesterday sent to the Police Commission and to the Traffic and Street Lighting Committee the request of the Boothe Company that traffic signals be installed at the intersection of Fourteenth and Alameda streets.

PAULINE FREDERICKS'S MARRIAGE ANNULLED

Hugh C. Leighton, wealthy hotel man, ill in bed in a luxurious apartment at the Beverly-Wilshire Hotel, told Superior Judge Doran a tale of feminine caprice yesterday that won him an annulment of his marriage to his actress wife, Pauline Frederick Leighton.

Miss Frederick, wife who has been divorced three times previously, was not impressed by the novelty of the proceedings, and remained at Portland, Or., where she has a stage engagement, allowing the divorce to be defaulted.

Judge Doran, with Attorney Benjamin F. Bledsoe, a bailiff and a clerk opened a session of the Superior Court for the first time in Beverly Hills, according to the records. A physician had testified that the plaintiff was unable to come to the Courthouse.

"She treated me like a butler," murmured Leighton, after propping his right hand on a pillow while he took the oath.

"We met in New York the first of last year. We were married April 20, 1929. Until we were married my wife treated me like any engaged woman might treat her fiance, but after the ceremony she brought a woman friend to our apartment, and the woman friend, a Mrs. Jibb, retired to our bedroom, and I slept in the spare room.

"When we came to California my wife made me stay out in the aisle of the sleeping car while she disrobed, and in the morning I had to dress and get out before she would get up. When we moved to our home, 503 Sunset Boulevard, Beverly Hills, she acted the same way. Finally she went away on a theatrical tour, and I haven't seen her since."

According to Attorney Bledsoe, Leighton has given Miss Frederick about $1000 a month since they were married.

CORONER LISTS RECORD MONTH

November Busiest Thirty-Day Period Yet

Office Handled 427 Cases, With 345 Autopsies

Traffic Fatalities Total Reaches Seventy-nine

Marking the busiest thirty-day period in the history of the Coroner's office, the regular report of Coroner Nance for November, made public yesterday, showed that his office handled 427 cases, performed 345 autopsies, conducted 102 inquests and eighty-two investigations and made thirty-eight chemical analyses.

Of the total, 279 deaths occurred in the city of Los Angeles and 148 in county territory outside the city. Of the 427 deaths, 292 were males and 135 were females.

Traffic fatalities, including four deaths involving steam railways, numbered seventy-nine, of which fifty-four were in the city and twenty-nine in other county territory. Mishaps involving automobiles and pedestrians accounted for forty-two deaths, the most of any one classification. Crossing the street carelessly and not at intersections were given as the two outstanding causes, twenty-five persons coming to their deaths in this manner.

There were fifty-four suicides with thirty-two in the city and twenty-two in other county territory. Of this number, thirty-nine were men and fifteen were women. Total homicides were thirteen, industrial accidents numbered fifteen and twenty deaths were attributed to alcoholism, the greatest for any one month, according to records.

FEARS QUIETED BY COURT

Charles Roamer, grandfather of David Alpert, 3 years of age, tried hard yesterday to prevent his daughter, Mrs. Helen Alpert, from obtaining an annulment of her marriage to George Alpert, on the ground that she married before she became of age.

"Little David—no mamma, no papa, no name, even," wailed Roamer, as he interrupted his daughter's testimony before Superior Judge Fleming. "I give him everything I have—just yesterday $10,000. I give my daughter my blessing. Please, Mr. Judge!"

The court informed Roamer that if Mrs. Alpert insisted on her marital freedom the law would give it to her.

"But why don't you adopt the boy?" suggested the judge. "Then he can have everything you have. He still has his name, you know."

The grandfather smiled. And when he left the courtroom little David was in his arms.

JAPANESE PAIR PLEAD NOT GUILTY IN KILLING

Umokiki Tanaka and Frank Nakano, Japanese produce merchants, yesterday pleaded not guilty to a charge of murdering Luz Mata, wealthy rancher from Thermal, when they were brought before Superior Judge Wood. Judge Wood set their trial for February 2, next, in Superior Judge Schauer's court. It is charged that the two defendants beat Mata to death intending to rob him of $1400 in cash which he carried on his person.

GAS-TAX AID BID BY CITY ADVOCATED

Council Committee Urges Plea for $254,000 From County for Street Work

Allocation of $254,000 toward the maintenance of city streets from the county's share of the State gasoline tax is recommended in a report of the Finance Committee which will be submitted to the City Council this morning.

The Board of Public Works and the County Affairs Committee, in the report, are asked to open negotiations with the Board of Supervisors, which controls this fund.

The Board of Public Works recently requested the City Council to make available $180,000 to the Bureau of Engineering in excess of present budget allowances in order to pay full wages to the present personnel.

According to the report the sum of $254,000 will enable the Council to see the City Engineer's forces through the remainder of the fiscal year and permit the continued operation of the city's rock, gravel and mixing plants.

A third of the State's gasoline tax is allocated to the counties on the basis of their automobile registration and, although the city of Los Angeles has registered about 60 per cent of the county's cars, the city is allotted only such portions of this great fund as the Board of Supervisors sees fit to give.

FIGHT OVER DEATH CASE JURY ENDS

Seven Women and Five Men to Try Suspects in Horton Murder

Ending five days of legal bickering over selection of a jury to hear the trial of Lloyd Dye and Gordon Gauss, charged with the murder of Wade Albert Horton, defense and prosecution attorneys yesterday agreed upon seven women and five men who will hear the evidence in the case.

After everyone concerned had agreed upon the choice of jurors Judge Fricke adjourned the case until Monday at 10 a.m. when the trial will be started.

Dye and Gauss, each of whom is 22 years of age, are charged with shooting Horton to death in his Mint Canyon home May 18, last, while attempting to rob him and his 22-year-old brother, George.

CONTRACT MOVE STUDIED

The City Council yesterday referred to its Water and Power Committee for consideration a resolution recently adopted by the Board of Water and Power Commissioners authorizing a contract under which the firm of Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery will make a survey of the department's capital setup, as agreed to by members of the board and the Council.

Decision Outgrowth of Zuma Canyon Deer Hunt

Safety of Pleasure Seekers Guarded by Ruling

Shooting a long-range rifle in a county preserve frequented by recreationists is a menace which can be prohibited by law, Superior Judge McLucas held yesterday in dissolving a temporary writ of habeas corpus sued out by Dr. Robert C. Eshelman, Santa Monica dentist. The latter had sought by habeas corpus to evade a sentence of $25 fine or five days in jail imposed by John L. Webster, justice of the peace of Malibu township, on conviction of violating Sec 1269, new series, county ordinances. This law prohibits discharge of a fire arm with a range of half-mile or more in county territory.

Eshelman admitted shooting a buck in Zuma Canyon in the Santa Monica Mountains. Asserting the region is uninhabited, he attacked the constitutionality of the ordinance. Judge McLucas delivered the following opinion:

POPULATION CITED

"Judicial notice may be taken of the fact that Los Angeles county has a population in excess of 2,000,000. Such a large population requires a large area for recreation. Los Angeles county in many parts has become a vast playground of the people. In any territory where people and domestic animals are present, the discharge of firearms having a range of one-half mile or more is a constant menace to life and safety.

"The regulation of firearms is a proper exercise of police power. If the mere possession of certain firearms by certain classes of persons may be prohibited for the protection of the public, certainly the discharge thereof may be regulated . . . or prohibited.

COURT HELD ON SITE

"If property rights must yield to safety regulations, then surely pleasure privileges must yield for the protection of life."

When the petition came up last month Judge McLucas held court on the site in Zuma Canyon. Deputy County Counsels Prichard and McFadden opposed the writ, while Attorney Roy A. Linn represented Eshelman.

FILIPINOS PLANNING EXCLUSION PROTEST

Proposed two-year exclusion of Filipinos will be protested in resolutions to be adopted at the fourth national convention of the Filipino Federation of America opening here next Tuesday, according to Dr. Hilario Camino Moncado, president.

The convention is expected to bring to Los Angeles more than 15,000 Filipinos from all parts of the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and the Philippines, it is stated

The metropolitan area, in- the beach cities, Pasadena and other adjacent communities, is the center in which you may rub with the great and famous. Not only do more famous actors live here than live in any other comparable area, but all sorts of other famous people. Where else can you find a scientific school presided over by a Millikan, an intellectual atmosphere which brings Michelson and Einstein to us? Where else can you find such a live and growing interest in fine music that Tito Schipa finds the atmosphere he prefers, and has made his permanent home here? Where else do you find such a mingling of companionship and health-giving sunshine that Don Marquis, for years the idol of New York, has been captivated and become one of ours? And Ignace Jan Paderewski has visited every corner of the civilized globe, yet it was in one of our cities he found the waters which gave him back to the world of art after his fingers had stiffened so that he could not play effectively, and he showed his gratitude by buying a beautiful estate near Paso Robles, in easy reach of those waters, which he still owns and visits as often as he can.

THE DESERT HABIT

It is to regain health, as well as to enjoy exceptional diversity of entertainment, that thousands of people annually visit Southern California. What Paso Robles did for Paderewski Arrowhead Springs, the springs around and in Lake Elsinore, those at San Jacinto, Corona, Beaumont, Murrietta, Cornell and Warners have done for many others. Visiting whatever one of those resorts best suits their particular needs is the secret of the amazing hold many thousands of people have on youth and vitality. Once a year they combine a vacation with a thorough "boiling out," and if their sins are not washed away the effects of a good many of their sins are.

Other thousands of annual visitors have the desert habit. There

Date Set for Luxury Cruise

The 1931 luxury cruise to the Mediterranean, Palestine and Egypt by the S.S. Rotterdam of the Holland-America Line, will sail from New York February 5.

To the itinerary that met with enthusiastic approval last winter has been added the historic Isle of Rhodes, Messina, Taormina, in Sicily, and a Sunday excursion to Rome, all with no additional expense. Madeira, Spain, Gibraltar, Algiers, Tunis, Malta, Athens, Constantinople and Palestine will be visited, with a twelve-day excursion to Jerusalem and the Holy Land and Egypt, then across to Cattaro and Ragusa on the Adriatic; Venice, Rome, Naples, followed by Monte Carlo and Nice on the French Riviera.

WINTER SHOWS LAKE GLORY

A glittering mile-high sheet of water set like a perfect jewel amid a magnificent evergreen forest, Lake Arrowhead is never more lovely than when the hand of winter lays a carpet of white beneath the pine trees and their branches bend with the weight of snow and ice.

Less than three hours distant from Los Angeles, this San Bernardino Mountain playground is literally in another world. A paved high-gear boulevard takes one quickly from the sunshine and orange groves of the valley into this region of crisp invigorating atmosphere where the winter season brings ice and snowdrifts for the delight of visitors. The thrills of an open fireplace fragrant with the odor of burning logs, of frolics in knee-deep snow, or of renewing old-time acquaintance with ice skates, are real ones to the habitue of Southern California's sunshine.

The winter sports program at Lake Arrowhead is an extensive one. A toboggan slide adjoins the village and sleighing, skiing, snowshoeing, skating and numerous other sports are available. Two snow carnivals are planned for this district, one January 10-12, the other February 7-8, at which many famous athletes will be present to compete in the various events.

The choice of accommodations open to the visitor at Lake Arrowhead is almost unlimited, ranging from individual cabins, many with their own fireplaces, to large, comfortable hotels where rooms may be had on both the European and American Plans.

San Diego Has Handy Hosterly

Centrally located in San Diego, the Pickwick Hotel is easily accessible for those arriving by bus, train, or steamship. Those in their own automobiles may drive directly into the garage in the building and take the elevator to their rooms.

The rooms are delightfully furnished, each has private bath and overlooks both bay and ocean. The broadcasting station KGB is located in the building and watching those at the microphone is a popular entertainment for the guests.

Within a radius of a few miles of the Pickwick are located the famous Balboa Park, Point Loma, North Island with its aerial activity, Coronado and Tia Juana.

LAND OF SUNSHINE ALSO OFFERS WINTER SPORTS

Mountains Adjacent to Los Angeles Rival Adirondacks in Scope of Snow Pleasures Afforded

BY JOHN A. OWENS

White-carpeted hillside glistening in the sunlight—smooth mirrors of ice upon which flashing blades ring musically—soft flakes almost obliterating the dark green shapes of the pines in the gathering dusk—these are scenes to bring a thrill to lovers of the outdoors and, moreover, to be enjoyed right here in our own Southern California mountains, once the chill breath of winter has touched the higher slopes. Within a radius of two to four hours' driving over excellent roads one may experience the whole gamut of winter pleasures.

Southern California has so long been known as a land of sunshine and orange groves that it now requires a campaign of education and development in order to show that we have more than one or two attractive features. A plan, under the general supervision of the California State Chamber of Commerce, is now being followed for the second successive year by the various resort owners co-operating with city and county authorities, to complete this last link in the cycle of sports.

SNOW CARNIVALS

Dates have been allotted and programs arranged for the various snow carnivals. Negotiations which will bring a number of world-famous skaters and ski experts to participate in the contests have practically been completed. Events will include ski jumping, cross-country ski and snowshoe races, ice skating and ice hockey. The novice will find amusement in bob-sledding, tobogganing or "ash can alley" slides, and it also is planned to hold a number of competitions restricted to beginners.

Additional snowplows and road crews are available this year and it is promised that the principal roads will be kept open at all times, permitting the motorist to reach the resorts without delay, driving the greatest portion of the route over paved boulevards and putting on chains only as a matter of safety during the last few miles in the snow-covered areas.

The charm of the mountains lies not only in snow and ice, however, as there are many districts in which snow seldom falls and where ice melts with the morning sun which attract their share of visitors. The Santa Monica Mountains, the Ventura Mountains, the San Diego Mountains, and all of the lower ranges supply a temperate playground for nature lovers that varies but a few degrees in summer or winter.

INLAND MOUNTAINS

The Santa Monica and Ventura mountains sweep inland from the coastline northwest of Los Angeles. Their irregular ranges, beginning at the edge of the city, conceal many delightful canyons and sequestered valleys, while the view from the crests of rocky crags and rolling hills on one side and the deep blue of sea with its white shoreline on the other is one long to be remembered.

To the south lie the San Diego Mountains, where many features call to mind early days in California history. Time has passed over this region lightly and there still remain remnants of old Spanish ranchos and the trading posts which marked the stage routes of a more adventurous era.

Nearer at hand the Angeles National Forest, stretching from the semiarid hills of the Ridge Route on the west to the summit of old Baldy on the east, beckons to the pleasure seeker. The Sierra Madre and San Gabriel ranges within the forest are the most accessible of all our mountain areas. Mt. Lowe is reached by the famous trolley trip; good auto roads ascend Mt. Wilson and penetrate the Arroyo Seco, San Gabriel and San Antonio canyons, each a popular recreation center. From these points and many others radiates a network of trails which make this region a paradise for the hiking enthusiast.

BIG PINES PARK

Big Pines County Park, high on the northern slope of Old Baldy and sheltered from the rays of the sun by a spur of the peak, has played a leading part in the development of winter sports in the Southland. Here, only a few years ago, the popularity of the carnival was definitely established and from this basis the present comprehensive program was incited. The park is reached by two good routes, one by way of the desert through Mint Canyon and Palmdale, the other through San Bernardino, Cajon Pass and Lone Pine Canyon.

The San Bernardino Mountains recreational area, comprising that territory contiguous to Arrowhead and Big Bear lakes, as well as the famous Rim of the World and the region about the base of Mt. San Gorgonio in Mill Creek and adjacent canyons, is heavily forested and abounds in scenic beauty.

RIM OF THE WORLD

The thrilling Rim of the World highway which threads its way up Waterman Canyon, skirts near Lake Arrowhead and winds along the crest to Big Bear, giving first a glimpse of green valleys far below and then the sweep of the desert on the other side, is now paved for the entire distance and forms an all-year high-gear route into the heart of the mountains. Other avenues of access into this country are the City Creek road from San Bernardino, the Mill Creek and Yucaipa roads from Redlands, and

DESERT BEAUTY REIGNS IN "GARDEN OF THE SUN"

Palm Springs Becomes More and More Popular as Resort for October-to-May Season

"The Garden of the Sun." Such is the fittingly poetic appellation which annually increasing numbers of visitors are bestowing upon Palm Springs, that picturesque oasis and village under the protecting majesty of Mt. San Jacinto which has come to be regarded as America's most popular desert resort.

"The Garden of the Sun"—because there the health giving solar rays are never known to have been dimmed by fog.

Nestling in the heart of the vast Coachella Valley, Palm Springs is a heaven-sent haven for the weary, to whom it promises a new lease on life. There one may commune with Nature in her most beautiful state, during days that know no winter, and during starlit nights that bring with them the crisp, invigorating air for which the spot is famed.

BEAUTIFUL RETREATS

And all about the village itself are retreats of magnificent scenic investiture. Palm Canyon with its abundance of tropical vegetation, is but a few minutes' drive, as are Murray and Andreas canyons, where rippling brooks never cease their song, and Tahquitz Canyon with its strange formations of rock and its great spray-flecked waterfall. The entrance to Tahquitz Canyon is the scene each year of the world-famous Desert Play.

In another direction, but within a stone's throw of the resort proper, is the Agua Caliente Indian Reservation, abode of the colorful Cahuilla Indians, and site of a hot water spring, the bubbling waters of which have effected countless well-nigh miraculous cures.

MUCH RECREATION

Golf, tennis, plunge-bathing, horseback riding and hiking are all available at Palm Springs to those who care to mix recreation with their rest. And all, whenever indulged in, have the delightful advantage of being in an atmosphere of desert beauty.

The generally accepted season at Palm Springs is from October to May, during which the average temperature at noon is 81 deg. and at night 45 deg. The average humidity is 28 and the rainfall 3.22 inches. Hotels include the Desert Inn, El Mirador, the Oasis and Deep Well Ranch.

To the motorist Palm Springs offers proximity to any number of other points of interest. For instance, within easy reach is Indio, where flourish the only date gardens in America, and Redlands and Riverside with their fragrant orange groves, and Painted Canyon, the steep and vari-colored cliffs of which are a source of never-ending delight to the artist, the Salton Sea, 200 feet below sea level, and Imperial Valley, which grows most of the country's winter supply of vegetables. An overnight trip will link the little oasis with Old Mexico or Los Angeles.

Two routes lead the way into Palm Springs from Los Angeles, and both are paved highways over the entire distance of 115 miles. One is by way of Riverside, Jack Rabbit Trail and Beaumont; the other through Redlands, Reservoir Canyon and Beaumont. Daily motor bus service between the two points is maintained by Pickwick Stages, and the connecting rail point is at Palm Springs station, ten miles distant, on the Southern Pacific and Rock Island lines. All trains are met by stages on request. One may go also by airplane, for Palm Springs is a regular port of call on the Standard Airlines, operating between Los Angeles and Phoenix. Landings are made at the municipal airport.

For sheer desert beauty, Palm Springs is declared to be without a rival. It is truly "The Garden of the Sun."

La Jolla Offers Apartment With Colonial Charm

In La Jolla, the Jewel City of the South, the Colonial Apartment Hotel provides a home for all those who would partake of the joys of this seaside community, whether it be for a day or a year. La Jolla is often spoken of as one of the most charming cities in the world and environment at the Colonial lends appreciation to these charms. The restful and inviting lounge overlooks the blue Pacific with its ever-changing panorama.

The hotel rooms and apartments are comfortable and beautifully appointed, being furnished with the thought of making the time spent indoors as inviting as that spent on the shore or links. Electric refrigeration, private baths, steam heat, and a service which anticipates every desire, are a few of the advantages which make a visit to the Colonial one to be long and pleasantly remembered.

PALMS SENTINELS OF DESERT

Canyon Scene Offered in Contest

Awaiting Flood's Return

The twin palm sentinels of San Jacinto Canyon are the subject of a Los Angeles entry in the Palm Springs photo-essay contest.

AGES ago, when a lake lay where are now wind-swept dunes and the cholla cactus, how life rioted about its rim or curvetted coolly in its lagoons! Of the reeds, the trees, the flying and swimming creatures which abounded at the old volcano's foot, what now remains? In a subterranean spring live sightless fishes; a storm now and then shifts the sands of the Colorado Desert from the petrified fragments of an ancient forest; but in San Jacinto's canyons brave sentinels await the flood's return.

Crowned with green, arresting against dull, rocky walls, Washingtonia palms march down the gorges of the mountain. Amphibians of the desert are they, holding fast where snow-fed streams rush over stony beds to oblivion in the white sands of the valley. For them dawn strides across the ranges in orange and violet, noon is a fierce caress, and evening paints unearthly splendors on the glorified slopes. In the cool night breezes, their rustling fronds can almost touch the low-hung stars.

Palm Springs Desert Contest

Ten Valuable Prizes Offered—Rules and Conditions Explained

A photograph and essay contest calculated to produce outstanding impressions of the desert surrounding this resort has been announced by Palm Springs Associates, an organization dedicated to civic development. It will be open to all excepting professional photographers and writers. Winning contestants are to be awarded cash prizes and week-end visits to Palm Springs hotels.

Rules governing the competition are as follows:

Each photograph must depict a scene in the vicinity of Palm Springs, such as Palm Canyon, Tahquitz Falls, Salton Sea, a growth, rock or sand formation. Pictures of public or commercial buildings are not eligible.

Each photograph must be accompanied by a letter, not exceeding 300 words, in which the amateur photographer describes the scene in simple English prose and explains why it inspired him to photograph it.

Each contestant may submit more than one photograph and essay. Name and address must be written plainly on the back of each picture and at top of essay. No entries will be returned. Contest closes December 27th.

The complete list of prize awards follows:

First prize, $100.00; second prize, $75.00; third prize, $50.00; fourth prize, $25.00; fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth prizes, a free week-end at the famous Palm Springs Hotel for two persons.

All entries are to be addressed to B. W. Hunter, Palm Springs Desert Contest, Palm Springs, California.

GAY CORONADO FETE PLANNED

Agua Caliente Also to Have Yuletide Festivities

Winter Race Meet Will Be Formally Opened

Christmas Day to Be Ushered in by Chorus Carols

The holiday fortnight program of sports, festivities and special entertainment attraction for Coronado Beach visitors gives promises of a busy period of gayety within and around the fashionable Hotel del Coronado and at Agua Caliente a short auto jaunt from the Southland resort. The outstanding events of interest to pleasure-seekers will be the formal opening of the winter race meet below the border and the Coronado New Year's Eve party. The latter will be complimentary to hotel guests of two days' sojourn or longer.

Briefly outlined the holiday activities include formal inauguration of talking movies and candlelight supper Christmas Eve at Hotel del Coronado. The big open-air Christmas tree on hotel lawn will be illuminated with over 1000 varicolored lights each evening and individual Christmas trees are to be placed in guest rooms or suites upon request.

Christmas Day will be ushered in with the singing of carols by a chorus in the patio, rotunda and halls of each floor. After breakfast, golf, swimming, aquaplaning, boating, horseback riding and other diversions will precede the main event of the day, the opening of winter races at Agua Caliente. On the return of the Coronado colony of racegoers Christmas dinner will be served from 6:30 to 8 o'clock followed by a special concert in the rotunda. From Friday, the 26th inst. to Tuesday, the 30th inst. there will be a continual round of favored sports at Coronado, race matinees at border track and evening entertainment functions at the hotel. The Silver Grill will open for the winter season the night of the 27th inst. with dancing from 7:30 until midnight.

The New Year's Eve celebration in the Casino and Silver Grill has been planned on a more elaborate scale than any similar affairs of previous decades. The festive occasion at which hotel visitors of two days' sojourn or more are to be guests of the management will be launched with dancing at 10:30. Supper de luxe served beginning at 11 with cabaret entertainment and appropriate favors for all present. Dancing and other features in connection with a joyous welcome to the New Year will continue until dawn.

Cottages Near Sea at La Jolla

The Blue Sea Cottages are located on the finest beach in La Jolla, known as the supreme resort community. There are thirty cottages of one, two and three room and each individual unit is fully equipped for light housekeeping. The charges include electricity, gas, water and hot and cold baths and showers. Sports are available within a short radius, the principal ones being swimming, hiking, golf, tennis and fishing.

The cottages are centrally situated in La Jolla and are but a short drive from many scenic and interesting points such as Point Loma, Torrey Pines, Balboa Park, Coronado and Agua Caliente.

CHRISTMAS DIFFERENT IN DESERT

Swimming Under Warm Sun Suggested

Hotel Del Tahquitz Plunge at Palm Springs

A REFRESHING swim before dinner Christmas Eve under the very branches of a gift-laden Christmas tree or an early Christmas morning dip under the warm desert sun and under a matchless desert sky is possible at Palm Springs at the Del Tahquitz Hotel. In the center of the Hopi Indian style patio is a pool with heated water.

Christmas morning in the desert means bathing suits, sun tanned bodies in smart sports wear riding clothes and above all, a healthier appetite superinduced by the fresh warm air.

The Del Tahquitz Hotel at Palm Springs is said to be different from any other hotel and a special dinner and other entertainment features will make this Christmas one long to remember.

Inn Nestles in Orange Groves

Sixty miles from Los Angeles in the beautiful city of Redlands among the orange groves, the Wissahickon Inn is a quiet and restful retreat in which to escape the roar of the city or an attractive headquarters from which to seek the charms of Southern California.

The Wissahickon Inn is a family hotel whose reputation is founded on years of friendliness, cheerful service, and an excellent and bountiful table. Guests may be accommodated in rooms in the main building, having steam heat and private baths, or in cozy cottages adjacent.

BEAUTIES OF LAGUNA UNMARRED

Cottage City Near Beach Offers Comfortable and Friendly Accommodations

Beautiful Laguna Beach, long famous as a gathering place for artists, and now known as an unsurpassed resort community, still retains much of its picturesque character. Laguna is growing up, but the City Fathers refuse to allow artificial amusements or beach concessions to mar the natural beauties.

Precipitous cliffs that overhang the roaring surf, long stretches of white sand and tiny bathing coves each protected by rocky barriers and boasting its own bathing beach are scenic features which make this seaside resort unique.

The Cottage City, presided over by A. H. Fanning, offers comfortable accommodations and friendly atmosphere for the guest. This group of bungalows is centrally located and is only a stone's throw from the water's edge. Cottages may be had to accommodate one to six persons and as a special feature gas, electricity, artisian water, linen, showers and the use of the laundry are included in the regular rates, which are very reasonable.

DEL MAR HAS IDEAL BEACH

Water Warm and Free From Dangerous Rip Tides

Hotel Close to Border and to Hunting Grounds

Special Equipment for Children Installed

Winter tourists find Hotel Del Mar at Del Mar, on the Coast highway 109 miles south of Los Angeles and twenty miles north of San Diego, one of the most alluring resorts in San Diego county for a sojourn in Southern California.

The hotel, and its artistic group of six bungalows, overlook the Pacific Ocean and are surrounded by a spacious lawn and myriad of semitropical flower gardens.

On the towering, tree-covered hills around Del Mar are located the homes of those who selected Del Mar from among the world's most ideal locations as a place for their recreation and permanent abode.

ONE HOUR TO BORDER

For visitors to Agua Caliente and Old Mexico, Del Mar is the finest stopping-place on the American side, as it is only an hour's run by motor from Del Mar to the Mexican border.

A climate does not exist that is more equable than that of Del Mar. Summer and winter visitors consider the climate as nearly perfect as possible. There is surprisingly little variation in temperature here between summer and winter or between noon and evening. Spring days are exceptionally balmy. Refreshing ocean breezes make summer days mildly warm and cool in evenings. Winter only means a few refreshing showers, mixed with semitropical sun and is entirely devoid of dreariness.

Perhaps the greatest recreational attraction at Del Mar is the famous bathing beach—broad, sandy and rockless, touched by the Japanese Current which warms the water and makes surf bathing here several degrees warmer than at any other point along the Southern California coast.

OPEN-AIR PLUNGE

There is also an open-air heated salt-water plunge, two champion tennis courts, an all-grass golf course near by, a quarter-mile fishing pier and riding stables.

Hotel Del Mar is a veritable fairyland for children. Besides their own dining-room they have a well-equipped playground — swings, teeters, slides and sand boxes—not to mention the safe gradual sloping bathing beach where rip tides are unknown.

The back country holds much interest for the traveler, and splendid paved highways provide ideal motoring. Just a few miles behind Del Mar hunting and fishing in season abound. Timber-covered mountains and hidden lakes provide contrast to Del Mar's ocean-front environment.

BORDER OFFERS GAYETY OF LIDO

Agua Caliente Now Beckons to European Traveler

Racing and Golf Tournament Head Sport Program

Charm of Old Mexico Found Down in Ensenada

No longer does the visitor to California, once he has enjoyed to the full her winter-time attractions, have to turn his back on her boundaries in search of the colorful gayety of Continental Europe. American enterprise has brought just such gayety to the very backdoor of the Southland. In other words, all the elegance of the most famous gathering places on the other side of the Atlantic is reflected in Agua Caliente, that palatial playspot just across the border in Old Mexico, which has achieved world-wide popularity in the brief span of three years.

Agua Caliente has been termed "America's Deauville;" and justly so, too, for it offers to the jaded spirits of resident and tourist alike the entire ensemble of sport such as is linked inseparably with the renowned French watering place.

RACING TO START

During the approaching holidays the annual winter racing meet will have another gala opening, with the cream of American thoroughbreds as entries, and the great of society, the stage and screen and the sporting world in the grand stands. Thenceforth the far-famed resort will be in full midwinter swing.

Then, next month, will come again the $25,000 Agua Caliente golf tournament—which attracts the leading players of the world—and thousands of ardent golf fans will form the gallery on this 140-acre course, trailing in the wake of contestants over sun-kissed rolling terrain—while their eastern relatives and friends are weathering snow and sleet.

The race-meet and the golf tournament are the two outstanding events of the season at Agua Caliente; but never at any time is the visitor in want of diversion. He may play tennis on perfect courts, canter on the bridle paths beneath the shade of giant poplars, swim in the palm-lined plunge; court the favors of Lady Luck in the handsomely appointed casino, or loll about in a flower-splotched patio and while away the hours to the clack of castanets and the twang of steel guitars.

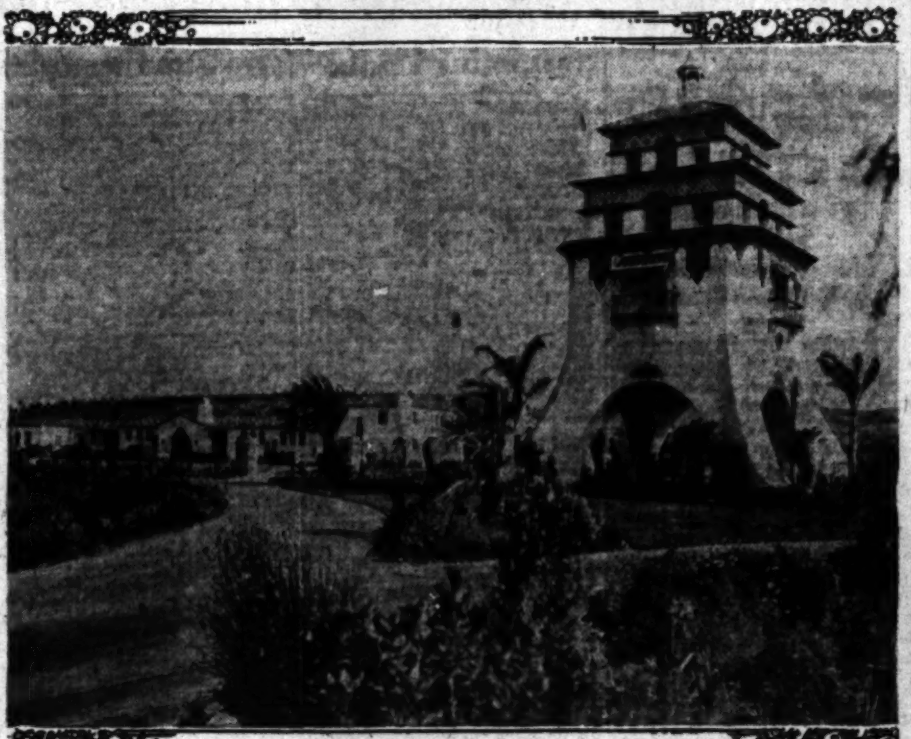
ENSENADA FARTHER ON

The touch of Old Mexico that lies within striking distance of Los Angeles, however, is not confined to Agua Caliente. Down the coast of Baja California, something like seventy-five miles from San Diego, lies Ensenada, a quaint little Mexican port, which, too, is rich in the romantic atmosphere of Old Mexico. During the past year it has enhanced its wealth of attractions by a luxurious hotel and casino.

The border itself is a happy retreat for motorists. Setting out from San Diego the scenery-loving, leisurely driving tourist may point his car up hill and down dale on a beautiful course to Yuma without losing sight for more than a few minutes at a time of the wired boundary that separates the two countries.

MEXICAN RESORT HAS TROPICAL LURE

Agua Caliente Offers Pleasures for Winter Visitors



The Campanile and a View of the Casino at Agua Caliente

VISITORS seeking the lure of exotic scenery in a foreign setting may do so without traveling more than a few miles out of California to Agua Caliente, just below the border at San Diego.

Here in a restful atmosphere amid charming surroundings guests find plenty of entertainment at the gaming tables, races, in the bathing pool, on the golf links and on the large patio. Airplane service brings Agua Caliente just a few hours from Los Angeles.

AGUA CALIENTE RISE MARVELS

Famed Resort Below Border Still Mere Infant

Millions Spent in Building Great Pleasure Spot

Western Rival of Deauville and Nice Ultramodern

Only a baby, a trifle more than 2 years of age, to be exact, yet Agua Caliente, a pleasure resort de luxe, nestling in the valley of the Tia Juana, in Old Mexico, eighteen miles below San Diego, has attained international fame comparable with the great fashionable watering places of Europe.

Here are found, in an atmosphere of gayety, tempered with the refinements of polite society, all of the pleasures of the Old World. The loveliness and completeness of the place is beyond compare. Nothing is lacking. Everything is ultramodern. Monte Carlo, Nice, Deauville have moved to the doorstep of Uncle Sam. A spacious hotel offers the same things to be had in New York, London or Paris. The Golf and Country Club boasts an eighteen-hole championship golf course, over which is played the annual $25,000 open tournament, largest money prize in golfdom, which has the reputation of being the sportiest existent.

SPLENDID RACE PLANT

The latest unit to be completed, the magnificent bath-house and huge plunge defies competition. The gay casino is the toast of Hollywood's Bohemia.

The $2,500,000 racing plant has been voted the most gorgeous in existence.

Like the great spas of the Old World, Agua Caliente's birthright to fame is vested in the magic of its curative hot mineral waters.

Agua Caliente—pronounced Ah-Wah Cal-i-en-tee, means "hot water," and a little journey into the past, weaves a romantic tale.

The first white man, so the story runs, to visit the west coast, was Juan Roderiquez Cabrillo, wearing the uniform of the Spanish navy. This intrepid explorer sailed his two small ships through the Silver Gate into the wonderful land-locked harbor of today's San Diego in September of the year 1542 and claimed the land by right of discovery for the flag of Castille and Aragon.

The first ceremonies over, Cabrillo sent a party inland to search for a supply of water. They discovered the springs at Agua Caliente.

THEN COMES MILLIONS

Thus opens the history of Agua Caliente.

In 1927 there came three men with vision, money, brains and plenty of nerve—Wirt G. Bowman, a friend of the Mexicans; Baron Long, well-known Pacific Coast hotel man, and James N. Crofton. All three were associated with the Tia Juana Jockey Club and various Baja California developments and concessions.

Three million dollars, combined with the artistry of skilled hands and a gorgeous hotel, a group of Spanish villas and a casino rose magically.

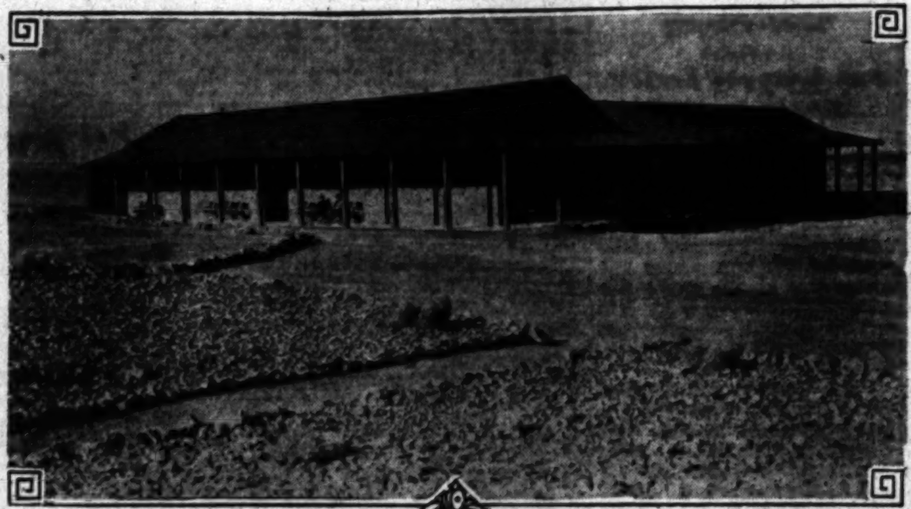
Next came an expenditure of $2,500,000 more and the Agua Caliente Jockey Club, conceded the most picturesque and beautiful in the country, was ready for the initial winter meeting of 1929-1930. Another $1,000,000 and the Golf and Country Club was opened in time for the first annual $25,000 open tournament in January of 1930.

NOTHING MISSING

Still another $1,000,000 and came the opening of the Agua Caliente Spa, an architectural picture, housing the largest open plunge in the world, surrounded by waving palms, plants and flowers, all dotting a broad promenade, where visitors may lounge, under blue skies. The Spa is equipped with a complete hydrotherapeutic establishment and every device known to science for the benefit of its patrons. The wonderful medicinal qualities of its hot sulphur waters will carry the fame of Agua Caliente to the four corners of the world.

RESORT ON FLOOR OF DEATH VALLEY

From Here All Points of Interest are Accessible



Stove Pipe Wells Hotel

DEATH VALLEY is one of California's most unique playgrounds. Yesterday, grim, tragic as Dante's Inferno, today, the mecca of tourists from all parts of the country.

Located in Inyo county on the Nevada-California borderline, Death Valley is a narrow gorge flowing below sea level between the Panamint and Funeral Range Mountains. It is some 130 miles long from the mouth of Last Chance Canyon or what is sometimes known as Lost Valley, to Saratoga Springs. Its width is only from eight to ten miles.

Despite its small area, Death Valley comprises three distinct sections, each with its own attractions. In the northern section are the Indian Mounds, the Ubehebe Crater and Death Valley Scotty's castle. In the central section are the spectacular ever-shifting sand dunes, the Devil's Cornfield, Stove Pipe Wells, and the Death Valley Buttes. Toward the south are Furnace Creek Ranch, the lowest point where vegetation still thrives, the Devil's golf course and the salt pools.

Each section is entirely different in character. Stove Pipe Wells is a desert resort situated on the floor of Death Valley and forms the hub from which branch roads that lead to the various points of interest. The best route into Death Valley is via the State Highway to Mojave and through Red Rock Canyon, gorgeous with its cathedral-like formations, and on to Lone Pine at the foot of Mt. Whitney.

The first glimpse of Death Valley is afforded from Townsend Pass. In scenic magnificence this region is awe-inspiring, terrific, the masterpiece of the Creator. In the center, their faces cut as if with a knife, are the tawny sand dunes, toward the south flows Salt Creek. Rimming the valley are sheer mountain ranges, gorges that in grandeur rival the Grand Canyon.

There is color everywhere. Living, vivid mineral pigments, splashed by nature in futuristic daring. Rocks and mountains are crimson, yellow, blue, green and purple, not with floral carpet, but stained with mineral oxides. There are hills of raw, yellow sulphur, red ferric oxides, green arsenic, gray nitre. Others look like mountains of snow, these are sodium, borax and colemanite deposits.

In the center of the valley is located Stove Pipe Wells Hotel, a desert resort nestling in the shadow of the sand dunes. A road leads to the north and past the Indian Mounds, remnants of a buried city of a prehistoric people; and on to the Ubehebe Crater. A car can be driven to the rim of this gigantic hole. The crater is 1000 feet in diameter at the top and 750 feet deep.

Death Valley Scotty's famous castle is located in Grape Vine Canyon, eight miles from the crater and now accessible via a good road from Stove Pipe Wells. No castle of Arabian Nights has more romance and mystery about it than the castle of Walter Scott. Despite the fact that Scotty built his mansion as far removed from civilization as he could get, it has become the mecca of thousands of tourists eager to get a glimpse of this famed desert character and his $3,000,000 home.

La Jolla Courts Prove Desirable

Exceptionally attractive to the visitor are the Sunshine and Sunset courts in La Jolla. Each bungalow is separate, and is spaced on the neat, well-kept grounds so that there is ample air and light.

The eighteen units, in two groups, are centrally located being only two blocks from the beach and the same distance from the center of the village. Each bungalow has a large living-room, bedroom, bath room and kitchen with a breakfast nook, proving amply large space for four persons.

Inter-Collegiate Winter Games

FOR THE PRESIDENT HOOVER CUP•

Yosemite goes collegiate—January 1, 2, 3 and 4!

Flashing hockey and speed-skating teams from the Universities of California, Southern California, California at Los Angeles and from Loyola and Occidental will compete at the foot of the giant Half Dome for the President Hoover Cup, a perpetual trophy, in the second annual Inter-Collegiate Winter Games.

Plan to stay longer

Come for a week—each day will be full. Ski-joring and jingly jaunts with an Eskimo dog team . . . tobogganing on the four-track slide, illuminated at night . . . spinning down the "ash-can" slide that you may have seen in the movies . . . sleigh-tours of the Valley and ski-tours into the High Sierra . . . and a costume carnival or two on the huge meadow ice-rink, with Yosemite's blazing stars to set the key for a gala evening.

Rail or the All-Year Highway

Yosemite is less than a day away, the year round, by rail or your own car. Live in the style you like best—Housekeeping, the cabin colony at Yosemite Lodge, or the ultrafine Ahwahnee. A copy of the winter folder will give you full details—ask any travel agent, or Yosemite Park and Curry Co., 604 W. Sixth St., Los Angeles. Telephone VAndike 5022.

WINTER SPORTS TO START SOON

Mile-High Resorts Will Be Carnival Scenes

Many Groups of Southland Sponsor Programs

Skid Chains Urged if Trip Made by Automobile

During the forthcoming winter sason, as soon as the snow proices to stay on the ground permanently, a series of winter snow and ice carnivals will take place at many of the mountain resorts of Southern California.

Under a general plan sponsored by the Southern California winter sports committee of the State Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the city and county playground departments, many of the leading ski-jumpers, skaters and fancy trick artists of the United States and Canada will exhibit at these carnivals.

SKI JUMPING

Preparations are about completed for providing the snow and ice enthusiasts of the Southland with excellent ski jumps, skating ponds, toboggan slides, ash can slides, snowshoe courses and numerous other features of healthful recreation and amusement.

Most of the playgrounds will offer comfortable overnight accomodations in cosy cabins with cracking fires, while the short time required to reach metropolitan conveniences makes snow playing easily accessible to everyone.

TRIPS MADE EASILY

The mile-high mountain resorts of Lake Arrowhead, Big Bear Lake, Camp Seeley, Big Pines Recreation Camp, Twin Peaks, Forest Home, Keen Camp and Idyllwild in the San Bernardino and San Jacinto mountains will be the scenes of winter carnivals and snow sports in the Southland, all easily reached via auto or motor bus.

As a matter of common sense when driving into the snow, it is always advisible to be prepared with skid-chains and warm clothing. Or if you do not care to drive your car, the comfortable and convenient service provided by the Motor Transit Stages and Pacific Electric up into these winter resorts is very satisfactory. Daily schedules are operated by the red cars and Motor Transit lines to both San Bernardino and San Jacinto mountain resorts at low winter rates and also special round trip week-end winter excursions.

Camp Baldy

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Curry on toboggan at famous resort after recent snowstorm.

MR. AND MRS. FOSTER CURRY announce that on New Year's Eve and New Year's Day a delicious turkey, mountain trout, and steak dinner will be served in the attractive Forty-niner Room at Camp Baldy. The dining-room is again under Mrs. Curry's supervision and many compliments have been received on the excellent meals prepared by the new chef, C. P. Hoffman.

On New Year's Eve, dinner will be served as late as is necessary to accommodate the guests, and there will be dancing until the "wee hours." Dances are held in the amusement pavilion every Saturday night during the winter season and also on nights preceding holidays.

A new toboggan slide is being constructed just north of the Camp Baldy properties by C. R. Chapman, and it is planned to have it ready for the first heavy snowfall.

Manager Foster Curry urges guests make their reservations for New Year's as early as possible in order to insure accommodations as a capacity crowd is expected at the San Antonio Canyon resort.

MT. LOWE'S POPULARITY INCREASES

Distinctive Resort Can Be Reached in Two Hours by All Who Want Rest

Only two hours' ride from Los Angeles, yet far removed from the bustle of city life, Mt. Lowe becomes more popular each year as a week-end resort for those who seek quiet and restful surroundings. The resort enjoys one distinction that cannot be claimed by many others—it cannot be reached via automobile.

Giving an entire change of climate, located in a towering grove of pine, spruce and cedar, Mt. Lowe offers a wide range of accommodations that will suit both the fancy and purse of all who would have a change over the week-end. The modern Swiss-type tavern provides all the comforts found in city hotels, while its meals are famed for their tastefulness. If a hotel service cabin is desired there are plenty of them located under pine trees; or if housekeeping cabin is preferred they are available at prices no higher than in far less popular and little-known mountain resorts. All rates are surprisingly reasonable and are considerably reduced for those who plan to stay a week or more.

Where to Enjoy WINTER SPORTS in...Southern California

SNOW will soon be blanketing Southland mountain resorts and then again the thrills of Winter Sports... plan now to join the happy throngs and experience anew the joys of tobogganing, skiing, skating, snowshoeing, snowballing, jolly sleigh rides, fireside tales, dancing and all the Winter Carnival events at these popular mountain resorts.

WORLD BEAUTY SPOTS MATCHED

are prominent citizens of Boston, New York, Detroit and Chicago who cannot spend a winter happily anywhere except in the desert, and they choose either the Coachella Valley or Death Valley resorts so that when they get full of the energy the ultraviolet rays of desert sunshine carry into them they can easily run in to Los Angeles to attend the opera or a good show or to do some shopping in the shops in which the motion-picture stars are outfitted.

A famous novelist came here unwillingly about a year ago. He thought he couldn't write anywhere except in his Long Island home, or in Paris, or on the Riviera. He needed atmosphere to get into the writing mood. But his little daughter didn't thrive as well in any of those places as she did here, so reluctantly he came for a six-month stay. The other day he invited me to a house warming—he has leased a house and settled here.

"I came prejudiced against Southern California," he admitted, "but now I'm absolutely captured. Not only is my daughter's health better, but I feel up to my own highest notch and find myself in just the atmosphere I need, the atmosphere created by a lot of the very people I used to meet at the Players in New York, and the cosmopolitan atmosphere of a city to which the artistic and the famous from all over the world are flocking."

It is not only because there are more sunshiny days here than anywhere else that Los Angeles has become the capital of the motion-picture world—it is partly because every variety of landscape or seascape is here to supply a background which is striking and beautiful. Not long ago I took a week-end trip to Palm Springs, with its marvelous primeval palm canyons containing trees older than the Christian era in the midst of desert—and surrounded by an Indian reservation; to Indio and its date ranches; to the Imperial Valley, where one of man's most notable conquests over Nature is inspiring; to Mexicali to get a glimpse of Old Mexico with some of the real Mexican atmosphere, along the line to Agua Caliente, the palatial Monte Carlo of the border; to San Diego, the birthplace of civilization in California, and back along the beautiful Coast Highway—all in two days. The next week-end I went to the fairy island of Catalina, where sea bathing was being greatly enjoyed by many visitors; and the next week-end to Lake Arrowhead and Big Bear, driving through orange groves and roses to places where men and girls were tobogganing and skating and snowballing—and those widely different spots were within an easy morning drive of each other.

When one has a whole week to spend he may go to Sequoia National Park, where the biggest and oldest living things are, the giant sequoias, which are older than history—older, even, than Chinese history—and where Mt. Whitney, the highest mountain in America, is only one of a parkful of noble peaks, or to Yosemite, world-famous for scenic beauty. With a little more time to spend, one may go to Hawaii, to Guaymas or Mazatlan in Mexico, where many of the beautiful "South Sea" motion pictures are shot and where things are as yet wholly unspoiled by a tourist influx; or one may drive up the Redwood highway to the Columbia River country and Canada.

No matter how long or how short one's stay in Southern California, he may find something memorably interesting to do, and if he has as much as a month here he may find 100 things to do, and the invigoration he gets while doing them may help him do a lot more after he goes home.

SOUTHLAND HAS WINTER SPORTS

from the north through Hesperia and Victorville.

The rugged beauty of terrain and magnificent growth of forest at once impresses the visitor to the San Jacinto Mountains, which lie almost directly east of Los Angeles. These tumbled peaks, crowned by precipitous Mt. San Jacinto, are still largely in their natural state. This is a comparatively new sphere as far as winter sports are concerned but with the newly paved highway making Idyllwild and Keen Camp less than an hour's drive from Hemet any day in the year, an influx of visitors eager to try their luck at skiing, tobogganing and snowshoeing is assured.

Toboggan Slide Being Built

Stillwell's Country Club at Big Bear Lake announces that a new toboggan slide is under construction near the resort and is expected to be completed in time to furnish sport for the crowd which will flock to the resort with the first heavy snowfall. A complete program of winter sports, which will include ice-skating, skiing and ice boating, is planned.

The Saturday night dances held in the pavilion every week during the winter season are proving very popular. Steam heat is provided for rooms in the Tavern and is much appreciated by the guests who visit Stillwell's during the cooler months. The new high-gear road is reported to be in perfect condition at the present time.

BIG BEAR'S WINTER SPORT SEASON ALREADY BEGUN

San Bernardino Mountains Clothed Early in Ermine Robes for Vacationists' Pleasure

There's a tang in the air and a spring to the step up Big Bear Lake way these days for Jack Frost and the Snow King have begun again to paint with a lavish hand that year-round resort in the heart of the San Bernardino Mountains. Every year at about this time they start to drape this popular playground with a magnificent white mantle in preparation for reception of the thousands who swarm there annually for a genuine winter holiday and reports indicate they will make another memorable job of it.

Big Bear Lake, therefore, is spreading wide its arms in welcome to this season's influx of Southern Californians who have yet to know the thrill of a snowdrift, as well as those visitors from the East to whom a winter would not be winter without the jingle of sleighbells

LIKE ADIRONDACKS

High up in the clouds at an elevation of 7000 feet and only 100 miles from Los Angeles, the lake vicinity when visited by its customary snowfall presents the picture of a typical winter stamping-grounds in the Adirondack Mountains of New York, where the eastern elite go for their cold-weather sports. The lake, itself—which was formed artificially for water conservation and which provides bathing, boating and kindred sports in the summer—freezes over to a glassy smoothness that makes skating a delight.

Following the first signs of a heavy fall snow plows and scrapers are dragged out and put to work and thus the roads leading into the resort are kept open for the eager motorist. Then, with the hush that envelops the countryside as the flakes cease falling, sleds and skiis and snowshoes and toboggans and skates are brought into play and Big Bear Valley echoes for hours on end the laughter of merrymakers.

HEALTH AND PLEASURE

And good health is the reward of a frolic in the snow such as is possible at Big Bear Lake. As the sun sinks behind the ridges of snow-mantled pines the happy vacationists appease ravenous appetites with steaming dinners, then gather about crackling open fireplaces for a social hour or two before seeking the sound slumber that comes only to the healthily tired.

The shores of the lake are studded with hotels and cabin-bungalow groups of a wide variety of accommodations and more than one-third of these are maintained throughout the winter months. The hotels are operated on both American and European plans while complete housekeeping facilities are afforded by the cabins. Many of the latter are equipped with private baths and many, too, include the luxury of an open fireplace. Provisions are obtainable at community markets.

TWO WINTER ROUTES

There are two winter routes to Big Bear, which are kept clear of snow at all times by San Bernardino county authorities. One is by way of San Bernardino, Patton, up the City Creek grade—which, incidentally, was widened and otherwise improved about a year ago—and directly into the mountains and Big Bear Lake. This is known as the short route.

The other always-open route is by way of San Bernardino Cajon Pass, Victorville and what is generally known as the desert road. Although 150 miles in distance, or about fifty miles longer than the first route, this way of going there is exceptionally rich in scenic value, commanding, as it does, many magnificent views of the desert country when it is at its most alluring stage.

PLENTY PROMISED

Prospective visitors to Big Bear Lake this year may take assurance of a perfect winter holiday from the forecast of the mountain folk who have lived in the vicinity for years. They say that when the rainfall and the snow blankets have been comparatively light for several successive years that means the mountains up their way are about due for a fine, big, old-fashioned run of snowstorms to compensate for them.

And reports trickling down from there hint that Jack Frost and the Snow King already have set about their fascinaitng works of art.

Radio equipment shipped from the United States to France in the first half of 1930 was nearly three times that for the same peroid of the previous year.

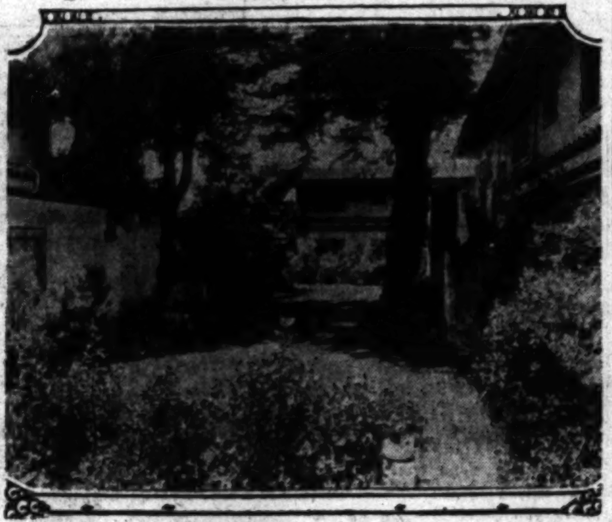
SANTA MARIA INN POPULAR

Unique Hostelry Perfect Rest Place



Inner Court and Garden

LONG familiar to the seasoned traveler up and down the State Highway, Santa Maria Inn, located at Santa Maria, about midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, has enjoyed a wide reputation as a hostelry which provides the weary guest with every facility for perfect rest and refreshment. The inn has, however, become increasingly popular with people who seek a delightful hotel at which to spend several days, a place where they can find both rest and entertainment.

Aside from the fact that Santa Maria Inn has a most unique charm in itself, with its cosy early American lounge, its flower-filled dining-room and its perfectly appointed guest rooms, there are many points of interest within a comfortable driving distance from the hotel, attractions which appeal to more leisurely travelers.

Few people journey about this State without developing an interest in our missions if they did not start out with it. Within something like forty miles of Santa Maria Inn, just the distance for a nice day's outing, over in the Lompoc Valley lie the picturesque, crumbling ruins of aL Purisima Concepcion, once one of the most flourishing of the early missions. The road to Lompoc Valley from Santa Maria lies through a beautiful, rolling hill country, dropping to the floor of the valley after it has provided the sightseer with a series of superb views from the heights.

By retracing the State Highway to Buellton and turning off to the Santa Inez Valley, one can, within the compass of a day, see the Santa Inez Mission, now restored and in use, and also drive to Nojoqui Falls and through the wild hills that skirt the valley, always over fine broad highways.

Frank J. McCoy, the owner of Santa Maria Inn, has always had a vital interest in California's missions and was very active in the restoration of Santa Inez. Among his famous collection of Americana are priceless relics from missions that have long been abandoned, such as La Purisima.

THOUSANDS OF QUERIES ANSWERED

"Times" Resort, Hotel and Travel Bureau Furnishes Full Information Service

Answering thousands of inquiries yearly, the resort, hotel and travel bureaus of The Times, first to be established and maintained by a newspaper in Los Angeles, are performing a distinct service to the public. From their two locations, at First and Broadway and at 619½ South Spring street, the staff of experts is constantly occupied in dispensing accurate and cheerful information concerning the various resorts, hotels, methods of transportation and kindred subjects.

Not only are the attendants trained in this work and familiar with all the near-by districts and places of interest, but they are well versed in the problems of the travelers and able to offer many suggestions and hints of a personal nature which will prove invaluable. Folders are always at hand for distribution and an index covering all the information that can be obtained concerning the resorts and hotels is in constant use by the attendants, supplying many details which would otherwise be unavailable. In addition to this information service the bureaus make hundreds of actual reservations, being able to arrange accommodations at nearly any resort or hotel.

In addition to the unusually large group served directly, scores of phone calls and letters are received daily from those who are unable to call in person. These receive the same courtesy and attention as if the individual were present and all questions are answered correctly and promptly and descriptive literature is mailed on request.

CALIFORNIA DESERT LIKE PARADISE OF RUBAIYAT

But Winter Tourists Don't Need Jug of Wine to Get Thrill From Fantastic Playground

BY KENNETH O'HARA

"A book of verses underneath the bough,
"A loaf of bread, a jug of wine, and thou
"Beside me, singing in the wilderness—
"Oh, wilderness were Paradise enow!"

When Omar Khayyam sang those lines for his immortal Rubaiyat 2000 or more years ago, his wilderness well might have been what America's newest winter playground—the California desert—is now; and could that have been possible, he would have needed neither the book, the loaf nor the jug to make of it a Paradise!

Time was when a trip into the desert had only one objective, gold. And only hardy men of iron nerve and muscle, the prospectors, attempted it. For it spelled untold hardships, and often, death. Many are those whose bleached bones for years told mutely of lingering torture which the relentless wastes exacted as the price of invasion.

NOW PLAYGROUND

But today the desert is not a thing to be shunned; for man at last has awakened to its matchless beauties and has found a way to enjoy them. He has singled out the oases and there, where cool springs bubble up everlastingly from the sands, he has erected resorts, where all the conveniences of civilization await the winter tourist. He has builded, too, good roads that lead to them, and, moreover, airports hard by. For several years past, the desert areas of California have been attracting increasing hordes throughout the winter months; and now, once again, the migration is under way. By train and automobile, by luxurious bus and cabin plane, thousands alive to the magical spell that awaits them have been hurrying there since November, intent upon experiencing the newest thrill of Nature's naked grandeur.

ONCE FLOOR OF GULF

Back in prehistoric times, geologists have agreed, the California desert lands were but part of the floor of the Gulf of California. In time, it is believed, the gradually rising delta of the Colorado River formed a vast natural dam which made of the waters to the northward a great inland sea. And with the ultimate cessation of tributary streams, due to climatic changes, this later disappeared and in its place stood those immeasurable reaches of arid land known now geographically as the Mojave Desert, Death Valley and Coachella Valley.

One of the first of the latter-day meccas to spring into existence and popularity, as the result of man's determinaton to harness the wild and untamed beauties of the desert, is Palm Springs on the fringe of Coachella Valley. In the shadow of Mt. San Jacinto it lies, and but a few miles from Palm Canyon, where tropical vegetation grows in profusion. And guarding it on other sides are Murray Canyon, Andreas Canyon and Tahquitz Canyon, the last-named famous as the scene of the annual Desert Play.

MODIFIED INFERNO

Coachella Valley abounds in restful oases and cooling canyons, sculptured by a benevolent Creator to bring the wilderness within reach of all. Here are Painted Canyon, famed throughout the world for its wierd combinations of color and strange formations of rock; Cathedral Canyon, Deep Canyon and Mission Canyon, none without its singular natural beauties, and Thermal, Mecca and Thousand Palms, friendly, verdant daubs against an otherwise terrifying canvas. Then there is Indio, pivotal hub of the valley, renowned for its orchards of date palms.

A veritable modified inferno on earth, but which may be visited with the safety one visits a museum, is the Salton Sea, one of the major attractions of the valley and regarded by scientists as one of the rarest regions in the world. More than 200 feet below sea level this great natural phenomenon is an awe-inspiring vista of salt marshes, towering geysers of mud and caultrons of steaming, varicolored fluids known as the boiling paint pots. On the rocky sides of the surrounding hills appear the still undeciphered history of a prehistoric race, nondescript markings carved into the walls with the crudely fashioned implements of the Stone Age.

A winding desert road veers away from the main highway at Whitewater and leads through the Morongo Valley to another magnificent spot known as Twenty-nine Palms. There the parched hills assume fantastic shapes and colors and look down all around them upon the sandy wastes, groves of the ancient Joshua trees and a thousand and one varieties of cactus.

DEATH VALLEY

About 300 miles northeast of Los Angeles lies the other section of desert expanse wich beckons the winter vacationist with a goblin finger, Death Valley, a name synonymous with the trek of American pioneers who braved and in many cases wilted under its scorching sun in the days of '49. Hemmed in on the West by the Panamints and on the East by the Funeral and Black ranges, this vast panorama of wilderness sprawls out to a length of 150 miles and a width of from ten to thirty miles. With a floor ranging from 100 to 300 feet below sea level, it is a sunken garden that exposes to bewildered man the very heart of Nature in all her awesome nakedness.

The Devil's Golf Course! Furnace Creek! Stovepipe Wells! These are some of the specific locations in Death Valley that conjure up in the mind of the nature-lover visions of cactus and sagebrush, dancing mirages, nights when the stars twinkle in the canopy of the heavens like diamonds on purple velvet, and sunrises and sunsets that defy the master-artist's brush.

And like its sister to the south, Death Valley is readily accessible by motor. One good road follows the route of the Aqueduct, leaving the main highway at Lone Pine and coming out upon the valley by way of the Eichbaum toll road through Emigrant Pass. The other enters at Ryan, site of the famous borax deposits, by way of Cajon Pass, Baker and Shoshone.

FABREGATH JAZZ BAND AT RESORT

Noah Beery's Paradise in Mountain Proves Popular for Comfort and Luxury

George Fabregath's Jazz Band is furnishing music and entertainment for the guests at Noah Beery's Paradise Mountain Resort. Near capacity crowds have visited the club recently and last week a group of stock brokers played host to a party of thirty-five. Outdoor sports continue to form one of the chief attractions. Horseback riding in the brisk morning air is a popular feature and tennis enthusiasts are to be found on the courts at all hours. Fishing still is in full sway and the trout fairly leap from the waters to take the fly.

The new heating devices which have been installed at the Paradise in preparation for the winter season do much to place the resort among the most comfortable and luxurious in the country.

FEROCIOUS LOOKING, BUT TAME

"Switzeroceros" Now World Famous

Tireless Steed Carries Double

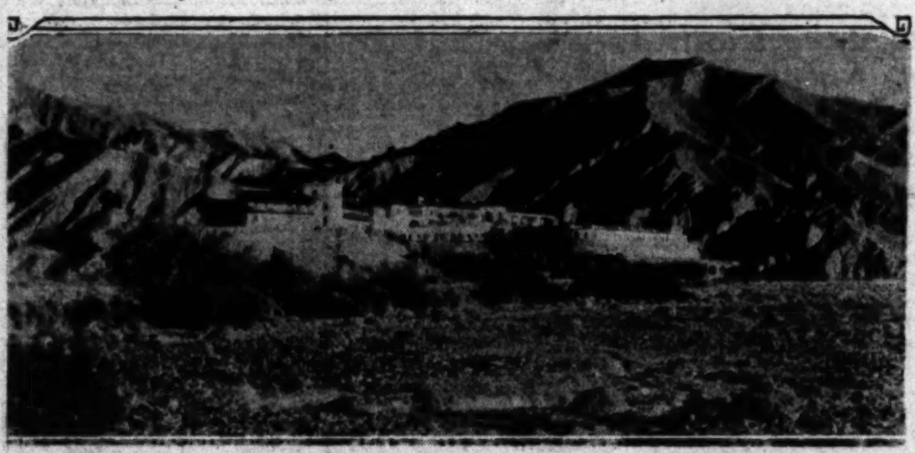
AN UNUSUALLY interesting freak in natural wood is the so-called "Switzeroceros," mounted at the entrance of the grounds of Switzer-Land Resort in the upper Arroyo Seco Canyon. It is the root of a native spruce tree and perhaps is most easily described as a sea horse with the snout of a rhinoceros. One of the favorite pastimes of newcomers at Switzer-Land is riding the Switzeroceros while their pictures are being taken and many of these pictures have been reproduced in various parts of the United States as well as in Europe.

Switzer-Land also has the distinction of having a rustic mountain chapel which in its design and setting is said to be unique in America, reminding the traveler of shrines in the Swiss Alps. It consists of a small castle-like building sheltering the organ, chimes and bell with an open-air amphitheater seating some 200 worshipers.

Open-air services are held at the chapel every Sunday morning and are attended by guests of Switzer-Land and visiting groups from city churches. The Sierra Club of California makes an annual pilgrimage to the chapel on Easter Day.

YESTERDAY'S INFERNO RESORT TODAY

Death Valley, Once Synonym of Terror, Now Playground



Luxury in Desolation

Furnace Creek Inn, nestling at the foot of Funeral Mountains, offers surprising luxury to Death Valley travelers.

IN THE past three years America has discovered the lure of Death Valley which has, in that time, become easily accessible to motorists from Los Angeles. From symbolizing a sinister inferno of heat and thirst and desolation, Death Valley has become in the eyes of a majority of the public something of a vacation ambition.

Weekly guests return from Furnace Creek Inn, Amargosa Hotel and other Death Valley winter resorts to spread their enthusiasm among their friends. As a result, Furnace Creek Inn reports the best season in its history, with reservations being made far in advance, while the Santa Fe Railroad, which recently has established weekly round-trip sleeper service to the valley, is finding its action warmly approved, as evinced by its popularity.

And yet the mystery and natural beauty of Death Valley remain unspoiled, untouched. It is still a rainbow-hued, twisted, tangled land of rare loveliness in the winter. The majestic mountains rising precipitously from the valley floor 300 feet below sea level, still bring tranquility; there is, there will always be, the magic spell of the desert here.

Added to the natural wonders the visitor today finds luxuriant comfort. It is not necessary to "rough it" while exploring Death Valley today. Furnace Creek Inn, is the center of this vast immensity of sand and rock and mountain and sky, provides accommodation and cuisine comparable to those of the finest metropolitan hotels.

And here, too, one finds recreation in the form of golf on America's most unique all-grass course 300 feet below sea level. There are fine desert-bred horses for canters along the valley floor or trips to the enchanting canyons. There is tennis and there are motor tours under the direction of men so thoroughly versed in the natural wonders of the valley and its lore that in their speech its history lives once again to charm and captivate and thrill.

LA QUINTA HAS SPELL OF DESERT

Rest in Surroundings of Luxury and Beauty Can Be Enjoyed at Resort

Nestling against the slopes of the Santa Rosa Mountains, beautiful La Quinta, "the country home," overlooks the broad expanse of the Coachella Valley. A more entrancing spot in which to become immersed in thespell of the California desert would be hard to find.

An architectural gem of early California Spanish design, the adobe walls and tile roofs of the buildings melt into the background and become a part of the desert landscape.

La Quinta reflects an atmosphere of charm and hospitality. Each individual cottage is attractively set in spacious lawn and surrounded by desert shrubs and flowers. The interiors, models of comfort and convenience, invite the guest to share their seclusion and to find repose.

Evenings before the fireplace in the lobby or riding the wasteland drenched in moonlight, blend with days of drowsing in the sun or exploring the hills, to form an experience that makes a visit to La Quinta a notable one.

NEW YEAR'S WILL BE GAY IN ENSENADA

Holiday Groups Reserve Passage on Steamships Sailing to Mexican Port

New Year's Eve celebrants in all parts of Southern California are banding together to observe the holiday in Ensenada, to judge by the number of reservations on the Dorothy Alexander and Admiral Rogers, scheduled to visit the Mexican seaport for the year-end.

To date more than a score of parties of ten or more are listed, indicating the two Admiral liners will carry capacity loads, and the new Playa Ensenada Hotel and Casino is completing arrangements to accommodate hundreds of celebrants according to R. B. Schutten, assistant general passenger agent of the Pacific Steamship Company and director-general of the Mexican traffic.

The Dorothy will leave Wilmington at 10 p.m. Tuesday, the 30th inst., and arrive in Ensenada the following afternoon, leaving the Mexican port at 5 a.m. on New Year's Day to reach Wilmington at 7 p.m. the same night.

ALL-YEAR CLUB PLEA GOES EAST

'Run Away From Winter,' Says Itinerary Prepared to Show Southland Charms

"Run away from winter!"

Thus beckons the winter itinerary sponsored this year by the All-Year Club, Southern California's national tourist advertising organization.

The itinerary merchandising plan, printed in rotogravure and illustrated with representative pictures of the Southland, is Southern California's answer to competitors in the keen, current struggle for the favor of money-spending winter tourists, and is being featured in the All-Year Club's fall and winter advertising campaign appearing in sixty-six leading newspapers in the United States and Canada and in twenty-four magazines of national repute.
